WAR CONTEST DEMORALIZES A SOLDIER

(Editor's Note: The following letter to ACTION LINE form an infantryman serving in Vietnam was signed and included the identification of the military unit involved. We have chosen to withhold the soldier's name so there will be no military reprimand.)

Dear Sir or Madame:

My complaint is this. I am serving in Vietnam in the ..... Division. Recently we were told of a contest we were entered in.

We are to get points for how many enemy we kill, how many weapons we capture, how much rice we find etc.

We lose points for men of ours who are wounded and more if we have one killed.

This war is no class game for our leaders to be playing, especially with our lives.

The morale is low enough without a stupid contest that only shows us what little is thought of what we're already doing.

Everyone is against the idea and we can't try harder than we already do.

The prize for the winning company will be a two-day rest and don't we all need a rest regardless of how many men we kill or have killed?

My point is simply this. We don't need to be playing games in a combat zone. Rather than improve the morale, this contest has shown us what pawns we are.

I wouldn't like to think, that because one of my buddies gets killed, it only means we lose points. I hope you see what I mean.

There are enough games being played in Paris. Why can't we just do our year and come home?

How would our parents feel if they knew their sons' lives were only a few points in a game being played for a two-day rest?

I find the entire thought more depressing than being here.

The reason I wrote is I'm from Long Beach myself. I live at ..... St.

I knew of ACTION LINE so I'm writing to see if anything can be done or just let people know.

Some of my buddies who have been reading this letter suggested I mention the conditions we already are living under so you may better understand the reasons for our complaint.

Being infantrymen, we're usually out in the field and not behind a desk or pushing a broom. We go from days up to weeks without a shower or shave and work at least 18 hours a day at catching and killing VC (Viet Cong).

We're 99 per cent draftees and our only spirit comes from knowing each day we're one day closer to home. We have no lockers, no privacy and beds.

We have no days off and once every couple of months we have a two-

Japan Sea Flights are Resumed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will order drastic retaliation, without warning, for any future attack on U.S. intelligence ships or planes, responsible members of Congress said Saturday.

These sources said Nixon made this statement in reviewing with congressional leaders the reasons he feels it necessary to continue flights of electronics planes such as the one shot down in the Sea of Japan by North Korea.

At his Friday news conference Nixon said "when planes of the United States and ships of the United States are in international airspace or in international waters, they are not fair game. They will not be in the future."

The President, grimly noting the apparent loss of 31 American lives in the latest incident, was reported by one of those present to have told the leaders that he means to go beyond the mere accompaniment of the intelligence craft by fighters or warships.

* * * *

THERE WOULD be swift retaliation, without warning, against the perpetrators of an unjustified attack, he told the Congress leaders.

The flights were believed to have resumed Saturday over the Sea of Japan with the backing of protective air and sea power led by the battleship New Jersey.

In outlining the reasons for continuing the electronic surveillance, listeners said, the importance of keeping a check on the movements of the Communist Chinese air force was brought up. By where Peking stations its planes, intelligence estimates can be made on Chinese-Soviet relations and on possible aggressive intentions of the Chinese, it was explained.

Nixon said Friday that continuation of the intelligence flights is necessary because there are 56,000 U.S. troops in South Ko-

Nuclear Talks Near; Summit Meet Delayed

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI) — The United States and the Soviet Union will start nuclear arms control talks "very shortly" but a summit between President Nixon and Kremlin leaders is still some time off, authoritative Communist diplomatic sources said Saturday.

In principle, the decks have been cleared for Soviet-American talks on the possibility of limiting and freezing antimissile defenses and offensive rockets, the sources said.

The talks are likely to open "very shortly," possibly next month or early in June, according to the sources.

A number of points still have to be cleared, including the meeting place for the conference and the level of representation at the talks, the diplomatic sources added.

But prospects for an early Nixon-Kremlin summit appear to have receded.

The diplomats indicated it will probably be some time before the Soviet leaders and Nixon meet face to face in Moscow or in some neutral place in Europe.

Green Light

Q. I've heard that the police in Gardena have a device on their patrol cars that enables them to change the traffic lights their direction to green, allowing them to go through when on call. Is this true? M. D., Long Beach.

A. Yes. And Gardena isn't the only one. Police and fire departments in Buena Park and Redondo Beach are utilizing the device, "Opticom," which is manufactured by Light Energy Systems of Gardena. Gardena Police Capt. Clyde Burns explained that the system combines sensing devices on the traffic lights with a flashing strobe light mounted on the police and fire vehicles. Switched on during emergency runs, the strobe flashes a synchronized pattern which is picked up by the light sensors about 1500 feet away. The sensors then switch the light to green. "We're happy with the units," Burns said, citing faster and much safer police and fire response to calls as advantages. The Long Beach Fire Department is using the devices on their vehicles in congested Belmont Shore but, according to a spokesman, they feel Long Beach is too large a city to utilize the system throughout economically.

THE CAMPUS IN TURMOIL

Editor's Note: This is the first installment of a 12-part series on the campus revolt by two reporters who visited more than 30 campuses coast to coast. Each writer contributed six articles written in consultation with the other. Today's installment deals with trends that are changing the course of student unrest.

By WALTER W. MEEK
With
M. STANTON EVANS

College and university officials across the country are bracing for the expected "spring offensive" of the radical left.

But as spring 1969 unfolds there are hopeful signs — no more than that — that the student revolt has cooled from its worst levels of violence in 1968.

There are indications that the New Left vanguard, the revolutionary Students for a Democratic Society, has slipped in effectiveness.

Among several developing trends, two in particular seem to be changing the course of student dissent. One is that moderate forces are rallying against the destructive tactics of SDS and its allies. The other is that the dissident minority has split into separate thrusts, white and black.

At colleges across the nation, elements opposed to the New Left are beginning to speak and act with conviction. Some agree with New Left goals but not its tactics; others disown the goals as well. But all are determined that the violence must stop.

The black students, bound up in racial pride and solidarity, have turned to their own leadership and counsel.

Under various banners across the country — Third World Liberation Front, Black Student Unions, Afro-American Student Associations — they are going their separate way.

A typical attitude of black student leaders is that of Yusuf Kaurouma, Afro president at the University of Colorado: "I'm not going to involve black students in anything that isn't good for black people."

"In effect, the blacks have said, 'Go do your own thing,'" lamented Dennis Stovall, former SDS chairman at the University of Oregon. "Of course it's reduced our effectiveness."

The sweeping goals of white revolutionaries don't always mesh with the concrete aims of black students, Stovall concedes. "The blacks, after all, are basically trying to get a piece of the action the white society has denied them."

The point was driven home last month when SDS launched its "spring offensive" at Columbia. Although this year's strike involved several items designed to appeal to Negroes, there was almost no black support for it. An SDS picket line in front of Columbia's Hamilton Hall featured only one black student, while several Negroes crossed the

L.B., Navy Assist 'Big J' Families

Long Beach Navy and civilian community Saturday responded gallantly to assist several hundred families and friends of men aboard the battleship USS New Jersey.

The mighty battlewagon had been diverted from her Saturday homecoming for duty off Korea but due to some unusual behavior by the Department of Defense, the Navy was unable to confirm Big J's schedule change until late Friday.

Until the word was finally passed from Washington Friday night frantic wives, sweethearts and families were completely befuddled.

The Independent, Press-Telegram broke the story Thursday about the New Jersey's new mission and followed it Friday with additional details.

But the Defense Department chose to hog-tie local officials until 6 p.m., Friday, a time when families and friends were mystified, some were frantic, some were bitter and some were broke.

A captain could not tell a young wife at 4 p.m. Friday that the ship would not be in — not very soothing to a 20-year-old with just $1.18 left after paying for a motel and plane ticket from Chicago.

Other Navy families had flown in from other distant points, including Maryland, Ohio, Virginia, Connecticut, New York, West Virginia and other remote areas.

SEATTLE (AP) — Judy McComas, 22, a graduate student in psychology at the University of Washington, outsped two would-be mashers.

Investigating officer Ray Gonty said Judy told him she was "doing her thing" at noontime — jogging to keep the waistline trim — when two men jumped from a car and said:

"Okay, baby, you're coming with us."

Refusing to panic, as might be expected, Judy simply swung into high gear and outraced the two muggers to an apartment building where she put in a call for police. The men escaped in their car.

"I never looked back — I just took off," the coed said.

McCROCKLIN

Combined News Services

DALLAS, Texas — Eight months after charges came to light that his doctoral desertation and his wife's master's thesis were similar, Dr. James H. McCrocklin resigned Saturday as president of Southwest Texas State College.

The former undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare asked that the resignation be accepted immediately. The Board of Regents, State Senior Colleges, did so.

A five-page statement by McCrocklin, released by Emil G. Rassman, board president, in Austin, said in esserise that he had not been able to find the documents in Marine Corps files on which his defense before a graduate school faculty committee would be based.

Southwest Texas State is the alma mater of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, who appointed McCrocklin as under secretary of HEW.

The resignation came eight months after the Texas Observer, a liberal fortnightly, published a comparison last Aug. 9 of the "his and her" papers. Mrs. McCrocklin had obtained her master's degree at Texas A. & I. University at Kingsville, Tex., in 1953, on a thesis, "American Intervention in Haiti, 1914-1934." McCrocklin obtained his doctorate at the University of Texas at Austin in 1954 on "A Study of the Garde D'Haiti, 1915-1934."

It was later charged that the documents bore great similarity to a 1934 Marine Corps report on the intervention in Haiti and also a 1939 Marine Corps history.

HONESTY

Virginia Knauer President Nixon's special adviser on consumer affairs, took the oath of office Saturday with a promised support from the President. Nixon noted the 54-year-old blonde grandmother from Philadelphia had made a record of achievement as the director of Pennsylvania's Bureau of Consumer Protection that was acclaimed throughout the nation.

The President also noted Mrs. Knauer didn't dodge the question of her age at her first news conference April 9 after being named to the $28,000-a-year post.

"Any woman who would very honestly give her age certainly will be able to get manufacturers in this country to tell the truth about their products," Nixon commented.

Mary Sirhan's World Tragic, Empty

By MARY NEISWENDER
Staff Writer

Twelve years ago Mary Sirhan, with her husband and six children, left her native land . . . left poverty . . . left war . . . left despiar . . . left the graves of eight other children . . . to come to a new land . . . a new life . . . hope and peace.

Today she stands as one of the most tragic figures in that new land.

Abandoned by her husband, a ninth child—her only daughter—dead of leukemia, and a tenth—Sirhan Bishara Sirhan—convicted of first-degree murder for the killing of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, there is little hope left for the 55-year-old woman.

But she has faith.

"I don't care what they say . . : how many saw him do it," she says of her son's conviction for the cold-blooded killing of the New York senator, "I can never believe he did it —never.

* * * *

"GOD GAVE him to me. He is watching over him.

"He was watching him —I wasn't—when it happened, when all those people jumped on him. He could have died then, but he didn't. It was not his turn.

"God was looking out for him then, and he's looking out for him now. It was not my boy's turn to go when this terrible thing happend—I don't think it will be when this is over— you will see.

"It will all turn out right."

Mary Sirhan has been a daily visitor to the courtroom where her son was being tried for murder. Only when the verdict was read Thursday—when a jury of seven-men and five-women whom she had previously described as looking like "good people, honest people" decided her son was guilty of first-degree murder—was she absent.

Then, it was not her choice, but the decision of her 30-year-old son, Adel, who felt his mother's feelings should be spared.

* * * *

"I'M GOING to try to keep her away," he confided as the trial came to an end.

And he succeeded, but his task became harder. It was Adel who heard the verdict on television and had to break the news to his mother. And it was Adel who came to the courtroom shortly after the verdict to be with his brother.

The seat his gray-haired, nearly-blind mother has occupied for 15-long weeks was empty when the verdict was read. But Monday, when a renewed fight begins to save her son's life she's sure to be there.

MARY SIRHAN
Still Has Faith

"For here," she has said, "is where my heart is.

"My son (Sirhan) is a good boy. If he had been bad in the past, if he had done other things wrong before, you would not see me here (in the courtroom)."

"You can see he is sick . . . his personality changes from minute to minute. He was not like this before," she says sadly, her eyes filling with tears.

Although tears are something not uncommon to the sad-eyed Mrs. Sirhan, she has kept them under control—except for one time—for the long weeks that the trial has run.

* * * *

ONLY ONCE did she break into tears, crying in the arms of her son's chief defense counsel, Grant Cooper.

Said the gray-haired attorney: "The trial . . . the delays . . . the talk of the death penalty are just getting her down."

Said Mary: "I'm sorry. I did not mean to do it."

Frail, shy Mary Sirhan rarely talks, except to a few people she considers "friends", like to talk to others.

"I don't know why they (her son's attorneys) don't allow me to talk to reporters—I'd like them to know how I feel.

"I would like people to understand how I feel. You are lucky in America to have a country to call your own. We have none, and to have no country to call your own is to have no dignity."

Mary's home was Jerusalem—a place she described with reverence.

"We come from a holy place—the holiest in the world. It was the place where the heavens opened up—more prophets have walked that earth than anywhere else in the world. It is the holiest of places.

"But," she admitted, "you do not need to search for God there—He is everywhere."

It was in this "holiest of places" that Mary Sirhan was born 55 years ago . . . "My parents were Christians." She says little else of her early life.

But there are other sources.

Neighbors in this "holiest of places" have related how the pretty, young girl married Bishara Sirhan when she was 16.

"SHE WAS pretty — beautiful, in fact — until some sort of disease left her face contorted," they related.

Mary Sirhan's face still is contorted. Her lip is pulled to one side, warping her features.

But Mary's soul, what was inside that distorted face, was something her husband didn't see and relations between husband and wife became strained.

Eight children died, some in infancy, some when they were toddlers, and one — Munir I — died when a runaway Israeli truck ran over him as he played near the barbed-wire fence which separated Israel from the Arab nation.

"There were times," says Mary, blinking against oncoming blindness caused by cataracts in both eyes, "when I didn't know where my next meal was coming from — there was not a crumb of food in the house. But we ate. God was with us."

After Munir I's death they were "chased" from their home by Israeli soldiers and went to live in a squalid section of old Jerusalem where mortar fire and bombings were commonplace.

"I often think of that lemon tree in the backyard of our home in New Jerusalem," she says reflecting on a part of her past with some pleasant memories. But more vivid in her mind is their one-room home in the new city where, she told the court, her children saw parts of bodies in a water well and others hanging from a church tower.

And she cries.

The family came to the United States as refugees in 1957, but only a few months later her husband, with all the family's savings, left to return to Jordan.

THE REASON: The father, an irascible, strong-willed man, was digging in the backyard of his home in Pasadena when Sirhan, the next to youngest child, created a minor disturbance — he walked through the mud.

The father reacted — the only thing to do was beat the boy. But Sirhan's brother, Adel, stepped in.

The confrontation was complete. The father charged into the house, confronted the five-foot mother and said it was her choice — him or the children.

Mary Sirhan's rejoinder was simple: "You are my husband; they are my children."

Bishara Sirhan left for Jordan the next day, taking the family's savings, meager as they were, with him. His family has not heard from him since.

* * * *

A FEW YEARS later Mary Sirhan, working to support her family, had another setback. Her daughter, Ayda, the one child who had helped her buy the Pasadena home in which the family lives, died.

Ayda had married a Palm Springs candy-store owner, much older than she was, and returned home to tell her family. Her older brother, Shariff, beat her, the family relates, but she returned to her husband. When she died, after a year of suffering, Shariff was despondent for many months. He has yet to return to the family circle.

* * * *

ALTHOUGH Shariff's faith faltered, Mary's never failed. She continued to work at the Westminster Nursery School in Pasadena, to support her four remaining sons. But her memories of her daughter — the one that cared the most . . . that helped the most — continued to bolster her.

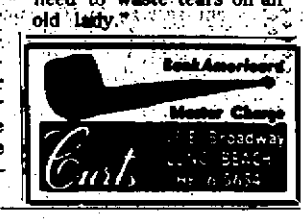

Then her next-to-youngest, Sirhan, in cold-blood killed the senator and would-be president of the United States.

"To me," she said slowly, searching for the proper words, "this is a double tragedy — Kennedy and my son.

"I cry for Kennedy . . . for the Kennedy family . . . and I cry for my son."

"But who," asked a newsman, "crys for you?"

"I am an old lady," says Mary Sirhan. "My days are few — there is no need to waste tears on an old lady."

Facts You Should Know About Diamonds

By ARCH SHINDER
Lawson's Jewelers
250 Pine Avenue
Downtown Long Beach Only

"Are Diamonds a good investment?" This must be the most asked question of a jeweler when he is amongst his friends and customers. In the next few articles we shall try and clarify this question of investment for our discussion will apply equally to any precious gem or precious metal.

When man first began to engage in commerce between himself and others they would trade with goods. Certain items were always treasured and universally desired. They were precious gems and precious metals such as: rubies, sapphires, emeralds, lapis lazulis, diamonds, opals, gold, pearls, jade, amethyst, topaz and the like.

Wealth was ascertained, not by coinage or paper money which are a recent development in commerce, but by your jewels and gold. That is the reason why the kings, potentates, maharajahs, etc, took jewels (precious gems) and adorned their person or stored those jewels in their treasury. The fabulous Crown Jewels of Great Britain are a prime example of this. The maharajahs of India would have their clothes adorned with all types of jewels. This was also true of the royalty of Europe.

The best of all spoils from any war, were jewels — precious gems of any type. Blackbeard, the pirate, stole gold and jewels. His fabulous buried treasure is supposedly composed solely of these valuables.

If there is any particular subject or question you would like to have answered in these articles, please write or inquire at Lawson's Jewelers, 250 Pine Avenue, Downtown Long Beach Only.

College Chief Out in Thesis Scandal

McCROCKLIN

Combined News Services

DALLAS, Texas — Eight months after charges came to light that his doctoral desertation and his wife's master's thesis were similar, Dr. James H. McCrockling resigned Saturday as president of Southwest Texas State College.

The former undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare asked that the resignation be accepted immediately. The Board of Regents, State Senior Colleges, did so.

A five-page statement by McCrocklin, released by Emil G. Rassman, board president, in Austin, said in essense that he had not been able to find the documents in Marine Corps files on which his defense before a graduate school faculty committee would be based.

Southwest Texas State is the alma mater of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, who appointed McCrocklin as under secretary of HEW.

The resignation came eight months after the Texas Observer, a liberal fortnightly, published a comparison last Aug. 9 of the "his and her" papers. Mrs. McCrocklin had obtained her master's degree at Texas A. & I. University at Kingsville, Tex., in 1953, on a thesis, "American Intervention in Haiti, 1914-1934." McCrocklin obtained his doctorate at the University of Texas at Austin in 1954 on "A Study of the Garde D'Haiti, 1915-1934."

It was later charged that the documents bore great similarity to a 1934 Marine Corps report on the intervention in Haiti and also a 1939 Marine Corps history.

NUTSLIDE

Ronald (Bob) Barkle, Australian boxing team trainer at the Perth Empire Games in 1962, died of suffocation Saturday after being buried under an avalanche of peanuts. He was 49.

Barkle and his son, Kevin, 26, were loading peanuts on Barkle's property at Kingaroy, 145 miles northwest of Brisbane, when a conveyor belt from a steel bin into the truck jammed.

Barkle climbed into the 15-foot bin to free the flow, but slipped and fell to the bottom, causing tons of peanuts from the top and sides to cascade on top of him.

ENVOY NAMED

Malcolm Toon, a career diplomat accused in 1965 of spying in the Soviet Union, was named by President Nixon Saturday as U.S. ambassador to Czechoslovakia.

The Soviet government never took any action against Toon and he completed his tour of duty as counselor of the American embassy. He and a second secretary, Alan Logan, were accused by the weekly newspaper Nyedyela Weekl of being agents for the Central Intelligence Agency.

The embassy called the charge against the two a fabrication, and the Soviet government remained silent.

Toon, 58, has been acting assistant secretary of state for European affairs since last year.

TOON

HONESTY

Virginia Knauer President Nixon's special adviser on consumer affairs, took the oath of office Saturday with a promised support from the President. Nixon noted the 54-year-old blonde grandmother from Philadelphia had made a record of achievement as the director of Pennsylvania's Bureau of Consumer Protection that was acclaimed throughout the nation.

The President also noted Mrs. Knauer didn't dodge the question of her age at her first news conference April 9 after being named to the $28,000-a-year post.

"Any woman who would very honestly give her age certainly will be able to get manufacturers in this country to tell the truth about their products," Nixon commented.

Facts You Should Know About Diamonds

By ARCH SHINDER
Lawson's Jewelers
250 Pine Avenue
Downtown Long Beach Only

"Are Diamonds a good investment?" This must be the most asked question of a jeweler when he is amongst his friends and customers. In the next few articles we shall try and clarify this question of investment for our discussion will apply equally to any precious gem or precious metal.

When man first began to engage in commerce between himself and others, they would trade with goods. Certain items were always treasured and universally desired. They were precious gems and precious metals such as: rubies, sapphires, emeralds, lapis lazulis, diamonds, opals, gold, pearls, jade, amethyst, topaz and the like.

Wealth was ascertained, not by coinage or paper money which are a recent development in commerce, but by your jewels and gold. That is the reason why the kings, potentates, maharajahs, etc. took jewels (precious gems) and adorned their person or stored these jewels in their treasury. The fabulous Crown Jewels of Great Britain are a prime example of this. The maharajahs of India would have their cloths adorned with all types of jewels. This was also true of the royalty of Europe.

The best of all spoils, from any war, were jewels — precious gems of any type. Blackbeard, the pirate, stole gold and jewels. His fabulous buried treasure is supposedly composed solely of these valuables.

If there is any particular subject or question you would like to have answered in these articles, please write or inquire at Lawson's Jewelers, 250 Pine Avenue, Downtown Long Beach Only.

BODIES OF EC121 CREWMEN
The body of Aviation electronics technician 1.c. Richard Edson Sweeney is brought ashore from the USS Tucker on its arrival in Sasebo, southern Japan, this morning. The destroyer arrived with the bodies of two members of a 31-man crew who manned a U.S. reconnaisance plane EC121 shot down by North Korean jets over the Sea of Japan Tuesday.

rea and threats against that country are threats against those troops.

But it seems probable that much more is involved than checking on North Korean movements.

Asked at the White House about the congressional reports on Nixon's plans, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said:

"I know of no such discussion. I have no information on it."

Among senators who approved continuation of the flights, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the basic necessity of keeping abreast of the activities of other countries is involved. He noted that Soviet trawlers with electronic equipment monitor activities within the United States from offshore positions.

"All of the countries of the world of any consquence have intelligence services," he said. "It might be a fatal thing if we didn't gather what information we can."

* * * *

"THERE IS no way of protecting real spy missions," he observed. Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said that much more intelligence is being collected than mere radio conversations between the North Koreans. Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee previously made a similar suggestion.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., forecast an investigation by the Foreign Relations Committee, of which he is a member, into the cost in dollars and lives of the missions, weighed against the value of the intelligence gathered.

Meanwhile, the USS Tucker, arrived in Sasebo, Japan, with the bodies of two of the 31 crewmen aboard.

Also aboard the destroyer were several pieces of wreckage and personnel gear from the EC-121 plane, recovered in international waters in the Sea of Japan.

As the warship pulled into port, word was received that the Defense Department had called off an air and sea search for the 29 other crewmen, missing and presumed dead. The search had been concentrated in an area about 90 miles southeast of the North Korean port of Chongjin.

WHILE servicemen on shore saluted in final tribute, the flag-draped coffins of Lt. j.g. Joseph Richard Ribar, 28, of Abridge, Pa., and Aviation Electronics Tech. 1.C. Richard Edson Sweeney, 20, of Chicago, were carried off the Tucker.

Their bodies were to be flown to Tokyo enroute to the United States, sources said.

Tough-worded Pyongyang broadcasts rebuffed the U.S. demand set forth at Panmunjom Friday — a strong sign that North Korea's envoy will do likewise should the issue come up again at the armistice meeting site.

But Washington officials rated the bristling radiocasts as part of a Pyongyang propaganda offensive rather than as a formal diplomatic response.

While repeating the North Korean contention that the plane flew "into our airspace," Pyongyang's Saturday broadcasts did not assert that the shooting took place over North Korean soil or water.

U.S. searchers, aided by Soviet naval vessels, found wreckage from the craft some 90 miles out to sea. Against such evidence, the Korean Communists may choose not to claim the attack itself occurred inside their territory as they did in their seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo in January 1968.

A North Korean decision not to claim downing the plane in their territory would avoid embarrassment to their Communist allies, the Soviets, who were firsthand witnesses to the crash site.

Nixons Have Weekend at Camp David

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon flew to Camp David Saturday for a weekend with family, friends and staff members at the presidential retreat in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains.

He was with his wife Pat, daughter Tricia, C.G. (Bebe) Rebozo, Atty. Gen. and Mrs. John N. Mitchell, key staff members and others.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon planned to work with Mitchell on the administration's forthcoming law enforcement and crime messages.

ture and possessions here to set up housekeeping.

But the picture changed when DOD finally relented to terrific pressure from media and the Navy Department itself.

A Family Assistance Center went into operation, Navy Relief Society stood by for loans and nearly 300 Navy and civilian Long Beach families, offered space in their homes for those needing temporary lodging.

Rear Adm. Horace V. Bird, commander of the Naval complex in the Long Beach-Los Angeles area, told the Independent, Press-Telegram:

"Long Beach Mayor Edwin Wade personally offered the full resources of the city in conjunction with the Navy's effort. I think this speaks so well of Long Beach's interest in the welfare of Navy citizens."

The New Jersey Wives Club, headed by Mrs. Sally Elfelt, wife of Big J's executive officer, Cmdr. Jim Elfelt, contacted the over 100 wives and families in the area and worked with volunteers from other wives groups on meeting planes and advising still out-of-the area families.

"We learn to adjust to changes," Mrs. Elfelt said. "Certainly we were disappointed, but after thinking about and recovering from the initial shock we cannot help but be proud.

"It will be a lot of fun getting ready for the second homecoming," she added.

The Big J was notified of Long Beach's activity and Capt. J. Edward Snyder Jr., sent a return message thanking all concerned on behalf of "our 1,635 men."

Big J, meanwhile, is steering a course to the west, after being gone from Long Beach since Sept. 5.

Some day the thoughts of her men will be recorded when the word was passed: "Prepare to turn about," and her accompanying missile destroyer USS John Paul Jones disappeared over the horizon toward Long Beach.

Pedestrian Killed, 2 Shot by Sniper; Suspect Held

ANTIGO, Wis. (AP) — A pedestrian was shot to death and two persons in cars were wounded Friday night, apparently by a sniper firing from his home.

Police Chief Peter Krosnicki said an 18-year-old high school senior was in custody, but that no charges had been filed.

Albert Smith, 73, was killed when he was struck in the back by a bullet as he walked past the home in a residential area.

Frank Jalowiec, 24, was wounded in the left hand and left arm as he drove past the home.

Karen Schultz, 15, who was riding in a car driven by her brother, Bill, was shot in the neck. Krosnicki said police confiscated four guns in the home.

Irish Protesters March for Rights

LURGAN, Northern Ireland (UPI) — About 2,000 civil rights demonstrators held a "silent protest" march Saturday, but heavy police reinforcements kept them from the Protestant area of the town.

The march was the second attempt within three weeks to go through the city center.

Clash With Police

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Demonstrators demanding statehood for the Telengana district in southern Andhra Pradesh state Saturday clashed several times with police. Nine persons were arrested for stoning police and picketing in downtown Hydrahad, the capital, the reports said.

USS John Paul Jones Returns From First Viet Deployment

A famous Navy namesake, the USS John Paul Jones, completed its first Vietnam deployment Saturday at Long Beach Naval Station, after having lost a friend Thursday.

The friend was the USS New Jersey, steaming home with the JPJ.

"She was about two miles behind us when she put on full left rudder. We were pretty surprised to see Big J start practicing turns in midocean," a sailor said.

"When we found out what had happened all of us thought we would turn around, too."

The Little J was not diverted, though, and 400 happy families and friends were at Pier 15 to the accompaniment of Chief Musician Carl Evans' Cruiser-Destroyer band and a balloon barrage.

Jones was flying a replica of John Paul Jones' grand ensign when she came in from her seven-month deployment.

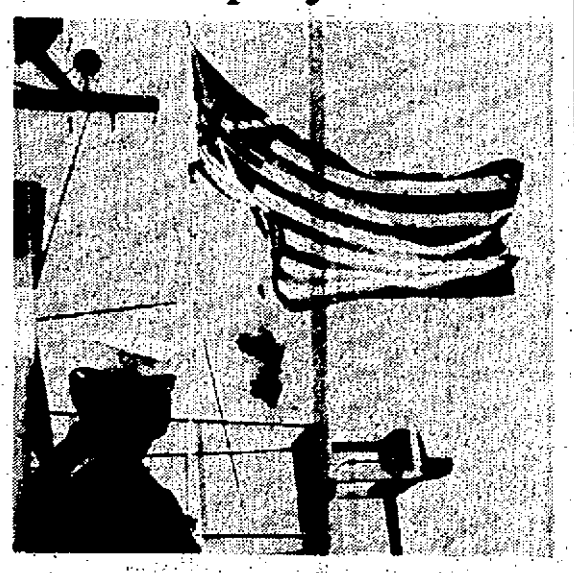

Cmdr. Louis R. Lester's 448-foot ship was assigned carrier escort, plane guard and antisubmarine duties and the captain said "we could be considered an insurance policy for the carriers, ready to cash in when needed."

Jones' did cash in on April 8 when Cmdr. Lester maneuvered the Little J, rolling up to 45 degrees in 20-foot waves in the Philippine Sea, to rescue a man overboard from the destroyer USS Porterfield.

It took two hours to accomplish this and Cmdr. Lester described the rescue as "one in a thousand."

An apt quote from the captain of the ship named for a hero — also "one in a thousand."

Postal Reform Complicated by Political Squabble

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposed reform of the deficit-ridden postal service is being complicated by a political squabble between the Nixon administration and the chairman of the House Post Office Committee.

Chairman Rep. Thaddeus J. Dulski, D-N.Y., is reported angry because he feels the administration embarrassed him politically by calling for a penny boost in first-class mail rates and other increases before unveiling its promised plan for postal reorganization.

A further irritant is that Postmaster General Winton M. Blount so far has declined to testify before the committee.

The post office panel opens hearings Tuesday on various proposals for postal rejuvenation and is in the unusual fix of having no witnesses scheduled.

Postal experts in and out of government have told the committee they are reluctant to testify before the Nixon administration comes up with a plan and Blount appears.

Dulski "hit the ceiling," a committee source said, when Blount issued last Tuesday a required report on postal finances which called for the rate rise.

Dulski was angry because only recently he had the unpleasant chore of managing legislation that increased the salaries of members of Congress and key executive branch members. He was called spendthrift by some Buffalo constituents.

"It hasn't taken the Post Office Department very long to come up with a proposal for an across-the-board increase in postal rates," he said.

"Let's get our priorities straight," Dulski continued. "Postal reform should be first and then we'll deal with the matter of postal rates."

One proposal for reform came last summer from a presidential commission headed by former AT&T executive Frederick R. Kappel.

The Kappel plan would shift postal operations out of politics and Cabinet control to a governmental corporation run by a nine-member board.

HIGH COURT, CONGRESS TO CLASH OVER POWELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court moves Monday toward a clash with Congress — or a surrender to it — over Rep. Adam Clayton Powell.

For two hours the court will be pulled in opposing directions.

The Powell camp, represented by two law professors, will try to persuade the justices they have the duty and the power to challenge the House for throwing out the Harlem Democrat two years ago.

The hearing follows the court's agreement last November to consider Powell's appeal. The justices, having received written presentations since, will be probing for more answers to help them reach a verdict by June 9, the end of term.

The first unsettled question is whether the court will decide it has the authority to make a judgment on the legality of the House's action.

Two federal courts here concluded they did not. Powell's lawyers, Arthur Kinoy of Rutgers University and Herbert O. Reid Sr. of Howard University, have reached back to Madison, Hamilton and John Marshall to press for a judgment on their principal argument: That Powell met all the qualifications for House membership set forth in the Constitution and had a right to be seated.

His exclusion in March 1967, they say, violates the clear desire of the framers of the Constitution that no one stand in the way of the people's right to send the representative of their choice to Congress.

And, to allay any concern that the court may have about ordering House officials to make up to Powell the $55,000 in pay he lost, they quote Marshall, the early revered chief justice:

"If one off the heads of departments commits any illegal act, under color of his office, by which an individual sustains an injury, it cannot be pretended that his office alone exempts him form being sued in the ordinary mode of proceedings, and being compelled to obey the judgment of the law . . .

Bruce Bromley, the 76-year-old former judge who will speak for the House, will pitch his case on the constitutional provision that gives Congress authority to judge the qualifications of its members.

Therefore, Bromley will argue, the House, having concluded that Powell misused $40,000 in government funds and demonstrated "contumacious conduct" toward New York courts considering a slander suit against him, was within its rights in excluding him from the 90th Congress.

Bromley, a prominent business lawyer, will contend, additionally, that the case is moot since the 90th Congress is history.

Postal Reform Complicated by Political Squabble

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposed reform of the deficit-ridden postal service is being complicated by a political squabble between the Nixon administration and the chairman of the House Post Office Committee.

Chairman Rep. Thaddeus J. Dulski, D-N.Y., is reported angry because he feels the administration embarrassed him politically by calling for a penny boost in first-class mail rates and other increases before unveiling its promised plan for postal reorganization.

A further irritant is that Postmaster General Winton M. Blount so far has declined to testify before the committee.

The post office panel opens hearings Tuesday on various proposals for postal rejuvenation and is in the unusual fix of having no witnesses scheduled.

Postal experts in and out of government have told the committee they are reluctant to testify before the Nixon administration comes up with a plan and Blount appears.

Dulski "hit the ceiling," a committee source said, when Blount issued last Tuesday a required report on postal finances which called for the rate rise.

Dulski was angry because only recently he had the unpleasant chore of managing legislation that increased the salaries of members of Congress and key executive branch members. He was called spendthrift by some Buffalo constituents.

"It hasn't taken the Post Office Department very long to come up with a proposal for an across-the-board increase in postal rates," he said.

"Let's get our priorities straight," Dulski continued. "Postal reform should be first and then we'll deal with the matter of postal rates."

One proposal for reform came last summer from a presidential commission headed by former AT&T executive Frederick R. Kappel.

The Kappel plan would shift postal operations out of politics and Cabinet control to a governmental corporation run by a nine-member board.

murder for him to have to talk now about rate increases without the sweetener of postal reform," the source said.

Dulski issued an uncharacteristically strong statement after Blount's announcement.

"It hasn't taken the

HIGH COURT, CONGRESS TO CLASH OVER POWELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court moves Monday toward a clash with Congress — or a surrender to it — over Rep. Adam Clayton Powell.

For two hours the court will be pulled in opposing directions.

The Powell camp, represented by two law professors, will try to persuade the justices they have the duty and the power to challenge the House for throwing out the Harlem Democrat two years ago.

The hearing follows the court's agreement last November to consider Powell's appeal. The justices, having received written presentations since, will be probing for more answers to help them reach a verdict by June 9, the end of term.

The first unsettled question is whether the court will decide it has the authority to make a judgment on the legality of the House's action.

Two federal courts here concluded they did not. Powell's lawyers, Arthur Kinoy of Rutgers University and Herbert O. Reid Sr. of Howard University, have reached back to Madison, Hamilton and John Marshall to press for a judgment on their principal argument: That Powell met all the qualifications for House membership set forth in the Constitution and had a right to be seated.

His exclusion in March 1967, they say, violates the clear desire of the framers of the Constitution that no one stand in the way of the people's right to send the representative of their choice to Congress.

And, to allay any concern that the court may have about ordering House officials to make up to Powell the $55,000 in pay he lost, they quote Marshall, the early revered chief justice:

"I one off the heads of departments commits any illegal act, under color of his office, by which an individual sustains an injury, it cannot be pretended that his office alone exempts him form being sued in the ordinary mode of proceedings, and being compelled to obey the judgment of the law . . .

Bruce Bromley, the 76-year-old former judge who will speak for the House, will pitch his case on the constitutional provision that gives Congress authority to judge the qualifications of its members.

Therefore, Bromley will argue, the House, having concluded that Powell misused $40,000 in government funds and demonstrated "contumacious conduct" toward New York courts considering a slander suit against him, was within its rights in excluding him from the 90th Congress.

Bromley, a prominent business lawyer, will contend, additionally, that the case is moot since the 90th Congress is history.

THE CAMPUS IN TURMOIL

Militants Seize Hall at Cornell

Oust Parents From Building, Repel Attackers

Combined News Services

ITHACA, N.Y., — Militant Negro students seized Cornell University's Student Union building at dawn Saturday, ousted 26 white parents staying there for the Ivy League school's "parents weekend" and later repelled an attempt by a dozen white students to recapture the building.

The blacks, numbering about 40, also took over the campus radio station and broadcast manifestos and "soul" music until cut off the air.

A scuffle broke out between white and black students when about a dozen whites entered the building — also known as Willard Straight Hall — in an attempt to reclaim it. Three whites and one Negro were injured, none seriously. The other whites left.

* * * *

AT THE Atlanta University Center, members of the school's board of trustees were released after nearly 29 hours behind chained doors, where they were held by students at the predominantly Negro, six-college complex.

Protest moments on several other major college campuses, including Harvard and Stanford universities, were dormant at the weekend.

The occupation of the building at Cornell was the first at the 400-acre, Ivy League campus on the shores of Cayuga Lake at Ithaca, N.Y. Several thousand persons were on the rolling campus for the Parents' Weekend activities.

At Atlanta University center trustees rejected the demonstrators' main demand — that the six-college complex be renamed "Martin Luther King Jr. University."

Among those in the building at the start of the blockade was the father of the slain civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Sr. "I'm representing the family, and the family asks that his name be withdrawn," he said.

SDS members left Columbia's Hamilton Hall late Friday night because they had "failed to generate support" from other students.

Four students were arrested Friday night when a group of students forced its way into a closed disciplinary meeting for an SDS member suspended at Kent State as a result of an earlier demonstration.

Twenty-one black students were joined by 21 white sympathizers in the fourth day of a hunger strike at Northwestern University in protest of disciplinary measures imposed on 21 other black students who invaded an all-white fraternity house and beat its members.

About 20 University of Chicago students continued their hunger strike in support of 42 students expelled and 61 suspended for a sit-in last winter at the university administration building.

Other incidents in the nationwide campus unrest included:

NEW YORK — A sit-in in protest of the firing of a professor ended at Queensboro Community College Friday night when police were summoned to the campus. Two arson-caused fires were reported Friday night at the student center of Brooklyn College following demands of black and Puerto Rican students for relaxed admission standards. Students at the State University of Buffalo rejected nearly 2 to 1 a proposal to abolish ROTC.

RHODE ISLAND — [illegible] University faculty members voted Friday to phase out ROTC training on the campus.

Dissidents Split into Black, White

At Michigan, the Black Student Union has criticized the student newspaper there for, among other things, taking too radical positions, creating an unfavorable university image and jeopardizing appropriations from the legislature.

With more and more universities listening attentively to the demands of black militants and moving to meet them, minority students generally are taking a tense wait-and-see attitude. This is depriving white radicals of much of their moral appeal and protective coloring.

Scrambling for issues is a fair description of SDS activities at most campuses today. For reasons that aren't completely clear, the energy that was available for Vietnam war protest a year ago seems to have been dissipated by the bombing halt, the Paris peace talks and all of the dramatic events that led finally to the election of President Nixon

* * * *

"IT MAY be part of the national wait-and-see attitude toward the Nixon Administration," offered a Boston University coed, "but a typical anti-war rally or draft card burning won't even draw the radicals out anymore."

To keep the movement moving, campus radicals are grabbing at whatever provocations are handy: the presence of ROTC; campus recruiting by the armed services and defense industries; defense-related research on the campuses; grape boycotts and demonstrations against "objectionable" speakers.

At most campuses these issues don't excite many students. Where such issues do have radical potential the trend among administrators and moderate student leaders is to deal with them before the radicals can magnify them into confrontations.

At the University of Washington, for example, SDS has taken up the cudgels against ROTC, but the program is already under open review by the university. The same is true at Columbia. At Stanford, SDS is faced with a student referendum firmly supporting ROTC.

Some universities, like Washington, are cutting ties with campus laboratories that specialize in classified military and defense work.

* * * *

THERE IS strong evidence that excessive violence like that at Columbia a year ago has discredited SDS with many faculty and student liberals who are instinctively sympathetic to its aims.

At Washington last month when SDS announced plans for a confrontation over ROTC, about half of the full time faculty members produced a statement supporting in advance whatever action the administration might have to take to keep order. And student body leaders, whose cast is decidedly liberal, loudly condemned the SDS tactics.

At several campuses students complain that SDS would suffer near anonymity if it weren't for the attentions of the media, nervous administrators and angry politicians.

A reporter for the University of Colorado campus newspaper declared, "SDS would be nothing on this campus if the university and the legislature wouldn't insist on making them an issue, making martyrs of them."

* * * *

WHATEVER the trends seem to be, it's also true that the student revolution is in as many stages as there are colleges and universities. It has barely started to surface at some places.

As a dean at fairly placid Arizona State University said, "I don't think I want to be sitting here at this desk the day they decide to abandon the Paris peace talks."

His counterpart at another southwestern school added, "I'll never say this place can't blow up. I just keep my fingers crossed."

STRIKING STUDENTS AT BERKELEY CLEARED OUT BY HELMETED POLICEMEN

200 Flee Fire Bomb in Tavern

MONTEREY, (AP) — A fire bomb, stuffed in the neck of a glass gallon jug, exploded in flames in a tavern-restaurant Saturday, sending 200 patrons fleeing into the street.

John Reynolds, assistant fire chief, said the bomb exploded near the rear door of Oberg's restaurant and gasoline fed flames spread down a hallway to the bar.

Hawthorne Youth Killed on Freeway

Gregory S. Kennedy, 18, of 4738 W. 134th St., Hawthorne, was killed Saturday when his auto collided with four others on the San Diego Freeway near Wilmington Avenue.

His auto went out of control and struck the center divider, and while he was pushing his car away from on-coming traffic he was struck and thrown over the fence by another vehicle, California Highway Patrol officers said.

After the car driven by Richard J. Brunner, of 4247 182nd St., Torrance, struck Kennedy's three other autos hit it.

Supreme Court to Rule on Kidnaping War Foes

By BEN A. FRANKLIN
New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court is expected to disclose Monday a decision that will either restrict or give the highest judicial authority to a controversial practice by the Army — that of carrying onto airplanes bound for Vietnam, by physical force or the threat of force, adamant war objectors who assert that they would rather go to jail than fight.

Army spokesmen confirmed the practice had been followed in some cases. It has resulted in emotional charges by anti-war groups that the Army occasionally indulges in "kidnaping" war resisters rather than following the more cumbersome process of ordering them to go and then filing formal court-martial charges of failure to obey a lawful order.

Complaints also allege the Army does not wait until the full course of objectors' appeals has run before enforcing such transfers.

The Army, however, maintains it has a right to use "reasonable force" to compel obedience. It has firmly denied the "kidnaping" charge, and some court decisions have upheld its right to transfer objecting soldiers to Vietnam without waiting for civil appeals to be exhausted.

THE CAMPUS IN TURMOIL

Militants Seize Hall at Cornell

Oust Parents From Building, Repel Attackers

Combined News Services

ITHACA, N.Y., — Militant Negro students seized Cornell University's Student Union building at dawn Saturday, ousted 26 white parents staying there for the Ivy League school's "parents weekend" and later repelled an attempt by a dozen white students to recapture the building.

The blacks, numbering about 40, also took over the campus radio station and broadcast manifestos and "soul" music until cut off the air.

A scuffle broke out between white and black students when about a dozen whites entered the building — also known as Willard Straight Hall — in an attempt to reclaim it. Three whites and one Negro were injured, none seriously. The other whites left.

* * * *

AT THE Atlanta University Center, members of the school's board of trustees were released after nearly 29 hours behind chained doors, where they were held by students at the predominantly Negro, six-college complex.

Protest moments on several other major college campuses, including Harvard and Stanford universities, were dormant at the weekend.

The occupation of the building at Cornell was the first at the 400-acre, Ivy League campus on the shores of Cayuga Lake at Ithaca, N.Y. Several thousand persons were on the rolling campus for the Parents' Weekend activities.

At Atlanta University center trustees rejected the demonstrators' main demand — that the six-college complex be renamed "Martin Luther King Jr. University."

Among those in the building at the start of the blockade was the father of the slain civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King Sr. "I'm representing the family, and the family asks that his name be withdrawn," he said.

SDS members left Columbia's Hamilton Hall late Friday night because they had "failed to generate support" from other students.

Four students were arrested Friday night when a group of students forced its way into a closed disciplinary meeting for an SDS member suspended at Kent State as a result of an earlier demonstration.

Twenty-one black students were joined by 21 white sympathizers in the fourth day of a hunger strike at Northwestern University in protest of disciplinary measures imposed on 21 other black students who invaded an all-white fraternity house and beat its members.

About 20 University of Chicago students continued their hunger strike in support of 42 students expelled and 61 suspended for a sit-in last winter at the university administration building.

Other incidents in the nationwide campus unrest included:

NEW YORK — A sit-in in protest of the firing of a professor ended at Queensboro Community College Friday night when police were summoned to the campus. Two arson-caused fires were reported Friday night at the student center of Brooklyn College following demands of black and Puerto Rican students for relaxed admission standards. Students at the State University of Buffalo rejected nearly 2 to 1 a proposal to abolish ROTC.

RHODE ISLAND — Brown University faculty members voted Friday to phase out ROTC training on the campus.

At Michigan, the Black Student Union has criticized the student newspaper there for, among other things, taking too radical positions, creating an unfavorable university image and jeopardizing appropriations from the legislature.

With more and more universities listening attentively to the demands of black militants and moving to meet them, minority students generally are taking a tense wait-and-see attitude. This is depriving white radicals of much of their moral appeal and protective coloring.

Scrambling for issues is a fair description of SDS activities at most campuses today. For reasons that aren't completely clear, the energy that was available for Vietnam war protest a year ago seems to have been dissipated by the bombing halt, the Paris peace talks and all of the dramatic events that led finally to the election of President Nixon

Reds Shell Fuel Tanks by Saigon

Further North, U.S. Troops Find Cong Supplies

SAIGON (UPI) — Communists blasted a fuel storage facility nine miles southwest of Saigon with rocket fire Saturday night, but the attack failed to ignite the fuel tanks and caused little damage.

The attack was the only significant Communist activity reported around the capital in a day marked by continued U.S. bombing and patroling of the area.

B-52 bombers flew three raids within 60 miles of Saigon, dumping 270 tons of explosives on suspected Communist troop concentrations and camps.

American infantry patrols turned up two Communist rice caches, one estimated at five tones 30 miles northwest of Saigon and the other an estimated 3.5 tons 60 miles northwest.

* * * *

U.S. MILITARY sources said Communist forces have destroyed 234 American aricraft since launching their winter-spring offensive eight weeks ago. The latest loss was a helicopter shot down Friday, killing the five Americans aboard.

PARIS (UPI) — President Nixon's reaffirmed support for Saigon has strengthened South Vietnam's negotiating hand at the Vietnam peace talks and damaged Viet Cong hopes of forcing a "peace cabinet" on Saigon, Allied officials said Saturday.

The officials said Nixon's Vietnam comments at his Friday news conference set back Viet Cong and Hanoi hopes of achieving a new government in Saigon which would negotiate a settlement in Paris with the National Liberation Front, the Viet Cong's political arm.

Diplomatic observers cautioned Nixon's declaration of support for Saigon would not prompt either North Vietnam or the Viet Cong to quickly change its negotiating stance.

Car Crash Kills Assemblyman Alan Pattee

SAN JOSE (AP) — Assembly-man Alan G. Pattee, 54, was fatally injured in a highway collision Saturday which also injured his wife.

The death of the Salinas Republican leaves the Assembly deadlocked with 39 members of his party and 39 Deomcrats.

The accident took place about 4 p.m. Pattee died in hospital six hours later. Mrs. Pattee, 43, was listed in serious condition with numerous broken bones.

4 Miners Trapped

PRAGUE (UPI) — Rescue crews worked Saturday to free four miners trapped by a blaze at the Jeremenko coal mine near Ostrava, 160 miles east of Prague. Prague television said one miner has already died in the fire which broke out Friday, the broadcast said.

BOATER DROWNS

Tornado Smashes Into Florida Town

MAITLAND, Fla. (AP) — A pre-dawn tornado whipped through this central Florida town Saturday, jolted sleeping residents, and left damage estimated at $200,000.

"It felt like we were sitting on a railroad track," said Mrs. M. J. Wittels.

Two hours earlier, a boat capsized at Orlando, just to the south, as the storm front that spawned the twister struck there. One of the occupants, 23-year-old David M. Dolon of Orlando, drowned in Lake Ivanhoe.

No injuries were reported among Maitland's 7,500 residents.

The tornado "hit and was gone in less than two minutes," said a policeman.

It unroofed buildings, damaged stores, disrupted power, flipped over cars, and uprooted trees. Streets were blocked by debris. Hardest hit were the downtown business district and a fashionable residential area, Dommerick Hills.

"The most frightening thing of all is to see what this looks like," said Mrs. Wittals, pointing to a roof blown off her two-car garage in Dommerick Hills.

"I wonder what would have happened if it had hit the other end of the house," she asked pointing to the end where she and three daughters had been sleeping.

A severe thunderstorm that preceded the twister may have saved Mark Meister, 9, and his brother Mathew, 7, who were camping in their back yard.

"The boys came scampering in, and 10 minutes later the tornado hit and ripped apart our garage and utility room," said the father, Charles M. Meister.

In downtown Maitland, the Seaboard Coastline Railroad station was lifted from the ground. When it dropped, it split in two.

"The tornado touched down three times, covering an area of four to five square miles," said Police Chief Jay Golden.

He said a dozen store fronts were blown out and about 10 homes badly damaged.

The city park was strewn with toppled trees and debris.

Heavy rain gushed into unroofed and windowless houses.

Arabs to Hunger

ALGIERS (UPI) — The three Arabs being held in Zurich for an attack last February on an El Al airliner will begin a hunger strike Tuesday, it was reported Friday, Algerian lawyer Amar Bentoumi made the statement to newsmen after his return from Zurich.

MIDWEST FLOOD WORSENS

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Failing dikes and floating oil heightened the hazards at one critical point Saturday while losses mounted on the Midwest flood front.

Sen. Walter Mondale of Minnesota, who visited some flood areas, said the loss in his home state is estimated at about $100 million. Civil Defense officials have said damage in Minnesota should be about $5 million and should total around $19 million in South Dakota and $7 million in North Dakota.

The Souris River kept rising in Minot, N.D. and many privately owned dikes were broken during the night but the public dikes held.

* * * *

TWENTY-NINE service stations in Minot have been closed. Officials said considerable gasoline and oil from the stations and from abandoned automobiles was floating in the floodwater.

As the snowmelt moved downstream, much attention shifted to the Mississippi River.

National Guardsmen were assigned to patrol dikes in the Dubuque and Clinton areas in Iowa.

The Weather Bureau predicted the Mississippi would crest in La Crosse, Wis., today at 16 feet, instead of 16.7 feet as predicted previously. The 16 feet level would be 2 feet below the rim of the dikes.

* * * *

THE BRIDGE which carries U.S. 18 across the Mississippi at Prairie du Chien, Wis., still was open Saturday, but water trickled across part of the approaches. Clem Mara, public works director, said damage there could add up to $100,000.

Maj. Gen. Frederick J. Clarke, deputy chief of U.S. Army Engineers, planned to fly to Clinton, Iowa, today to check on preparations there and in Fulton, Ill., across the Mississippi.

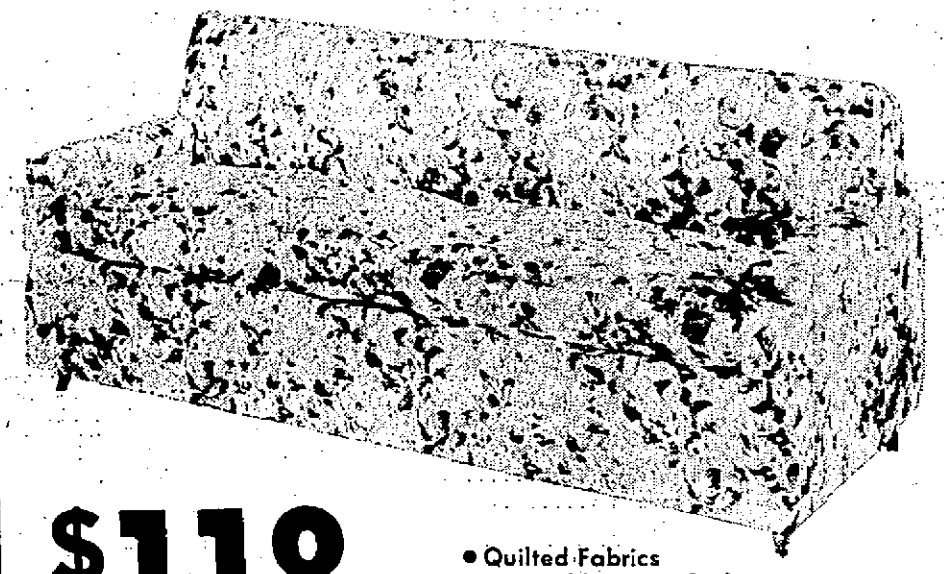

Envoy Takes Over

LONDON (UPI) — Walter H. Annenberg, the new U.S. Ambassador to Britain, arrived in London Saturday to assume his new post and pledged to "do whatever I can" to maintain good relations between the two nations.

Demo Aim in '70: Show Reagan Role in State Problems

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

BAKERSFIELD — Former Governor Edmund G. Brown told cheering Democrats here Saturday night he'll be hitting the political stump for the party from now until November, 1970, but he didn't say he would be a candidate.

Addressing a joint convention of Southern, Central and Northern California Democrats, Brown said, "The issue next year will be Reagan, Rafferty and Murphy," referring to Gov. Ronald Reagan, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Max Rafferty, and U.S. Senator George Murphy, whose seats are at stake in 1970.

"Reagan, Rafferty and Murphy," he said, "do not represent the majority of the people of this state." Brown asked Californians to compare his eight years as governor with the Reagan administration and said "in every single, solitary category we did a far better job."

Assembly Democratic leader Jess Unruh said, "Nowhere is the duplicity of this administration more revealed than in the area of taxation."

* * * *

REAGAN'S TAX relief program, he said, is relief for the rich.

"Their big bag," he said, "was economy in government. It has brought decaying mental hospitals, deteriorated medical services and near ruination of our colleges and universities.

"We must fight by whatever means available to prevent this administration from turning back the clock of progress."

Representative John V. Tunney, D-Riverside, cited the peoples' concern with the quality of life in America. He said the nation's average human beings have not liked "the lack of significant debate before getting involved in the Vietnam war, or before wells were sunk in the Santa Barbara Channel or before adoption of an anti-ballistic missile system."

Earlier, G. W. (Joe) Holsinger, northern chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, outlined 1970 aims of the party, although he had not been scheduled to speak to the meeting.

Paying a courtesy call to the joint meeting of Democrats of southern, central and northern California, Holsinger said the major issue of 1970 is Gov. Ronald Reagan's conduct of the government.

Speaking to fewer than 200 delegates at the opening session, which was expected to attract more than 700, Holsinger said of the volunteer movement.

* * * *

"WE ARE pretty much touching bottom now, but 'You Gotta Have Heart'."

The northern chairman, who presided last weekend in Sacramento at a "tell-it-like-it-is" Democratic convention, told delegates here the party must force Reagan to acknowledge responsibility for the state's problems and stop blaming ex-Gov. Edmund G. Brown for high taxes.

He said the state Republican Party is developing schisms in high places, citing the Reagan-Reinecky-Rafferty wing versus the wing epitomized by moderate Republicans Robert Finch, John Veneman and William Bagley.

"It looks like the start of trouble in paradise for the Republican administration," he said, adding "the state Senate GOP majority can't even agree on a candidate for president pro tem."

* * * *

U.S. SEN. Alan Cranston, a Democrat, told a buffet party here he "compliments the president of the U.S." for his restraint and care in dealing with the downing of an American plane by North Korea.

And he cited Secretary of State William Rogers for "one of the finest statements I've ever seen made by an American secretary of state." He referred to Rogers' caution that small nations could afford to be rash and great nations must act with caution and prudence.

On other matters, Cranston said he will introduce this week a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the senate that President Nixon's proposed cuts in the Job Corps should not occur until there is a budgetary study and an evaluation of a Lou Harris Poll which showed the corps accomplishments.

Sen. Cranston also pledged he will be in the front line in the fight against Senate acceptance of Nixon's proposed Safeguard anti-ballistic missile systen.

* * * *

ON THE downing of the U.S. spy plane by North Korea, Cranston said, "We have to know much more before we can justify the sending of men on dangerous and provocative missions into hostile territory.

"If the missions are necessary, then we must give them protection," he said.

On the ABM matter, Jim Sperrazzo of Downey, a Congressional candidate last year submitted a resolution opposing the deployment of the system until a year's study for researching the system's critical components and seeking an alternative.

Sperrazzo stressed evidence of the inadequacy of the system. The Northern California segment of the convention passed it. By-laws of the central California group prohibited its action.

GOP May Cancel Higher SS Tax

By STERLING GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon probably will cancel the proposal of former President Lyndon B. Johnson for another boost in the Socjal Security tax next Jan. 1, Administration sources reported Saturday.

The change would knock $1.7 billion in receipts out of the fiscal 1970 budget. But that may be more than offset by an upsurge in income and corporation tax collections amounting to $2 billion or more.

The Administration has not yet acknowledged the prospective upturn in revenues. The April 15 inpouring of tax returns has not been counted — and Budget Director Robert P. Mayo said, "You can't tell by kicking the mailbags."

BUT OTHER sources predicted that tax receipts, swollen by the unexpectedly swift pace of business expansion, will outrun the official guess of $198.7 billion, crossing the $200-billion mark for the first time.

So the Social Security tax boost could be deferred for a year and still leave President Nixon's $5.8-billion budget surplus undisturbed — or possibly even enlarged.

Under present law the Social Security tax withheld from paychecks is scheduled to increase Jan. 1, 1971. Johnson, in his farewell budget message on January, proposed that it be advanced a full year, to Jan. 1, 1970.

The speedup would have provided half of the $3.4-billion surlus Johnson foresaw at that time.

Q. I recently bought a 1957 Chevrolet pickup truck. In the process of getting the title transferred and the registration completed, the Department of Motor Vehicles in Sacramento sent me a letter explaining that the truck hadn't been registered in 1967 and 1968 and I have to pay $113 in back registration fees and penalties. My license plate has stickers for those years. E. H., Paramount.

A. Betty Johnson at the Department of Motor Vehicles registration division in Sacramento rechecked your file and discovered an error. Your truck had been correctly registered in 1967 so those fees have been lifted. However, the pink 1968 sticker on your truck belongs to another vehicle, a 1955 Chevrolet. So you owe $59 in 1968 registration fees and penalties. She is sending you a letter explaining the situation. If you have further questions, you may write Mrs. Johnson, Department of Motor Vehicles, Registration Unit 8, P. O. Box 1319, Sacramento, California 95806. Your file number is 11160 and should be noted.

About your reader's mildew problem, I have lived across the street from Alamitos Bay for 29 years and I have found a way to curtail mildew. When I paint, I add several tablespoons of Captan, a garden fungicide made by Ortho, to each gallon of paint. No mildew ever develops. When washing mildewed surfaces, I use a cellulose sponge and water containing Captan. When it dries, the Captan doesn't show and it prevents further mildew. H. W., Long Beach.

Danny the Red Barred From Return to Paris

PARIS (UPI) — French police refused entry Saturday to Daniel (Danny the Red) Cohn-Bendit, a leader of last year's student revolution in France, when he arrived by plane from Rome. He was put aboard another plane for Munich.

Cohn-Bendit, a 24-year-old German national educated in France, told newsmen in Rome he was trying to return to France because he wants to live in Paris. "This is no political gesture," he said. "I'm doing it for personal reasons."

An order barring him from residing in the country has been in effect since last May.

Riot police and detectives were present at Orly Airport throughout the day, anticipating possible trouble because of Cohn-Bendit's arrival. There was none.

LENNOX MAN DIES

2 Women Held in House Slaying

A Lennox area man was killed by a 12-gauge shotgun blast in the back and sheriff's homicide detectives booked his wife and another woman on suspicion of murder Saturday when they discovered the crime 15 hours later.

Dead is William J. Hutton, 43, found in a bedroom of his home, 10529 Grevillea Ave.

In custody at the Sybil Brand Women's Institute were his wife, Joanne, 25, and Barbara Diehl, 35, who lived with them.

Detective Lt. Al White, of the sheriff's homicide bureau, said Hutton was felled at about 10 a.m. Friday, but the crime was not reported to deputies until 1:17 a.m. Saturday.

While said both women were jailed after each accused the other of the crime.

RATTLESNAKE BITES REDONDO BEACH BOY

Mark Henderson, 10, of Redondo Beach, was bitten by a rattlesnake while fishing at Lake Irvine Saturday and was said to be in good condition after emergency medical treatment in the Orange County MedicalCenter.

Mark was rushed to the medical facility by Sheriff's deputy Ron Frazier, and kept there for 24 hours for observation.

The snake escaped.

Boy Dies After Judo Mishap

Clyde T. Ishizaki, 9, of 2834 W. 163rd St., Torrance, died in Gardena Memorial Hospital Saturday from injuries received when his head smashed into a judo mat at the Gardena YMCA.

The boy, who was practicing judo under the supervision of an experienced adult, was injured Friday, police said.

Carrier, Howitzer Crash; One Killed

BARSTOW (UPI) — A National Guardsman was killed today when the troop carrier in which he was sleeping drifted off the highway eight miles west of here and overturned. He was identified as Gilbert Roy Greenfield, 26, Los Angeles.

Highway patrolmen said the troop carrier was towing a 105-mm. howitzer and was part of a 15-truck convoy en route to Ft. Irwin, east of here.

Egyptians Claim Their Artillery Routed Israelis

New York Times Service

CAIRO — Soviet-supplied long-range artillery appears to have been moved into position recently along the Suez Canal, according to an Egyptian military communique.

Shelling across the canal was resumed Saturday morning for the 12th consecutive day, apparently as part of a declared Egyptian objective of destroying Israeli fortifications along the eastern shore and to obstruct the building of new ones.

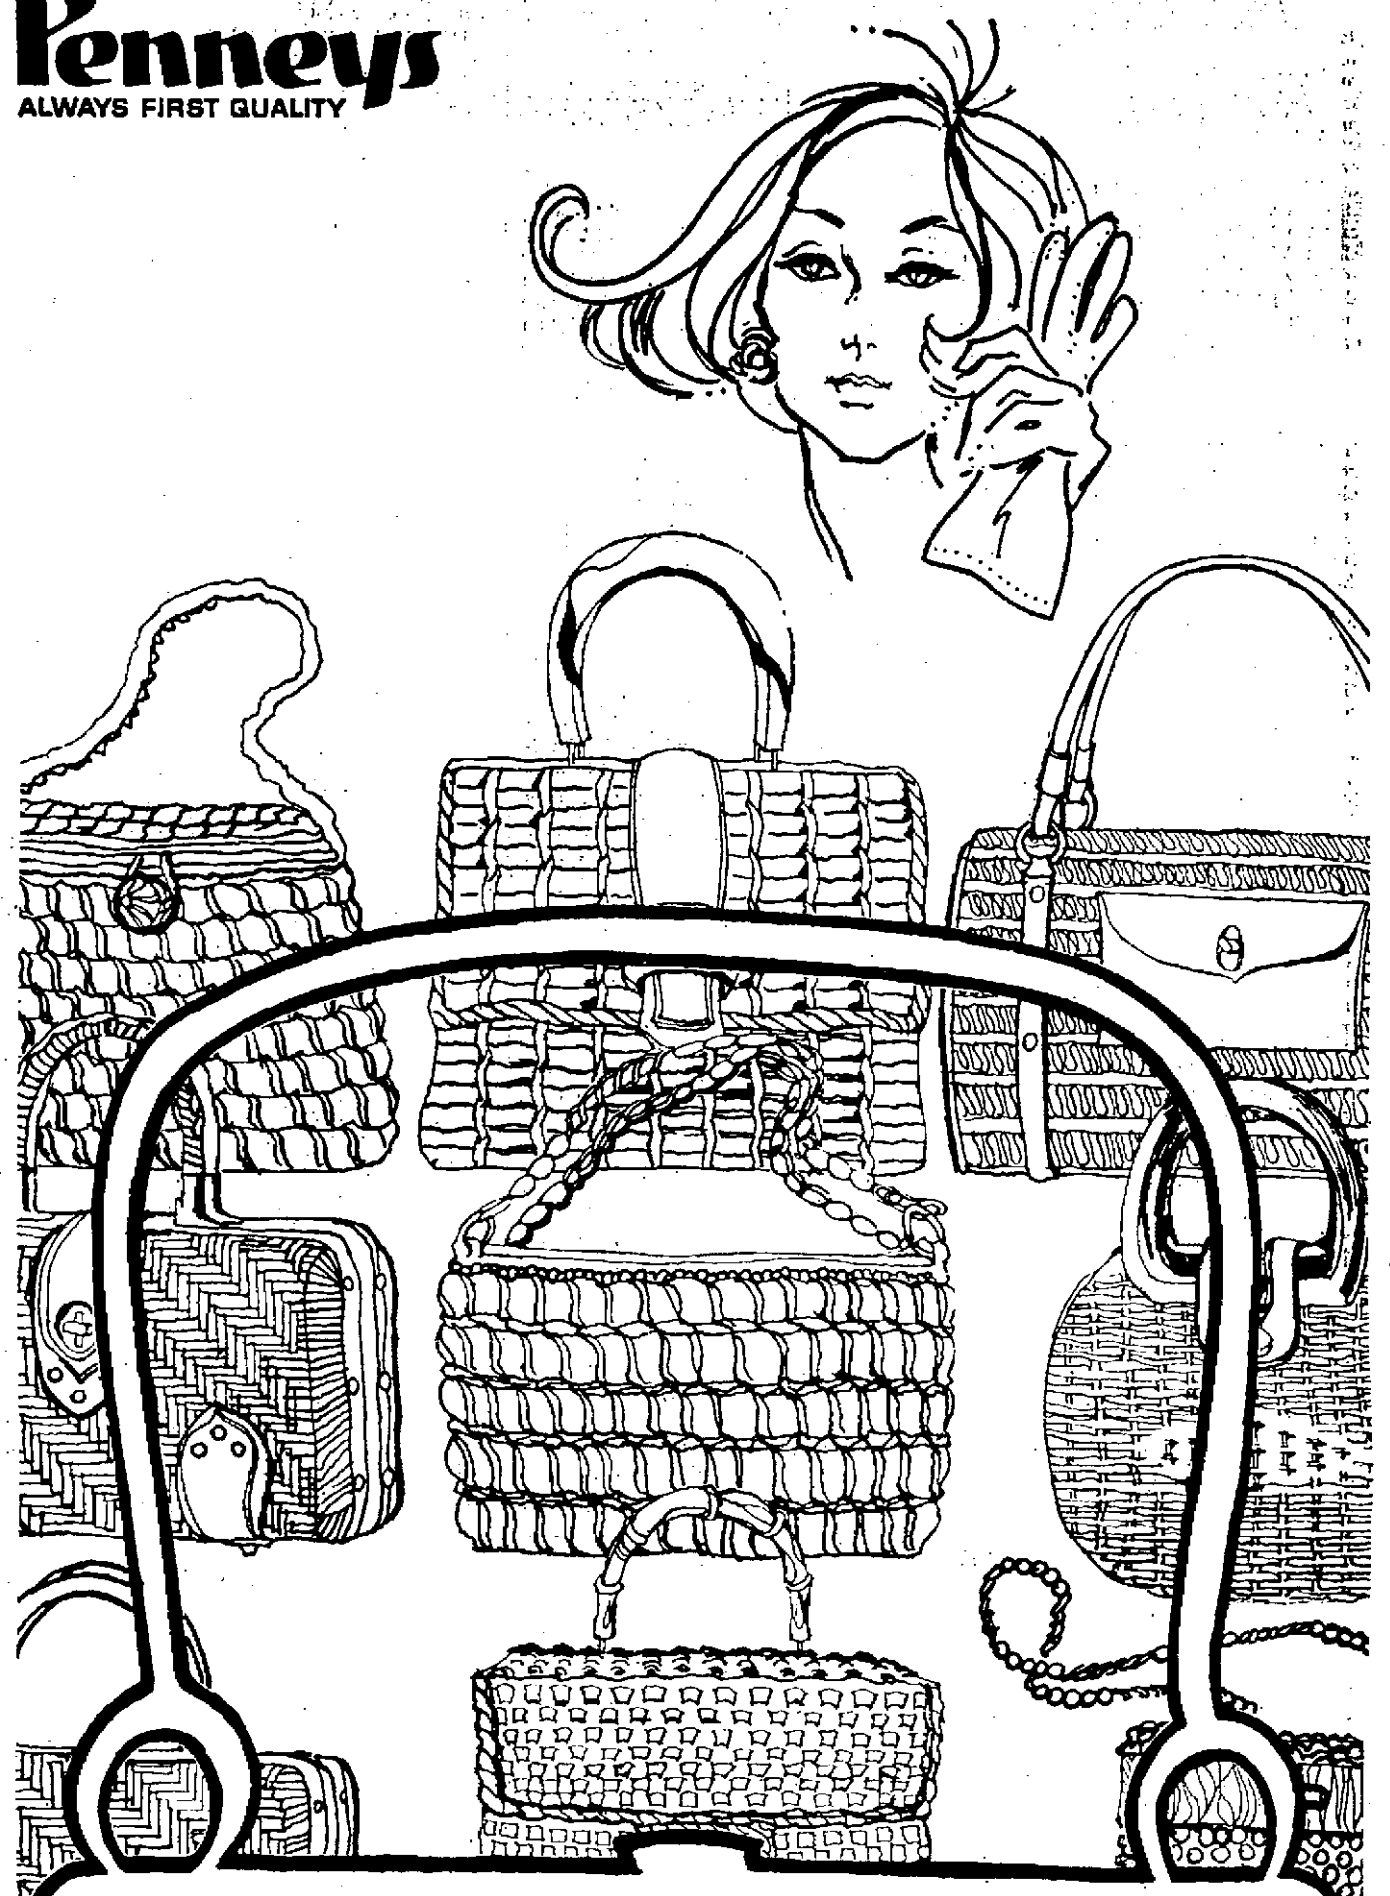

* * * *

A MILITARY spokesman here said after the dueling Thursday that the Israelis had suffered heavy losses in personnel. "They thought they were beyond the reach of our fire," he added. The Israelis have maintained that their casualties in the recent exchanges have been light.

Egyptian long-range artillery was also reported to have destroyed an Israeli supply convoy at the Mitla Pass, about 18 miles east of the canal. The pass itself, however, is said to have been blocked since the Arab-Israeli war of June, 1967.

Assertions are being made here that most of the frontline fortifications have been destroyed by intensive bombardment.

'Missing' GI Escapes From Cong Captivity

CALEDONIA, Mich. (AP) — Spec. 5 Thomas H. Van Putten 21, is coming home from Vietnam—more than 14 months behind schedule and 64 pounds lighter.

Van Putten made it back to U.S. lines last week after escaping from the Viet Cong, who held him captive for 14 months.

And now his arrival is being happily awaited in his hometown of Caledonia, a village of 739 population about 15 miles southeast of Grand Rapids in western Michigan.

VAN PUTTEN'S homecoming relay can be traced back to Feb. 10, 1968, only a day before he was to be rotated back to the United States after a year in Vietnam, his mother said.

That was the day the roadscraper on which Van Putten had been riding guard was found abandoned off a road in Tay Ninh province about 70 miles northwest of Saigon. He was listed as "missing."

Seventeenth Cavalry troopers riding a helicopter last Thursday spied a GI aground frantically waving. They brought down the helicopter.

"I've escaped from the enemy," Van Putten's command reported were his first words.

"Give me something to eat," were his next, and then "I love you. I love you."

The U.S. Command at Saigon said Van Putten escaped from the Viet Cong "about 18 days before being found" but disclosed no other details.

Spokesmen for the Army said in Vietnam that Van Putten was suffering from malnutrition and dehydration, but otherwise was in good condition, although his weight had sagged from 185 pounds to 121 pounds.

"At times we didn't think our prayers were being answered, but I guess they were," Van Putten's father, Harry, told newsmen today.

"In our hearts, though, we never gave up hope."

The parents said they were awakened with the news of the son's escape at 3 a.m. Thursday by an Army colonel and lieutenant from Grand Rapids, "who had come by the house every once in a while" since their son's disappearance.

An hour and a half later the parents said they were talking by telephone to their son, who told them he was all right, but "awfully thin and awfully weak."

* * * *

"HE SEEMED more interested in finding out if we were OK," said the father, an employe of a Grand Rapids office furniture manufacturing firm.

The parents said they were told the son would be returned to the United States promptly and they could count on visiting him today "at the Army hospital nearest us."

$800,000 Italian Painting Stolen

PESARO, Italy (AP) — "The Madonna of the Goldfinch," one of Italy's most famous Renaissance paintings, has been stolen from a church on Pesaro's outskirts, police reported Saturday. Some experts value the painting at $800,000.

Burglars entered the Collegiata di San Giovanni Battista church Friday night through a small window in one of its chapels.

They removed the canvas and left the frame.

The painting was attributed to the 15th century painter, Pietro Vannucci Perugino, teacher of Raphael. It shows a Madonna and Jesus and John the Baptist as children, with a goldfinch perched on a window opening over a landscape.

KINDA LONELY UP THERE

Norwalk Signsitter in Perch 17 Days—But All's Not Well

By BILL HOMER
Staff Writer

Everyone in Norwalk wants to know if there's something wrong with Acey Jane's head. Like, is he nutsy-cookoo or something?

Well, folks, aside from a touch of loneliness and a few dizzy spells, Acey's just as cool as the rest of us.

The only difference is that we're on the ground and he's whirling around atop a 58-foot-high sign at the Golden West Ballroom, 12400 S. Studebaker Road.

Acey, 24, has been on top of that sign for two weeks and three days as of this morning, and he plans to stay up for at least 30 days and just maybe for 42.

Now why does a man pull a stunt like this? Fame? Fortune? Notoriety (which is something like fame)? Kicks? Idiocy?

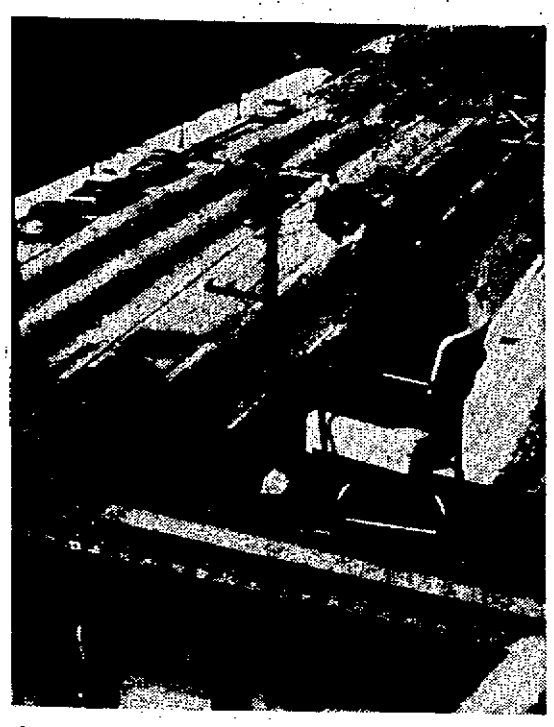

Nah! He just hopes to get enough money to go to deep sea diving school.

But according to Henrietta Smith, who works at the Golden West, Acey's not doing too well.

"He thought maybe he'd get some contributions from the folks who talk to him every day," Miss Smith said. "But so far, all Acey's got has been a measley $10.

"That guy's proud, though. Why Mr. (Olen) Thibedeau, who owns the Golden West, wanted to attach a collection basket to the sign post, but Acey wouldn't let him. He told Mr. Thibedeau he thought it would look like he was begging — and he's no beggar."

Thibedeau went along with Acey's stunt in hope the resultant publicity would do good things for the ballroom. The ballroom's not doing badly, but an employe at the Golden West said business hasn't picked up too much since Acey was hoisted atop the sign by a crane.

ACEY JANE RELAXES HIGH OVER NORWALK
24-Year-Old Signsitter's Stunt Half Over

Maybe the trouble is that everyone is outside the ballroom discussing the ways of the world with Acey; who's from Florida.

Aside from a food basket attached to a line which Acey pulls up to his revolving outpost, a walkie-talkie provides instant communications between himself and ground control.

Miss Smith says all the kids in the neighborhood stop to chat with Acey while going to and from school.

And several customers have been known to gaze at his pseudoapparitional presence on top of the sign.

But all's not well with Acey's heart, Miss Smith reports.

"Actually, Acey's getting kind of lonely up there," she said. "I think he might be getting a little dizzy, too. People talk to him, but it's not really the same as if he were on the ground, you know.

"Some people might say he's crazy, but I don't think so. He's a really nice guy. Some folks think he's got no business up there on the sign; that he's wasting his time.

"Well, Acey's 24 years old — so what's he got to lose?"

Atomic Ship Named

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan's first nuclear powered merchant ship, scheduled to be launched June 12, will be christened Mutsu, it was announced Saturday. The Japan Nuclear Ship Development Agency said the vessel is being named after its home port in Japan's northern Aomori Prefecture.

New Yugo Airport

BELGRADE (UPI) — Yugoslavia Saturday opened a new international airport near the Adriatic coast city of Zadar, the Yugoslav news agency Tanju reported. The report said it is the country's ninth international airport and the fifth on the Adriatic coast.

St. Louis Strikes Close Two Major Newspapers

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI — A group of 80 paperhandlers Saturday closed down the two major daily newspapers — the afternoon St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the morning S. I. Newhouse St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Pulitzer Publishing Co. posted a memorandum in the composing and mailrooms telling employes, "There Is No Work Available For You To Perform. Until further notice, you are no longer required to report for work and your compensation has ceased with the completion of your shift's work."

The Post-Dispatch notice said "this should in no sense be considered as notice of termination of your employment relationship with us, but should only be considered as notice of a period during which there is no work to be performed."

Prior to the statement, printers and mailroom employes had crossed the paperhandler's picket line. Members of the American Newspaper Guild were to meet Monday to decide whether to continue to honor the picket line or to enter the Post Dispatch building.

Beverage Industry Plans Convention

JOHN 'BEANS' REARDON
Former Umpire

The California Dining and Beverage Assn. will hold its 14th annual convention beginning Tuesday in the Disneyland Hotel in Anaheim.

The three-day convention will feature the newest merchandise and services available to the dining and beverage business, as well as daily business sessions and social events.

Guest speakers will include Edward J. Kirby, state director of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board; Fr. Don Murray, founder of the Sky Ranch for Boys; Paul E. Jorgensen, coordinator of the National Licensed Beverage Association, and John 'Beans' Reardon, former National League baseball umpire and now a special representative of Anheuser-Busch, Inc.

Membership in the association is limited to restaurant and bar owners, but the convention is open to anyone for a registration fee of $25, which includes all luncheons and social events.

Local association officers include, Paulina E. Maier, treasurer, owner of the Nugget Bar, Long Beach; Percy Ekegren, owner of the Press Club, Long Beach and Frank A. Bila, of Anaheim, both members of the board of advisory governors.

Chairman of the board is George C. Heinrich, Long Beach, owner of the Captain's Inn.

GRANDMA LEADS PAY PROTEST IN VEGAS

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — More than 1,500 striking teachers — led by a grandmother and several shapely showgirls — marched past the "Strip" gambling spas Saturday to protest low wages.

Rita Scheiner, president of the Clark County Classroom Teachers Assn. and a grandmother, led the sign-carrying foot brigade.

Four showgirls from the "Lido de Paris" seminude spectacular joined the protest march as concerned parents. They carried a sign which said "the Lido girls join the teachers."

Southern Nevada schools were closed Friday when teachers went on strike for higher pay including a starting salary of $8,000 a year. Mrs. Scheiner said the educators would boycott the classrooms until their demands were met.

Irish Riots Flare Again

N.Y. Times Service

BELFAST, Northern Ireland — The worst rioting in Londonderry since the start of the civil rights campaign in October broke out Saturday night.

In disturbances lasting several hours, 57 police were injured, of whom 12 were detained in hospital, one with a serious eye injury. Police said there were no figures for the number of civilians injured though early unofficial reports put the number at 36. Twenty-two arrests were made.

Student Protest Halts Baton Making

CHICO (UPI) — Chico State College officials have ordered a halt to production of wooden police batons after the campus newspaper Wildcat reported they were manufactured by the maintenance department.

Dr. Guy Bernard, the college administrator who halted the production, said the batons were made to help train and equip the Chico police department.

Suez Canal Gun Battle Continues

Israeli, Egyptian Gunners Trade Artillery Fire

United Press International

Artillery battles between Israeli and Arab forces blazed on two Mideach fronts Saturday. Communiques from Cairo and Amman reported heavy Israeli losses, but there was no such confirmation from Jerusalem.

Egyptian and Israeli gunners traded artillery and tank fire across the Suez Canal for the 12th consecutive day. Egyptian reports said Israeli tanks and fortifications were knocked out and that losses were inflicted on reinforcements Israeli commanders rushed to the front.

In Amman, the Jordanian capital, military spokesmen said Jordanian and Israeli troops fought a 2¾ hour artillery duel over a wide area of Northern Jordan.

The Jordanians said 25 Israelis were killed or wounded. Amman reports said the Israelis fired from the Golan Heights area, a part of Syria occupied in the June, 1967, war.

Reports from Israel made no mention of Israeli losses or casualties in either the Suez Canal or Jordanian battles.

The Suez action spread from the entrance to the Great Bitter Lakes to 10 miles south of Port Said, a distance of about 70 miles.

'Come Out,' Pope Advises His Bishops

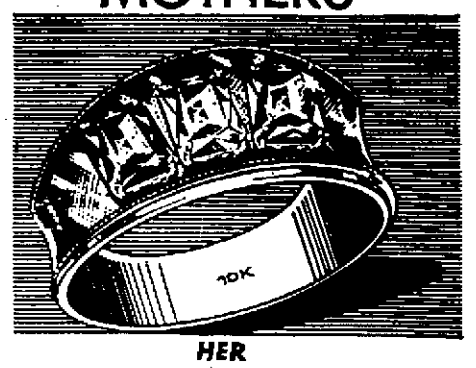

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI told Italian bishops Saturday to come out of their palaces and personally carry the word of God to the people of God.

The Pope told members of the Italian Bishops Conference at an audience in the Vatican:

"The bishop of yesterday was able to be withdrawn and protected by his own authority, confined to his residence and to pastoral visits, but he was able to guard the exercise of his mission with a certain remoteness from his clergy and from his people. Today he no longer can.

"The bishop returns to being father, shepherd, brother, friend, warner and consoler in the midst of the people of God."

New Czech Chief Tightens Controls; Discontent Mounts

PRAGUE (AP) — Amid murmurs of discontent among student liberals, Gustav Husak, Czechoslovakia's new Communist chieftain, tightened his control Saturday over the press and the party apparatus.

Husak, who replaced Alexander Dubcek, the popular hero of last year's ill-fated liberalization drive, as party first secretary dispatched emissaries around the country to let it be known he will not tolerate any renewed anti-Soviet demonstrations or criticism.

LOYAL national party officials were sent to large cities in Bohemia, Moravia and Slovakia to explain the new policy to regional party organs.

Few if any Dubcek reformers participated in this. The list of speakers included four conservatives who had been accused by the liberals of collaborating with the Soviets when they invaded the country last August.

The four were Josef Lenart, Jan Piller, Milos Jakes and Alois Indra.

The main overt opposition so far appeared among student groups. The agricultural and teachers colleges at Budejovice, southern Bohemia, informed Prague students they are striking against the changeover. No details were available.

The Prague Student Council said a possible strike next week was still being discussed.

At the Prague School of Economics, a proclamation in effect rejected Husak's announcement of a struggle against antisocialist elements in Czechoslovakia.

"Our attitude toward the Soviet Union is not the result of activities of so-called right wing forces or the mass communications media but the result of the unjustified brutal interference of the Warsaw Pact armies into our lives last August," said the proclamation of the school's student academic council, posted at the main entrance.

THE PROCLAMATION declared, "We students are for the peaceful development of our republic and we do not want to be nor will we be mere wheels in the monstrous machinery of a bureaucratic state. We can now no longer obediently bow to the gross manipulation of people."

The student statement said "Alexander Dubcek resigned because of concentrated and long range pressure from the side of the conservative forces.

"In the election of Dr. Gustav Husak," it added, "we see not merely a personal change but also a change of political course."

The students said Husak's record to date "negates the proclaimed democratic forms of political life of state and party."

Hijackers Seeking Political Asylum Won't Be Turned Out, Cuba Says

MIAMI (AP) — The Cuban government says it will not turn away anyone who pirates a plane for the purpose of obtaining political asylum.

Cuba's position was outlined in a broadcast over the government-controlled Havana Radio. The broadcast, monitored in Miami, reported on remarks it said Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, a top Cuban official, made at a news conference in Lima, Peru.

The radio quoted Rodriguez as saying, "One cannot demand that Cuba hand over men who in many cases seek asylum on its soil from the oppression they suffer in their countries."

The broadcast was unclear on whether hijackers who are not political refugees would also be kept in Cuba.

There have been U.S. diplomatic efforts to win extradition of hijackers and thus help end air piracy.

Report Gains in Fight to Control the Weather

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of Reclamation reported Saturday steady progress, but still a long way to go, toward the day when man gains some control over the weather.

The bureau issued its second annual report on Project Skywater, its effort to develop ways of increasing the water supply of needy areas by controlling precipitation.

* * * *

THE PROGRAM actually began in 1962 when Congress appropriated $100,000 for "research on increasing rainfall by cloud seeding," but it didn't really get rolling until 1965 when the appropriation jumped to $1.1 million.

In fiscal 1968, the period covered by this report, the program cost $4.5 million.

During that time, the report said, Skywater started important new research programs and, under a broader congressional mandate, extended its activities into the eastern states for the first time, becoming a nationwide project.

But the major thrust was still toward the chronically thirsty western and midwestern states.

* * * *

"THE MOST NOTICEABLE change in Project Skywater," the report said, "is the movement toward pilot projects. One such project will involve winter storms in the Rocky Mountains; another will concentrate on summer storms in the Great plains.

"Each pilot project will test a different system and, by the end of a four- or five-year period, each will have demonstrated the efficiency of that particular technology in providing additional useful water."

The winter pilot project is to take place in the Colorado Rockies; the summer one in McKenzie County, N.D.

The student statement said "Alexander Dubcek resigned because of concentrated and long range pressure from the side of the conservative forces.

"In the election of Dr. Gustav Husak," it added, "we see not merely a personal change but also a change of political course."

The students said Husak's record to date "negates the proclaimed democratic forms of political life of state and party."

Hijackers Seeking Political Asylum Won't Be Turned Out, Cuba Says

MIAMI (AP) — The Cuban government says it will not turn away anyone who pirates a plane for the purpose of obtaining political asylum.

Cuba's position was outlined in a broadcast over the government-controlled Havana Radio. The broadcast, monitored in Miami, reported on remarks it said Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, a top Cuban official, made at a news conference in Lima, Peru.

The radio quoted Rodriguez as saying, "One cannot demand that Cuba hand over men who in many cases seek asylum on its soil from the oppression they suffer in their countries."

The broadcast was unclear on whether hijackers who are not political refugees would also be kept in Cuba.

There have been U.S. diplomatic efforts to win extradition of hijackers and thus help end air piracy.

Report Gains in Fight to Control the Weather

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of Reclemation reported Saturday steady progress, but still a long way to go, toward the day when man gains some control over the weather.

The bureau issued its second annual report on Project Skywater, its effort to develop ways of increasing the water supply of needy areas by controlling precipitation.

* * * *

THE PROGRAM actually began in 1962 when Congress appropriated $100,000 for "research on increasing rainfall by cloud seeding," but it didn't really get rolling until 1965 when the appropriation jumped to $1.1 million.

In fiscal 1968, the period covered by this report, the program cost $4.5 million.

During that time, the report said, Skywater started important new research programs and, under a broader congressional mandate, extended its activities into the eastern states for the first time, becoming a nationwide project.

But the major thrust was still toward the chronically thirsty western and midwestern states.

* * * *

"THE MOST NOTICEABLE change in Project Skywater," the report said, "is the movement toward pilot projects. One such project will involve winter storms in the Rocky Mountains; another will concentrate on summer storms in the Great plains.

"Each pilot project will test a different system and, by the end of a four- or five-year period, each will have demonstrated the efficiency of that particular technology in providing additional useful water."

The winter pilot project is to take place in the Colorado Rockies; the summer one in McKenzie County, N.D.

SUICIDE PREVENTION

Crises Common to Center Staff

By BOB SANDERS
Staff Writer

Crises come a dozen a day in a little room in the basement of Orange County Medical Center, 1015 S. Manchester Ave.

At three tiny desks sit a trio of pert and alert members of the Mental Health Association of Orange County. With imperturbable aplomb they talk to all kinds of people with all kinds of problems.

This is the "phone room" of Orange County's Crisis Intervention and Suicide Center.

ORGANIZED IN January, 1967, the center has already handled crises for more than 12,000 people.

Although set up primarily as a suicide prevention center, it also handles other problems by counseling on the phone or by referral to the center's staff of psychiatrists and social workers.

Financed by the Short-Doyle Act, in which the state pays 75 per cent of the cost while the county picks up the tab for the remainder (July 1 the state will begin paying 90 per cent), the center has a staff of one fulltime and one parttime psychiatrist, two parttime registered nurses, four psychiatric social workers and about 50 Mental Health Associates (volunteers).

Anyone in the county who is depressed or has a problem he feels he can't handle can call the center (the number belongs to the Orange County Medical Center and is listed several places in the phone book) and get counsel.

MRS. JANE Akamine, a beautiful, soft-voiced Oriental woman is typical.

She answers the phone promptly and speaks with a calm efficiency touched with a liberal dose of sympathetic understanding.

She tries to get the person calling to give his name and telephone number, but if he won't she continues to talk to him about his problem.

Sometimes this is all she can do. Consequently, in these cases, she never knows whether she actually helped the person or not.

However, in most cases the person does give the information and Mrs. Akamine tries to get him to come into the center.

There the patient is allowed six visits with whichever staff member can help the most — psychiatrist, social worker or nurse. If the person still needs help after the sixth visit and many do, he is referred to another organization, like Family Services, Alcoholics Anonymous, Child Guidance Center, Synanon or another hospital.

"WE TRY TO help them over the immediate crisis," Mrs. Vivian Herr Paddock, newly elected chairman of the volunteers, says. "If they have a problem that requires long-term treatment, we have to turn them over to someone else."

The need for the Suicide Center is illustrated by statistics: during last year, according to the Orange County Coroner's Office, 170 people "successfully" committed suicide

"Many of these lives could have been saved," says Dr. Arnold Deutsch, psychiatrist in charge of the center, "if someone could have talked to them before they acted."

Many of these people took their lives in a fit of despondency.

Volunteers at the center talk every day to people in a similar state — and manage to get most of them to accept help.

Marine Groups to Hear About U.S. Arctic

Dr. Charles C. Bates, science advisor to the commandant, U.S. Coast Guard, will describe the American arctic at a joint meeting of the American Society for Oceanography and the Marine Technology Society Monday night.

The program, starting at 8:15 in the Edgewater Inn, is open to the public.

Dr. Bates intends to take the audience on a 9,500-mile verbal trip from Greenland across Canada to Alaska.

A dinner for members of the two sponsoring organizations will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Satirists Dissect Society at CSLB

By GEORGE LAINE
Staff Writer

Favorite institutions — from the church to the flag, from schools to police — were dealt a satirical dissection Friday as the Nifty Players delighted a packed house at California State College at Long Beach.

The crowd, many of them standing after all the seats in Lecture Hall 151 were filled, howled with laughter as individuals were shredded by the seven-member theatrical company.

Most of the satire was lightly handled, although those subjects considered the most serious by young people today — war, police action, racism and adult hypocrisy — were subjected to a more heavy-handed approach.

Not too strangely, the CSLB student audience appreciated even those items not really qualifying as satire.

Elliot Fried, who organized the revolutionary theater group — they refuse to accept money for their performances — says the theory on the offerrings of the Nifty Players is to "open up the minds" of audiences by "throwing so many ideas at them that they have to have something register on them."

In lightning-fast order, the CSLB audience saw comment on:

—Sex.
—Parental displeasure with the conduct of their offspring.
—Racism.
—Undercover narcotics agents.
—Dehumanization in modern life.
—Advertising phoniness.
—Superpatriots.
—The church.
—Spiro Agnew.
—Sex education.
—Police conduct.

The troupe, composed of Paul Wood, Carol Quinlan, Susan Fried, Howard Stubbs, Susan Fain, Lisa Endig and Rachel Faber, has performed in the past at UC, Irvine; Cal State Fullerton and other schools. They plan to continue performing at "colleges and universities, mostly," Fried said.

100 Flee as Fire Sweeps Apartment

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — About 100 apartment dwellers were routed early today when flames swept a three-story brick and wood apartment house.

JAMES PULLMAN

DENNIS CODER

Coast Club Names Coder President

Edgar L. (Ted) Fraser, owner and president of Pacific Coast Club Inc., announced Saturday the promotion of Dennis Coder to corporation president.

The promotion was effective Saturday with Fraser becoming chairman of the board.

James M. Pullman, currently director of athletics, will become vice president, the position formerly held by Coder.

Coder, 32, also general manager of the more than 3,000-member organization, will retain that title.

FRASER SAID Coder had done an outstanding job since taking over the general managership in 1964 when the club was purchased.

The facility at 850 E. Ocean Blvd., previously was owned by the Los Angeles Athletic Association.

Coder attended the University of California at San Diego where he majored in business administration. He and his wife, Charlotte and their two children, Raymond, 5, and Cassandra, 2, reside at 16872 Morse Circle, Huntington Harbour.

His civic affiliations include: Jaycees, Chamber of Commerce, Touchdown Club, 49'er Booster Club and Town Hall, of which he is secretary.

He is also a member of the Republican State Committee and a member of the boards of the California Dining and Beverage Association and the California Club Managers Association.

PULLMAN, 34, who lives at 16872 Sea Witch Lane, Huntington Harbour, has been the club's athletic director since 1967. He will remain in that position as well as assuming the vice president's title.

Librarians to Hear San Diego Attorney

Edward T. Butler, former San Diego city attorney, will talk on "intellectual Freedom and the Academic Community" at a meeting of the California Library Association Southern Division here Saturday.

His talk will follow a 10 a.m. session "Previews and Reviews," featuring State Librarian Carma Leigh and Mrs. Phyllis Dalton, president, and Mrs. Dorothy Turcik, deputy executive director, of the CLA.

The meeting will be in Edgewater Inn.

EDWARD T. BUTLER

BUTLER was appointed city attorney of San Diego in 1964, then was elected to a full term in the job in 1965. He resigned in January to enter private practice there.

* * * *

DURING 1965-66, he served on the state attorney general's advisory committee on obscenity, and the following year was named to the governor's Commission on Law Preemption.

Mrs. Frances Henselman, president of the CLA's southern district and Long Beach city librarian, said Butler has a "highly significant" point of view in evaluating current campus disorders.

He is a graduate of George Washington University and Harvard law school. He served with the Marines in World War II and Korea, and retired as a lieutenant colonel.

Prior to moving to San Diego, he practiced law in Los Angeles. He has lectured at San Diego State College and the University of California at San Diego.

Warships to Parade

BRUSSELS (UPI)—Sixty-three warships from 12 nations will participate in a review at Spithead, Eng., May 16, marking the 20th anniversary of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, it was announced Saturday.

63 YEARS TOTAL

2 Veteran Firemen Retire

Retirement of two veteran Long Beach firemen, John J. Lloyd, the department's official photographer, and Malvern W. Aust, "City Employe of the Year" in 1968, was announced this week.

Lloyd, retiring after 39 years, was photographer for the department for 19 years and had been an engineer since 1941.

During his tenure he drew up a design for a calculator for engine pressures which was requested by fire chiefs of a number of cities.

JOHN J. LLOYD

MALVERN W. AUST

LLOYD, WHO served as librarian for the motion picture division of the Photographic Society of America from 1958 through 1967, also made scores of motion pictures for the city and for civic organizations.

He is past president of the Long Beach Cinema Club and of the Southern California Association of Amateur Movie Clubs and has been a member of the R. E. Dolly Masonic Lodge for 40 years.

Lloyd said he and his wife, Paulana will remain residents of Long Beach but plan to travel.

Aust joined the department in October, 1945 and was promoted to engineer in 1962.

He was an officier in the Long Beach Fire Fighters Local 372 for many years and is a past president of the California State Firemen's Association.

In addition he has been active in the Harbor District Firemen's Association and the Federated Fire Fighters of California.

Fellow firemen considered him an expert in his knowledge of retirement and disability provisions for firemen.

He said he and his wife Margaret plan to travel and fish.

BOARD POST TO COMPTON

District Attorney Evelle J. Younger's top assistant, Lynn D. Compton, will become the newest member of the California Crime Technological Research Foundation board of directors, if the state senate approves.

Compton, former head of the district attorney's Long Beach branch office, now is chief deputy of the entire department. He lives in Palos Verdes Estates.

Compton was one of the prosecutors in the Sirhan B. Sirhan trial for the murder of Sen. Robert Kennedy.

L.B. Institute Earns Valley Forge Award

The Institute of Lifetime Learning has been awarded an honor certificate by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge for helping spread the idea of Americanism.

Presentation of the award will take place at the institution's headqaurters, 215 Long Beach Blvd., Wednesday at 10:30 a.m.

The award recognises a radio series of 13 programs relating American history from Sir Walter Raleigh to Thomas Jefferson.

The series called "Our American Heritage" is one of 10 recorded classes at the Instititue being broadcast on more than 1,150 radio stations.

Fire Protection Offers Rejected

An offer by the city of Seal Beach to supply fire protection to county areas near its boundaries has been rejected in a letter to City Manager Lee Risner.

The city had proposed fire fighting services for the Seal Beach Naval Weapons Station, but the county declined because the station has its own fire department. The city's offer to protect the Heilman oil lease opposite the station was rejected because of the "good fire record" maintained there.

Sunset Bay Aquatic Park can get adequate protection from the Sunset Beach Fire Department and from a fireboat.

AMERICAN PAIR NABBED IN BRITISH 'SPY' RAID

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard and British military intelligence authorities Saturday pulled a curtain of secrecy across the case of a middle-aged American man and his wife whose suburban London home was raided by counterespionage detectives.

Twenty-four hours after the security raid the mystery couple were believed to be still undergoing questioning by intelligence officers and Special Branch detectives, but officials refused to reveal any details of the swoop, or the couple's names.

* * * *

A SEARCH of the white-plastered house overlooking the scenic Surrey Hills in the southern suburb of Purley was made on a warrant issued under the Official Secrets Act, which deals with espionage.

The raid was staged by 50 detectives from the Special Branch, which specialize in political crime and Britain's security.

Detectives kept guards at the gate and the curtains of the house were drawn to prevent crowds of sightseers from watching fingerprint experts and plain-clothesmen checking the building. Police took a pile of files and papers from the residence and searched the interior but informed sources said they had found nothing of importance.

Neighbors identified the couple as a 58-year-old American who told them he had worked as an interpreter for UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) and his wife, about 15 years younger. They had two adult sons and a 13-year-old daughter, and frequently flew the Stars and Stripes from a flagpole in the garden.

Some reports said it was believed the man was German-born and a nautalized American, who spoke with a faint central European accent and spent a good deal of time away from home on trips.

Neighbors said the house was filled with souvenirs and curios from many foreign countries, particularly the Middle East.

The two, who returned to the house only hours before the raid in a chauffeur-driven limousine after an absence of three weeks, were taken to nearby Kenlry police station Friday afternoon for interrogation.

Twenty-four hours later they had been taken away from the suburban station but their whereabouts were secret. One published report said they had been released and results of the investigation — which were negative — were being sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington. No confirmation of this report was available.

Hitler Birthday Is Ignored

BERLIN (UPI) — The 80th anniversary of Adolph Hitler's birth passes with little notice today in this nation which has risen from the depths of the shame and ruin he brought.

It was on April 20, 1889, in the Austrian village of Braunau-Am-Imm, that the man who was to become leader of the Third Reich was born.

Even now, 24 years after he apparently committed suicide to escape capture by the vitorious Allies, there are recurring rumors that Hitler is alive and well somewhere in South America.

None of these rumors has ever been authenticated, and most historians agree that the bodies of Hitler and his wife Eve Braun were cremated in a Berlin bunker on April 30, 1945.

7 in 2 Vehicles Killed in Collision

GEORGETOWN, Ill. (AP) — Two passenger cars collided near Georgetown Saturday, killing all seven occupants.

Authorities identified the dead as Charles A. Wells Jr., 21, driver of one of the cars, his passengers, Terry A. Ermilio, 22, Greg H. Donan, 19, Robert Meadows, 18, and Rudi Wobbe, 21, all of Chicago; the driver of the other car, Mrs. Roberta Wise, and her son, Ron, 15, of Olivet.

Protest Closing Job Units

WASHINGTON (AP)— Directors of Job Corps centers due to be closed in an administration cutback told Congress Saturday their centers are doing a good job and should be kept open.

The directors appeared before the House Education and Labor Committee after it was disclosed that the administration has ordered an immediate start on the closing of seven of the 59 centers due to be shut down by June 30.

In view of the administraion's action, Rep. William J. Scherle, R-Iowa, who supports the closing order, told Chairman Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., the hearings are a waste of time.

"Nothing is going to be changed now," said Scherle.

But Perkins went ahead with a long schedule of witnesses, all of whom told the same basic story: their centers are as good as or better than some of those that will be kept open.

Victoria Memorial

MADRID (UPI) — Spanish Chief of State Gen. Francisco Franco presided Saturday at official government memorial services for former Queen Victoria Eugenia at Madrid's Church of San Francisco el Grande. Victoria Eugenia died Tuesday in Lausanne, Switzerland, where she live in exile for 18 years. She was buried there Friday.

5 Deaths Laid to Ice

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — Two tour buses crashed in accidents Saturday on Bavarian highways slicked by unseasonal snow flurries, killing five persons and injuring 70 others. Three died in a crash near Waserburg, northeast of Munich, and two were killed in an accident at Hasenried, near Lake Constance.

FORMER GLOBETROTTER, MAJ. JOHN BLANTON MAKES OPPORTUNITY HIS MISSION
Air Force Academy Candidate Advisory Service Aide Helps Make Cadets of Negro Students

FROM MINORITY GROUPS

Ex-Globetrotter Recruits AF Cadets

By HERB SHANNON
Aerospace Editor

COLORADO SPRINGS — A former Globetrotter star on the administrative staff of the Air Force Academy here seldom gets a shot at the basket any more. Recruiting cadet candidates among minority groups nationwide keeps him on the sidelines.

"I did some coaching the first year I was here, but found I was getting behind in my work," explains Maj. John Blanton, assistant director of the Academy's candidate advisory service. "This effort takes 100 per cent of my time."

* * * *

THE RESULTS of the former professional athlete's work are beginning to show after less than three years in his present assignment from flight duty. There are now 49 Negro cadets at the Academy, compared to only three in 1959, and Congressional nominations show a steady increase in numbers each year.

"Last year 25 Negroes entered out of 126 nominated," Blanton pointed out. "We expect 195 nominations for the coming year, with about 35 becoming cadets. This is the average rate of acceptance for all groups."

Other ethnic groups also are represented, Blanton said, including a larger but less readily identifiable contingent of Mexican-Americans.

In addition to the Negro nominees who will meet the academic requirements for entrance next year, 40 or more will be offered a nine-month preparatory course at the Academy. Maj. Blanton will review their scholastic records and recommend promising candidates for the training.

* * * *

"WE DON'T compromise our academic requirements for any candidate, but this is one way we can upgrade a student to meet the requirements," he explained.

Not all those offered the prep school training will accept, because many will be offered straight academic scholarships at other schools, Blanton said.

"This is where we have to make our sales effort," he said. "We're competing for top level students."

Blanton works through 1,100 Air Force Reserve officers acting as Academy representatives to local high schools throughout the country. This "Foster Alumni Association" sets up speaking engagements for Negro cadets during midsemester breaks, and makes contact between school counselors, interested candidates and members of Congress who make the appointments to the Academy.

* * * *

MAJ. BLANTON'S own experience gives him an added incentive in recruiting potential career officers. A graduate of the Reserve Officers Training Corps program at Tennessee State University in 1955, he expected to serve the required three years and then return to professional basketball or use his degree in chemistry in a business career.

"But I forgot all about that with my first assignment as a B-47 navigator," he recalled. "I discovered a real opportunity in the Air Force."

Four years later, Blanton was given a B-52 Strategic Air Command assignment at Mather Air Force Base, Sacramento, eventually flying from Guam on the first bombing strikes in Vietnam.

His educational opportunities continued in 1965, with a year's assignment to the Air Force Command and Staff School immediately prior to coming to the Academy.

NOW HE finds personal satisfaction in promoting the knowledge of equal opportuinity at the Academy among members of his own race and the other minority groups.

Among other inducements he has to offer are a four-year university scholarship valued by the Air Force at $50,000, the most modern and best-equipped military campus in the nation and a guaranteed life career for qualified graduates.

Czechs to Climb

LIBEREC, Czechoslovakia (UPI) — Fourteen Liberic mountain climbers are preparing to make the first Czech mountaineering expedition to Alaska, the Czechoclovak news agency CTK said Saturday. It said the mountaineers, members of the Lokomotiva Sports Club of Liberic, will make the three-month expedition later this spring.

With Meningitis

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Marine Pvt. Joseph B. Morris, 20, was listed in serious condition with meningoccocal meningitis at the Naval Hospital Saturday, the Marine Corps reported.

The recruit, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Morris, Nevada, Mo., reported to the base Feb. 19. The case was the 22nd of the disease at the base this year.

Identify Skeleton as Radio Exec

HONOLULU (AP) — A skeleton found near a canefield just outside of Pearl City was identified Saturday as that of missing radio personality Gordon Scott.

The city-county medical examiner's office said identification was established through dental checks.

Police immediately began a homicide investigation into Scott's death, though they said there was no evidence of foul play at the scene.

Scott's bloodstained car was found abandoned on a Honolulu street two weeks after he disappeared Feb. 11.

The 42-year-old Scott, a former resident of Nashville, Tenn., was an account executive and announcer for radio station KTRG in Honolulu. He conducted a weekly radio show and was known to listeners as "Mr. Continental."

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Monday

Your birthday today: Your path through the year ahead will encounter countless detours. Speculation becomes extremely risky; gambling is undesirable. Family affairs, romantic interests seem, paradoxically, to thrive. Today's natives are serious-minded, pleasant. They will not involve themselves in petty quibbling.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Use your ingenuity, improvise upset plans into fresh opportunities. Much can be done on the spur of the moment where you are.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Today is one of those subtle turning points; your sense of what is important is shifting. Never in vain, lay on added importance.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): The temptation is to buy your way out of the tensions or to distract yourself by shopping. Neither has the desired results. Romantic contacts are thwarted by odd circumstances — wait for another day.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): The day begins unsettled, but persistent effort finally eases the situation. Personal plans are more readily promoted in the evening.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): New acquaintances provide interesting possibilities. Children and their adventures can leave you baffled. This time you must figure it out yourself, too.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Everything goes much better for you today, so set the leftovers of the last three days. Your money sprouts wings if you open your wallet.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Keep your ears (and eyes) open for information you could mend later. If you will grant any secrecy, this is a good day for dealing with any problems of mate. Business matters in the latter hours become easily upset. Meditation, study, or serious music this evening would be helpful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22): New partnership arrangements are appropriate now, but do not put up capital or materials. Your mate has some fresh tricks; some of them enjoyable, all surprising.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21): Interview a prospective employer. Take the day off and make the rounds looking for different ideas, new angles. Romantic interests stronger in the evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Conservative approaches will get you further ahead today. The situation of persons comes to your serious attention. Bear with interruptions as the people who break in on your schedules cannot help it. At home this evening, see what the state of affairs may be.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Do what you can to ease conflicts between friends and relatives. Offer your own apologies for any misunderstanding. It can pay off.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Creative activity is ready to bubble up at any encouragement. Young people provide a little surprise and special interest. Romance beckons from nearby!

FORMER GLOBETROTTER, MAJ. JOHN BLANTON MAKES OPPORTUNITY HIS MISSION
Air Force Academy Candidate Advisory Service Aide Helps Make Cadets of Negro Students

FROM MINORITY GROUPS

Ex-Globetrotter Recruits AF Cadets

By HERB SHANNON
Aerospace Editor

COLORADO SPRINGS — A former Globetrotter star on the administrative staff of the Air Force Academy here seldom gets a shot at the basket any more. Recruiting cadet candidates among minority groups nationwide keeps him on the sidelines.

"I did some coaching the first year I was here, but found I was getting behind in my work," explains Maj. John Blanton, assistant director of the Academy's candidate advisory service. "This effort takes 100 per cent of my time."

REALITY HOUSE THER APY

Ex-Addict Pulls No Punches in War on Drug Use by Youth

By MOLLY BURRELL
Staff Writer

George Santiago's bag is dealing, red-crossing, pressing buttons.

Reality is the keystone, contracts are an integral part, commitment is essential, and a circle is the structure — physical and symbolic.

At 28, Santiago, ex-drug addict, ex-convict, ex-alienate, uses a background in street fighting and chaotic youth as his strength in helping others.

HIS SPECIFIC job: volunteer leader of a "Reality House therapy" group of 15 boys with drug problems.

His method: seat them in a circle, get them to deal (interrelate with the group, dump out their garbage and hang-ups, — make a contract (agree not to withhold thoughts, feelings — make a commitment (to themselves.) He will often "red cross" (interrupt a dialogue between two people, short circuit a connection) for a reason. He tries to press buttons (touch emotions, feelings) whenever it is necessary.

"We sit in a circle because that's symbolic — beginning and ending, repeating, continuing. We sit in a circle with nothing to lean on, everyone facing the came center. If someone holds his head or grabs his stomach or clenches his fist he's 'red flagging' (consciously or unconsciously signaling that he needs help)" explains Santiago.

So why does George want to help?

"I'M HERE because I care. I wish I'd had something like this when I was 16, somebody to tell me the things these kids are hearing . . . I heard but I never felt. That's the difference here — we get to the feelings. Sometimes it's rough, but we communicate — we care."

George's experience with reality therapy began after a term in Green Haven prison in New York where he was transferred from Sing Sing. Prior to that he served five years in another state correctional facility, eight months in reform school. Born in New York City, he grew up in the streets, fought gang wars before he learned the multiplication tables, dropped out of school at 14.

"Fighting and stealing were a way of life, but even in my neighborhood they looked down on dope," he says. "Then I got in with some guys who were using heroin and away I went.

"Fortunately they put me away for a shooting, otherwise I could have been a first class addict. I was bad enough but I didn't stay out of prison long enough to get a real big habit," he says.

GEORGE SANTIAGO
'Reality Is the Keystone'

* * * *

"BUT I KNEW I needed help. Two days after I got out in December, 1967, I took a fix. I was still high when I went to fill out a job application in Harlem. I had to wait for an interview and I was so nervous I picked up a brochure about "Reality House." I started reading about the rehabilitation center for alcoholics and addicts. It operates out of a store building in Harlem and has a street program too. There are levels of progress from orientation to commitment, therapy, tutoring, workshop training," he explains.

"I got on the phone and suddenly there was this voice that really reached me and put it straight: 'What's more important — a job, or getting yourself together?'

"I hung up and rushed over to meet the voice — Leroy Looper, the founder of Reality House. And that was the best move I ever made," Santiago declares.

"From that time on I learned to understand why I had done the things I did, why I was afraid, why I hated, why I was always fighting. From that point, then, I've gone on to channel my fighting instinct into what I think is the best possible battle: the one to save other kids from what I went through."

* * * *

AFTER MARRYING a fellow "Reality House" participant George came west, took a job at a Long Beach chemical plant. Last July he joined the local Commission on Economic Opportunities PACT office as Neighborhood Service Coordinator. Here he directs referral services, coordinates existing housing programs.

The therapy group is his labor of love. County probation officers, who supplied his original referrals for part of their VISTO program, say they are more than pleased with initial results after four group meetings.

Five of the participants have asked to bring friends — a matter which must be put to a vote of the group before admission.

Every word is confidential, Santiago explains, because the youngsters aren't at a point where they can look at themselves openly without fearing that they should hide some part of their past or their feelings.

"That point will come later and will dispel fear," Santiago says.

"I know. I've been there."

CLOCKS WILL GO AHEAD NEXT WEEK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Daylight time will go into effect at 2 a.m. next Sunday everywhere in the country except in three states — Arizona, Hawaii and Michigan, the Department of Transporation reminded Saturday.

Under terms of the Uniform Time Act passed in 1966, clocks will remain advanced one hour until the last Sunday in October. That law makes advanced or daylight time automatic for the six months from late April until late October.

A state may exempt itself from observance of fast time, but only if it exempts the entire state. Arizona, Hawaii and Michigan are the only states to have done so.

AF Seizes 'Classified' News Films

BEDFORD, Mass. (UPI) — The Air Force confiscated news films taken Saturday at a fire which ravaged a building containing classified electronic equipment at the Mitre Corp.

The roof and walls of the one-story structure collapsed as firemen from surrounding communities and Hanscom Field battled the predawn blaze.

A spokesman for Mitre, which handles defense contracts, said the whole building was designated a classified area and it was for this reason that news films of the fire were confiscated.

Cranston Denounces Hard-Liners

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

Americans must fight the drift toward "a no-nonsense, law and order type of regime," U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., told a law and order conference in Los Angeles Saturday.

"We should leave that kind of government to dictatorships," Cranston said. "That's exactly the kind of government the new, hard-line communist Czech regime says it's instituting."

The Democratic senator said he preferred a government of "order and justice based upon law, which strives for equal opportunity and equal responsibility for each citizen."

* * * *

CRANSTON, speaking at a conference sponsored by the Constitutional Rights Foundation at the UCLA Student Union, said the main crisis of American government is exclusion of millions of citizens who "see no hope for themselves in the current system."

"We face a crisis in confidence in the Democratic process," he said.

To restore that confidence, Cranston called for making political conventions more responsible to party membes, abolishing the electoral college and placing ombudsmen in government bureaucracies.

"The draft should be abolished and replaced with a volunteer army," he said. "The fundamental difference between democracy and dictatorships is freedom of choice."

BUT WHAT of "those who resort to violence instead of playing by the rules?"

Cranston, who said the violence must be punished, added that "those who interfere with the rights of others in the academic community and elsewhere have no place there."

"Something must be done when fredom under the law threatens to become lawlessness under disorder," he said.

He carefully separated violence from civil disobedience.

* * * *

"THOSE WHO break a law to test its constitutionality are appealing to the higher law of the Constitution," he said. "They are showing faith in our society."

"If a law is unjust, an individual has a duty to test it," he said. "But to violate a law with violence is to abandon the democratic process and risk the destruction of freedom."

Cranston called for more federal funds in law enforcement for better-paid, better-trained and better-equipped police.

"The money shouldn't come from state property taxes," he said. "The property tax is runaway — outrageously high in California."

* * * *

HE ALSO lauded "the overwhelming majority of young people who are working with conscience to right the wrongs in society, and there are plenty of wrongs to see."

"They have stripped us of our illusions, revealing glaring injustices," he said. "We now see the moral nakedness of those who preach brotherhood in the suburbs while condoning adventurism in Vietnam and slashes in our welfare system."

Another speaker, Paul Saltman, provost of the UC San Diego, noted that quantitative changes in American universities have inevitably led to qualitative changes, sparking student unrest.

"When I went to college, only 5 to 7 per cent of high school graduates went on to higher education," he said. "Now it's 50 to 55 per cent."

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two men were being sought Saturday for questioning in a double slaying. Detectives said Janice Hockensmith, 32, and Ted Hockby, 30, were standing in a parkway near her mother's home talking to an unidentified third party early Saturday when an assailant walked up and fired two shots from a pistol, striking both in the head.

The assailant and the witness reportedly left the scene together, traveling in a station wagon at high speed.

The victims were residents of the same apartment building in Hollywood, but Miss Hockensmith had been staying with her mother, police said.

"I hung up and rushed over to meet the voice — Leroy Looper, the founder of Reality House. And that was the best move I ever made," Santiago declares.

"From that time on I learned to understand why I had done the things I did, why I was afraid, why I hated, why I was always fighting. From that point, then, I've gone on to channel my fighting instinct into what I think is the best possible battle: the one to save other kids from what I went through."

* * * *

AFTER MARRYING a fellow "Reality House" participant George came west, took a job at a Long Beach chemical plant. Last July he joined the local Commission on Economic Opportunities PACT office as Neighborhood Service Coordinator. Here he directs referral services, coordinates existing housing programs.

The therapy group is his labor of love. County probation officers, who supplied his original referrals for part of their VISTO program, say they are more than pleased with initial results after four group meetings.

Five of the participants have asked to bring friends — a matter which must be put to a vote of the group before admission.

Every word is confidential, Santiago explains, because the youngsters aren't at a point where they can look at themselves openly without fearing that they should hide some part of their past or their feelings.

"That point will come later and will dispel fear," Santiago says.

"I know. I've been there."

CLOCKS WILL GO AHEAD NEXT WEEK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Daylight time will go into effect at 2 a.m. next Sunday everywhere in the country except in three states — Arizona, Hawaii and Michigan, the Department of Transporation reminded Saturday.

Under terms of the Uniform Time Act passed in 1966, clocks will remain advanced one hour until the last Sunday in October. That law makes advanced or daylight time automatic for the six months from late April until late October.

A state may exempt itself from observance of fast time, but only if it exempts the entire state. Arizona, Hawaii and Michigan are the only states to have done so.

AF Seizes 'Classified' News Films

BEDFORD, Mass. (UPI) — The Air Force confiscated news films taken Saturday at a fire which ravaged a building containing classified electronic equipment at the Mitre Corp.

The roof and walls of the one-story structure collapsed as firemen from surrounding communities and Hanscom Field battled the predawn blaze.

A spokesman for Mitre, which handles defense contracts, said the whole building was designated a classified area and it was for this reason that news films of the fire were confiscated.

Cranston Denounces Hard-Liners

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

Americans must fight the drift toward "a no-nonsense, law and order type of regime," U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., told a law and order conference in Los Angeles Saturday.

"We should leave that kind of government to dictatorships," Cranston said. "That's exactly the kind of government the new, hard-line communist Czech regime says it's instituting."

The Democratic senator said he preferred a government of "order and justice based upon law, which strives for equal opportunity and equal responsibility for each citizen."

* * * *

CRANSTON, speaking at a conference sponsored by the Constitutional Rights Foundation at the UCLA Student Union, said the main crisis of American government is exclusion of millions of citizens who "see no hope for themselves in the current system."

"We face a crisis in confidence in the Democratic process," he said.

To restore that confidence, Cranston called for making political conventions more responsible to party membes, abolishing the electoral college and placing ombudsmen in government bureaucracies.

"The draft should be abolished and replaced with a volunteer army," he said. "The fundamental difference between democracy and dictatorships is freedom of choice."

BUT WHAT of "those who resort to violence instead of playing by the rules?"

Cranston, who said the violence must be punished, added that "those who interfere with the rights of others in the academic community and elsewhere have no place there."

"Something must be done when fredom under the law threatens to become lawlessness under disorder," he said.

He carefully separated violence from civil disobedience.

* * * *

"THOSE WHO break a law to test its constitutionality are appealing to the higher law of the Constitution," he said. "They are showing faith in our society."

"If a law is unjust, an individual has a duty to test it," he said. "But to violate a law with violence is to abandon the democratic process and risk the destruction of freedom."

Cranston called for more federal funds in law enforcement for better-paid, better-trained and better-equipped police.

"The money shouldn't come from state property taxes," he said. "The property tax is runaway — outrageously high in California."

* * * *

HE ALSO lauded "the overwhelming majority of young people who are working with conscience to right the wrongs in society, and there are plenty of wrongs to see."

"They have stripped us of our illusions, revealing glaring injustices," he said. "We now see the moral nakedness of those who preach brotherhood in the suburbs while condoning adventurism in Vietnam and slashes in our welfare system."

Another speaker, Paul Saltman, provost of the UC San Diego, noted that quantitative changes in American universities have inevitably led to qualitative changes, sparking student unrest.

"When I went to college, only 5 to 7 per cent of high school graduates went on to higher education," he said. "Now it's 50 to 55 per cent."

L.A. Hunts 'Excutioner' of Couple

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two men were being sought Saturday for questioning in a double slaying. Detectives said Janice Hockensmith, 32, and Ted Hockby, 30, were standing in a parkway near her mother's home talking to an unidentified third party early Saturday when an assailant walked up and fired two shots from a pistol, striking both in the head.

The assailant and the witness reportedly left the scene together, traveling in a station wagon at high speed.

The victims were residents of the same apartment building in Hollywood, but Miss Hockensmith had been staying with her mother, police said.

UC Policy Challenged By Regent

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

A statement by a University of California regent that California state colleges offer "second-class" degrees has been branded "unwarranted" by the state college chancellor.

Frederick A. Dutton told a regents meeting Friday that the University of California is — in effect — a "racist institution," because it fails to give enough aid to racial minority students, thus shuffling them off on state colleges.

But State College Chancellor Glenn Dumke countered that "regent Dutton voices the common misconception that differences in admission standards implies differences in quality of students admitted."

The state colleges are oriented to provide educations for those "who will assume major roles in business, industry, agriculture, government and education in the state," Dumke said.

He added that many students choose state colleges over universities because of their liberal arts program, decreased expense and relative proximity to residential areas.

Dutton said UC selects students partly through tests based on "cultural and attitudinal and language problems (some minority students' cannot cope with.

About 25 per cent of the state's population is black or chicano, but only 3 per cent of the university population is from these minorities, Dutton said.

'Archaic' School Administration Is Blamed for Student Unrest

By TOM WILLMAN
Staff Writer

Outdated administrative procedures must share the blame with hard-core student radicals for student unrest, a San Francisco State College spokesman told California college journalists in Fresno Saturday.

Harvey Yorke, director of public affairs for the San Francisco campus, told the racially-mixed group "I see the kind of cross-section in this audience that I wish we had more of."

Delegates at the California Intercollegiate Press Association included 27 students and three professors from Cal-State Long Beach.

Yorke, introduced as an administrative spokesman "with special emphasis on rebellions and riot control," said "there's no doubt we need a lot of changes" in administrative procedures.

"College administration is about as archaic a thing as can be. It's a wonder it has survived as long as it has," he said.

Yorke said a combination of "dedicated revolutionaries, onlookers who participate in demonstrations as long as it's safe, and apathetic students" fomented the disorder in the three-month-long student strike.

"Other students only participate because they get a vicarious thrill from getting lost in a crowd and doing something they've always been told they couldn't do," he added.

Yorke claimed the apathy among students during student body elections allowed campus leftists to "capture the student government at San Francisco."

"You build a political system when you have this kind of loot available," said Yorke, referring to the $400,000 Student body funds.

This year, he added, a number of programs were "corrupted" through misuse of allocated funds.

After his speech, he restated his belief that the college structure needs revision.

"The whole idea of higher education began with a small group of students gathered around their teacher on a hill," he said, "and everything worked well."

"But when you cram 18,000 people onto a college campus, everybody just has to give up something," he said.

To make matters worse, Yorke said, most college administrators are trained as educators.

"One revision would be splitting the job between two men," he said. "One man could be the inspirational leader for the college, while the other would back him up as the operational leader."

Welshmen Aim Protest at Charles

ABERYSTWYTH, Wales (UPI) — One of Prince Charles' Welsh language tutors asked Saturday that the price be "left alone to get down to work" when he enrolls at the University College of Wales Monday.

Edward Millward, former vice president of the Welsh Nationalist Party, said the prince will have "his plate full" without outside distractions.

A small group of advocates for a "free Wales" — independence from Great Britain — has in recent months promised demonstrations protesting the prince's stay.

"No student can do satisfactory work if he is plagued day by day, and we all hope that he will be let alone to become more fully acquainted with contemporary development in Wales," Millward said.

The prince's nine-week stay at the university, to be followed by his investiture as Prince of Wales, has set off the greatest resurgence of Welsh nationalism since the 15th century.

RED PAPER JABS AT POLICE

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Moscow newspaper Saturday chided uniformed police officers for becoming involved in a love affair.

It appeared to be the latest chapter of a new low-keyed campaign now under way aimed at curbing the abuses of power of the uniformed police.

Trud, the trade union newspaper, cited the case of Vladimir Vasilyevich, an elderly bachelor, who fell in love with an unmarried woman named Malvina, who was in her 30s.

The newspaper said one evening an officer appeared at her door to investigate the matter.

"I don't recommend your visiting her again," Trud quoted another officer as advising the bachelor after booking him at the police station. "If you do, there will be trouble."

ONE MAN'S VISION

Negro Boys Go to Sea in Ships

By ELIAS CASTILLO

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — "I always enjoyed being around boats," recalls Paul Bellesen, a Negro ship's scaler. "When I was a kid, I really tried to get a job as a deckhand and maybe work up. But I couldn't."

Two years ago, Bellesen decided it was time for Negroes to seek jobs as ship's officers.

At 37, Bellesen decided, it was too late for him. But he felt if he could give boys from Seattle's predominately Negro areas a taste of life at sea, they might one day become officers on the ships plying the Puget Sound waters off the coast.

* * * *

IN LATE 1967, he incorporated an organization called "North by Northwest," formed a board of directors, obtained a 30-foot houseboat, and set about attracting boys to join.

Today, the man who scales paint off ships for a livelihood also supervises a fleet of 15 vessels, from rowboat to a 95-foot ocean-going tugboat.

Subsidized by donations from organizations and individuals and helped by a staff of experienced volunteers, Bellesen gives 40 boys, ages 9 to 14, instructions and practice in navigation and boat handling.

After obtaining the houseboat, the group acquired several cabin cruisers and other smaller craft, but Bellesen is proudest of the four-deck tugboat, now named the Langston Hughes, after the Negro writer.

"One night, I received a call from an anonymous person who said he had something to give me," says Bellesen. "He presented me with a check for $9,500. I almost fell over." With the check, Bellesen bought the tugboat.

MEXICO POLICE CHIEF SHOT

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexico City Police Chief Renato Vega Amador was machine gunned and wounded Saturday when he tried to capture three masked men attacking an armored truck.

In the crossfire, one of the holdup suspects and a Mexican secret service agent were killed. The police chief's chauffeur and another occupant of his car were wounded.

The armored truck of the Mexican Commercial Bank had just made a pickup at a branch of the bank and was cruising through downtown Mexico City when it pulled up behind a stalled taxi.

Observers said three or four gunmen jumped out of the taxi and forced the trucks four occupants, including two bank guards, to surrender their arms and hand over the money. The armored truck carried an estimated $40,000.

When the taxi wouldn't start, the holdup men decided to use the armored truck to make their getaway. They were reloading the truck with the bags of money, when Vega Amador passed by in an unmarked car.

According to witnesses, he got out of the car and told the robbers they were under arrest. They answered by turning their machineguns on his car, wounding both him and the other two occupants. Vega Amador was taken to Xoco Emergency Hospital in serious condition.

It was not immediately certain the extent of his injuries. One source said he had been wounded twice in the abdomen. His chauffeur, Mario Monroy, was wounded five times in the chest and stomach.

RED PAPER JABS AT POLICE

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Moscow newspaper Saturday chided uniformed police officers for becoming involved in a love affair.

It appeared to be the latest chapter of a new low-keyed campaign now under way aimed at curbing the abuses of power of the uniformed police.

Trud, the trade union newspaper, cited the case of Vladimir Vasilyevich, an elderly bachelor, who fell in love with an unmarried woman named Malvina, who was in her 30s.

The newspaper said one evening an officer appeared at her door to investigate the matter.

"I don't recommend your visiting her again," Trud quoted another officer as advising the bachelor after booking him at the police station. "If you do, there will be trouble."

ONE MAN'S VISION

Negro Boys Go to Sea in Ships

By ELIAS CASTILLO

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — "I always enjoyed being around boats," recalls Paul Bellesen, a Negro ship's scaler. "When I was a kid, I really tried to get a job as a deckhand and maybe work up. But I couldn't."

Two years ago, Bellesen decided it was time for Negroes to seek jobs as ship's officers.

At 37, Bellesen decided, it was too late for him. But he felt if he could give boys from Seattle's predominately Negro areas a taste of life at sea, they might one day become officers on the ships plying the Puget Sound waters off the coast.

IN LATE 1967, he incorporated an organization called "North by Northwest," formed a board of directors, obtained a 30-foot houseboat, and set about attracting boys to join.

Today, the man who scales paint off ships for a livelihood also supervises a fleet of 15 vessels, from rowboat to a 95-foot ocean-going tugboat.

Subsidized by donations from organizations and individuals and helped by a staff of experienced volunteers, Bellesen gives 40 boys, ages 9 to 14, instructions and practice in navigation and boat handling.

After obtaining the houseboat, the group acquired several cabin cruisers and other smaller craft, but Bellesen is proudest of the four-deck tugboat, now named the Langston Hughes, after the Negro writer.

"One night, I received a call from an anonymous person who said he had something to give me," says Bellesen. "He presented me with a check for $9,500. I almost fell over." With the check, Bellesen bought the tugboat.

MEXICO POLICE CHIEF SHOT

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexico City Police Chief Renato Vega Amador was machine gunned and wounded Saturday when he tried to capture three masked men attacking an armored truck.

In the crossfire, one of the holdup suspects and a Mexican secret service agent were killed. The police chief's chauffeur and another occupant of his car were wounded.

The armored truck of the Mexican Commercial Bank had just made a pickup at a branch of the bank and was cruising through downtown Mexico City when it pulled up behind a stalled taxi.

Observers said three or four gunmen jumped out of the taxi and forced the trucks four occupants, including two bank guards, to surrender their arms and hand over the money. The armored truck carried an estimated $40,000.

When the taxi wouldn't start, the holdup men decided to use the armored truck to make their getaway. They were reloading the truck with the bags of money, when Vega Amador passed by in an unmarked car.

According to witnesses, he got out of the car and told the robbers they were under arrest. They answered by turning their machineguns on his car, wounding both him and the other two occupants. Vega Amador was taken to Xoco Emergency Hospital in serious condition.

It was not immediately certain the extent of his injuries. One source said he had been wounded twice in the abdomen. His chauffeur, Mario Monroy, was wounded five times in the chest and stomach.

Police Scout Troop Looks For Recruits

By CHUCK CHEATHAM
Staff Writer

Long Besvh's new Explorer Scout troop—Law Enforcement Explorer Post 295—has openings for recruits.

Sponsored by the Long Beach Police Officers Association, the post meets the first and third Thursday of each month in the Public Safety Building.

Police Officer Paul E. Lunsford, institutionnal representative, said the members will study "all forms of law enforcement and devote a minimum of 96 hours to such subjects as police patrol and traffic control, crime laboratory, vice and narcotics, first aid, detective bureau, prosecution, communications, fire amrs familarization and self defense."

"IN FACT," Lunsford said "they will learn everything a police officer learns in the Police Academy, not in detail but in broad outline."

Lunsford and Officer Robert W. Shroeder, post advisor, started forming the new post in October 1968 and held the charter meeting Feb. 1 with six candidates from Poly, Wilson and Jordan high schools.

At present the post has seven members and plans to expand to 35 or more.

The requirements for membership are rigid.

Candidates must be from 15 to 18 years old, have completed the last semester of the 10th grade with at least a C average which must be maintained, not have been arrested for any crime that would prevent him from becoming a police officer, have good vision without use of glasses or contact lenses, normal hearing, at least 20 natural teeth in good condition, be from five-feet, nine-inches to six-feet, five-inches in height and weigh from 150 to 225 pounds.

COLOR OR religion is not a bar to membership, Lunsford said and added he hoped to find qualified members in all races.

The post meets from two to three hours at meetings and Lunsford said field trips are planned.

Included are trips to the Los Angeles International Airport where the troop will visit the immigration, custom and public health agencies, to a Mexican border immigration station and to military posts where security and police functions will be studied.

The post has studied traffic control and will handle the parking, vehicular and foot traffic and security at the Boy Scout Camporee April 25-27 in Tapo Canyon, Ventura County.

IN ADDITION, Lunsford said, the troop will assist Long Beach police at the Long Beach Police Officers Association speed boat regetta June 15, in Marine Stadium.

The post members will wear a uniform of khaki pants and shirt, the same as worn by police recruits, a standard police cap, black tie and shoes, a Long Beach Police Department tie clip and name tag and a jacket with a law enforcement post patch.

Lunsford said outstanding members of the post will be retained as associate advisors after they reach the age of 18.

Lose 10 lbs. in 10 days on Grapefruit Diet

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. (Special) — This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Literally thousands upon thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S. and Canada.

Word of its success has spread like wildfire. Because this is the diet that really works. We have testimonials in our files reporting on the success of this diet. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. There will be no weight loss in the first four days. But you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter you will lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1½ pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there will be no hunger pains. Now revised and enlarged, this new diet plan lets you stuff yourself with foods that were formerly "forbidden," such as big steaks trimmed with fat, roast or fried chicken, rich gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon fats, sausages and scrambled eggs. You can eat until you are full, until you cannot possibly eat any more. And still lose 10 pounds in the first ten days plus 1½ pounds every two days thereafter until your weight is down to normal. The secret behind this new "quick weight loss" diet is simple. Fat does not form fat. And the grapefruit juice in this new diet acts as a catalyst (the "trigger"), to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. When the fat and bloat are gone you will cease to lose weight and your weight will remain constant. A copy of this new and startlingly successful diet plan can be obtained by sending $2 to GRAPEFRUIT DIET PUBLISHERS, Suite 104, Dept. 8-20, 1418 No. Highland Ave., Hollywood, Calif. 90028. Money-back guarantee. If after trying the diet plan you have not lost 7 pounds in the first seven days, another 6 pounds in the next 7 days, and 1½ pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $2 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim, attractive figure of your youth, while enjoying hearty breakfasts, lunches and dinners.

U.S. ANTI-SEMITISM SHOWN LIMITED, BIGOTRY INGRAINED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Active anti-Semitism is limited in the United States but widespread indifference to this bigotry makes it a potential major menace to the nation, a team of researchers reported Saturday.

It said widely held prejudice against Jews, as opposed to overt hostility, is "firmly anchored in a whole system of generally unenlightened beliefs and weak commitment to democracy."

The study was conducted by the Research Survey Center of the University of California under a grant from the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, the Jewish service organization. It was released here by Dore Schary, the league chairman, on the eve of the organization's annual meeting.

Broad findings of the survey included these conclusions:

—Over a third of the population is anti-Semitic although most of this prejudice is in passive form.

The other two-thirds includes a majority which is apathetic toward discrimination against Jews.

—Overt anti-Jewish practices are not common but negative attitudes remain deeply engrained and widely accepted.

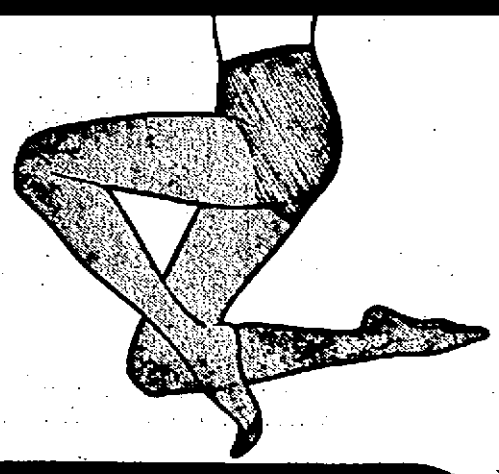

—To focus solely on passive anti-Semitic beliefs would exaggerate the extent of the problem but to focus on active discrimination would minimize it unduly.

The study found that "simplistic beliefs, ignorance and low tolerance for social and political diversity go hand in hand with anti-Semitism". It added that these tendencies characterize so many Americans that "given a crisis situation and political leadership, they constitute a threat to the whole country."

In releasing the survey, to be published next fall as a book, "The Tenacity of Prejudice", Schary said that while prejudice and indifference are both deplorable the latter is perhaps potentially more dangerous.

U.S. ANTI-SEMITISM SHOWN LIMITED, BIGOTRY INGRAINED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Active anti-Semitism is limited in the United States but widespread indifference to this bigotry makes it a potential major menace to the nation, a team of researchers reported Saturday.

It said widely held prejudice against Jews, as opposed to overt hostility, is "firmly anchored in a whole system of generally unenlightened beliefs and weak commitment to democracy."

The study was conducted by the Research Survey Center of the University of California under a grant from the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, the Jewish service organization. It was released here by Dore Schary, the league chairman, on the eve of the organization's annual meeting.

Broad findings of the survey included these conclusions:

—Over a third of the population is anti-Semitic although most of this prejudice is in passive form.

The other two-thirds includes a majority which is apathetic toward discrimination against Jews.

—Overt anti-Jewish practices are not common but negative attitudes remain deeply engrained and widely accepted.

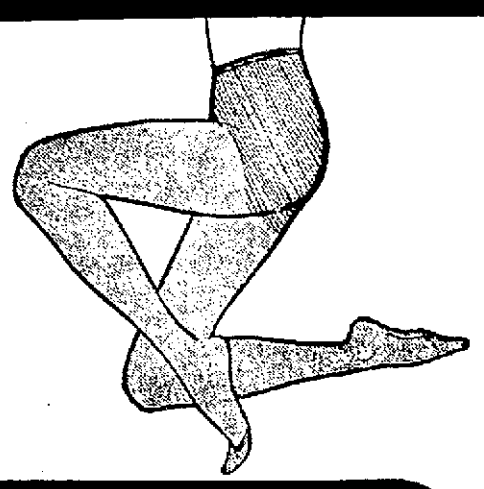

—To focus solely on passive anti-Semitic beliefs would exaggerate the extent of the problem but to focus on active discrimination would minimize it unduly.

The study found that "simplistic beliefs, ignorance and low tolerance for social and political diversity go hand in hand with anti-Semitism". It added that these tendencies characterize so many Americans that "given a crisis situation and political leadership, they constitute a threat to the whole country."

In releasing the survey, to be published next fall as a book, "The Tenacity of Prejudice", Schary said that while prejudice and indifference are both deplorable the latter is perhaps potentially more dangerous.

1940—Vintage Year for Poly

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Education Editor

It was a vintage year, 1940, at Poly High School.

More than a few of today's business and professional leaders, men and women who profoundly affect Long Beach's economic, social, civic and cultural life were studying in the city's oldest high school.

Among these was Norman Barker Jr., now completing his first year's service as president of United California Bank, the 1969 Long Beach schools' honor graduate.

Barker, a youthful 46, returns home twice in this 50th annual Public Schools Week.

On Monday night he will get — in ceremonies at Scottish Rite Temple, the plaque and other kudos accruing to the yearly honoree. (In 1968 the honor went to surfing filmaker Bruce Brown, formerly of Wilson High.)

And on Wednesday he'll give a special gold medallion to be added to Poly's growing collection of memorabilia and souvenirs contributed by former Jackrabbits. The City Council then will present

TODDLERS MEET ENSENADA BAND MEMBERS
Teen-agers Find Many Friends in Lakewood

Families 'Adopt' Mexico Youths

By JACK McFARREN
Staff Writer

"Dos muchachas," the interpreter said into the loud speaker system.

Two teen-age Mexican girls, dark eyes dancing, stepped from a line to meet Mildred Abel and her daughter Cathey, of 5437 Hazelbrook Ave., in Lakewood.

The girls are members of two high school bands from Ensenada, Mexico—here to perform in the Saludos Amigos Parade in Lakewood today.

MILDRED ABEL and her daughter were among the more than 100 families gathered at Del Valle Park in Lakewood Saturday to give the 200 Mexican teen-agers a home for the night.

The Lakewood residents were answering a request by Bill Francis, founder of the Lakewood Ambassadors Drum and Bugle Corps, to provide a place for the teen-agers to stay—just as they have for the last seven years.

Families waited in bleachers for their names to be called from a sign-up sheet. As they stepped forward, the interpreter called out in Spanish, two boys or two girls. Each family had their choice.

The Mexican children stepped forward, carrying their shimmering white uniforms and prizes won at Disneyland where they spent the afternoon.

For the Abels, it was their second "adoption." They had four children in their home in 1964. "One of the girls still writes," Mrs. Abel said.

For Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Poole, of 4744 Dunrobin Ave., it was the first time. They waited—a little nervously—for their names to be called.

Do you speak Spanish?, the Pooles were asked. "Not really," answered Mrs. Poole. "I had some Spanish in school, but . . ." "Our son speaks a little Spanish," her husband added.

But the Pooles weren't really worried about a language barrier. Neither were the Mexican teen-agers, who waited in line behind signs bearing their school's name.

They shared a form of communication greater than language.

Compton 61% Negro in Census

By BOB ANDREW
Staff Writer

A special census in Compton has revealed the white population has continued to fall even though more than half of the residents of the city have lived there eight years or more.

Since the regular census in 1960, Compton's population has risen from 71,812 to 77,476 but the white population has dropped from 52 per cent to 25.5 per cent of the city's total.

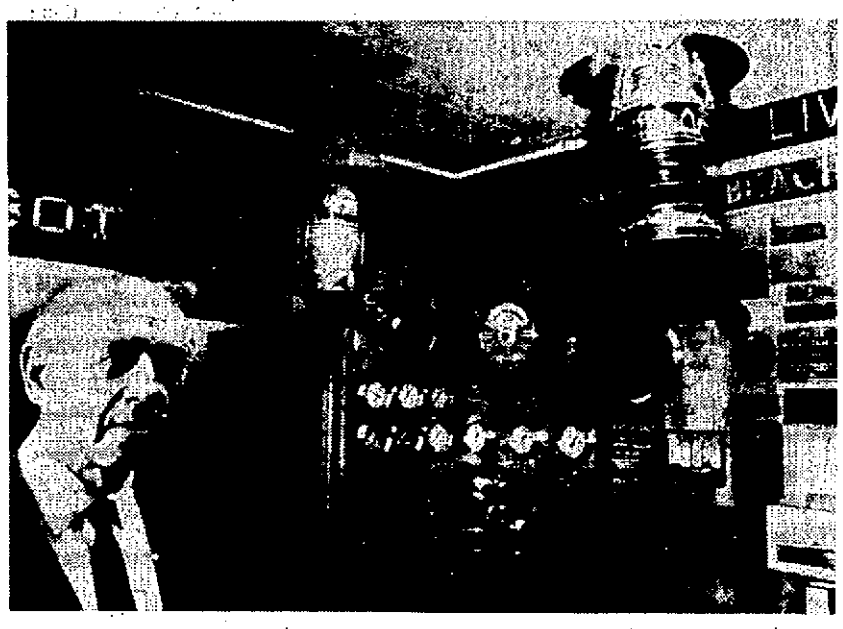

Negroes account for 61.5 per cent of the population—up from 39.5 per cent—and residents with Spanish surnames increased their percentage from 7.8 to 10 per cent.

THE SPECIAL census had two purposes, according to City Manager James Johnson—to provide data for planning the city's model neighborhood program and to increase the revenue from state funding based on population.

In the second purpose, it was a failure because the state is already paying those funds on the basis of a population estimate of 79,235. The city council has concurred in Johnson's recommendation that the results of the census not be filed with the state, thus preventing any change in the rates until after the Federal census next year.

THE CENSUS also revealed that of the 21,797 housing units in the city 6.13 per cent are vacant. Average number of residents per household was 3.75, up from 3.56 in 1960. Johnson attributed the surprisingly low population figure to the unexpectedly high vacancy rate.

Median age was 19 years for male residents, 21 for females and 20 for the total population.

Some Proud Names

By JACK BALDWIN
Maritime Editor

Reflected in the shiny brass name plates tacked to the paneled walls in a small room on Terminal Island are the lives — lost and saved — of the men who go down to the sea in ships.

Salvaged from those destined for the scrap heap are more than 150 nameplates pried from the bridges of fighting ships and merchantmen which served this country during four wars and the uneasy periods of peace between.

USS Steelhead!

Not all nameplates are brass. During World War II the need for the metal for ship fittings, electrical buss bars, and cartridge casings was critical. Many of the nameplates were engraved in laminated plastic — chalk white letters against a coal black background.

USS GOSSELIN — APD126!

The one-room maritime museum is currently used during coffee breaks by employes of the National Metal and Steel Co.

The company's facility is on the site of the World War II shipyard, Cal-Ship, where 306 Liberty ships were built and launched.

SS Gabriel Duval — launched in 1942.

Some of the ships built by Cal-Ship after criss-crossing the seas for more than a quarter of a century returned to their original berth place to be cut into pieces small enough to drop into the mouths of blast furnaces in Taiwan, Korea, and Japan.

SS John Sedwick — Hull No. 652.

Joseph Schapiro, president of National, has a special sentimental feeling for one of the nameplates tacked on the wall of the room next to his office. As a major in the 398th Bomb Group he sailed aboard a troop ship, USS Wakefield, converted from a former luxury liner.

THE SS MANHATTAN

The room is open during normal business hours for ship buffs and those with a special interest in viewing the display. Many visitors, says Schapiro, discover their special interest when they spot the nameplate from the troopship on which they sailed.

USAT US Grant!

The room was started 22 years ago by Roy Coats, current purchasing agent for the ship wrecking yard. Coats was first employed there by Cal-Ship 28 years ago. He can remember watching the construction of liberties, victories, tankers, and transports — 407 in all. Some survived torpedo and bombing attacks to return to the same location in the Port of Los Angeles where they were launched.

SS John Drake Sloat.

But not all the nameplates adorning the walls of the room with porthole windows are from blue

CSLB ELECTS BLACK BART AND LOTTA

Leana Leach and Bob Wachtler, chosen Lotta Crabtree and Black Bart by Cal-State Long Beach voters, will reign over the college's 49er Days festivities April 25-26.

They were elected from a field of 11 candidates in balloting last week.

During the two-day celebration, the lower campus Wild West town of Pete's Gulch will be built from scratch by student organizations and opened to the public.

BEACH COMBING

MALCOLM EPLEY

TIME AND TIDE — Ah sex, the inexhaustible subject. From what I can gather, the sex education drive is even bigger than the sex drive. The talk is to institute sex education in kindergarten and keep it going for 16 years, right through college, with maybe some special instructions for post-graduates . . . All of this to cover a subject which Reader Jud Schaefer contends can be mastered in about three minutes . . .

The state's No. 1 foe of sex education is Sen. John Schmitz of Orange County, who wants the program delayed until the Senate can make a study. Nobody anticipates a shortage of volunteers for the study panel . . .

All the talk about teaching sex, family relations, etc., reminded Wendell Wilson of the psychology professor who was arguing for trial marriage, and compared it with trying out a car before becoming committed to it. A student put up his hand and asked: "Would you want to buy a demonstrator?" That broke up the class.

FOAM AND FROTH — Superior Judge Vince Dalsimer of Norwalk courts has warned court visitors not to park in the stalls marked "Judge." That's one warning that hardly seems necessary . . . Sign in harbor area: "DUE TO A LACK OF TRUMPETS, EARTHQUAKE HAS BEEN CALLED OFF." . . . Herb Caen tells about an S.F. fellow who was in a Seattle restaurant when there was a light shake the other day. In the flurry of excitement he called out: "I'm from San Francisco. We stand in doorways." Gent across the room cried: "I'm from Chicago. Where in heck do we stand?"

Don Foltz, whose chauvinism I find delightful, reports happily that McDonnell Douglas is at last identifying its aircraft division with L.B. in advertisements. Adv. in current issue of Time pleased his eye . . . With all that scare about radiation from color tv, I'm wondering about our cat, Samantha, which insists on snoozing on our set when its turned on. She may yet use up all those lives.

Fellow studying five-year trend charts at Paine-Webber brokerage house Friday a.m. turned to a friend and said: "Ah, heck, let's go to the races. It's quicker."

DRIFTWOOD — Jury's decision in the Sirhan case was exactly as predicted to me by our gal reporter, Mary Neiswander, who covered the trial throughout. Incidentally, I can't read everything, but I doubt if anybody did a more competent reporting job on that case than did our Mary . . . Fair, balanced, complete.

Following couple of appeals in this dept., there was a complete sign-up by householders willing to host in their homes members of the two bands from Ensenada participating in today's Pan-American Festival at Lakewood. That made us all look good . . .

I thought all the wild yarns got big circulation in So. Cal., but oddly enough I hadn't heard that nutty story about the late pres. and Jackie Kennedy scotched by Author Truman Capote on NBC's "Tonight" show. The false story was fraudulently ascribed to Capote. I'm not repeating the story, but if you hear it and didn't see the "Tonight" show, don't believe a word of it. Those who have heard it will know exactly what I'm talking about. To others, forget it. It's not worth your curiosity.

S.F. State's exciting Pres. S. I. Hayakawa will be speaker at the annual meeting of the YMCA of L.B., May 16 at the Lafayette Hotel. Expected: a full house.

L.B. Squadron Gets Navy Commendation

For the first time in naval history an entire destroyer squadron has been awarded the Navy Unit Commendation, second only to the Presidential Unit Award.

Long Beach's Squadron 9 was the recipient for amassing this record over a two-year span off Vietnam:

Rescuing 26 pilots and aircrew members in the Tonkin Gulf.

Destroying 385 logistic ships.

Suppressing 90 coastal defense artillery positions.

Firing nearly 150,000 rounds against the North Vietnamese.

Slugged it out with North Vietnam artillery 50 times.

Supporting U.S. and Allied troops on the shore, around-the-clock on many occasions.

AWARDS WERE made Friday aboard the USS Hollister by Pacific Cruiser-Destroyer commander Rear Adm. Mason B. Freeman from San Diego.

Rear Adm. Lloyd R. Vasey, Long Beach's Flotilla 7 commander, arranged the ceremony so that ships' enlisted personnel were given due honor.

After each commanding officer was called forward, an enlisted man from the ship came up and accepted the commendation for the ship.

Capt. James M. Mason is Squadron 9's commodore with Capt. George S. Grove handling the squadron's Division 92.

SHIPS HONORED were the missile frigate USS Reeves, Capt. W. L. At-

The girls are members of two high school bands from Ensenada, Mexico—here to perform in the Saludos Amigos Parade in Lakewood today.

MILDRED ABEL and her daughter were among the more than 100 families gathered at Del Valle Park in Lakewood Saturday to give the 200 Mexican teen-agers a home for the night.

The Lakewood residents were answering a request by Bill Francis, founder of the Lakewood Ambassadors Drum and Bugle Corps, to provide a place for the teen-agers to stay —just as they have for the last seven years.

Families waited in bleachers for their names to be called from a sign-up sheet. As they stepped forward, the interpreter called out in Spanish, two boys or two girls. Each family had their choice.

The Mexican children stepped forward, carrying their shimmering white uniforms and prizes won at Disneyland where they spent the afternoon.

For the Abels, it was their second "adoption." They had four children in their home in 1964. "One of the girls still writes," Mrs. Abel said.

For Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Poole, of 4744 Dunrobin Ave., it was the first time. They waited—a little nervously—for their names to be called.

Do you speak Spanish?, the Pooles were asked. "Not really," answered Mrs. Poole. "I had some Spanish in school, but . . ." "Our son speaks a little Spanish," her husband added.

But the Pooles weren't really worried about a language barrier. Neither were the Mexican teen-agers, who waited in line behind signs bearing their school's name.

They shared a form of communication greater than language.

Compton 61% Negro in Census

By BOB ANDREW
Staff Writer

A special census in Compton has revealed the white population has continued to fall even though more than half of the residents of the city have lived there eight years or more.

Since the regular census in 1960, Compton's population has risen from 71,812 to 77,476 but the white population has dropped from 52 per cent to 25.5 per cent of the city's total.

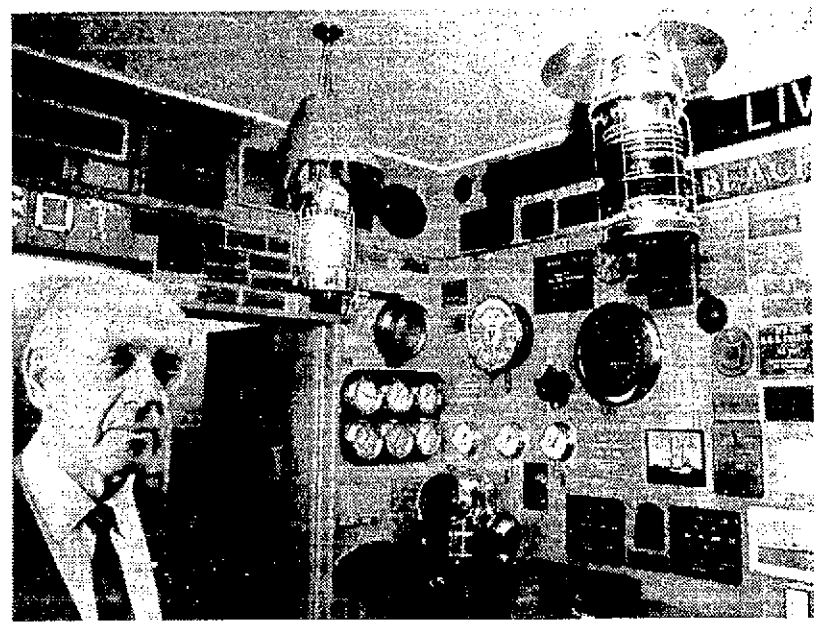

Negroes account for 61.5 per cent of the population—up from 39.5 per cent—and residents with Spanish surnames increased their percentage from 7.8 to 10 per cent.

THE SPECIAL census had two purposes, according to City Manager James Johnson—to provide data for planning the city's model neighborhood program and to increase the revenue from state funding based on population.

In the second purpose, it was a failure because the state is already paying those funds on the basis of a population estimate of 79,235. The city council has concurred in Johnson's recommendation that the results of the census not be filed with the state, thus preventing any change in the rates until after the Federal census next year.

THE CENSUS also revealed that of the 21,797 housing units in the city 6.13 per cent are vacant. Average number of residents per household was 3.75, up from 3.56 in 1960. Johnson attributed the surprisingly low population figure to the unexpectedly high vacancy rate.

Median age was 19 years for male residents, 21 for females and 20 for the total population.

Some Proud Names

By JACK BALDWIN
Maritime Editor

Reflected in the shiny brass name plates tacked to the paneled walls in a small room on Terminal Island are the lives — lost and saved — of the men who go down to the sea in ships.

Salvaged from those destined for the scrap heap are more than 150 nameplates pried from the bridges of fighting ships and merchantmen which served this country during four wars and the uneasy periods of peace between.

USS Steelhead!

Not all nameplates are brass. During World War II the need for the metal for ship fittings, electrical buss bars, and cartridge casings was critical. Many of the nameplates were engraved in laminated plastic — chalk white letters against a coal black background.

USS GOSSELIN — APD126!

The one-room maritime museum is currently used during coffee breaks by employes of the National Metal and Steel Co.

The company's facility is on the site of the World War II shipyard, Cal-Ship, where 306 Liberty ships were built and launched.

SS Gabriel Duval — launched in 1942.

Some of the ships built by Cal-Ship after criss-crossing the seas for more than a quarter of a century returned to their original berth place to be cut into pieces small enough to drop into the mouths of blast furnaces in Taiwan, Korea, and Japan.

SS John Sedwick — Hull No. 652.

Joseph Schapiro, president of National, has a special sentimental feeling for one of the nameplates

THE SS MANHATTAN

The room is open during normal business hours for ship buffs and those with a special interest in viewing the display. Many visitors, says Schapiro, discover their special interest when they spot the nameplate from the troopship on which they sailed.

USAT US Grant!

The room was started 22 years ago by Roy Coats, current purchasing agent for the ship wrecking yard. Coats was first employed there by Cal-Ship 28 years ago. He can remember watching the construction of liberties, victories, tankers, and transports — 407 in all. Some survived torpedo and bombing attacks to return to the same location in the Port of Los Angeles where they were launched.

SS John Drake Sloat.

But not all the nameplates adorning the walls of the room with porthole windows are from blue lacked on the wall of the room next to his office. As a major in the 398th Bomb Group he sailed aboard a troop ship, USS Wakefield, converted from a former luxury liner.

CSLB ELECTS BLACK BART AND LOTTA

Leana Leach and Bob Wachtler, chosen Lotta Crabtree and Black Bart by Cal-State Long Beach voters, will reign over the college's 49er Days festivities April 25-26.

They were elected from a field of 11 candidates in balloting last week.

During the two-day celebration, the lower campus Wild West town of Pete's Gulch will be built from scratch by student organizations and opened to the public.

TIME AND TIDE — Ah sex, the inexhaustible subject. From what I can gather, the sex education drive is even bigger than the sex drive. The talk is to institute sex education in kindergarten and keep it going for 16 years, right through college, with maybe some special instructions for post-graduates . . . All of this to cover a subject which Reader Jud Schaefer contends can be mastered in about three minutes . . .

The state's No. 1 foe of sex education is Sen. John Schmitz of Orange County, who wants the program delayed until the Senate can make a study. Nobody anticipates a shortage of volunteers for the study panel . . .

All the talk about teaching sex, family relations, etc., reminded Wendell Wilson of the psychology professor who was arguing for trial marriage, and compared it with trying out a car before becoming committed to it. A student put up his hand and asked: "Would you want to buy a demonstrator?" That broke up the class.

FOAM AND FROTH — Superior Judge Vince Dalsimer of Norwalk courts has warned court visitors not to park in the stalls marked "Judge." That's one warning that hardly seems necessary . . . Sign in harbor area: "DUE TO A LACK OF TRUMPETS, EARTHQUAKE HAS BEEN CALLED OFF." . . . Herb Caen tells about an S.F. fellow who was in a Seattle restaurant when there was a light shake the other day. In the flurry of excitement he called out: "I'm from San Francisco. We stand in doorways." Gent across the room cried: "I'm from Chicago. Where in heck do we stand?"

Don Foltz, whose chauvinism I find delightful, reports happily that McDonnell Douglas is at last identifying its aircraft division with L.B. in advertisements. Adv. in current issue of Time pleased his eye . . . With all that scare about radiation from color tv, I'm wondering about our cat, Samantha, which insists on snoozing on our set when its turned on. She may yet use up all those lives.

Fellow studying five-year trend charts at Paine-Webber brokerage house Friday a.m. turned to a friend and said: "Ah, heck, let's go to the races. It's quicker."

DRIFTWOOD — Jury's decision in the Sirhan case was exactly as predicted to me by our gal reporter, Mary Neiswander, who covered the trial throughout. Incidentally, I can't read everything, but I doubt if anybody did a more competent reporting job on that case than did our Mary . . . Fair, balanced, complete.

Following couple of appeals in this dept., there was a complete sign-up by householders willing to host in their homes members of the two bands from Ensenada participating in today's Pan-American Festival at Lakewood. That made us all look good . . .

I thought all the wild yarns got big circulation in So. Cal., but oddly enough I hadn't heard that nutty story about the late pres. and Jackie Kennedy scotched by Author Truman Capote on NBC's "Tonight" show. The false story was fraudulently ascribed to Capote. I'm not repeating the story, but if you hear it and didn't see the "Tonight" show, don't believe a word of it. Those who have heard it will know exactly what I'm talking about. To others, forget it. It's not worth your curiosity.

S.F. State's exciting Pres. S. I. Hayakawa will be speaker at the annual meeting of the YMCA of L.B., May 16 at the Lafayette Hotel. Expected: a full house.

For the first time in naval history an entire destroyer squadron has been awarded the Navy Unit Commendation, second only to the Presidential Unit Award.

Long Beach's Squadron 9 was the recipient for amassing this record over a two-year span off Vietnam:

Rescuing 26 pilots and aircrew members in the Tonkin Gulf.

Destroying 385 logistic ships.

Suppressing 90 coastal defense artillery positions.

Firing nearly 150,000 rounds against the North Vietnamese.

Slugged it out with North Vietnam artillery 50 times.

Supporting U.S. and Allied troops on the shore, around-the-clock on many occasions.

AWARDS WERE made Friday aboard the USS Hollister by Pacific Cruiser-Destroyer commander Rear Adm. Mason B. Freeman from San Diego.

Rear Adm. Lloyd R. Vasey, Long Beach's Flotilla 7 commander, arranged the ceremony so that ships' enlisted personnel were given due honor.

After each commanding officer was called forward, an enlisted man from the ship came up and accepted the commendation for the ship.

Capt. James M. Masnn is Squadron 9's commodore with Capt. George S. Grove handling the squadron's Division 92.

SHIPS HONORED were the missile frigate USS Reeves, Capt. W. L. At-

Nixon takes calm stand on N. Korea

PRESIDENT Nixon's decision to protect future reconnaissance flights has the support, we believe, of a vast majority of Americans.

In his news conference Friday the President refrained from truculent threats. An uninformed onlooker would not have guessed that he heads a great power currently at odds with an aggressive but third-rate nation.

BUT MR. NIXON left no doubt that armed escort aircraft will resist any repetition of the attack last Tuesday on the unarmed EC-121 intelligence plane in the Sea of Japan.

As he observed, the United States cannot properly ask its airmen to take the sort of risks that led to the death of the 31 who plunged helplessly into the sea with their plane.

The President could not escape the obligation of guarding the lives of intelligence fliers near a belligerent North Korea nor could he abandon their operations.

Since the United States still stations 56,000 troops in South Korea, where they and their allies are vulnerable to hostile infiltration from the North, it was unthinkable that the commander in chief would break off a normal air watch over the enemy.

The continuation of these missions involves risks, even with the addition of armed planes. There may be aerial dogfights in the Far East. But the danger of deliberately wearing blinders in the presence of a devious foe would be greater.

IF THE half-suspended war is intensified, the blame will rest on North Korea. President Nixon intends to protect U.S. aircraft above international waters, where they have a right to be. His decision is not provocative by any reasonable definition. Regardless of what may be said of it by an enemy spoiling for more blood, it is defensive.

The President refused to discuss any further moves. Thus he tacitly withheld retaliation under present circumstances. U.S. policy toward North Korea is still one of calm and patience It should remain so. But the enemy is properly on notice that, if he persists in rashness, this country will legitimately shield its men and equipment engaged in legitimate missions.

Courts also cause divorce problems

From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — In all probability, sometime next month Gov. Reagan will have before him a bill substantially revising California's divorce laws.

Both the Senate and Assembly have passed measures, and it appears likely the respective authors — Sen. Donald L. Grunsky, R-Watsonville, and Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach — will have little difficulty reconciling the relatively minor differences in the two proposals.

There's little disagreement with the contention that the existing divorce laws make for a courtroom masquerade which, in the words of Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, is "a dirty business."

CROWN FEELS so strongly that the laws should be changed that he told the full Assembly Thursday, during the debate on Hayes' bill, "if Mr. Hayes is remembered for nothing else in his legislative career than that he changed California's divorce laws in this fashion, that would be a great accolade."

But however meritorious the proposed reforms are, the approach is a little like that of a doctor who treats a sore foot and ignores the broken leg, which would keep the patient immobile no matter how healthy the foot was.

Granted that the great majority of divorce proceedings in California are uncontested, there is still a substantial number of divorce actions which are contested, where there are disputes over fault, or property division, or custody, and where there must be formal trials before a judge.

The trials are simply not taking place in anything resembling a reasonable length of time.

A spouse seeking to dissolve a marriage may be relieved to learn that she is not going to have to go through the ritual of taking the witness stand to describe the "extreme cruelty" of her husband which made her "nervous and upset," and, furthermore, that she's not going to have to persuade a friend to take the stand as a corroborating witness. The proposed divorce reform laws will remove that barbaric requirement.

BUT SHE'S NOT going to be relieved if she can't get into a courtroom in the first place so that the judge can resolve the differences with respect to custody or property.

And she can't.

Reynolds Newton, head of the Superior Court Clerk's office in Long Beach, says the average waiting time between filing of the complaint and the trial in contested matters is eight months.

But, in fact, it is considerably longer than that.

Courtrooms are simply not available in Long Beach, in Los Angeles, and in most other large cities.

Criminal matters have first priority on court time, and the number of criminal trials is increasing so drastically that the Superior Courts in Los Angeles County have little time for other matters.

AND that comparatively miniscule court time which is available must first be given to lawsuits where a statute of limitations applies, where the law states that action must be taken within a specified period of time after the dispute which prompted the filing of the lawsuit in the first place.

The result is that contested divorce proceedings, pretty far down the court calendar's priority ladder, just don't get heard, especially if they are likely to take a day or more of court time.

And the average time is probably considerably more than a year, rather than eight months.

The problem is symptomatic of what is rapidly becoming a crisis situation in our courts.

Criminal trials are becoming so numerous that present court facilities are close to being inadequate to handle them all.

One obvious solution is to build more courthouses and create more judgeships and to hire more clerks and bailiffs. But the taxpayer who is complaining because he can't get into court is also complaining because his taxes are too high, so he has a dilemma.

ONE ALTERNATIVE is for society to do what it has to do to reduce the number of criminals, and that — since we're talking about better educational opportunities, and job training — means we're talking about more taxes again.

Another alternative might be to take a look at what we're calling "crime" these days. Newton, the court clerk in Long Beach, says the legislative classification of possession of LSD and various forms of narcotics as felonies is responsible for a 40 per cent increase in Superior Court criminal trials. And it is this increase which propels us toward having to spend money for more courts or more intensified attacks on the causes of criminal behaviour.

Uncle Sam getting tough on pollution

THE U.S. HOUSE of Representatives is more firmly committed to protecting the quality of coastal waters than are state agencies in California, where the priceless shoreline and offshore areas are menaced by pollution.

By a vote of 392 to 1, the House has passed a bill to make firms and ship owners pay fines and cleanup costs for flagrant defiling of water resources.

CONTRAST this near-unanimity with the lackadaisical attitude of the Los Angeles Regional Water Control Board, which for years has tolerated the fouling of harbor and adjacent waters by industries.

A contrast may also be noted between the House and the California Legislature. While some tightening of anti-pollution laws may win approval at this legislative session, including stiffer fines, the outlook is bleak for abolishing the built-in conflict of interest on the state regional water boards. Unless this is done, those board members who by law represent polluters will continue to stall cleanup efforts.

The U.S. House bill merits concurrence by the Senate because it authorizes funds and enforcement measures beyond the scope of any state.

For one thing, it would require ships and boats registered with the Coast Guard to treat sewage before dumping it.

In near-disasters such as the Santa Barbara oil spill, it would force a polluter to pay up to $10 million for cleaning up the mess. Offenders could also be hit with civil penalties up to $10,000.

Federal agencies would have to safeguard their own facilities against adding to pollution. Research grants to universities would stimulate the training of students to design and operate waste treatment plants. And $348 million over a three-year period would be authorized for carrying out the purposes of the law.

THE MAIN dissatisfaction with the bill came from congressmen who favored more severe and extensive legislation.

This tough attitude was generated by lawmakers who recently visited their home districts and sensed the angry worry of their constituents.

Until something like the same pressure is applied to state agencies, however, the anti-pollution movement will be advancing at only half speed. Concerned citizens should make themselves heard in Sacramento as well as in Washington, D.C.

Election reform badly needed

IN THE HEAT of the 1968 campaign, at a time when it looked very much like George Wallace might throw the presidential election into the House of Reresentatives, Richard Nixon asked me to join him in a pact committing each of us to the idea that the winner of the popular vote on November 5 ought to become president.

I declined, not because I disagreed with the principle of direct election of the president, but rather because I believed the presidency was too important to be subject to campaign agreements between candidates. I told Mr. Nixon that while I had long worked for abolishment of the electoral college in favor of direct election of the president by the people, I believed the change ought to be embedded in our Constitution, not bartered in the critical moments of a political campaign.

THE 1968 ELECTION, decided by half a million votes, very nearly did end up in the House of Representatives, where each state would have cast one vote. What if either Mr. Nixon or myself had been elected by the House and the one of us chosen was not the popular vote winner? Inevitably there would have been charges of a "deal" with backers of George Wallace, and the loss of public confidence in the presidency would have been staggering.

It is, as the American Bar Association has noted, an archaic, undemocratic, complex, ambiguous, indirect, and dangerous situation.

The president is the representative of the people — all of the people. He and the vice president are the only two officers of our national government who have a nationwide constituency. They ought to be elected by the people.

In 1787, when the framers of the Constitution created the electoral college, they acted in the belief that the American people were not qualified to judge who ought to be president. They thought the voters of each state should elect a small, select group of men who would be qualified to judge.

BUT AS IT HAS EVOLVED, each political party now puts up its own slate of electors, so the candidate who carries the state almost automatically gets that state's electoral votes. The electors, however, are legally independent. They can vote for whichever candidate they please, as one North Carolina elector did in 1968.

Congress and the states have let this situation continue for too long. The electoral reform issues raised in the recent election must be acted upon.

I favor direct election of the president, as do the American Bar Association and, according to polls, 80 per cent of the American people. It would give each American citizen an equal vote — a fundamental principle of our democratic process.

Under the present electoral college system, there is one elector for every 75,389 citizens of Alaska and one elector for every 392,930 citizens of California. This is unconscionable and undemocratic.

The present system discourages candidates from campaigning in "safe" states and in small states. Because the electoral votes were there, I spent much of my fall campaign in the big "swing" states — New York, California, Michigan, Ohio, New Jersey, Texas, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Massachusetts. Well-organized groups in these swing states take on extraordinary importance, for they can be decisive in a close election.

DIRECT ELECTION would give campaigns more of a national flavor. Candidates would continue to go where the most people are, but the smaller states would likely get more attention. Every citizen of every state would have good reason to cast a vote. There would be no safe or swing states. Each person's vote would count equally.

Direct election would also strengthen the two-party system by discouraging regional or splinter party candidates from trying to throw the election into the House where they might play a kingmaker's role.

In this era of mass quality education and instant communications, we also ought to lower the voting age to 18. And we ought to break down the paper curtain of outmoded registration laws which keep so many of our citizens from voting. In 1968, only 72 million out of a possible 120 million voting-age citizens went to the polls.

WE OUGHT to move ahead on these changes now while memories of the potential chaos of 1968 are still fresh. If both houses of Congress will approve these electoral reforms, I believe the necessary 38 states would ratify the constitutional change.

Such a change will require enlightened political leadership — from the White House to the courthouse. We can afford no less. We cannot move toward the 21st century with 19th century election laws.

School arson and insurance

FIRE INSURANCE rates for all types of school buildings in California were increased 40 per cent, starting April 1.

In announcing the raise, the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau reported that during the period 1963-67 the insurance companies have paid out $124.50 on school fire losses for every $100 in premiums received.

The causes of the higher losses are inflation and crime. And the crime is twofold — arson of the conventional sort, done furtively, and arson as a concommitant of rioting.

The inflation factor in this instance is less important. Rates were actually reduced during the relatively tranquil 1950s, and until the recent increase the average school rate was only 7 per cent above the 1950 level.

Arson is a cowardly crime, whether committed by a rioter protected by the violence of the scene or a vandal under cover of darkness. As a social protest against any form of injustice, it is completely senseless, particularly when perpetrated against the schools.

The best of schools could be improved; but the effect of arson is to consume not only buildings but also money that must now go for higher insurance rates rather than enrichment of school content.

Quakes shake building codes and politicos

From Our L.A. Bureau

ASTROLOGERS and other prophets have spread so much gloom lately predicing earthquakes in California that it must be a terrible temptation to a politician to talk about them. That way lie headlines. And some elected officials have shown little disposition to resist.

The question is, how serious is our danger?

Records of earthquakes in this state go back hundreds of years, and they tell what each has done, and there is a numbering system that describes their force. The measure is known as the Richter Scale.

Seismologists, the specialists in this field, say you can't find anything with an intensity beyond 8.5.

HOW BAD is that? The most destructive earthquake in California history, San Francisco's in 1906, registered 8.3, and most of the damage was wrought by the fires it started. The worst one down here — the spasm that rocked Long Beach March 10, 1933 — measured 6.3.

Science now has devices to track the severity of these convulsions, even when they occur thousands of miles from the laboratory. But it can be done in other ways.

Geologists study rock formations and note the changes earthquakes make, and they can then calculate just how these upheavals rank with Richter. That's why the records go back so far. And that's why scientists think you're unlikely to see the 8.5 peak shattered.

The 1933 earthquake in southern Los Angeles County shook up not only Long Beach but legislative halls in Los Angeles and some other places. The rules were changed. Factories and schools and public buildings now are more sturdily made.

"Tall buildings constructed according to these standards," said County Engineer John Lambie, "are as safe or safer than one-story to three-story structures built since 1934."

Not that much worry need be wasted on single-family homes.

"MOST OF THEM," Lambie said, "are wood-frame one- and two-story structures. By most standards, these are relatively earthquake safe."

The problem is with tall buildings that are older. There are still some around — about 1,000, Lambie thinks, in the unincorporated areas of the county, and a few more scattered through the cities. But time will solve this.

In another 20 years probably nothing built before 1934 will still be standing. In the meantime, Lambie believes, these old buildings should be inspected with the idea of making them safe without requiring the spending of more money than they're worth.

Some things have been done. The owners have had to remove or strengthen parapets that threatened to collapse on people walking on the street. Falling walls and parapets struck most of those who died during the Long Beach earthquake.

The worst thing is that there is nothing in the law to protect occupants of tall buildings that have been around more than 25 years. But Lambie and others are working to change that.

There's little disagreement with the contention that the existing divorce laws make for a courtroom masquerade which, in the words of Assemblyman Robert W. Crown, D-Alameda, is "a dirty business."

CROWN FEELS so strongly that the laws should be changed that he told the full Assembly Thursday, during the debate on Hayes' bill, "if Mr. Hayes is remembered for nothing else in his legislative career than that he changed California's divorce laws in this fashion, that would be a great accolade."

But however meritorious the proposed reforms are, the approach is a little like that of a doctor who treats a sore foot and ignores the broken leg, which would keep the patient immobile no matter how healthy the foot was.

Granted that the great majority of divorce proceedings in California are uncontested, there is still a substantial number of divorce actions which are contested, where there are disputes over fault, or property division, or custody, and where there must be formal trials before a judge.

The trials are simply not taking place in anything resembling a reasonable length of time.

A spouse seeking to dissolve a marriage may be relieved to learn that she is not going to have to go through the ritual of taking the witness stand to describe the "extreme cruelty" of her husband which made her "nervous and upset," and, furthermore, that she's not going to have to persuade a friend to take the stand as a corroborating witness. The proposed divorce reform laws will remove that barbaric requirement.

BUT SHE'S NOT going to be relieved if she can't get into a courtroom in the first place so that the judge can resolve the differences with respect to custody or property.

And she can't.

Reynolds Newton, head of the Superior Court Clerk's office in Long Beach, says the average waiting time between filing of the complaint and the trial in contested matters is eight months.

But, in fact, it is considerably longer than that.

Courtrooms are simply not available in Long Beach, in Los Angeles, and in most other large cities.

Criminal matters have first priority on court time, and the number of criminal trials is increasing so drastically that the Superior Courts in Los Angeles County have little time for other matters.

AND that comparatively miniscule court time which is available must first be given to lawsuits where a statute of limitations applies, where the law states that action must be taken within a specified period of time after the dispute which prompted the filing of the lawsuit in the first place.

The result is that contested divorce proceedings, pretty far down the court calendar's priority ladder, just don't get heard, especially if they are likely to take a day or more of court time.

And the average time is probably considerably more than a year, rather than eight months.

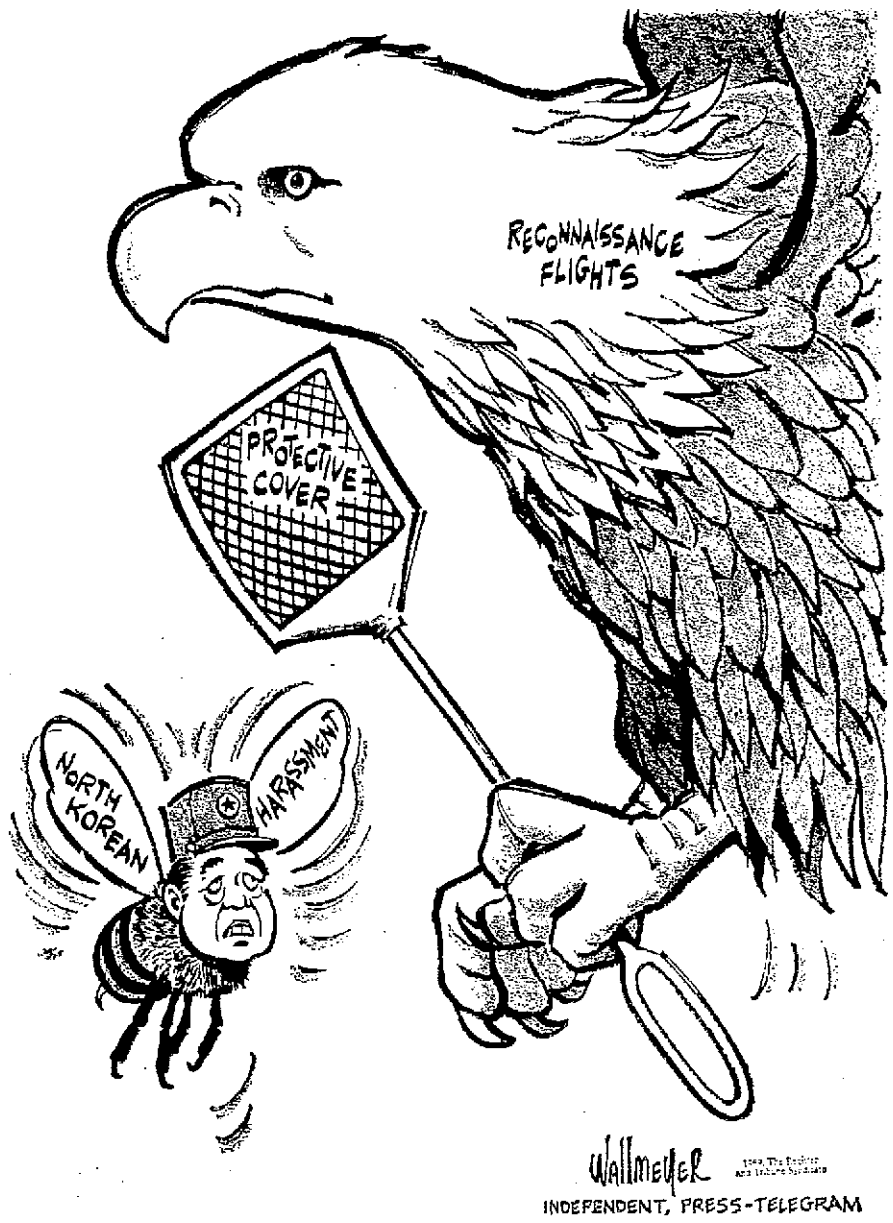

The problem is symptomatic of what is rapidly becoming a crisis situation in our courts.

Criminal trials are becoming so numerous that present court facilities are close to being inadequate to handle them all.

One obvious solution is to build more courthouses and create more judgeships and to hire more clerks and bailiffs. But the taxpayer who is complaining because he can't get into court is also complaining because his taxes are too high, so he has a dilemma.

ONE ALTERNATIVE is for society to do what it has to do to reduce the number of criminals, and that — since we're talking about better educational opportunities, and job training — means we're talking about more taxes again.

Another alternative might be to take a look at what we're calling "crime" these days. Newton, the court clerk in Long Beach, says the legislative classification of possession of LSD and various forms of narcotics as felonies is responsible for a 40 per cent increase in Superior Court criminal trials. And it is this increase which propels us toward having to spend money for more courts or more intensified attacks on the causes of criminal behaviour.

Election reform badly needed

IN THE HEAT of the 1968 campaign, at a time when it looked very much like George Wallace might throw the presidential election into the House of Reresentatives, Richard Nixon asked me to join him in a pact committing each of us to the idea that the winner of the popular vote on November 5 ought to become president.

I declined, not because I disagreed with the principle of direct election of the president, but rather because I believed the presidency was too imporiant to be subject to campaign agreements between candidates. I told Mr. Nixon that while I had long worked for abolishment of the electoral college in favor of direct election of the president by the people, I believed the change ought to be embedded in our Constitution, not bartered in the critical moments of a political campaign.

THE 1968 ELECTION, decided by half a million votes, very nearly did end up in the House of Representatives, where each state would have cast one vote. What if either Mr. Nixon or myself had been elected by the House and the one of us chosen was not the popular vote winner? Inevitably there would have been charges of a "deal" with backers of George Wallace, and the loss of public confidence in the presidency would have been staggering.

It is, as the American Bar Association has noted, an archaic, undemocratic, complex, ambiguous, indirect, and dangerous situation.

The president is the representative of the people — all of the people. He and the vice president are the only two officers of our national government who have a nationwide constituency. They ought to be elected by the people.

In 1787, when the framers of the Constitution created the electoral college, they acted in the belief that the American people were not qualified to judge who ought to be president. They thought the voters of each state should elect a small, select group of men who would be qualified to judge.

BUT AS IT HAS EVOLVED, each political party now puts up its own slate of electors, so the candidate who carries the state almost automatically gets that state's electoral votes. The electors, however, are legally independent. They can vote for whichever candidate they please, as one North Carolina elector did in 1968.

Congress and the states have let this situation continue for too long. The electoral reform issues raised in the recent election must be acted upon.

I favor direct election of the president, as do the American Bar Association and, according to polls, 80 per cent of the American people. It would give each American citizen an equal vote — a fundamental principle of our democratic process.

Under the present electoral college system, there is one elector for every 75,389 citizens of Alaska and one elector for every 392,930 citizens of California. This is unconscionable and undemocratic.

The present system discourages candidates from campaigning in "safe" states and in small states. Because the electoral votes were there, I spent much of my fall campaign in the big "swing" states — New York, California, Michigan, Ohio, New Jersey, Texas, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Massachusetts. Well-organized groups in these swing states take on extraordinary importance, for they can be decisive in a close election.

DIRECT ELECTION would give campaigns more of a national flavor. Candidates would continue to go where the most people are, but the smaller states would likely get more attention. Every citizen of every state would have good reason to cast a vote. There would be no safe or swing states. Each person's vote would count equally.

Direct election would also strengthen the two-party system by discouraging regional or splinter party candidates from trying to throw the election into the House where they might play a kingmaker's role.

In this era of mass quality education and instant communications, we also ought to lower the voting age to 18. And we ought to break down the paper curtain of outmoded registration laws which keep so many of our citizens from voting. In 1968, only 72 million out of a possible 120 million voting-age citizens went to the polls.

WE OUGHT to move ahead on these changes now while memories of the potential chaos of 1968 are still fresh. If both houses of Congress will approve these electoral reforms, I believe the necessary 38 states would ratify the constitutional change.

Such a change will require enlightened political leadership — from the White House to the courthouse. We can afford no less. We cannot move toward the 21st century with 19th century election laws.

Quakes shake building codes and politicos

From Our L.A. Bureau

ASTROLOGERS and other prophets have spread so much gloom lately predicing earthquakes in California that it must be a terrible temptation to a politician to talk about them. That way lie headlines. And some elected officials have shown little disposition to resist.

The question is, how serious is our danger?

Records of earthquakes in this state go back hundreds of years, and they tell what each has done, and there is a numbering system that describes their force. The measure is known as the Richter Scale.

Seismologists, the specialists in this field, say you can't find anything with an intensity beyond 8.5.

HOW BAD is that? The most destructive earthquake in California history, San Francisco's in 1906, registered 8.3, and most of the damage was wrought by the fires it started. The worst one down here — the spasm that rocked Long Beach March 10, 1933 — measured 6.3.

Science now has devices to track the severity of these convulsions, even when they occur thousands of miles from the laboratory. But it can be done in other ways.

Geologists study rock formations and note the changes earthquakes make, and they can then calculate just how these upheavals rank with Richter. That's why the records go back so far. And that's why scientists think you're unlikely to see the 8.5 peak shattered.

The 1933 earthquake in southern Los Angeles County shook up not only Long Beach but legislative halls in Los Angeles and some other places. The rules were changed. Factories and schools and public buildings now are more sturdily made.

"Tall buildings constructed according to these standards," said County Engineer John Lambie, "are as safe or safer than one-story to three-story structures built since 1934."

Not that much worry need be wasted on single-family homes.

"MOST OF THEM," Lambie said, "are wood-frame one- and two-story structures. By most standards, these are relatively earthquake safe."

The problem is with tall buildings that are older. There are still some around — about 1,000, Lambie thinks, in the unincorporated areas of the county, and a few more scattered through the cities. But time will solve this.

In another 20 years probably nothing built before 1934 will still be standing. In the meantime, Lambie believes, these old buildings should be inspected with the idea of making them safe without requiring the spending of more money than they're worth.

Some things have been done. The owners have had to remove or strengthen parapets that threatened to collapse on people walking on the street. Falling walls and parapets struck most of those who died during the Long Beach earthquake.

The worst thing is that there is nothing in the law to protect occupants of tall buildings that have been around more than 25 years. But Lambie and others are working to change that.

Some thoughts and quotations

By L. A. COLLINS Sr.

ONE OF OUR most successful enterprises in this country has been the International Business Machine Corp. which over recent decades has developed office equipment and computers. In its bi-monthly magazine "Think" it gives a page of famous quotations which stimulates thinking of those of us who struggle to not fall into a rut in our thoughts and writing. Following are some of the quotations in the January-February issue.

"We can not evade the necessity to make judgments. I was discussing these matters with a young man recently, and he said 'I do not mind making judgments that involve myself but I object to making decisions that affect other people.' I had to tell him that would make it impossible for him to be a second grade teacher, a corporate president, a husband, a politician, a parent, a traffic policeman, a chef, a doctor, a weatherman, a race handicapper. In fact it would force him to become a hermit.

"It is a tendency far too many of us follow in attempting to escape responsibility of voting or discussion in organizations to which we belong. Each of us is daily faced with decisions that affect others — to ignore that responsibility causes many of us to lose respect for ourselves and by others.

ANOTHER quotation by Lord Chandos is: "I have heard speakers say 'I can say without fear of contradiction.' Anyone who says this in a modern democracy — or to the shareowners of a modern company — should see the doctor." Anyone in the newspaper or broadcasting industries certainly knows the truth of this conclusion. Intelligent people are certain to disagree with some of what is written or broadcast. Every writer realizes he makes many mistakes and disagrees with what many of his readers are thinking. It would be an uninteresting world if we all agreed.

In these hectic days of many controversial issues such as Vietnam, violence on our streets and campuses, ever-increasing taxes, inflation, obscenity coming through the mails and sold on bookstands it is natural there are many different opinions. We are prone to enjoy the company of people who agree with us. But we learn more and are stimulated by listening to those who disagree with our views. In no other way can we enrich our knowledge of what is really going on in the world.

We are a fortunate people in that we have the most stable government and economy in the world. That is largely because we still have most of the freedoms we have cherished over the last almost 200 years.

Our two-party political system has given us a balance of power system that is a constant check on rule by edict rather than the will of the masses. In every election we find voters crossing party lines to vote for men of the party we choose regardless of how we are registered.

Many feel we have lost many of these freedoms becuse of the ever-increasing power of government, court decisions and apathy shown by many of our people. But we still have the fundamental freedoms for which our people have fought for in many wars. If we accept responsibility to make decisions we believe are right regardless of what others think we will continue to have the best country in the world in which to live.

SOME QUOTATIONS on a lighter theme by Corinna March are headed, Second Thoughts: "A friend in need is a drain on the pocketbook. Better late than before the hostess is ready. A bird in hand is an awful nuisance. The wages of sin are not near as high as they used to be. The way to hell is paved with loan extensions."

The quotations from IBM are refreshing because they tell stories in so few words. It is unfortunate many of us are unable to express ourselves in such ways.

Bridges labor era softly coming to close

THE INTERNATIONAL Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union concluded its 18th biennial convention in Los Angeles the other day by handing Harry Bridges another two-year term as president of the organization.

It will be Bridges' last time at the helm, though. The longshore leader is 67 years old now, and by the time his latest term expires, he'll have passed the union's mandatory retirement age of 68.

For Bridges and the ILWU, an era is coming to a close. It was made even more apparent by the retirement of Bob Robertson as vice president of the union.

Robertson, a former Wobbly who went on to become the ILWU's leading organizer, is, like Bridges, a symbol of the tough old days, and of the union's early radicalism and militancy.

THE WONDER ABOUT men like Bridges and Robertson is not that they've lost some of their early radicalism, as some of their critics charge, but that they held on to as much of it as they did in the face of advancing years and changing times, not to mention the softening influence of success.

Today the ILWU is one of the most powerful labor unions in the country, as well as one of the most democratic; and its members are as comfortably situated as any of the best-paid workers in America.

In the case of Robertson himself, the wonder is that he survived at all. For union organizing in the thirties was a job no man undertook without putting his life in jeopardy. In 1937, in fact, while trying to organize warehouse workers in New Orleans, Robertson's back was broken from a beating he received by the police. He spent two months in the hospital as a result.

Bridges' history is better known,

REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By CHARLES SUTTON

of course. Out of the turmoil that enveloped San Francisco's waterfront in the early thirties, he forged the longshoremen into a tight and proud union.

The government's celebrated and unsuccessful effort to deport him to his native Australia, after claiming he obtained his U.S. citizenship by falsely swearing he was not a Communist Party member, lasted all of 18 years and reflected the extraordinary degree to which the longshore leader was hated and feared in the United States.

Bridges' relationship with the Communist Party, as writer Frank Porter once observed in the New Republic, "has never been clearly documented." But Bridges's outspokenness has. And it's clear that he took unpopular positions on everything from U.S. capitalism to Soviet Russia. Indeed, he still does. Yet his left-wing statements don't seem to bother many people any more.

BRIDGES' PART in formulating the West Coast's Mechanization and Modernization Agreement, a model —until recently, at least—of harmonious labor-management relations, has made him a respected "labor statesman" in many circles.

Moreover, the country appears to have wearied of the "Communist menace" at home. And Russia doesn't seem to pose quite the peril abroad that it once did.

Some of Bridges' beliefs are no less uncompromising and radical than they were when he first uttered them. But now they don't seem terribly dangerous coming from a man who hobnobs with the San Francisco establishment, and who has made his peace with the bosses. It's hard to be dangerous—if Bridges ever was—in a political movement that seems irrelevant to the times and which has been superceded by a new and more militant left.

It might be fairly said, in fact, that Bridges hasn't changed that much. The times have.

More than that, though, there are the hard practicalities with which Bridges has had to deal. The ILWU president may be an ideological leftist or Marxist, but he's also, as Porter noted, "an intensely practical man whose actions are dictated more by the realities of the second half century than the anachronisms of a 19th century creed."

FURTHERMORE, Porter went on, Bridges is limited to a large extent by the "increasingly bourgoisie attitudes of his members."

As a management observer remarked recently, "the union is hopelessly middle class. It's members are in the PTA, their children are married or in college, and they're living well." And a few old timers in the ILWU will tell you the same thing.

The surprising thing is that the union has managed to retain some of its old left-wing qualities despite its affluence and success. Moreover, there's no mistaking its militancy. Its political leanings aside, the ILWU remains a tough and vigorous union, jealous of its hard-won rights and independence, and quite willing to fight for them when the occasion arises.

At the convention, the ILWU took its usual uncompromising stands on social issues: against racism, against the war in Vietnam, against antilabor and "rightist" legislation, and against the antiballistic missile system. At the same time, it came out for such things as a guaranteed work opportunity program for the unskilled poor, as well as a negative income tax—things that most liberals would applaud and endorse.

Although the delegates took a mild and uncertain line on "campus unrest," Bridges was noticeably cool to the student left — an odd if ironic posture for an "old revolutionary," and one that must amuse his enemies no end.

But Bridges is being true to his own lights in turning off the New Left. He thinks radical student groups are conducting "challenge for challenge's sake, and confrontation for confrontation's sake."

BRIDGES, MOREOVER, feels the New Left is ignoring the one group capable of sustaining any revolutionary change in America: the working class. And if Bridges is nothing else, he's working class. His loyalty, for all his political radicalism, is still with the union and its members.

And the members are aware of this—which may explain why, despite their occasional quarrels with him, they remain loyal to the man.

As for Bridges' political heresies, the membership appears to have accepted them in return for all that he has done for the union on pork chop issues. Nor is the situation likely to change in the next two years. If any decisions are going to be made about developing ties with the student radicals, says one insider, they'll probably be made after Bridges retires.

WHETHER THE membership, which is getting younger, will care to support the students is something else again. But there are some ILWU officials who seem favorably disposed toward the student idealists.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Sometimes I wonder why I dropped out of college—I had just as much anonymity there as I do here!"

Some in U.S. celebrate Hitler birthday

WASHINGTON — This is Adolf Hitler's birthday. Had he not committed suicide in an underground Berlin bunker, he would have been 80 years old today.

Reason for mention of this fact is not to commemorate Hitler's birthday, but to guard against repetition of the evils he unloosed.

Today in the United States these forces are at work again, some of them very secret. And, believe it or not, there will be secret celebrations of Hitler's birthday by a neo-Nazi movement which includes men of some standing in certain communities.

THEY HAVE organized under the banner of Francis Parker Yockey, a dead man, just as the John Birch Society organized under the name of John Birch, who was shot and killed in China. Yockey, following Hitler's example, committed suicide, June 17, 1960, in a San Francisco jail.

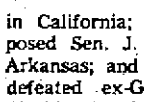

Yockey updated the Nazi philosophy in a pseudo-intellectual book called "Imperium," which has become the "Mein Kampf" of the new movement.

Carto is a skillful packstage political operator. He established the Liberty Lobby, which conducts an $850,000-a-year effort on Capitol Hill and has been a strong booster of Otto Otepka, the $14,000 State Department official who was dropped for leaking classified documents and has now been promoted to a $36,000 job by Nixon. Otepka's rightwing attorney, also backed by the Liberty Lobby, has been appointed to the U. S. Court of Appeals.

Last year, Carto also founded the United Congressional Appeal, which passed out $90,000 to a long list of conservative Congressional candidates. The largest donations—$4,500 apiece—went to Archie Gubbrud, the Republican who ran against Sen. George McGovern in South Dakota, and George Hanson, the Republican who tried to unseat Sen. Frank Church in Idaho.

SMALLER $2,500 contributions were distributed to Max Rafferty, who ran against Sen. Alan Cranston in California; Jim Johnson, who opposed Sen. J. William Fulbright in Arkansas; and Sen. Ed Gurney, who defeated ex-Gov. Leroy Collins in Florida. Another $1,000 went to Sen. Henry Bellmon, who unseated Sen. Mike Monroney in Oklahoma.

California Rep. James Utt, the chief congressional spokesman for the Liberty Lobby, received only a token $500, despite his loyalty. Carto economized because he considered Utt's reelection for the ninth time reassured.

Of all the candidates who accepted money from United Congressional Appeal, only Baring, Dowdy and Haley are Democrats. The candidates might have been unaware that UCA was controlled by neo-Nazis had it not been for the fact that Carto's pro-Nazi leanings have been thoroughly exposed in this column since October 1966. He signed the checks.

Carto's goal, as he stated in the foreword to "Imperium," is to capture political power.

"To the goal of political power," he wrote, "all else must be temporarily sacrificed." On Capitol Hill at least, he has had alarming success.

He has also succeeded in infiltrating the press. He has purchased financial control of the American Mercury, established by the Baltimore iconoclast, H. L. Mencken. He also publishes various newsletters, including the Washington Observer which is sent to American Mercury subscribers. Insiders say that the American Mercury and Washington Observer have 8,000 paid subscribers.

But now they don't seem terribly dangerous coming from a man who hobnobs with the San Francisco establishment, and who has made his peace with the bosses. It's hard to be dangerous—if Bridges ever was—in a political movement that seems irrelevant to the times and which has been superceded by a new and more militant left.

It might be fairly said, in fact, that Bridges hasn't changed that much. The times have.

More than that, though, there are the hard practicalities with which Bridges has had to deal. The ILWU president may be an ideological leftist or Marxist, but he's also, as Porter noted, "an intensely practical man whose actions are dictated more by the realities of the second half century than the anachronisms of a 19th century creed."

FURTHERMORE, Porter went on, Bridges is limited to a large extent by the "increasingly bourgoisie attitudes of his members."

As a management observer remarked recently, "the union is hopelessly middle class. It's members are in the PTA, their children are married or in college, and they're living well." And a few old timers in the ILWU will tell you the same thing.

The surprising thing is that the union has managed to retain some of its old left-wing qualities despite its affluence and success. Moreover, there's no mistaking its militancy. Its political leanings aside, the ILWU remains a tough and vigorous union, jealous of its hard-won rights and independence, and quite willing to fight for them when the occasion arises.

At the convention, the ILWU took its usual uncompromising stands on social issues: against racism, against the war in Vietnam, against antilabor and "rightist" legislation, and against the antiballistic missile system. At the same time, it came out for such things as a guaranteed work opportunity program for the unskilled poor, as well as a negative income tax—things that most liberals would applaud and endorse.

Although the delegates took a mild and uncertain line on "campus unrest," Bridges was noticeably cool to the student left — an odd if ironic posture for an "old revolutionary," and one that must amuse his enemies no end.

But Bridges is being true to his own lights in turning off the New Left. He thinks radical student groups are conducting "challenge for challenge's sake, and confrontation for confrontation's sake."

BRIDGES, MOREOVER, feels the New Left is ignoring the one group capable of sustaining any revolutionary change in America: the working class. And if Bridges is nothing else, he's working class. His loyalty, for all his political radicalism, is still with the union and its members.

And the members are aware of this—which may explain why, despite their occasional quarrels with him, they remain loyal to the man.

As for Bridges' political heresies, the membership appears to have accepted them in return for all that he has done for the union on pork chop issues. Nor is the situation likely to change in the next two years. If any decisions are going to be made about developing ties with the student radicals, says one insider, they'll probably be made after Bridges retires.

WHETHER THE membership, which is getting younger, will care to support the students is something else again. But there are some ILWU officials who seem favorably disposed toward the student idealists.

Columnists on the opinion pages are chosen to represent diverse viewpoints and do not necessarily reflect the editorial position of this newspaper.

Some in U.S. celebrate Hitler birthday

DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — This is Adolf Hitler's birthday. Had he not committed suicide in an underground Berlin bunker, he would have been 80 years old today.

Reason for mention of this fact is not to commemorate Hitler's birthday, but to guard against repetition of the evils he unloosed.

Today in the United States these forces are at work again, some of them very secret. And, believe it or not, there will be secret celebrations of Hitler's birthday by a neo-Nazi movement which includes men of some standing in certain communities.

THEY HAVE organized under the banner of Francis Parker Yockey, a dead man, just as the John Birch Society organized under the name of John Birch, who was shot and killed in China. Yockey, following Hitler's example, committed suicide, June 17, 1960, in a San Francisco jail.

Yockey updated the Nazi philosophy in a pseudo-intellectual book called "Imperium," which has become the "Mein Kampf" of the new movement.

In Washington, secret rites honoring Hitler are planned for today by Willis Carto, who founded the movement after visiting Yockey on the eve of his suicide.

Carto is a skillful packstage political operator. He established the Liberty Lobby, which conducts an $850,000-a-year effort on Capitol Hill and has been a strong booster of Otto Otepka, the $14,000 State Department official who was dropped for leaking classified documents and has now been promoted to a $36,000 job by Nixon. Otepka's rightwing attorney, also backed by the Liberty Lobby, has been appointed to the U. S. Court of Appeals.

Last year, Carto also founded the United Congressional Appeal, which passed out $90,000 to a long list of conservative Congressional candidates. The largest donations—$4,500 apiece—went to Archie Gubbrud, the Republican who ran against Sen. George McGovern in South Dakota, and George Hanson, the Republican who tried to unseat Sen. Frank Church in Idaho.

SMALLER $2,500 contributions were distributed to Max Rafferty, who ran against Sen. Alan Cranston in California; Jim Johnson, who opposed Sen. J. William Fulbright in Arkansas; and Sen. Ed Gurney, who defeated ex-Gov. Leroy Collins in Florida. Another $1,000 went to Sen. Henry Bellmon, who unseated Sen. Mike Monroney in Oklahoma.

California Rep. James Utt, the chief congressional spokesman for the Liberty Lobby, received only a token $500, despite his loyalty. Carto economized because he considered Utt's reelection for the ninth time reassured.

Of all the candidates who accepted money from United Congressional Appeal, only Baring, Dowdy and Haley are Democrats. The candidates might have been unaware that UCA was controlled by neo-Nazis had it not been for the fact that Carto's pro-Nazi leanings have been thoroughly exposed in this column since October 1966. He signed the checks.

Carto's goal, as he stated in the foreword to "Imperium," is to capture political power.

"To the goal of political power," he wrote, "all else must be temporarily sacrificed." On Capitol Hill at least, he has had alarming success.

He has also succeeded in infiltrating the press. He has purchased financial control of the American Mercury, established by the Baltimore iconoclast, H. L. Mencken. He also publishes various newsletters, including the Washington Observer which is sent to American Mercury subscribers. Insiders say that the American Mercury and Washington Observer have 8,000 paid subscribers.

BARKER'S SUCCESS

the traditional key to the city.

There will be old friends to see, acquaintances to renew. After all, Long Beach is "home".

Barker senior is a retired L.B. teacher and long-remembered former baseball coach.

Among the people Barker will be seeking are those Poly teachers from his day who gave him a boost. Ranking high among those he remembers is Neil W. Philips Jr., now the district's director of high schools, then a young history teacher fresh from college.

NO SOFT touch, Philips regularly assigned outside reading of an intellectual caliber Barker later would find in college. "He wouldn't let me get by with anything . . ."

Barker, who earlier had attended Burbank and Longfellow Elementaries, Franklin Junior High, was involved in student government and a scholarship society at Poly.

A member of the school's golf team, he polished a skill that would "help me greatly in later life. I still play" — with a 10 handicap — "for pleasure and business reasons."

Poly then as now was attended by students of many races, creeds and colors, Barker recalls.

"It was all very easy going and relaxed and — maybe I'm naive — but when I got to the University of Chicago I just didn't understand the racial jokes I heard."

Barker intended to be a chemist when he arrived in the Windy City. He had been good in science and math at Poly, and it seemed a natural development. But a war and ensuing military service interrupted his education — as for so many others in that generation.

On returning to Chicago after hostilities ended, and like so many others of his generation, Barker was looking for a "fast college degree." To be successful in chemistry, he knew, "you have to go on for a doctorate."

Because the economics department "would accept all my credits," Barker suddenly found himself majoring in the "dismal science." He earned an econ degree with "only five courses in the subject" — and started up a road leading, not to scientific research but to the bank presidency.

HE MARRIED Sue Keese, a fellow University of Chicago student. The Barkers, who live in Arcadia, are the parents of Peter, 20; Timothy, 18; Michael, 13 and Elizabeth, 12.

Recalled to military service for Korea, for two years, Barker joined UCB in 1957 after a brief stint as assistant credit manager of a national manufacturer. Beginning as a bank assistant vice president, he moved up rapidly.

Still based in Chicago, he bcame a vice president in 1958. Transferred back to California in 1963, he was promoted to VP-assistant to the president in 1965; executive VP, 1967; the presidency in May, 1968.

He is delighted for several reasons to be back on the West Coast. "The action in banking is here," he declares, "not in the middlewest."

Although Poly years are gone, the school is far from forgotten. Barker even passed a special "loyalty test" with flying colors.

"Sure I remember the alma mater song," he laughed, "unless, of course, they've changed it.

"We're loyal to you, Long Beach High.

"We'll ever be true, Long Beach High . . ."

That's unchanged.

DENNIS SULLIVAN.

And there are the brass four-inch high letters from a longtime shoreside landmark used by many skippers to help guide them back to port. The facility was dismantled by National.

Seal Beach Steam Plant.

Attached to the walls of this unique museum are ship's clocks, binnacles, engine gauges, even a telegraph from the engineroom of a Norweigan ship. The many nameplates are spotted all about the salvaged gear.

Imagine the sagas of adventure, the tales of tragedy which could be told by the men who served and sailed on such ships as: USS Vicksburg, CL-86; the subs, Steelhead, Sawfish, and Gurnard; Mobjack AVP-27; the destroyers, Gridley, Roe, and Shubrick; the USS Tippecanoe; the destroyer escorts, Crouter, Cloes, and Wyman; the light cruisers, Flint, Birmingham, and San Juan; or the cargo carriers, John Sedwick, William Garrison, Robert Ingersol, and Miquel Hidalgo!

BARKER'S SUCCESS

the traditional key to the city.

There will be old friends to see, acquaintances to renew. After all, Long Beach is "home".

Barker senior is a retired L.B. teacher and long-remembered former baseball coach.

Among the people Barker will be seeking are those Poly teachers from his day who gave him a boost. Ranking high among those he remembers is Neil W. Philips Jr., now the district's director of high schools, then a young history teacher fresh from college.

NO SOFT touch, Philips regularly assigned outside reading of an intellectual caliber Barker later would find in college. "He wouldn't let me get by with anything . . ."

Barker, who earlier had attended Burbank and Longfellow Elementaries, Franklin Junior High, was involved in student government and a scholarship society at Poly.

A member of the school's golf team, he polished a skill that would "help me greatly in later life. I still play" — with a 10 handicap — "for pleasure and business reasons."

Poly then as now was attended by students of many races, creeds and colors, Barker recalls.

"It was all very easy going and relaxed and — maybe I'm naive — but when I got to the University of Chicago I just didn't understand the racial jokes I heard."

Barker intended to be a chemist when he arrived in the Windy City. He had been good in science and math at Poly, and it seemed a natural development. But a war and ensuing military service interrupted his education — as for so many others in that generation.

On returning to Chicago after hostilities ended, and like so many others of his generation, Barker was looking for a "fast college degree." To be successful in chemistry, he knew, "you have to go on for a doctorate."

Because the economics department "would accept all my credits," Barker suddenly found himself majoring in the "dismal science." He earned an econ degree with "only five courses in the subject" — and started up a road leading, not to scientific research but to the bank presidency.

HE MARRIED Sue Keese, a fellow University of Chicago student. The Barkers, who live in Arcadia, are the parents of Peter, 20; Timothy, 18; Michael, 13 and Elizabeth, 12.

Recalled to military service for Korea, for two years, Barker joined UCB in 1957 after a brief stint as assistant credit manager of a national manufacturer. Beginning as a bank assistant vice president, he moved up rapidly.

Still based in Chicago, he became a vice president in 1958. Transferred back to California in 1963, he was promoted to VP-assistant to the president in 1965; executive VP, 1967; the presidency in May, 1968.

He is delighted for several reasons to be back on the West Coast. "The action in banking is here," he declares, "not in the middlewest."

Although Poly years are gone, the school is far from forgotten. Barker even passed a special "loyalty test" with flying colors.

"Sure I remember the alma mater song," he laughed, "unless, of course, they've changed it.

"We're loyal to you, Long Beach High.

"We'll ever be true, Long Beach High . . ."

That's unchanged.

DENNIS SULLIVAN.

And there are the brass four-inch high letters from a longtime shoreside landmark used by many skippers to help guide them back to port. The facility was dismantled by National.

Seal Beach Steam Plant.

Attached to the walls of this unique museum are ship's clocks, binnacles, engine gauges, even a telegraph from the engine-room of a Norweigan ship. The many nameplates are spotted all about the salvaged gear.

Imagine the sagas of adventure, the tales of tragedy which could be told by the men who served and sailed on such ships as: USS Vicksburg, CL-86; the subs, Steelhead, Sawfish, and Gurnard; Mobjack AVP-27; the destroyers, Gridley, Roe, and Shubrick; the USS Tippecanoe; the destroyer escorts, Crouter, Cloes, and Wyman; the light cruisers, Flint, Birmingham, and San Juan; or the cargo carriers, John Sedwick, William Garrison, Robert Ingersol, and Miquel Hidalgo!

MATCHMAKERS
We Worry About You Like A Mother!
It's amazing that a computer service as large as ours can give you such personal attention, but still we worry.
· Are you dating enough of the RIGHT PEOPLE?
—Are you really happy with your SOCIAL LIFE?
—If divorced, are you sure you won't make another mistake?
If you answered NO to ANY ONE of the above, it's time you call MATCHMAKERS for some good old fashioned advice OR just for information about what our computer can do FOR YOU. Call Today.

PRESTIGE SELLING

Opportunity for professional salesman to make a profitable & lasting affiliation with the fastest growing field in direct sales-correspondence courses

The successful home study salesman is a man of dignified appearance with the necessary maturity to discipline his working habits. He has not necessarily sold home-study courses prior to joining us but has had successful background in direct selling of intangibles or big ticket items requiring the one-call close & using low pressure negative sales approach.

Excellent commission schedule & steady flow of write-in leads enable our men to achieve yearly earning of $18,000 to $22,000

If you feel you fit into this picture & are ready to start right now call for interview, Monday ONLY between 9 a.m.-4 p.m., Rochelle's Motel, 213-421-8215, ask for Mr. Alexander Dependability!

There are so many reasons why you will want to deal with REX L HODGES REALTY

when BUYING . . .

DEAL WITH THE LEADER

47% of our sales are with repeat customers! There must be a reason!

Larger Selection . . . 1365 Exclusive listings to choose from, 6 multiple listing service offerings, electronic processing of company listings, indexed listings for up-to-date information. Full selection of saleable estate, foreclosure and trust properties, comparables by computer.

Better Financing . . . Down payments to fit your budget . . . money advanced on your present equity to purchase another home or income property . . . guaranteed home sales—all backed by our nearly 40-year tradition of financial strength!

Greater Efficiency . . . Electronic equipment speeds information and service. Bookkeeping machines expedite transactions. 39 years experience stops guesswork. Completeness of operation leaves nothing to chance and adds security for you. Ask your banker or attorney about us.

Professionally Staffed . . . Professional staff and facilities offer "one-stop service." Staff consultants available at no extra cost. Our Company Attorney, appraiser, insurance adviser, tax consultant, escrow, estate and title officers protect your transaction.

Know Your Flag!

Feeling a need to review and learn more about our country and its heritage, we recently began a study of the origin, meanings, and proper use of our flag. We have found the information so interesting and inspirational that we have decided to offer free decal replicas to the public—we hope you share our enthusiasm, and stop in at any Rex L. Hodges office for your flag, or merely phone or write us for one.

The story of the origin of our National flag parallels the story of the origin of our country. Just as our country received its birthright from the peoples of many lands, so did the pattern of the Stars & Stripes rise from several origins to become emblazoned on the standards of our infant Republic. Heraldry is as old as the human race and the carrying of banners has been the habit of nations since the beginning of time. It was, therefore, most natural that America had its Colonial flags as soon as the first colonists settled and likewise not surprising that those flags were created in a wide variety of colors and designs.

when INVESTING . . .

LET US SHOW YOU OUR NEW INCOME PROPERTIES . . .

some yielding annual returns in excess of 39%

Migration to California, plus natural population growth creates a growing demand for irreplacable real estate. Yes, real estate is one of the few forms of investment of which the supply is definitely limited. Greater Long Beach and Orange County income properties offered by Rex L. Hodges Realty are located in solid growth areas with rental vacancy percentages under 2%.

where are your investment dollars NOW?

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY a home or investment property! It is estimated new home construction costs will go up 10% annually, and land values are rapidly rising in all the areas we serve!

when SELLING . . .

watch for the London Bus— and give your listing to us!

More Sales People . . . 127 active sales representatives, each qualified by Co-Training Program. Sales staff backed by 15 Managers, 10 Clerical Administrators, and an Executive Consultant Staff of Legal, Escrow, Tax, Title, Loan Officers.

More Exposure . . . We offer six Multiple Listing Services—152 telephones working daily—Over 500 realty ads weekly—One-half million people pass Hodges offices daily. Listings distributed to most local Real Estate Offices.

More Advertising . . . Rex L. Hodges leads the industry in advertising. Ads help sell homes and we know it. That's why we're the leader. 750 signs, 150,000 cards, 250,000 mailings, continuous calendars, billboards and brochures.

More Prospects . . . Referrals from 82,000 previous sales—39-year inventory repeat customers—Buyers from hundreds of listed properties—Interstate Job Transfer Referrals—Buyers from over 150 weekly open houses.

Property Management . . .

MORE THAN 200 PROPERTIES ENTRUSTED TO OUR CARE!

For many years home owners, small and large income property owners have relied upon Rex L. Hodges Property Management Co. to guard their investments and be assured their properties are not only receiving expert attention, but also yielding maximum return on their investment. We have a waiting list of pre-qualified tenants* for most price ranges of homes or apartments.

*We screen the prospective tenant including a credit check at no cost to our clients or the tenant.

NEED CASH TO BUY?

We'll advance you cash on the equity of your present home—up to 80% of its market value! And we will only charge you 8% interest while you are using the money. You pay us back anytime within 6 months, or when your home is sold if the sale occurs before 6 months.

WANT TO TRADE?

We offer a GUARANTEED TRADE-IN PLAN that should put you in the home of your choice without additional cash—and relieves you of the wait and worry of selling your present home!

A Good Place to Work . . .

looking for increased future income?

We invite experienced real estate salesmen, including brokers as well as newcomers to investigate our new sales-incentive program and compare it with any other commission plan offered! We are now offering a program that can almost guarantee to increase your 1968 commission earnings by 10%, 25%—more, regardless of your present commission split program. We are seeking full time, ambitious, intelligent salespeople and offering opportunities NOW that may not be available in the future, once the word gets around!

Call us at 437-1251 for an appointment, or drop by our General Offices at 408 E. 1st St., Long Beach. Ask for Mr. Christensen or Bernie Jones—GET THE FACTS! It's YOUR future we want to discuss!

We own and operate QUEEN CITY ESCROW CORP. to facilitate the prompt, efficient administration of all transactions.

Your INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM reader insurance has a check for you "on your way out"

Get it.

BILLS come big when you are hurt in an accident nowadays—even a small one.

Hospital rooms cost from $60 to $85 a day. And that's only the beginning.

Even if you have hospitalization insurance or Medicare, there's nothing like another check paid directly to you to help with all the extras that are sure to come up.

Your newspaper's reader service insurance has that check for you. For a premium cost that's so tiny you will never miss it.

For a premium cost of mere "pocket-change".

The benefits are large and substantial.

They are paid directly to you, to use as you please. They're tax-free because they're insurance. And you collect the benefits no matter what other insurance you have or Medicare.

Isn't this as good a proposition as you have seen in a long time. Isn't it better to fill out and mail the coupon-application now than to wish you had. It is all that is required. There are no age limits, there is no medical examination. Just the coupon. Act now.

I apply for "Accumulative" Accident Insurance, to become effective day policy is issued and dated. I agree (1) to pay premium; (2) designate person who collects for my newspaper as my manager to deliver premiums to above office; (3) that policy will automatically expire if I fail to pay premium when due. Insurance does not cover persons who have lost both hands and feet, or the sight of both eyes.

Your INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM reader insurance has a check for you "on your way out"

Get it.

BILLS come big when you are hurt in an accident nowadays—even a small one.

Hospital rooms cost from $60 to $85 a day. And that's only the beginning.

Even if you have hospitalization insurance or Medicare, there's nothing like another check paid directly to you to help with all the extras that are sure to come up.

Your newspaper's reader service insurance has that check for you. For a premium cost that's so tiny you will never miss it.

For a premium cost of mere "pocket-change".
The benefits are large and substantial.

They are paid directly to you, to use as you please. They're tax-free because they're insurance. And you collect the benefits no matter what other insurance you have or Medicare.

Isn't this as good a proposition as you have seen in a long time. Isn't it better to fill out and mail the coupon-application now than to wish you had. It is all that is required. There are no age limits, there is no medical examination. Just the coupon. Act now.

for $1 a month—

Rally for 2 in 9th to Win

By FRED CLAIRE
Staff Writer

Houston manager Harry Walker isn't talking to the press too much these days. Poor Harry is talking to himself.

And you can't really blame the guy.

Harry's Houston club has lost two games in a row to the Dodgers in a manner you wouldn't believe.

DODGER OF DAY

TOM HALLER singled in winning run with two out in ninth as Dodgers shocked Astros, 5-4.

On Saturday night, the Dodgers scored two unearned runs in the ninth inning to beat the Astros 5-4.

It had been the same score Friday night at Dodger stadium, when the Dodgers scored three runs in the bottom of the ninth with the tying and winning runs coming across on bases-loaded walks.

"You just can't afford to lose a game like that," Harry had said when he cooled off.

Saturday night's game was even more of a shocker to Harry. The Astros had two outs on the Dodgers in the ninth inning when shortstop Leon McFadden bobbled Andy Kosco's grounder to permit the tying run to score.

And then Tom Haller came through with a single to right to produce the winning run.

As if things weren't rough enough for Harry, it's his own brother—Dixie—who has helped to enliven the Dodger bats.

Dixie has assumed the role of the Dodger batting instructor and his success is clearly indicated by the sound of the Dodger bats.

"Dixie helped me just as he had all of the guys," said Haller, wearing the smile which accompanies a guy who delivers a game-winning hit.

It was the Dodgers' fourth win in a row and hiked their record to 7-3, good for second place in the West Division behind Atlanta.

The Dodgers have come from behind to gain five of their seven wins, going the route in a breeze only against San Diego.

After Houston had moved ahead 4-3 on Dennis Menke's single in the ninth, the Dodgers came back with a hectic finish to win.

Pinch-hitter Len Gabrielson opened the Dodger ninth against Astro starter Larry Dierker with a single to left. Willie Crawford popped out attempting to bunt, ending his six-game hitting streak and apparently ending the Dodgers' bid.

Rookie Bill Russell drew a walk and then Wes Parker hit into a force play, with Russell out at second base and pinch-

Kings One Defeat From Extinction

By RICH ROBERTS
Staff Writer

It's a long way to St. Louis now, but the Kings still have their bags packed.

"We're not gonna let 'em go four straight," said Skip Krake after the St. Louis Blues had punched the Kings' ticket for the third time in a row, 5-2, at the Forum Saturday night. "We're not gonna give it to 'em—that's for darn sure."

That's all that's left for the Kings, who need a four-game win streak to survive the Stanely Cup semifinal.

They'll hang out their pride on the Forum line at 8 tonight. If a fifth game is necessary, it will be played in St. Louis Tuesday.

The Kings, returning to home ice before 12,523 fans, their second largest home crowd of the season, were standing off the Blues at 2-2 in the last period before the National Hockey League's West Division champions gunned them down with three goals in a span of nine minutes.

NHL Playoffs

St. Louis 5, Kings 2 (St. Louis leads best-of-7 series, 3-0).

Bill Flett put the Kings in front—and the Blues behind for the first time in seven playoff games—with a power play rip at 2:18.

Then through the rest of the first two periods, while referee Art Skov kept the penalty box doors swinging like a Tombstone saloon, the Blues came back to lead 2-1 on goals by Frank St. Marseille and Ab McDonald. They were guarded closely but outmuscled the King defensemen.

Krake put the fire back into the Kings late in the second period when he battled Blue defenseman Barclay Plager in the best fight of a fighting series. Plager, whose brother Bob had fought Flett and Ted Irvine in earlier games, traded haymakers with Krake for 15 or 20 seconds.

Even the intermission didn't cool off Krake, who was only 18 seconds out of the penalty box in the last period when he slashed a 12-foot rebound shot past goalie Jacques Plante to tie at 2-2.

But just as the big crowd picked up a "go, Kings, go" chant, St. Louis goals by Terry Crisp and Gary Sabourin 2½ minutes apart turned them off.

And when defenseman Noel Picard stole the puck and bad-hopped a goal off the post, they were on their way home with the feeling that the Kings would not be far behind.

King coach Red Kelly conceded, "We're down and there's no tomorrow — or, rather, there's just tomorrow."

The Blues were trying hard to create a challenge for themselves, other than waiting around for Montreal and Boston to settle their Eastern affair.

"They always figure the fourth game is the hardest game to win," coach Scotty Bowman said. "I felt if we stayed with them at the beginning tonight, we'd be coming on at the end. They had us in our end until they tied it up. When Crisp scored it made a big difference."

Bowman thought the Kings' rookie goalie, Gerry Desjardins, "played well," and Plante agreed.

Lotz Three Back in Champions Tourney

By DAVE LEWIS
Staff Writer

RANCHO LA COSTA — A two-man showdown between Gary Player and Lee Trevino for the $30,000 first money has taken shape in today's final round of the rich Tournament of Champions.

As the exclusive field of 28 tees off at 10:30 a.m. for the final 18 holes, Player and Trevino are tied for first place at 212, four under par. The closest man to them is Dick Lotz, three strokes back at 215.

In another eventful round Saturday, as many as four were tied for the lead after nine holes, and three were still locked for the top spot after 16 before Player and Trevino pulled ahead.

Player, who started the day tied for third a stroke behind Trevino and George Archer, fashioned a three-under-par 69 to gain a share of the lead; he moved in front briefly on the 17th hole after Trevino had taken his only two bogeys of the day on 16 and 17.

However, the flat swinger from El Paso, who has won three tournaments in the last 10 months, including the U.S. Open, birdied the last hole with a spectacular 18-foot putt to draw back even with the South African.

Although it appears as if it will be a two-man duel today, Trevino is a bit skeptical. "While it looks pretty good for either Gary or myself, anything can happen.

I think it will take at least a 69 by one of us to win," he pointed out.

He added, "There have only been nine of the 84 rounds so far in the 60's — one 67, two 68s and six 69s. If someone right behind us should score a 33 on the front nine and Gary and I go out in 36 or 37, it will be a brand new ball game.

"Look at what I did Friday. I made up seven strokes to tie for the lead. This is a punishing course.

PERRANOSKI CONTINUES MASTERY OF ANGELS

By GORDON VERRELL
Staff Writer

MINEAPOLIS — Ron Perranoski, the Minnesota Twins' bullpen master, tried to offer an explanation for this strange spell he has over the Angels. But he couldn't. Not really.

Like Saturday at the Met. Perry, the one-time Dodger relief ace, faced only four Angels and wound up notching the victory in the Twins' 6-5 triumph.

That makes Perranoski 3-0 this season, 2-0 against the Angels. And since he's been working in the American League (one season plus) he's clipped the Anaheims for a 6-0 record, running up a string of 19 2-3 innings without allowing an earned run.

"How else am I going to advertise my restaurant out there in L.A." kidded the lefthanded whiz. "I guess it's just fortunate to be in the position to get the win. Like today. The game was tied when I came in and we got the winning run in the bottom of the ninth.

"It hasn't always been like that. In '65 with the Dodgers I put together something like 31 innings in a row without allowing an earned run. But during that span I managed to win only two games.

"It's the old story. You gotta have the runs and be a little lucky, too."

The Angels could use a little of that luck right about now. With Saturday's setback they've now dropped five in a row and have last place to themselves in the American League West.

ANGEL OF DAY

AURELIO RODRIGUEZ homered and singled twice as Angels bowed to Twins, 6-5.

It looked for a time Saturday like things were about to swing toward the Halos. But a daring theft of home, a throw to the wrong base, a home run only inches fair and a wrong-field single by Harmon Killebrew that dribbled into rightfield all added up to the Twins' win, their fifth in a row which is good enough for a tie for first in the West.

They're all little things, perhaps. But like the song goes, they mean a lot. In this case, a heckuva lot.

Killebrew's single was the topper. Speedy Ted Uhlaender had walked to open the ninth against Eddie Fisher, the third Angel hurler.

Uhlaender stole second and, after Fisher got Rod Carew, he intentionally passed hot-hitting Tony Oliva to get to Killebrew in hopes of getting a double play.

But Harmon crossed up everyone by pelting the ball to right.

"It's the first time I can remember him hitting over there," a dejected manager Bill Rigney said afterward. "With Fisher out there we all figured he'd go to his power, to pull it. But he just outsmarted us. He just rolled it through there."

The Angels had a 5-3 lead after six rounds. But a disastrous seventh evened it for the Minnies.

Tom Murphy got the pinch hitter Ron Clark to open the seventh but then gave up singles to Uhlaender and Carew.

On Carew's single to center, Jay Johnstone tried to get Uhlaender at third but was far too late and, worse yet, permitted Carew, the potential tying run, to slip up to second.

Rigney brought in Hoyt Wilhelm to work to Oliva and the Dutchman got Tony to roll one to first for the second out, scoring Uhlaender and moving Carew along to third.

With Killebrew at the plate, Carew took off for the plate and beat Tom Egan's tag, pulling off a successful steal of the plate, his secnd this season. "Yes, I gave Carew the go-ahead to steal," said Twins' boss Bill Martin. "I

Rally for 2 in 9th to Win

By FRED CLAIRE
Staff Writer

Houston manager Harry Walker isn't talking to the press too much these days. Poor Harry is talking to himself.

And you can't really blame the guy.

Harry's Houston club has lost two games in a row to the Dodgers in a manner you wouldn't believe.

On Saturday night, the Dodgers scored two unearned runs in the ninth inning to beat the Astros 5-4.

It had been the same score Friday night at Dodger stadium, when the Dodgers scored three runs in the bottom of the ninth with the tying and winning runs coming across on bases-loaded walks.

"You just can't afford to lose a game like that," Harry had said when he cooled off.

Saturday night's game was even more of a shocker to Harry. The Astros had two outs on the Dodgers in the ninth inning when shortstop Leon McFadden hobbled Andy Kosco's grounder to permit the tying run to score.

And then Tom Haller came through with a single to right to produce the winning run.

As if things weren't rough enough for Harry, it's his own brother—Dixie—who has helped to enliven the Dodger bats.

Dixie has assumed the role of the Dodger batting instructor and his success is clearly indicated by the sound of the Dodger bats.

"Dixie helped me just as he had all of the guys," said Haller, wearing the smile which accompanies a guy who delivers a game-winning hit.

It was the Dodgers' fourth win in a row and hiked their record to 7-3, good for second place in the West Division behind Atlanta.

The Dodgers have come from behind to gain five of their seven wins, going the route in a breeze only against San Diego.

After Houston had moved ahead 4-3 on Dennis Menke's single in the ninth, the Dodgers came back with a hectic finish to win.

Pinch-hitter Len Gabrielson opened the Dodger ninth against Astro starter Larry Dierker with a single to left. Willie Crawford popped out attempting to bunt, ending his six-game hitting streak and apparently ending the Dodgers' bid.

Rookie Bill Russell drew a walk and then Wes Parker hit into a force play, with Russell out at second base and pinch-

Kings One Defeat From Extinction

By RICH ROBERTS

It's a long way to St. Louis now, but the Kings still have their bags packed.

"We're not gonna let 'em go four straight," said Skip Krake after the St. Louis Blues had punched the Kings' ticket for the third time in a row, 5-2, at the Forum Saturday night. "We're not gonna give it to 'em—that's for darn sure."

That's all that's left for the Kings, who need a four-game win streak to survive the Stanely Cup semifinal.

They'll hang out their pride on the Forum line at 8 tonight. If a fifth game is necessary, it will be played in St. Louis Tuesday.

The Kings, returning to home ice before 12,523 fans, their second largest home crowd of the season, were standing off the Blues at 2-2 in the last period before the National Hockey League's West Division champions gunned them down with three goals in a span of nine minutes.

NHL Playoffs

St. Louis 5, Kings 2 (St. Louis leads best-of-7 series, 3-0).

Bill Flett put the Kings in front—and the Blues behind for the first time in seven playoff games—with a power play rip at 2:18.

Then through the rest of the first two periods, while referee Art Skov kept the penalty box doors swinging like a Tombstone saloon, the Blues came back to lead 2-1 on goals by Frank St. Marseille and Ab McDonald. They were guarded closely but outmuscled the King defensemen.

Krake put the fire back into the Kings late in the second period when he battled Blue defenseman Barclay Plager in the best fight of a fighting series. Plager, whose brother Bob had fought Flett and Ted Irvine in earlier games, traded haymakers with Krake for 15 or 20 seconds.

Even the intermission didn't cool off Krake, who was only 18 seconds out of the penalty box in the last period when he slashed a 12-foot rebound shot past goalie Jacques Plante to tie at 2-2.

But just as the big crowd picked up a "go, Kings, go" chant, St. Louis goals by Terry Crisp and Gary Sabourin 2½ minutes apart turned them off.

And when defenseman Noel Picard stole the puck and bad-hopped a goal off the post, they were on their way home with the feeling that the Kings would not be far behind.

King coach Red Kelly conceded, "We're down and there's no tomorrow — or, rather, there's just tomorrow."

The Blues were trying hard to create a challenge for themselves, other than waiting around for Montreal and Boston to settle their Eastern affair.

"They always figure the fourth game is the hardest game to win," coach Scotty Bowman said. "I felt if we stayed with them at the beginning tonight, we'd be coming on at the end. They had us in our end until they tied it up. When Crisp scored it made a big difference."

Bowman thought the Kings' rookie goalie, Gerry Desjardins, "played well," and Plante agreed.

Lotz Three Back in Champions Tourney

By DAVE LEWIS
Staff Writer

RANCHO LA COSTA — A two-man showdown between Gary Player and Lee Trevino for the $30,000 first money has taken shape in today's final round of the rich Tournament of Champions.

As the exclusive field of 28 tees off at 10:30 a.m. for the final 18 holes, Player and Trevino are tied for first place at 212, four under par. The closest man to them is Dick Lotz, three strokes back at 215.

In another eventful round Saturday, as many as four were tied for the lead after nine holes, and three were still locked for the top spot after 16 before Player and Trevino pulled ahead.

Player, who started the day tied for third a stroke behind Trevino and George Archer, fashioned a three-under-par 69 to gain a share of the lead; he moved in front briefly on the 17th hole after Trevino had taken his only two bogeys of the day on 16 and 17.

However, the flat swinger from El Paso, who has won three tournaments in the last 10 months, including the U.S. Open, birdied the last hole with a spectacular 18-foot putt to draw back even with the South African.

Although it appears as if it will be a two-man duel today, Trevino is a bit skeptical. "While it looks pretty good for either Gary or myself, anything can happen.

I think it will take at least a 69 by one of us to win," he pointed out.

He added, "There have only been nine of the 84 rounds so far in the 60's — one 67, two 68s and six 69s. If someone right behind us should score a 33 on the front nine and Gary and I go out in 36 or 37, it will be a brand new ball game.

"Look at what I did Friday. I made up seven strokes to tie for the lead. This is a punishing course.

PERRANOSKI CONTINUES MASTERY OF ANGELS

By GORDON VERRELL
Staff Writer

MINEAPOLIS — Ron Perranoski, the Minnesota Twins' bullpen master, tried to offer an explanation for this strange spell he has over the Angels. But he couldn't. Not really.

Like Saturday at the Met. Perry, the one-time Dodger relief ace, faced only four Angels and wound up notching the victory in the Twins' 6-5 triumph.

That makes Perranoski 3-0 this season, 2-0 against the Angels. And since he's been working in the American League (one season plus) he's clipped the Anaheims for a 6-0 record, running up a string of 19 2-3 innings without allowing an earned run.

"How else am I going to advertise my restaurant out there in L.A." kidded the lefthanded whiz. "I guess it's just fortunate to be in the position to get the win. Like today. The game was tied when I came in and we got the winning run in the bottom of the ninth.

"It hasn't always been like that. In '65 with the Dodgers I put together something like 31 innings in a row without allowing an earned run. But during that span I managed to win only two games.

"It's the old story. You gotta have the runs and be a little lucky, too."

The Angels could use a little of that luck right about now. With Saturday's setback they've now dropped five in a row and have last place to themselves in the American League West.

ANGEL OF DAY

AURELIO RODRIGUEZ homered and singled twice as Angels bowed to Twins, 6-5.

It looked for a time Saturday like things were about to swing toward the Halos. But a daring theft of home, a throw to the wrong base, a home run only inches fair and a wrong-field single by Harmon Killebrew that dribbled into rightfield all added up to the Twins' win, their fifth in a row which is good enough for a tie for first in the West.

They're all little things, perhaps. But like the song goes, they mean a lot. In this case, a heckuva lot.

Killebrew's single was the topper. Speedy Ted Uhlaender had walked to open the ninth against Eddie Fisher, the third Angel hurler.

Uhlaender stole second and, after Fisher got Rod Carew, he intentionally passed hot-hitting Tony Oliva to get to Killebrew in hopes of getting a double play.

But Harmon crossed up everyone by pelting the ball to right.

"It's the first time I can remember him hitting over there," a dejected manager Bill Rigney said afterward. "With Fisher out there we all figured he'd go to his power, to pull it. But he just outsmarted us. He just rolled it through there."

The Angels had a 5-3 lead after six rounds. But a disastrous seventh evened it for the Minnies.

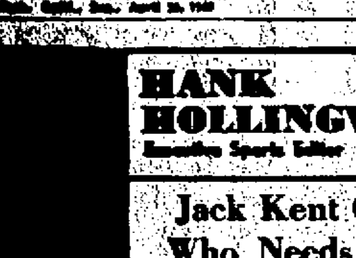

Tom Murphy got the pinch hitter Ron Clark to open the seventh but then gave up singles to Uhlaender and Carew.

On Carew's single to center, Jay Johnstone tried to get Uhlaender at third but was far too late and, worse yet, permitted Carew, the potential tying run, to slip up to second.

Rigney brought in Hoyt Wilhelm to work to Oliva and the Dutchman got Tony to roll one to first for the second out, scoring Uhlaender and moving Carew along to third.

With Killebrew at the plate, Carew took off for the plate and beat Tom Egan's tag, pulling off a successful steal of the plate, his secnd this season. "Yes, I gave Carew the go-ahead to steal," said Twins' boss Bill Martin. "I

Jack Kent Cooke— Who Needs Friend?

Pearls from the Sunday pulpit:

. . . The illustrious Jack Kent Cooke continues not to make friends at every turn in his road. People still are squawking — and with every right — about his move in switching a Laker playoff game at the 11th hour from a Wednesday night in The Forum to the following Friday evening. Jack Kent's answer: "I thought we'd get a better crowd on Friday night." Baloney. Cooke simply wanted to traipse to Oakland to see his beloved hockey Kings perform that particular Wednesday night. If any doubt existed who really runs the National Basketball Assn., it certainly must have been dispelled with that low blow.

. . . Incidentally, if anything leaves a person colder than the NHL playoffs I can't imagine what it might be. I don't care for any of the extensive playoffs in basketball, hockey, football and now baseball, but in the other three sports one at least is familiar with the performers. But a columnist loses his audience if he attempts to cite the thrills in the lives of Jacques Bordieux, Henri La Jean, Frenchy Monsieur, or whatever their names. Who cares?

. . . This comment of Dodger manager Walt Alston gave us a chuckle — although we can't agree: "We hit four home runs in two days but the shortening of the fences didn't make the difference. The fences aren't doing the swinging." Agreed, maestro, but FOUR of those six swats would have been outs if the fences hadn't come back to the hitters. Just ask two of your boys, Andy Kosco and Tom Haller. They'll tell you the difference.

. . . Note to John Hall of Mayor Yorty's paper in L.A.: I'm glad one of our Long Beach readers corrected you on your statement that "nobody named anything but a horse after a sportswriter." Your pen pal was absolutely correct in informing you that a rodeo bull was named after this typewriter jockey. But, alas, you can't visit his shrine. Old Hurricane Hank busted a leg, got a pistol shot in the head and for all his mighty endeavors wound up as hamburger entree for fellow beasts.

THE SAN DIEGO PADRES won't win anything this year but an award for the most pathetic group of ragmops ever to grace a major league baseball field. However, the Padres have been saved because of a master stroke of genius by Buzzie Bavasi in hiring Bud Tucker to save the act.

. . . Tuck can be quoted for hours, but we'll end his first act with a few more salient comments during the Padre-Dodger series the past week. When asked for a San Diego press book, hizzoner retorted: "I don't have any left. I went to a Chinese laundry today and had a briefcase full of them. I gave the whole batch to those guys in the laundry. Nobody else wanted them."

. . . Asked why his briefcase, sans press books, was bulging, Friar shot back: "The way things are going, I thought I'd better store up. I've got more sandwiches in here than (Walter) O'Malley has concession stands."

. . . President Babasi was asked why he didn't visit the press box as was his usual procedure. The response: "Why should I take those insults from you bums? I hired Tucker to be my fall guy."

. . . After being informed of the slander, Tucker came back: "This is ridiculous. When I was a newspaperman, I wrote the kindest things about Bavasai — no matter how much he paid me." I don't think San Diego yet is ready for Bud Tucker. But who is?

QUOTES WHICH WON'T be forgotten:

. . . Yankee Manager Ralph Houk: "We'll miss Mickey Mantle this season. But we're going to be a real good club. In fact, right behind us, I can see Detroit, Baltimore, Boston and Cleveland in a very tight scramble." Oh, Ralphy, couldn't you have said you'd be right behind them — in a very tight scramble?

. . . Jim Stangeland, the new Cal State Long Beach football coach: "We hope to find out a little more about our team this spring." Well, I guess so, Jim. After all, you don't know anything about your men yet, do you?

. . . Al Wesson, Hollywood Park: "Bill Shoemaker has won just about everything at our track but the Goose Girl contest." Al, you should know better.

. . . Preston Gomez, Padres' field boss: "We have a young team and are experimenting this year." Preston, old friend, I'm happy that your experiment isn't being conducted in a laboratory. You'd blow up the joint.

JOE FRAZIER, somebody's version of the heavyweight champion, was correct in remarking that he will have to carry Dave Zyglewicz "if he plans to go for a 15-rounder Tuesday night." Zyglewicz, who's as punchy as they ever come, replied: "Let him keep thinking that way and we'll see how far he can go." Only reason for mentioning this farce in Houston is that Ziggy was banned by the California Athletic Commission after his only performance in this state. All Frazier has to do is burp and Ziggy will go down. David is terrible.

. . . Next time you read about the boxers' predictions (excluding Joe Louis, who works for the company) vs. those of the managers on an important fight, stick with the guys who perform in the ring. Mando Ramos and Raul Rojas tabbed Hedgemon Lewis, while Jackie McCoy and Harry Kabakoff chose Shotgun Albarado. Shotgun was shot down, but good, as Mando and Raul knew all along.

. . . Prediction: Buzzie Bavasi really blew one when he gave the Dodgers Alvin McBean for two kids from the Spokane ranch, Tommy Dean and Leon Everitt. The Dodgers needed a righthanded relief artist and Buzzie gave it to them. McBean, from the Virgin Islands, is no virgin in the win department. And you can bet that this trade will haunt the Padres with or without the ghost of Arnold Tucker.

6-Man Trade Irks Harrleson; Doesn't Want to Be Indian

BOSTON (AP) — Ken Harrelson, Boston Red Sox slugger traded to Cleveland in a sixplayer deal, will refuse to report to the Indians, the Boston Sunday Advertiser says.

In a copyrighted story by baseball writer Larry Claflin, the newspaper says that Harrelson will not don a Cleveland uniform today against the Red Sox in the windup of a weekend series interrupted by rain.

Harrelson, who led the American League in home runs (35) and RBI (109) last season, was traded along with pitchers Dick Ellsworth and Juan Pizarro in exchange for hurlers Sonny Siebertand Vincente Romo and catcher Jose Azcue.

Siebert, 61-47 in five years with Cleveland, and Harrelson were the keys in the deal. Cleveland felt it needed Harrelson to improve its offense and the Red Sox feel Siebert and Romo will stabilize their pitching and Azcue their catching.

"I am heartbroken about this trade," Claflin quoted the popular Hawk as saying. "I will not put on a Cleveland uniform Sunday. Bostom is my city and I love it."

Harrelson's attorney, Bob Woolf, called a news conference for 12:30 p.m. today.

"My heart is broken, even though I enderstand that the Red Sox thought they had to trade me to get help at other positions. I will not play for the Indians until I can talk with my attorney and with Mr. Paul Gabe Paul, president of the Indians."

Woolf, reached in Phoenix, Ariz., on a business trip, said the trade will cost Harrelson "a minimum of $250,000."

"My advice to Ken will be not to report to Cleveland," Woolf told Claflin by telephone. "We must re-examine his career in the light of this trade.

"It is possible he will leave baseball and concentrate on his business ventures, which are many. If ballplayers are to be mere chattels, then Ken and I must look at the game in that light."

STREAKING CUBS TOPPLE EXPOS WITH RUN IN 11TH

MONTREAL (UPI) — Pinch-hitter Jim Hickman singled with two out in the 11th inning to drive in Billy Williams Saturday and give the Chicago Cubs a 6-5 victory over the Montreal Expos and their 10th triumph in 11 games this season.

Williams started the inning with a single off relief pitcher Don Shaw. Ron Santo, who hit a two-run homer in a five-run fifth inning for the Cubs, struck out but Ernie Banks walked. Randy Hundley flied out but Hickman, pinch-hitting for Al Spangler, delivered the game-winning blow.

John Bateman's three-run homer off Ken Holtzman, following singles by Mack Jones and Gary Sutherland, enabled the Expos to tie the score at 5-5 in the seventh.

The Cubs took a 5-2 lead in the fifth with a five-run burst against Jim (Mudcat) Grant. Santo homered after Williams singled for the first two runs and singles by Banks, Spangler and Don Kessinger, a walk and an error by Maury Wills completed the rally.

The Expos went ahead 2-0 in the fourth on a walk to Manny Mota, center fielder Don Young's two-base muff of a fly by Donn Clendenon and Jose Laboy's run-scoring double.

The victory, in blustery, 30-degree weather, was the sixth in a row for the Cubs.

OVER ORIOLES

Nats End Drought With 7-5 Victory

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Senators, held scoreless for 39 consecutive innings by Baltimore, outslugged the Orioles 7-5 Saturday with a 10-hit attack which included two-run homers by Frank Howard and Paul Casanova.

Howard hit his fifth homer of the season, an opposite field drive down the right field line, in the first inning after Del Unser walked to snap the long Senator run famine against Baltimore.

The Orioles blanked Washington in the last four games between the teams and the final three innings of their first meeting of the season which Washington won.

Casanova almost put his drive in the second inning into the left field upper deck after Brant Alyea walked and Tim Cullen forced him at second. Casanova missed another homer in the fifth when Don Buford reached up against the fence in left to knock down the drive, which went for a double.

Brooks Robinson singled home Paul Blair in the first inning for the Orioles to start the scoring and Buford singled home Mark Belanger in the second to tie the score at 2-2.

Howard, who went three-for four, made it 5-2 in the third when he singled, went to third on Hank Allen's single and scored on Cullen's sacrifice fly.

Baltimore scored two more in the fourth with pinch-hitter Dave May doubling home one run and another scoring on a sacrifice fly by Buford. But the Senators matched those runs in the bottom of the fourth on three hits and a walk. Allen singled home one run and Ken McMullen another.

McCovey Homers Twice as Giants Defeat Padres

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Willie McCovey, off to the fastest start of his big league career, drove in four runs with his fifth and sixth homers Saturday to back the five-hit pitching of Gaylord Perry and carry the San Francisco Giants to a 5-3 victory over the San Diego Padres.

The four runs batted in gave McCovey, the 1968 National League home run and RBI champion, a total of 14 in 10 games this season. Both blows came off San Diego starter Dick Selma after Bobby Bonds had reached base with singles.

Perry struck out nine batters and walked three and settled down after a shakey start to even his record at 2-2.

The Padres scored their first run in the first inning on a pair of walks and a single by Bill Davis. The lead held up only long enough for the Giants to bat in the bottom of the first. A double by Cesar Gutierrez and Bonds' first single drove in one run and McCovey then drilled his first homer.

The Padres netted a run in the fourth on an error by Gutierrez and a single by Davis and Ollie Brown tied the score in the top of the sixth with his second homer of the season.

Bonds opened the bottom of the sixth with his second single and McCovey promptly drilled his second homer.

Selma had pitched six innings and suffered his second loss in three decisions. The Padres used three other pitchers in relief.

Niekro Shackles Reds 4-0

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Phil Neikro made it two shutouts in a row over the Cincinnati Reds Saturday, allowing only four hits while pitching the Atlanta Braves to a 4-0 victory.

The victory was the third of the season for the knuckleballing right-hander and extended his string of scoreless innings to 24.

The Braves rapped out six hits, including Orlando Cepeda's third homer of the season, while tagging Tony Cloninger with the loss.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees Saturday sent infielder Nate Oliver to the Chicago Cubs for minor league utilityman Lee Elia and Cash.

A's Still Provoking Kansas City Fans

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Charley Finley's Athletics, who disappointed Kansas Citians for 13 years as baseball's biggest losers, did it again Saturday.

Making their first appearance here since the franchise was moved to Oakland following the 1967 season, the A's defied the boos of 16,747 to whip the expansion Royals 2-1, and move into a four-way tie with Minnesota, Chicago and Kansas City for the lead in the American League's Western Division.

Still clad in the softball-colored green and gold uniforms Finley introduced here four years ago, the Athletics were booed loudly when the lineups were introduced. Minutes later, two fans hoisted a banner near the third-base Oakland dugout which read: "Charlie-O is a jackass — both of them . . . Sock it to 'em Royals."

Finley himself, or his mascot mule, were not in town.

John "Blue Moon" Odom, with relief help from Lew Krausse in the ninth inning, earned the win.

Odom was given a 2-0 lead on run-scoring hits by Sal Bando and Dick Green in the fourth inning. He was breezing with a two-hitter until rookie Lou Piniella tripled home a run in the seventh.

USC, Washington St. Split Doubleheader

USC whipped Washington State 9 0 on Brent Stroms one-hitter in the first game of a doubleheader Saturday, but the Cougars won the second game 3-1.

Trojan Bill Seinsoth powered two home runs, one a grand slam in the first game, and ran his homer total for the season to 11 and runs batted in to 45—tops in the nation.

Seaver Outduels Gibson

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Tom Seaver outdueled Bob Gibson Saturday night, scattering nine hits and scoring one of the runs to hand the New York Mets a 2-1 victory over the slumping St. Louis Cardinals.

The two-time defending National League champions suffered their seventh loss in 11 games this season and fell six games behind the Chicago Cubs, who are leading the Western Division.

The Cards' scoreless skein was stretched to 25⅔ innings before Mike Shannon singled in the losers' only run in the eighth inning. But Seaver then struck out Steve Huntz with two out and two on to end the eighth and retired the Cards in order in the ninth to wrap up the victory.

Gibson, who had beaten Seaver on April 13, allowed seven hits while suffering his first loss of the season against one victory. It was the first win of the season for Seaver, now 1-1.

Former Dodger, Angel Earn Seattle Win Over White Sox

CHICAGO (UPI) — Former Dodger Tommy Davis batted in three runs with a two-run homer and a single and former Angel Marty Pattin, who had a one-hitter after eight innings, got clutch relief help in the ninth Saturday leading the Seattle Pilots to a 5-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Davis, who was picked by Seattle in the expansion draft when the White Sox failed to protect him, smashed a 1-2 pitch by Gary Peters over the left centerfield fence at the 370-foot mark in the sixth after Harry Comer walked.

In the eighth, Davis followed a single by Tommy Harper and Comer's third walk off Peters, with a run-scoring single which greeted reliever Wilbur Wood. Comer also scored on the play as Davis was thrown out trying for second.

Jack Kent Cooke—Who Needs Friend?

Pearls from the Sunday pulpit:

. . . The illustrious Jack Kent Cooke continues not to make friends at every turn in his road. People still are squawking — and with every right — about his move in switching a Laker playoff game at the 11th hour from a Wednesday night in The Forum to the following Friday evening. Jack Kent's answer: "I thought we'd get a better crowd on Friday night." Baloney. Cooke simply wanted to traipse to Oakland to see his beloved hockey Kings perform that particular Wednesday night. If any doubt existed who really runs the National Basketball Assn., it certainly must have been dispelled with that low blow.

. . . Incidentally, if anything leaves a person colder than the NHL playoffs I can't imagine what it might be. I don't care for any of the extensive playoffs in basketball, hockey, football and now baseball, but in the other three sports one at least is familiar with the performers. But a columnist loses his audience if he attempts to cite the thrills in the lives of Jacques Bordieux, Henri La Jean, Frenchy Monsieur, or whatever their names. Who cares?

. . . This comment of Dodger manager Walt Alston gave us a chuckle — although we can't agree: "We hit four home runs in two days but the shortening of the fences didn't make the difference. The fences aren't doing the swinging." Agreed, maestro, but FOUR of those six swats would have been outs if the fences hadn't come back to the hitters. Just ask two of your boys, Andy Kosco and Tom Haller. They'll tell you the difference.

. . . Note to John Hall of Mayor Yorty's paper in L.A.: I'm glad one of our Long Beach readers corrected you on your statement that "nobody named anything but a horse after a sportswriter." Your pen pal was absolutely correct in informing you that a rodeo bull was named after this typewriter jockey. But, alas, you can't visit his shrine. Old Hurricane Hank busted a leg, got a pistol shot in the head and for all his mighty endeavors wound up as hamburger entree for fellow beasts.

THE SAN DIEGO PADRES won't win anything this year but an award for the most pathetic group of ragmops ever to grace a major league baseball field. However, the Padres have been saved because of a master stroke of genius by Buzzie Bavasi in hiring Bud Tucker to save the act.

. . . Tuck can be quoted for hours, but we'll end his first act with a few more salient comments during the Padre-Dodger series the past week. When asked for a San Diego press book, hizzoner retorted: "I don't have any left. I went to a Chinese laundry today and had a briefcase full of them. I gave the whole batch to those guys in the laundry. Nobody else wanted them."

. . . Asked why his briefcase, sans press books, was bulging, Friar shot back: "The way things are going, I thought I'd better store up. I've got more sandwiches in here than (Walter) O'Malley has concession stands."

. . . President Babasi was asked why he didn't visit the press box as was his usual procedure. The response: "Why should I take those insults from you bums? I hired Tucker to be my fall guy."

. . . After being informed of the slander, Tucker came back: "This is ridiculous. When I was a newspaperman, I wrote the kindest things about Bavasai — no matter how much he paid me." I don't think San Diego yet is ready for Bud Tucker. But who is?

QUOTES WHICH WON'T be forgotten:

. . . Yankee Manager Ralph Houk: "We'll miss Mickey Mantle this season. But we're going to be a real good club. In fact, right behind us, I can see Detroit, Baltimore, Boston and Cleveland in a very tight scramble." Oh, Ralphy, couldn't you have said you'd be right behind them — in a very tight scramble?

. . . Jim Stangeland, the new Cal State Long Beach football coach: "We hope to find out a little more about our team this spring." Well, I guess so, Jim. After all, you don't know anything about your men yet, do you?

. . . Al Wesson, Hollywood Park: "Bill Shoemaker has won just about everything at our track but the Goose Girl contest." Al, you should know better.

. . . Preston Gomez, Padres' field boss: "We have a young team and are experimenting this year." Preston, old friend, I'm happy that your experiment isn't being conducted in a laboratory. You'd blow up the joint.

JOE FRAZIER, somebody's version of the heavyweight champion, was correct in remarking that he will have to carry Dave Zyglewicz "if he plans to go for a 15-rounder Tuesday night." Zyglewicz, who's as punchy as they ever come, replied: "Let him keep thinking that way and we'll see how far he can go." Only reason for mentioning this farce in Houston is that Ziggy was banned by the California Athletic Commission after his only performance in this state. All Frazier has to do is burp and Ziggy will go down. David is terrible.

. . . Next time you read about the boxers' predictions (excluding Joe Louis, who works for the company) vs. those of the managers on an important fight, stick with the guys who perform in the ring. Mando Ramos and Raul Rojas tabbed Hedgemon Lewis, while Jackie McCoy and Harry Kabakoff chose Shotgun Albarado. Shotgun was shot down, but good, as Mando and Raul knew all along.

. . . Prediction: Buzzie Bavasi really blew one when he gave the Dodgers Alvin McBean for two kids from the Spokane ranch, Tommy Dean and Leon Everitt. The Dodgers needed a righthanded relief artist and Buzzie gave it to them. McBean, from the Virgin Islands, is no virgin in the win department. And you can bet that this trade will haunt the Padres with or without the ghost of Arnold Tucker.

6-Man Trade Irks Harrleson; Doesn't Want to Be Indian

BOSTON (AP) — Ken Harrelson, Boston Red Sox slugger traded to Cleveland in a sixplayer deal, will refuse to report to the Indians, the Boston Sunday Advertiser says.

In a copyrighted story by baseball writer Larry Claflin, the newspaper says that Harrelson will not don a Cleveland uniform today against the Red Sox in the windup of a weekend series interrupted by rain.

Harrelson, who led the American League in home runs (35) and RBI (109) last season, was traded along with pitchers Dick Ellsworth and Juan Pizarro in exchange for hurlers Sonny Siebertand Vincente Romo and catcher Jose Azcue.

Siebert, 61-47 in five years with Cleveland, and Harrelson were the keys in the deal. Cleveland felt it needed Harrelson to improve its offense and the Red Sox feel Siebert and Romo will stabilize their pitching and Azcue their catching.

"I am heartbroken about this trade," Claflin quoted the popular Hawk as saying. "I will not put on a Cleveland uniform Sunday. Bostom is my city and I love it."

Harrelson's attorney, Bob Woolf, called a news conference for 12:30 p.m. today.

"My heart is broken, even though I enderstand that the Red Sox thought they had to trade me to get help at other positions. I will not play for the Indians until I can talk with my attorney and with Mr. Paul Gabe Paul, president of the Indians."

Woolf, reached in Phoenix, Ariz., on a business trip, said the trade will cost Harrelson "a minimum of $250,000."

"My advice to Ken will be not to report to Cleveland," Woolf told Claflin by telephone. "We must re-examine his career in the light of this trade.

"It is possible he will leave baseball and concentrate on his business ventures, which are many. If ballplayers are to be mere chattels, then Ken and I must look at the game in that light."

STREAKING CUBS TOPPLE EXPOS WITH RUN IN 11TH

MONTREAL (UPI) — Pinch-hitter Jim Hickman singled with two out in the 11th inning to drive in Billy Williams Saturday and give the Chicago Cubs a 6-5 victory over the Montreal Expos and their 10th triumph in 11 games this season.

Williams started the inning with a single off relief pitcher Don Shaw. Ron Santo, who hit a two-run homer in a five-run fifth inning for the Cubs, struck out but Ernie Banks walked. Randy Hundley flied out but Hickman, pinch-hitting for Al Spangler, delivered the game-winning blow.

John Bateman's three-run homer off Ken Holtzman, following singles by Mack Jones and Gary Sutherland, enabled the Expos to tie the score at 5-5 in the seventh.

The Cubs took a 5-2 lead in the fifth with a five-run burst against Jim (Mudcat) Grant. Santo homered after Williams singled for the first two runs and singles by Banks, Spangler and Don Kessinger, a walk and an error by Maury Wills completed the rally.

The Expos went ahead 2-0 in the fourth on a walk to Manny Mota, center fielder Don Young's two-base muff of a fly by Donn Clendenon and Jose Laboy's run-scoring double.

The victory, in blustery, 30-degree weather, was the sixth in a row for the Cubs.

OLLIE FENCED IN

San Diego outfielder Ollie Brown, former Poly High star, climbs right field fence at Candlestick Park in vain attempt to catch drive by Giants' Willie McCovey. Blast went over fence for McCovey's second home run of game Saturday as Giants clipped Padres 5-3. Ollie also homered. —AP Wirephoto

OVER ORIOLES

Nats End Drought With 7-5 Victory

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Senators, held scoreless for 39 consecutive innings by Baltimore, outslugged the Orioles 7-5 Saturday with a 10-hit attack which included two-run homers by Frank Howard and Paul Casanova.

Howard hit his fifth homer of the season, an opposite field drive down the right field line, in the first inning after Del Unser walked to snap the long Senator run famine against Baltimore.

The Orioles blanked Washington in the last four games between the teams and the final three innings of their first meeting of the season which Washington won.

Casanova almost put his drive in the second inning into the left field upper deck after Brant Alyea walked and Tim Cullen forced him at second. Casanova missed another homer in the fifth when Don Buford reached up against the fence in left to knock down the drive, which went for a double.

Brooks Robinson singled home Paul Blair in the first inning for the Orioles to start the scoring and Buford singled home Mark Belanger in the second to tie the score at 2-2.

Howard, who went three-for four, made it 5-2 in the third when he singled, went to third on Hank Allen's single and scored on Cullen's sacrifice fly.

Baltimore scored two more in the fourth with pinch-hitter Dave May doubling home one run and another scoring on a sacrifice fly by Buford. But the Senators matched those runs in the bottom of the fourth on three hits and a walk. Allen singled home one run and Ken McMullen another.

McCovey Homers Twice as Giants Defeat Padres

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Willie McCovey, off to the fastest start of his big league career, drove in four runs with his fifth and sixth homers Saturday to back the five-hit pitching of Gaylord Perry and carry the San Francisco Giants to a 5-3 victory over the San Diego Padres.

The four runs batted in gave McCovey, the 1968 National League home run and RBI champion, a total of 14 in 10 games this season. Both blows came off San Diego starter Dick Selma after Bobby Bonds had reached base with singles.

Perry struck out nine batters and walked three and settled down after a shakey start to even his record at 2-2.

The Padres scored their first run in the first inning on a pair of walks and a single by Bill Davis. The lead held up only long enough for the Giants to bat in the bottom of the first. A double by Cesar Gutierrez and Bonds' first single drove in one run and McCovey then drilled his first homer.

The Padres netted a run in the fourth on an error by Gutierrez and a single by Davis and Ollie Brown tied the score in the top of the sixth with his second homer of the season.

Bonds opened the bottom of the sixth with his second single and McCovey promptly drilled his second homer.

Selma had pitched six innings and suffered his second loss in three decisions. The Padres used three other pitchers in relief.

Cubs Aquire Oliver

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees Saturday sent infielder Nate Oliver to the Chicago Cubs for minor league utilityman Lee Elia and Cash.

A's Still Provoking Kansas City Fans

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Charley Finley's Athletics, who disappointed Kansas Citians for 13 years as baseball's biggest losers, did it again Saturday.

Making their first appearance here since the franchise was moved to Oakland following the 1967 season, the A's defied the boos of 16,747 to whip the expansion Royals 2-1, and move into a four-way tie with Minnesota, Chicago and Kansas City for the lead in the American League's Western Division.

Still clad in the softball-colored green and gold uniforms Finley introduced here four years ago, the Athletics were booed loudly when the lineups were introduced. Minutes later, two fans hoisted a banner near the third-base Oakland dugout which read: "Charlie-O is a jackass — both of them . . . Sock it to 'em Royals."

Finley himself, or his mascot mule, were not in town.

John "Blue Moon" Odom, with relief help from Lew Krausse in the ninth inning, earned the win.

Odom was given a 2-0 lead on run-scoring hits by Sal Bando and Dick Green in the fourth inning. He was breezing with a two-hitter until rookie Lou Piniella tripled home a run in the seventh.

USC whipped Washington State 9 on Brent Stroms one-hitter in the first game of a doubleheader Saturday, but the Cougars won the second game 3-1.

Trojan Bill Seinsoth powered two home runs, one a grand slam in the first game, and ran his homer total for the season to 11 and runs batted in to 45—tops in the nation.

Seaver Outduels Gibson

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Tom Seaver outdueled Bob Gibson Saturday night, scattering nine hits and scoring one of the runs to hand the New York Mets a 2-1 victory over the slumping St. Louis Cardinals.

The two-time defending National League champions suffered their seventh loss in 11 games this season and fell six games behind the Chicago Cubs, who are leading the Western Division.

The Cards' scoreless skein was stretched to 25⅔ innings before Mike Shannon singled in the losers' only run in the eighth inning. But Seaver then struck out Steve Huntz with two out and two on to end the eighth and retired the Cards in order in the ninth to wrap up the victory.

Gibson, who had beaten Seaver on April 13, allowed seven hits while suffering his first loss of the season against one victory. It was the first win of the season for Seaver, now 1-1.

Niekro Shackles Reds 4-0

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Phil Neikro made it two shutouts in a row over the Cincinnati Reds Saturday, allowing only four hits while pitching the Atlanta Braves to a 4-0 victory.

The victory was the third of the season for the knuckleballing right-hander and extended his string of scoreless innings to 24.

The Braves rapped out six hits, including Orlando Cepeda's third homer of the season, while tagging Tony Cloninger with the loss.

Former Dodger, Angel Earn Seattle Win Over White Sox

CHICAGO (UPI) — Former Dodger Tommy Davis batted in three runs with a two-run homer and a single and former Angel Marty Pattin, who had a one-hitter after eight innings, got clutch relief help in the ninth Saturday leading the Seattle Pilots to a 5-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Davis, who was picked by Seattle in the expansion draft when the White Sox failed to protect him, smashed a 1-2 pitch by Gary Peters over the left centerfield fence at the 370-foot mark in the sixth after Harry Comer walked.

In the eighth, Davis followed a single by Tommy Harper and Comer's third walk off Peters, with a run-scoring single which greeted reliever Wilbur Wood. Comer also scored on the play as Davis was thrown out trying for second.

PCC Gallops Away From L.B. State, Army

RICH ROBERTS

No Athlete, But He's in Spotlight

"I'm not an athlete. I can't even play a decent game of ping pong. But it's just a big buzz for me. It's nice to feel that you have 15,000 people in the palm of your hand." — Norm Kramer.

You can't miss him. He wears sparkling metallic jackets and sits under a spotlight, a show himself.

And when he pumps out the beat of the Blues, the souls move and the roof flies right off the St. Louis Arena. He loves it. He's the organist.

"I was a cheerleader all through high school," says Norm Kramer, "and I guess some of it sort of rubbed off into this bit."

Kramer is celebrated — and censured — throughout the National Hockey League as the mad organist who incites the Blues' sellout crowds to fever pitch. It's the most successful of the expansion franchises, and Kramer doesn't shrink from his contribution.

"I like to get the enthusiasm of the crowd going," he says. "I figured I'd get a little play out of this but, before you knew it, every paper in the United States and Canada was after me for an interview. I get fan mail from all over.

"If I read correctly, the enthusiasm of the St. Louis fans was responsible for awarding St. Louis the All-Star Game next year. I guess that my music is part of enthusiasm."

* * * *

THERE WAS LITTLE interest in the Blues when they launched their franchise along the Mississippi last season. Emory Jones, manager of the arena, went out to hire an organist and heard Kramer play his own spirited, upbeat rendition of "The St. Louis Blues" in a night club.

The next day Norm played it for Sid Salomon III, the Blues' executive vice-president, and was hired on the spot. W. C. Handy would never know his old tune.

"We're sort of reviving it," Kramer says. "It's now in a march tempo because we want everything to move. We never play anything slow . . . gotta keep that crowd moving. It's not the old bluesy thing you used to hear Satchmo play."

But what really stirs the crowd is Kramer's original beat of the Blues.

"Little by little, it started to catch on until finally it's just part of the game. It's just a march beat, a little four-note pattern I use, which is G, D, F-sharp and G. I try to pick up the lull spots or, when they have a big rhubarb and people start throwing litter on the ice, I figure if they're clapping their hands they can't throw anything. You'd be surprised. It does help."

* * * *

KRAMER HIT UPON another favorite of the fans by accident.

"It came off spontaneously in the playoffs last year. We were down 3-0 and came back in the last seven minutes and scored three goals. The tying goal was scored by Frank St. Marseille.

"When he scored, the fans went wild and I could think of nothing more appropriate than 'When the Saints Go Marching In.' The fans stood up 15,000 strong and started singing."

The fans have since changed "Saints" to "Blues," but the old Dixieland classic has become a St. Louis standard, as well, and Kramer is as strong a fixture as Jacques Plante.

This season he broke out with a metallic blue blazer.

"Last year I had a blue coat," Norm says, "but during the summr Sid the Third says, 'Well, Norm, what are you gonna wear this year?'

"I says, 'You oughta see this swatch of material I got.' It was this iridescent metallic blue, and he says, 'Well, hey, that'd be fine,' and I says, 'Whoa, I'm only the organist,' and he says, 'Heck, no, we're gonna put a spotlight on you.'"

Kramer now has three of the jackets — blue, silver and pink. He won't disclose the price ("You wouldn't believe me if I told you"), but he finds the spotlight to his liking.

His popularity has grown to where rival NHL clubs send their organists to scout him.

"Yes, they've been here from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh," he says, "and the fella at Minnesota does almost everything I do. I have a sneaking suspicion that he might have been here, too."

* * * *

IT'S A LEAGUE rule that organists refrain from playing when the puck is in play. However, there is no rule against organ heckling.

Norm denies he does, explaining, "The main idea is to keep the enthusiasm of the fans, rather than harass or heckle anybody. It's not good sportsmanship."

Kramer enjoys his fame, but is disappointed that it hasn't made him wealthy.

"You'd think," he says thoughtfully, "with all this notoriety that a person would get more calls. I wouldn't mind working in Las Vegas for a couple of hundred grand, like Denny McLain did. And it's even difficult getting a job around town now because people want you fulltime. They don't want you out on hockey nights."

By the way, Norm was asked, how do you rate Denny McLain as an organist:

"No comment."

Poly Hurdler Posts Top Time in Nation

Three Moore League athletes must have gained a lot of confidence in Saturday's Compton Cup track invitational at Ramsaur Stadium.

Poly High's Robert Stockton and Jim Chaffin, and Bob Langston of Millikan turned in impressive performances as warm weather and a fast track brought out the best in athletes from 36 high schools.

It took the top time in the country this season for Stockton to turn back an impressive 180-yard low hurdles field. The Poly senior was equal to the task, clocking 18.8, a personal best by four-tenths of a second.

Only Earl McCullouch and Manuel Murrell (both 1964) have run faster in the school's long history of top track talent. McCullouch is co-holder of the national record at 18.1.

Stockton did it the hard way, coming on strong over the last three hurdles to turn back Rich Adkins of Locke who was a half-stride back at 18.9.

Chaffin's winning two mile time of 9:19.8, fifth best in the CIF this season, was particularly impressive since he won by 120 yards.

Langston, trying to round into shape in a hurry after an early season illness, was second in the 880 at 1:55.2, then came back to win the 440 in 48.0. Both marks are second best in the CIF this season.

James Baxter of L.A. High best Langston in the three turn half-mile with a strong kick on the backstretch. Pierre Robinson of Poly was a strong third in 1:56.0.

Steve Rynerson of Lakewood took the first 880 in 1:57.9.

The day's best race was a four-lap, stride-for-stride mile duel between Fred Richerson of Salesian and Rich Tuschudin of Pacific Palisades.

They wound up the same way they started — dead even. Time was 4:14.3.

Co-athletes of the meet were Santa Ana sprinter Jerry White, who had an impressive double in the 100 and 220 (9.6-22.0), and Compton high jumper Reynaldo Brown. Brown went over 6-10 for the second time this year in only his fifth meet.

Other top marks were 1969 state bests in the 440 relay (42.1) and mile relay (3:18.4) by Centennial.

Compton won the team title for the second year in a row with 31 points. Poly was third with 21½.

SC Trackmen Rout Stanford

STANFORD (AP) — Lennox Miller and Bob Seagren won two events each and Carl Trentadue ran a fast half-mile as Southern California trounced Stanford 111-43 in a Pacific-8 dual track meet Saturday.

Trentadue cruised the 880 in 1:49.8, one of the best times in the nation by a collegian this year.

Miller, silver medalist in the 1968 Olympics, won the sprints in 9.5 and 21.0. His effort in the 100 tied his own meet record set in 1967, despite a 4.0 mile per hour wind against the runners.

Seagren, world record holder in the pole vault, won his specialty with a leap of 16 feet, then came back to win the 440-yard intermediate hurdles in 53.0. Seagren edged Stanford's outstanding sophomore Randy White at the tape.

In the major upset of the day, USC's Herman Franklin was timed 14.1, edging Stanford's Rick Tipton in the 120-yard high hurdles. Tipton had never been beaten before in high school or university competition.

Shotput—Murphy (USC) 59-1, Colich (USC) 57-11, Buehler (USC) 56-10.
2,000-meter steeplechase—Dyer, (USC) 5:14, Jones (USC) 5:27.2, Chuck Menz (Stanford) 9:37.5.
440 relay—USC, (Franklin, Kuller, Pharris, Miller), 39.9, Stanford 41.4.
Mile—Oleson (USC) 4:07, Bowman (USC) 4:09.4, MacDonald (S) 4:15.3.
Long jump—Kaufman (S) 23-5½, Harris (USC) 23-1½, Franklin (USC) 22-7½.

2-mile—Marsee (USC) 9:06.8, Herlfy (USC) 9:07.0, Greg Brock (S) 9:09.4.
Mile relay—USC (Becker, Newton, Hollett, Joyce) 3:17.3, Stanford scratched.

Jayhawks Breeze in Kansas Relays

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Jim Ryun, competing for the last time as a collegian on his home track, anchored Kansas to a national record 9:33 in the distance medley relay Saturday and the Jayhawks virtually turned the 44th Kansas Relays into their own private meet.

Ryun ran the anchor mile of the distance medley in 3:57.6.

With fluid Julio Meade running the anchor leg both times, Kansas also captured the 440 and 880-yard relays. This gave the Jayhawks four of the seven relays titles. They won the four-mile relay Friday.

In addition, the Jayhawks had seven individual champions in George Byers, 120-yard high hurdles; Stan Whitley, long jump; Jan Johnson, Pole vault; Karl Salb, shot put; Doug Knop, discus; Ken Gaines, triple jump, and Bill Penny, hammer throw.

It was the most smashing display of all-around track power in the history of the Kansas-Texas-Drake relay series.

The Jayhawks' 440-yard relay team posted a meet-record time of 44.3 seconds. Their 880-yard team was only two-tenths of a second off the mark at 1:23.6.

Ken Swenson's 1:47.6 half mile on the anchor leg gave Kansas State the two-mile victory in 7:22.6, only 1.4 second off the relays record.

Railsback Climbs 17-5½ as UCLA Crushes Washington

Dick Railsback, a ser[illegible] at UCLA, pole vaulted 17-feet-5½ Saturday, the best mark in the world this year, as the Bruins won a dual track and field meet from Washington.

Railsback had no misses until failing twice at 17-0. He made that height on his third try and then rattled the bar then raised to 18-0 — a height never before achieved by anyone — but Railsback went under the bar three times.

The Bruins won 15 of the 18 events and took the Pacific-8 meet 105-35.

Steve Marcus of UCLA tossed the shot 64-1 for a school record, beating former Poly High star John Hubbell (61-3) from Washington and UCLA's Hartzel Alpizar, former Wilson High runner, won the two-mile in a lifetime best 9:00.8.

Andy Young, former Jordan High star, finished second in the 440 in 47.3, wound up third in the 220 in 21.6 and led off UCLA's winning mile relay with a 440 leg in 48.2.

Saint Star Pushes Vault Mark to 13-5

By RICK ARTHUR

Kent Eckholdt regained the No. 1 spot in 1969 Long Beach prep pole vaulting circles when he soared 13-feet-5¾ to pace St. Anthony High finishers in the Bishop Amat Relays Saturday at Citrus College.

Eckholdt's vault bettered his school record of 13-feet and is the best by a Long Beach prep this year.

In other events, Saint freshman Jim Shepstone lost the mile run by three yards in 4:41.8.

Sophomore Gary Mena's 10.5 clocking in 100 was good for second place. George Chambon finished third in the 440 in 52.3 while teammate Bob Jelnick placed in the 180 lows in 20.4.

Percel Keeling of Morningside (1:55.5 880), Neil Chapman of Warren (14-0 pole vault) and Mark Low of Pomona (double hurdles win) were selected co-athletes of the meet.

There was no team scoring.

Trojan Track Coach to Speak in L.B.

Vern Wolf, coach of the USC track team, will be principal speaker at the Long Beach Trojan Club dinner meeting Monday night at Hoefly's Restaurant. Members of Wolfe's track squad also will be in attendance.

A social hour will start at 6:30, with dinner at 7:30.

Aussie Star for Winners

By JOHN DIXON

The only thing you can beat Cal State Long Beach with is a club.

It happened Saturday.

The fearless 49ers, unbeaten, untied in four home track meets, were thumped by the Pacific Coast Club of Long Beach in a triangular before an enthusiastic mob of sunbathers.

The national indoor champion PCCers kept the computer humming by totalling 121½ points. State scored a strong 80, the Army 66½.

Busiest men on the lickety-split speedway were George Scott and Dave Kurrle of the PCC.

Kurrle was third in the 100, first in the high hurdles, and ran legs on 440 and mile relay teams.

Scott, 32-year-old Australian, won the mile in 4:09.4, finished second in the half-mile in 1:53.6, ran the 440 in a lifetime best of 50.0 in the mile relay.

John Mason, who will be eligible for PCC membership June 1, and Scott played tag throughout the mile. Scott led at the half in 1:59.5, Mason led around the final curve.

Scott jumped him as they launched their straightaway surges and won by four yards.

Mason came back to win the two-mile — unofficially — in 9:15.0.

"I was very surprised that John didn't kick on the straight with me," said Scott. "I thought that his kick was better than mine. I planned to run faster, but after 250 yards I didn't feel very well. Yes, I was surprised to win."

Ed Ricke of Cal State led Scott and Dave Perry of the PCC for 695 yards of the 880, but not the yards that counted.

Perry accelerated into the final curve, Scott followed, and it was another two-man title chase. Perry won by a stride in 1:53.4.

When the entries were in, State's crack quarter-miler, Al Carlson, appeared to be over his head. But he ran like a sure thing and the others ran like also-rans, and Carlson won handily in 48.9.

The discus provided more marks of national note than any other event.

Despite little help from a feeble breeze, the PCC's Gary Ordway flipped the pie plate a personal best 192 feet, 3 inches. The PCC swept the next three places — Don Tollefson, 183-4; Dave Weber, 180-8, and Miles Lister, 177-9.

A slight upset occurred in the high jump, won by PCCer Ron Tull over teammate Ed Caruthers, 6-10 to 6-8.

Hal Connolly, four-time Olympic hammer thrower, urged the 16-pounder 205-9 behind George Frenn's meet record 214-11.

Final scores: Pacific Coast Club 121½, State 80, Army 66½.

PCC Gallops Away From L.B. State, Army

RICH ROBERTS

No Athlete, But He's in Spotlight

"I'm not an athlete. I can't even play a decent game of ping pong. But it's just a big buzz for me. It's nice to feel that you have 15,000 people in the palm of your hand." — Norm Kramer.

You can't miss him. He wears sparkling metallic jackets and sits under a spotlight, a show himself.

And when he pumps out the beat of the Blues, the souls move and the roof flies right off the St. Louis Arena. He loves it. He's the organist.

"I was a cheerleader all through high school," says Norm Kramer, "and I guess some of it sort of rubbed off into this bit."

Kramer is celebrated — and censured — throughout the National Hockey League as the mad organist who incites the Blues' sellout crowds to fever pitch. It's the most successful of the expansion franchises, and Kramer doesn't shrink from his contribution.

"I like to get the enthusiasm of the crowd going," he says. "I figured I'd get a little play out of this but, before you knew it, every paper in the United States and Canada was after me for an interview. I get fan mail from all over.

"If I read correctly, the enthusiasm of the St. Louis fans was responsible for awarding St. Louis the All-Star Game next year. I guess that my music is part of enthusiasm."

* * * *

THERE WAS LITTLE interest in the Blues when they launched their franchise along the Mississippi last season. Emory Jones, manager of the arena, went out to hire an organist and heard Kramer play his own spirited, upbeat rendition of "The St. Louis Blues" in a night club.

The next day Norm played it for Sid Salomon III, the Blues' executive vice-president, and was hired on the spot. W. C. Handy would never know his old tune.

"We're sort of reviving it," Kramer says. "It's now in a march tempo because we want everything to move. We never play anything slow . . . gotta keep that crowd moving. It's not the old bluesy thing you used to hear Satchmo play."

But what really stirs the crowd is Kramer's original beat of the Blues.

"Little by little, it started to catch on until finally it's just part of the game. It's just a march beat, a little four-note pattern I use, which is G, D, F-sharp and G. I try to pick up the lull spots or, when they have a big rhubarb and people start throwing litter on the ice, I figure if they're clapping their hands they can't throw anything. You'd be surprised. It does help."

* * * *

KRAMER HIT UPON another favorite of the fans by accident.

"It came off spontaneously in the playoffs last year. We were down 3-0 and came back in the last seven minutes and scored three goals. The tying goal was scored by Frank St. Marseille.

"When he scored, the fans went wild and I could think of nothing more appropriate than 'When the Saints Go Marching In.' The fans stood up 15,000 strong and started singing."

The fans have since changed "Saints" to "Blues," but the old Dixieland classic has become a St. Louis standard, as well, and Kramer is as strong a fixture as Jacques Plante.

This season he broke out with a metallic blue blazer.

"Last year I had a blue coat," Norm says, "but during the summr Sid the Third says, 'Well, Norm, what are you gonna wear this year?'

"I says, 'You oughta see this swatch of material I got.' It was this iridescent metallic blue, and he says, 'Well, hey, that'd be fine,' and I says, 'Whoa, I'm only the organist,' and he says, 'Heck, no, we're gonna put a spotlight on you.'"

Kramer now has three of the jackets — blue, silver and pink. He won't disclose the price ("You wouldn't believe me if I told you"), but he finds the spotlight to his liking.

His popularity has grown to where rival NHL clubs send their organists to scout him.

"Yes, they've been here from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh," he says, "and the felia at Minnesota does almost everything I do. I have a sneaking suspicion that he might have been here, too."

* * * *

IT'S A LEAGUE rule that organists refrain from playing when the puck is in play. However, there is no rule against organ heckling.

Norm denies he does, explaining, "The main idea is to keep the enthusiasm of the fans, rather than harass or heckle anybody. It's not good sportsmanship."

Kramer enjoys his fame, but is disappointed that it hasn't made him wealthy.

"You'd think," he says thoughtfully, "with all this notoriety that a person would get more calls. I wouldn't mind working in Las Vegas for a couple of hundred grand, like Denny McLain did. And it's even difficult getting a job around town now because people want you fulltime. They don't want you out on hockey nights."

By the way, Norm was asked, how do you rate Denny McLain as an organist:

"No comment."

Poly Hurdler Posts Top Time in Nation

By KEN PIVERNETZ

Three Moore League athletes must have gained a lot of confidence in Saturday's Compton Cup track invitational at Ramsaur Stadium.

Poly High's Robert Stockton and Jim Chaffin, and Bob Langston of Millikan turned in impressive performances as warm weather and a fast track brought out the best in athletes from 36 high schools.

It took the top time in the country this season for Stockton to turn back an impressive 180-yard low hurdles field. The Poly senior was equal to the task, clocking 18.8, a personal best by four-tenths of a second.

Only Earl McCullouch and Manuel Murrell (both 1964) have run faster in the school's long history of top track talent. McCullouch is co-holder of the national record at 18.1.

Stockton did it the hard way, coming on strong over the last three hurdles to turn back Rich Adkins of Locke who was a half-stride back at 18.9.

Chaffin's winning two-mile time of 9:19.8, fifth best in the CIF this season, was particularly impressive since he won by 120 yards.

Langston, trying to round into shape in a hurry after an early season illness, was second in the 880 at 1:55.2, then came back to win the 440 in 48.0. Both marks are second best in the CIF this season.

James Baxter of L.A. High best Langston in the three turn half-mile with a strong kick on the backstretch. Pierre Robinson of Poly was a strong third in 1:56.0.

Steve Rynerson of Lakewood took the first 880 in 1:57.9.

The day's best race was a four-lap, stride-for-stride mile duel between Fred Richerson of Salesian and Rich Tuschudin of Pacific Palisades.

They wound up the same way they started — dead even. Time was 4:14.3.

Co-athletes of the meet were Santa Ana sprinter Jerry White, who had an impressive double in the 100 and 220 (9.6-22.0), and Compton high jumper Reynaldo Brown. Brown went over 6-10 for the second time this year in only his fifth meet.

Other top marks were 1969 state bests in the 440 relay (42.1) and mile relay (3:18.4) by Centennial.

Compton won the team title for the second year in a row with 31 points. Poly was third with 21½.

SC Trackmen Rout Stanford

STANFORD (AP) — Lennox Miller and Bob Seagren won two events each and Carl Trentadue ran a fast half-mile as Southern California trounced Stanford 111-43 in a Pacific-8 dual track meet Saturday.

Trentadue cruised the 880 in 1:49.8, one of the best times in the nation by a collegian this year.

Miller, silver medalist in the 1968 Olympics, won the sprints in 9.5 and 21.0. His effort in the 100 tied his own meet record set in 1967, despite a 4.0 mile per hour wind against the runners.

Seagren, world record holder in the pole vault, won his specialty with a leap of 16 feet, then came back to win the 440-yard intermediate hurdles in 53.0. Seagren edged Stanford's outstanding sophomore Randy White at the tape.

In the major upset of the day, USC's Herman Franklin was timed 14.1, edging Stanford's Rick Tipton in the 120-yard high hurdles. Tipton had never been beaten before in high school or university competition.

Shotput—Murphy (USC) 59-1, Colich (USC) 57-11, Buehler (USC) 56-10.
3,000-meter steeplechase—Dyer, (USC) 9:14, Jones (USC) 9:27.9, Chuck Menz (Stanford) 9:37.5.
440 relay—USC (Franklin, Koller, Pharris, Miller), 39.9, Stanford 41.4.
Mile—Dieton (USC) 4:07, Bowman (USC) 4:09.4, MacDonald (S) 4:15.3.
Long jump—Kauffman (S) 23-5½, Harris (USC) 23-1¾, Franklin (USC) 22-7½.
Javelin—Martin (S) 193-3, Porter (S) 190-5, Hansen, (USC) 187-6.
120 high hurdles—Franklin (USC) 14.1, Tipton (S) 14.1, Dutton (USC) 14.5.
440—Pharris (USC) 47.0, Newton (USC) 48.2, Faris (S) 48.2.
100—Miller (USC) 9.5, Koller (USC) 9.6, Storek (S) 9.9.
Discus—Davis (S) 175-11, Antunovich (USC) 177-0, Murphy (USC) 164-11.
High jump—Kennedy (USC) 6-10, Bonce (S) 6-8, Massey (S) 6-8.
Pole vault—Seagren (USC) 16-0, Ostrander (S) 15-0, Wood (S) 14-6.
Triple jump—Prall (USC) 47-7¼, Massey (S) 47-1, Franklin (USC) 45-8.
880—Trentadue, (USC) 1:49.8, Joyce (USC) 1:51.4, Fairchild (S) 1:52.0.
440 IH—Seagren (USC) 52.0, White (S) 53.0, Kommers (S) 53.6.
220—Miller (USC) 21.0, Koller (USC) 21.2, Fred Storek (S) 22.3.
2-mile—Marsee (USC) 9:05.8, Herlihy (USC) 9:07.0, Greg Brock (S) 9:09.4.
Mile relay—USC (Becker, Newton, Hollell, Joyce) 3:17.3. Stanford scratched.

Jayhawks Breeze in Kansas Relays

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Jim Ryun, competing for the last time as a collegian on his home track, anchored Kansas to a national record 9:33 in the distance medley relay Saturday and the Jayhawks virtually turned the 44th Kansas Relays into their own private meet.

Ryun ran the anchor mile of the distance medley in 3:57.6.

With fluid Julio Meade running the anchor leg both times, Kansas also captured the 440 and 880-yard relays. This gave the Jayhawks four of the seven relays titles. They won the four-mile relay Friday.

In addition, the Jayhawks had seven individual champions in George Byers, 120-yard high hurdles; Stan Whitley, long jump; Jan Johnson, Pole vault; Karl Salb, shot put; Doug Knop, discus; Ken Gaines, triple jump, and Bill Penny, hammer throw.

It was the most smashing display of all-around track power in the history of the Kansas-Texas-Drake relay series.

The Jayhawks' 440-yard relay team posted a meet-record time of 44.3 seconds. Their 880-yard team was only two-tenths of a second off the mark at 1:23.6.

Ken Swenson's 1:47.6 half mile on the anchor leg gave Kansas State the two-mile victory in 7:22.6, only 1.4 second off the relays record.

Railsback Climbs 17-5½ as UCLA Crushes Washington

Dick Railsback, a senior at UCLA, pole vaulted 17-feet-5½ Saturday, the best mark in the world this year, as the Bruins won a dual track and field meet from Washington.

Railsback had no misses until failing twice at 17-0. He made that height on his third try and then rattled the bar then raised to 18-0 — a height never before achieved by anyone — but Railsback went under the bar three times.

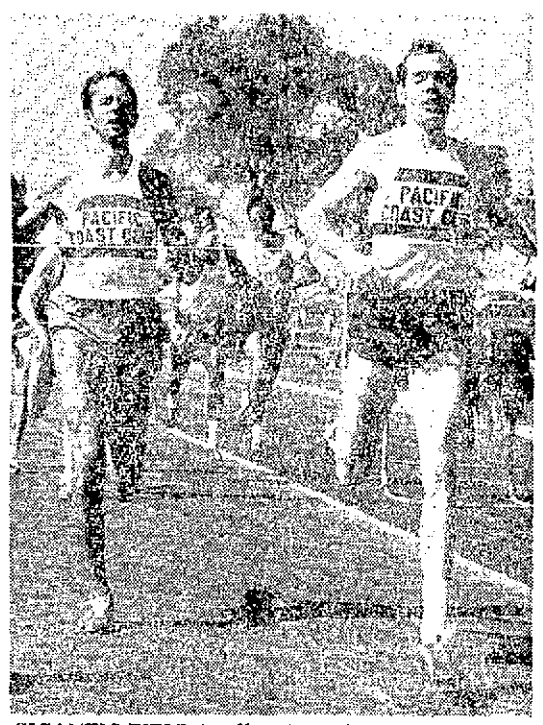

The Bruins won 15 of the 18 events and took the Pacific-8 meet 105-35.

Steve Marcus of UCLA tossed the shot 64-1 for a school record, beating former Poly High star John Hubbell (61-3) from Washington and UCLA's Hartzel Alpizar, former Wilson High runner, won the two-mile in a lifetime best 9:00.8.

Andy Young, former Jordan High star, finished second in the 440 in 47.3, wound up third in the 220 in 21.6 and led off UCLA's winning mile relay with a 440 leg in 48.2.

100 — Busby (UCLA) 9.6, Hodge (UCLA) 9.6, B. Johnson (W) 9.7.
220 — B. Johnson (W) 21.4, Busby (UCLA) 21.5, Young (UCLA) 21.6.
440 — Van Holwegan (UCLA) 47.2, Young (UCLA) 47.3, Walsh (W) 49.0.
880.— Minnick (UCLA) 1:52.6, Farfolan (UCLA) 1:52.8, Anderson (W) 7:53.6.

Final score: UCLA 105, Washington 35.

Saint Star Pushes Vault Mark to 13-5

By RICK ARTHUR

Kent Eckholdt regained the No. 1 spot in 1969 Long Beach prep pole vaulting circles when he soared 13-feet-5¾ to pace St. Anthony High finishers in the Bishop Amat Relays Saturday at Citrus College.

Eckholdt's vault bettered his school record of 13-feet and is the best by a Long Beach prep this year.

In other events, Saint freshman Jim Shepstone lost the mile run by three yards in 4:41.8.

Stephanie Gary Mead's 10.5 clocking in 100 was good for second place. George Chambon finished third in the 440 in 52.3 while teammate Bob Jelnick placed in the 180 lows in 20.4.

Percel Keeling of Morningside (1:55.5 880), Neil Chapman of Warren (14-0 pole vault) and Mark Low of Pomona (double hurdles win) were selected co-athletes of the meet.

There was no team scoring.

Trojan Track Coach to Speak in L.B.

Vern Wolf, coach of the USC track team, will be principal speaker at the Long Beach Trojan Club dinner meeting Monday night at Hoefly's Restaurant. Members of Wolfe's track squad also will be in attendance.

A social hour will start at 6:30, with dinner at 7:30.

Aussie Star for Winners

By JOHN DIXON

The only thing you can beat Cal State Long Beach with is a club.

It happened Saturday.

The fearless 49ers, unbeaten, untied in four home track meets, were thumped by the Pacific Coast Club of Long Beach in a triangular before an enthusiastic mob of sunbathers.

The national indoor champion PCCers kept the computer humming by totalling 121½ points. State scored a strong 80, the Army 66½.

Busiest men on the lickety-split speedway were George Scott and Dave Kurrle of the PCC.

Kurrle was third in the 100, first in the high hurdles, and ran legs on 440 and mile relay teams.

Scott, 32-year-old Australian, won the mile in 4:09.4, finished second in the half-mile in 1:53.6, ran the 440 in a lifetime best of 50.0 in the mile relay.

John Mason, who will be eligible for PCC membership June 1, and Scott played tag throughout the mile. Scott led at the half in 1:59.5, Mason led around the final curve.

Scott jumped him as they launched their straightaway surges and won by four yards.

Mason came back to win the two-mile — unofficially — in 9:15.0.

"I was very surprised that John didn't kick on the straight with me," said Scott. "I thought that his kick was better than mine. I planned to run faster, but after 250 yards I didn't feel very well. Yes, I was surprised to win."

Ed Ricke of Cal State led Scott and Dave Perry of the PCC for 695 yards of the 880, but not the yards that counted.

Perry accelerated into the final curve, Scott followed, and it was another two-man title chase. Perry won by a stride in 1:53.4.

When the entries were in, State's crack quarter-miler, Al Carlson, appeared to be over his head. But he ran like a sure thing and the others ran like also-rans, and Carlson won handily in 48.9.

The discus provided more marks of national note than any other event.

Despite little help from a feeble breeze, the PCC's Gary Ordway flipped the pie plate a personal best 192 feet, 3 inches. The PCC swept the next three places — Don Tollefson, 183-4; Dave Weber, 180-8, and Miles Lister, 177-9.

A slight upset occurred in the high jump, won by PCCer Ron Tull over teammate Ed Caruthers, 6-10 to 6-8.

Hal Connolly, four-time Olympic hammer thrower, urged the 16-pounder 205-9 behind George Frenn's meet record 214-11.

Player Gets New Press Agent--Lee Trevino

By DAVE LEWIS
Staff Writer

RANCHO LA COSTA — "Gary Player is as fine a gentleman and golfer as you'll find in the game," declared Lee Trevino after he and the South African star finished the third round of the Tournament of Champions Saturday deadlocked for first place.

"Gary was playing just ahead of me and showed what a great gentleman and sportsman he is by not leaving a single green before repairing at least a half-dozen cleat marks left by other golfers," Trevino said.

"Gary smoothed them out for Gene (Littler) and myself and this helped considerably, especially on three and four-foot putts when a tuft of grass can knock your ball off line because you don't hit them hard when you're close to the hole.

"Playing in the last twosome can be a terrible disadvantage because of the cleat marks. Some players fix them up, but most of them don't," Lee went on.

Just then, someone handed Lee a pairing sheet showing that he'll be playing in the next-to-last twosome today just ahead of Player.

"Look here, Gary," he said with a laugh as he handed Player the pairing sheet. "I'll be ahead of you and I may just have to drag my cleats around a few of the cups if you get too close."

But he quickly added, "No, I wouldn't do that to anyone, especially a great guy like you. I'll fix the marks for you, too."

As Player left the room to spend a half-hour on the putting green, Trevino said, "You know, Gary is a truly great golfer and a tough competitor. You have to play awfully hard to beat him. He's a little tiger."

Earlier, Player again emphasized that the current tournament is one of the few in this country where a premium is put on straight hitting because of the treacherously heavy rough.

"It is completely opposite to most of the courses on which the PGA tournaments are held. For the most part, they are wide open and made for the long hitters," Gary explained.

"I must say that my success so far here this week is due to the fact that I am used to playing courses like this in England, Australia and at home in South Africa.

Trevino also had a comment about the rough. "I'd sure like to have the hay concession when they cut it," he said.

Player revealed that he was returning to South Africa tonight even if he wins. Trevino, too, will be heading for home in El Paso.

However, he'll be there for only a couple of days to see his new son, Tony Lee, who was born last Sunday. Then he'll play in about 12 more tournaments in a row before taking a short break from the tour.

Trevino is still hoarse from a slight cold. "I helped kill a couple of bottles of champagne last Sunday and then fell asleep on the plane to Los Angeles with the air conditioner on. My throat is still sore," he revealed.

"Were you celebrating the birth of your son?" asked a writer who didn't know how poorly Trevino had played in the Masters.

"What else?" Lee answered. "I sure didn't play well enough to do any celebrating."

A Laugh-In Along the Golf Tour

RANCHO LA COSTA — Since Roberto DeVicenzo signed the wrong scorecard in the 1968 Masters to cost himself a tie for first place, his fellow professional golfers have teased the good natured star from Argentina about being living proof that the late Damon Runyon posted a pretty good morning line when he said that life is all out against you.

The American pros are constantly keeping an eye on the 46-year-old veteran to protect him. He's known as the "softest touch" on the tour. Any sad story will produce a healthy contribution.

They tell of a classic incident at the Masters when a con artist well known for her activities wrote him a letter asking Roberto to send her money so she could get treatment for her daughter, who allegedly had leukemia.

The woman had pulled this before, so the American pros went to Roberto and explained to him it was a trick, that the woman's daughter didn't have leukemia.

Instead of reacting angrily, the amiable Argentine ace smiled broadly and said, "Oh, that is good. I'm so happy that she does not have it."

RAY FLOYD TELLS of the incident last June when Southern California pro Bob McCallister pulled into a car agency the day before the U.S. Open in Rochester.

After telling the attendant he wanted the car serviced, Bob said, "Oh, by the way, there's a dead alligator stuck someplace in the car."

McCallister, along with Floyd, is on the promotion team of the company that manufactures those knit golf shirts with tiny alligators embroidered on the pocket.

As part of the deal, Bob travels with a live baby alligator.

On this occasion, the alligator got loose and challenged the car's air conditioning system. He wriggled up one of the ducts and met an untimely death.

DURING THE PRO-AM of a recent tournament in Florida, a sudden storm hit the course and fans and golfers made a rush for cover.

The clubhouse was filled to capacity when Chi Chi Rodriguez tried to get in. However, he was stopped by a guard because he didn't have his clubhouse badge with him.

But the witty and quick-thinking Puerto Rican pro got in anyway.

"All I want to do is go inside and get Arnold Palmer's autograph," he said. "Okay, go on in," the guard said.

GEORGE ARCHER got around to telling about his appearance in the Houston Champion event last year.

His approach on the 18th hole of the final round missed the green by a couple of feet and struck a spectator, Martin Malin.

After George holed out, he gave the ball to Malin, who holed out himself the next day in an even more spectacular manner. Using the ball Archer gave him, he scored a hole-in-one.

WHEN THE TOUR SWUNG through Florida this year, the professionals noticed a classified ad in a Miami newspaper and put it up on the bulletin board in the locker room.

It read: "Wanted—a caddy for 3 or 4 days each week. Does not have to carry bag, just watch the golf balls. Pay, $6 a round."

Don January spoke up and said, "I'd describe the guy as having a fast backswing and a heckuva slice."

DAVE STOCKTON, WHO TEAMED with Laurie Hammer to win the Haig tournament two years ago here at La Costa, tells how Laurie came within an inch of getting skulled recently. By his own shot.

Hammer's tee shot hit a tree, bounced deep into the rough and came to rest about a foot from a metal manhole cover.

"Laurie's second shot hit the manhole cover and flew back over his head, barely missing him," Dave reports.

THE VETERAN CRAIG WOOD, who died a couple of months ago, was a favorite of today's pros, with whom he would visit every chance he got.

One of Craig's favorite stories concerns the night of Orson Welles' famous broadcast of a play in the form of a newscast about Martians landing. It had the East Coast in a panic.

Wood and Vic Ghezzi were driving back to New York from a tournament at the famed Pine Valley County Club where Craig had set course records of 68 for a single round and 286 for 72 holes, phenomenal scores over the rugged layout.

Suddenly they found themselves caught in a mammoth traffic jam, with cars trying to get out of New York wedged bumper-to-bumper.

Rolling down his window, Ghezzi asked a wild-eyed pedestrian what it was all about. "Martians have landed and captured New York and they're coming this way," the panic-stricken fellow yelled.

Ghezzi and Wood exchanged glances, and Vic finally said, "What do you think Craig?"

Wood sighed as he replied, "I guess nobody will ever know I set a record."

Win One, Tie One in Twin Bill

SAN DIEGO — Cal State Long Beach, which won a game with a four-run seventh inning last week, nearly lost one that way Saturday.

Host San Diego State, which took the opening game of the double-header, 6-4, scored four times in the seventh inning of the nightcap to gain a 6-6 tie with the 49ers in a game that was called after eighth innings because of darkness.

The Aztecs tied the nightcap on a walk to Ralph Nasif, double by Doug Hunt, single by Ron Hanks and a two-run home run by Tommy Kam.

One more inning was played before umpires ruled it was too dark to continue.

Long Beach had taken a 6-0 lead in the second inning on a walk to Ron DeLeenheer, a single by Harry Munoz, an outfield error, two more walks, a two-run double by Bill Hackett and a two-run single by DeLeenheer, the 10th man to bat in the inning.

Hanks and Nasif knocked in three runs apiece as the Aztecs caught freshman John Keisler in his first off showing of the season to give San Diego its first-game triumph.

Steve Brown and Jim Seida led the 49er attack in the opener with two singles each. Brown drove in two runs.

Aussie Grabs Lead in Tallahassee Tee

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Australian Bob Shaw came from behind to take the third-round lead in the $35,000 Tallahassee Open golf tourney Saturday with a four-under-par 68.

Shaw, a former caddy from Sydney who was the top money winner on the European tour last year, stands six under 210 for the tournament, one stroke ahead of Larry Hinson of Douglas, Ga., the second leader.

While the gregarious Aussie joked with the gallery and carded eight birdies, four bogeys and six pars, Hinson ran into putting difficulties and finished with a 77.

Tommy Aaron of Calloway Gardens, Ga., and Chuck Courtney of La Jolla, Calif., are two strokes off the pace at 212; Tallahassee's Bert Yancey and Fort Lauderdale's Bert Greene were three under along with two Californians, Jim Weicher of Atherton and John Jacobs of San Diego.

"I'm playing the best golf I've played here in America," said Shaw. "I think it's because there are people around. No one has paid much attention to me in the two and one half months I've been on the tour."

Mowry, Wilcox Share Lead in Azalea Golf

WILMINGTON, N.C. (UPI) — Larry Mowry, seeking his second successive win, and part-time tour player Terry Wilcox played steady golf in driving winds Saturday to tie for the lead with five-under-par 135s in the second round of the Azalea Open tournament.

Mowry, who won the Magnolia Open at Hattiesburg, Miss., last week, fired a 67 to go with Thursday's opening round 68 for his 135 total. Wilcox who does not play regularly on the PGA tour, fired 66 for the best round of the day. H had a 69 Thursday. Rain, winds and a tornado watch washed out Friday's play.

First round co-leader Bob Stone, Independence, Mo., was 66-70—136 to tie for third with young Randy Petri of Austin, Tex.

Petrie was 68-68—136 for the first two rounds of the 21st Azalea on the 6,470-yard, par 71 Cape Fear Country Club Course.

Crash Disrupts Trials

RIVERSIDE — Englishman John Cannon qualified his Chevrolet-powered Eagle on the pole Saturday for the Riverside Continental Grand Prix but the day was shattered by a spectacular crash that seriously injured driver Ron Courtney.

Courtney's Lola-Chevy stalled on the seventh turn of the 2.6-mile Riverside Raceway road course and was hit broadside by a car driven by Sam Posey.

Courtney, of Chicago, was taken to Riverside Community Hospital and listed in critical condition.

Cannon's average speed in qualifying was 116.374 miles an hour in the inaugural race of the continental series of open-wheel race cars.

Jerry Hansen, a stock broker from Minneapolis turned in a speed of 113.399 miles per hour and was second on the grid alongside Cannon.

Posey, Sharron, Conn., wound up the 11th best qualifier for the 28-car field with a speed of 108.862 but then purchased the fourth-fastest car, an Eagle Chevy, from Lew Florence of Yakima, Wash. Posey will drive the Eagle from the 10th spot in the grid, now that Florence is out of the race.

Third fastest during Saturday's runs were Chuck Dietrich of Sandusky, Ohio, in a Lola-Chevy.

Sixteen drivers cracked the former course record for formula A cars held by Hansen and established last November. It was 107.463.

The race is the first of 13 to be held in the United States and Canada this season by the Sports Car Club of America.

Trevino, Gary Tied for Lead

There is trouble every foot of the way."

A good example is Lotz, the first-day leader with a 67, a score that Player called "a phenomenal round on this course." Dick, who scored his first tournament win in the Alameda Open in January, seemingly eliminated himself from contention with a 78 Friday, but snapped back Saturday with a steady two-under 70.

Three others are tied at even-par 216, four strokes behind the leaders. They are George Archer, co-leader with Trevino at the halfway mark only to slip to a 74 on the third round when he took double bogeys on the last two holes, Julius Boros, who posted a 73, and Steve Reid, who made an unexpected move with a 70.

Two more strokes back at 218 are Arnold Palmer (75), Gene Littler (75) and Billy Casper, who turned in his best round of the tournament when he shot a 71, Dave Stockton is all alone at 219, seven strokes off the pace.

All could make a run for the title with a big final round. Littler demonstrated that when he was eight-under for 12 holes Friday before faltering, and Palmer served warning on Saturday that it was still possible to come out of the pack and catch the leaders.

Despite taking a bogey on the first hole, Palmer moved into a tie for the lead with Trevino by the eighth hole by recording birdies on 4, 6 and 8 as the result of some sensational wedge and iron shots.

But just when it appeared as if Arnie was going to record one of the charges which have become legend in recent years, he took a disastrous triple-bogey seven on the 10th hole.

Palmer started the 10th by hooking his drive into the right rough and wound up three-putting from just six feet.

The leaders got through the tough final three holes in good shape. Player, who bogied all three on Friday, played them in even par as did Lotz. Trevino did too, but he had to sink a brilliant 18-foot birdie putt on the last hole to do it because he had taken a bogey on 17.

Trevino twice had the lead all to himself — right at the outset when he birdied the first hole with a 20-foot putt, and later when he went five-under-par with a spectacular 30-foot birdie putt on no. 13.

However, just when it looked as if he might break it open, the rugged 16th and 17th holes stopped his move. They were the only two holes on which Trevino missed the fairway with his tee shots.

Meanwhile, the course continued to baffle Jack Nicklaus, one of the pre-tournament favorites. He followed his 80 of Friday with 76 for a 229 total, 17 strokes behind the leaders.

Jones Star of USC Grid Scrimmage

Freshman quarterback Jimmy Jones turned in a sparkling passing performance Saturday to highlight a 70-minute scrimmage by USC's football team.

Jones completed nine of 17 passes for 108 yards. He threw a nine-yard touchdown to flanker Bob Chandler.

Other touchdowns were scored by fullback Charlie Evans on a 10-yard run, halfback Bob Giorgetti on a 2-yard run and end Sam Dickerson on an 18-yard pass from freshman quarterback Greg Briner.

Evans was the leading runner with 40 yards in eight carries. Chandler caught six passes for 71 yards and Dickerson five for 56.

Impressive Day for 49er Crew

The Cal State Long Beach crew turned in its most impressive afternoon of the season Saturday.

The varsity eight, competing in Marine Stadium, shocked UC Irvine by two-thirds of a boat length in a brilliant dual, the 49ers winning in 6:20 to Irvine's 6:22.4.

The Anteater junior varsity gained some measure of revenge by topping the 49er JV, 6:35 to 6:39.

The Cal State lightweight, competing in the Lake Cachuma Regatta, won its division by defeating San Diego State in the finals.

YEARNS FOR EL PASO

3 Days in Detroit Enough

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Basketball coach Don Haskins, admitting he had "made a mistake," said Saturday he had quit his three-day-old job at the University of Detroit and was applying for his old job back at the University of Texas-El Paso.

Haskins, 38, caught UTEP officials and fans alike by surprise with his move, which he said he was taking because he felt he had acted "too quickly" in accepting the four-year-pact at $23,000 annually at Detroit.

George McCarty, UTEP athletic director, said the school had never faced a "situation like this" and said that Haskins would have to formally apply for the job.

The re-hiring of Haskins by UTEP was regarded as a mere formality in light of his eight-year record of 160-50 that included a 28-1 season in 1966 when his team won the NCAA title.

Player Gets New Press Agent--Lee Trevino

By DAVE LEWIS
Staff Writer

RANCHO LA COSTA — "Gary Player is as fine a gentleman and golfer as you'll find in the game," declared Lee Trevino after he and the South African star finished the third round of the Tournament of Champions Saturday deadlocked for first place.

"Gary was playing just ahead of me and showed what a great gentleman and sportsman he is by not leaving a single green before repairing at least a half-dozen cleat marks left by other golfers," Trevino said.

"Gary smoothed them out for Gene (Littler) and myself and this helped considerably, especially on three and four-foot putts when a tuft of grass can knock your ball off line because you don't hit them hard when you're close to the hole.

"Playing in the last twosome can be a terrible disadvantage because of the cleat marks. Some players fix them up, but most of them don't," Lee went on.

Just then, someone handed Lee a pairing sheet showing that he'll be playing in the next-to-last twosome today just ahead of Player.

"Look here, Gary," he said with a laugh as he handed Player the pairing sheet. "I'll be ahead of you and I may just have to drag my cleats around a few of the cups if you get too close."

But he quickly added, "No, I wouldn't do that to anyone, especially a great guy like you. I'll fix the marks for you, too."

As Player left the room to spend a half-hour on the putting green, Trevino said, "You know, Gary is a truly great golfer and a tough competitor. You have to play awfully hard to beat him. He's a little tiger."

Earlier, Player again emphasized that the current tournament is one of the few in this country where a premium is put on straight hitting because of the treacherously heavy rough.

"It is completely opposite to most of the courses on which the PGA tournaments are held. For the most part, they are wide open and made for the long hitters," Gary explained.

"I must say that my success so far here this week is due to the fact that I am used to playing courses like this in England, Australia and at home in South Africa.

Trevino also had a comment about the rough. "I'd sure like to have the hay concession when they cut it," he said.

Player revealed that he was returning to South Africa tonight even if he wins. Trevino, too, will be heading for home in El Paso.

However, he'll be there for only a couple of days to see his new son, Tony Lee, who was born last Sunday. Then he'll play in about 12 more tournaments in a row before taking a short break from the tour.

Trevino is still hoarse from a slight cold. "I helped kill a couple of bottles of champagne last Sunday and then fell asleep on the plane to Los Angeles with the air conditioner on. My throat is still sore," he revealed.

"Were you celebrating the birth of your son?" asked a writer who didn't know how poorly Trevino had played in the Masters.

"What else?" Lee answered. "I sure didn't play well enough to do any celebrating."

A Laugh-In Along the Golf Tour

RANCHO LA COSTA — Since Roberto DeVicenzo signed the wrong scorecard in the 1968 Masters to cost himself a tie for first place, his fellow professional golfers have teased the good natured star from Argentina about being living proof that the late Damon Runyon posted a pretty good morning line when he said that life is all out against you.

The American pros are constantly keeping an eye on the 46-year-old veteran to protect him. He's known as the "softest touch" on the tour. Any sad story will produce a healthy contribution.

They tell of a classic incident at the Masters when a con artist well known for her activities wrote him a letter asking Roberto to send her money so she could get treatment for her daughter, who allegedly had leukemia.

The woman had pulled this before, so the American pros went to Roberto and explained to him it was a trick, that the woman's daughter didn't have leukemia.

Instead of reacting angrily, the amiable Argentine ace smiled broadly and said, "Oh, that is good. I'm so happy that she does not have it."

Ghezzi and Wood exchanged glances, and Vic finally said, "What do you think Craig?"

Wood sighed as he replied, "I guess nobody will ever know I set a record."

Aztecs Hobble 49ers

Win One, Tie One in Twin Bill

SAN DIEGO — Cal State Long Beach, which won a game with a four-run seventh inning last week, nearly lost one that way Saturday.

Host San Diego State, which took the opening game of the double-header, 6-4, scored four times in the seventh inning of the nightcap to gain a 6-6 tie with the 49ers in a game that was called after eighth innings because of darkness.

The Aztecs tied the nightcap on a walk to Ralph Nasif, double by Doug Hunt, single by Ron Hanks and a two-run home run by Tommy Kam.

One more inning was played before umpires ruled it was too dark to continue.

Long Beach had taken a 6-0 lead in the second inning on a walk to Ron DeLeenheer, a single by Harry Munoz, an outfield error, two more walks, a two-run double by Bill Hackett and a two-run single by DeLeenheer, the 10th man to bat in the inning.

Hanks and Nasif knocked in three runs apiece as the Aztecs caught freshman John Keisler in his first off showing of the season to give San Diego its first-game triumph.

Steve Brown and Jim Seida led the 49er attack in the opener with two singles each. Brown drove in two runs.

Aussie Grabs Lead in Tallahassee Tee

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Australian Bob Shaw came from behind to take the third-round lead in the $35,000 Tallahassee Open golf tourney Saturday with a four-under-par 68.

Shaw, a former caddy from Sydney who was the top money winner on the European tour last year, stands six under 210 for the tournament, one stroke ahead of Larry Hinson of Douglas, Ga., the second leader.

While the gregarious Aussie joked with the gallery and carded eight birdies, four bogeys and six pars, Hinson ran into putting difficulties and finished with a 77.

Tommy Aaron of Calloway Gardens, Ga., and Chuck Courtney of La Jolla, Calif., are two strokes off the pace at 212. Tallahassee's Bert Yancey and Fort Lauderdale's Bert Greene were three under along with two Californians, Jim Weicher of Atherton and John Jacobs of San Diego.

"I'm playing the best golf I've played here in America," said Shaw. "I think it's because there are people around. No one has paid much attention to me in the two and one half months I've been on the tour."

Crash Disrupts Trials

RIVERSIDE — Englishman John Cannon qualified his Chevrolet-powered Eagle on the pole Saturday for the Riverside Continental Grand Prix but the day was shattered by a spectacular crash that seriously injured driver Ron Courtney.

Courtney's Lola-Chevy stalled on the seventh turn of the 2.6-mile Riverside Raceway road course and was hit broadside by a car driven by Sam Posey.

Courtney, of Chicago, was taken to Riverside Community Hospital and listed in critical condition.

Cannon's average speed in qualifying was 116.374 miles an hour in the inaugural race of the continental series of open-wheel race cars.

Jerry Hansen, a stock broker from Minneapolis turned in a speed of 113.399 miles per hour and was second on the grid alongside Cannon.

Posey, Sharron, Conn., wound up the 11th best qualifier for the 28-car field with a speed of 108.862 but then purchased the fourth-fastest car, an Eagle Chevy, from Lew Florence of Yakima, Wash. Posey will drive the Eagle from the 10th spot in the grid, now that Florence is out of the race.

Third fastest during Saturday's runs were Chuck Dietrich of Sandusky, Ohio, in a Lola-Chevy.

Sixteen drivers cracked the former course record for formula A cars held by Hansen and established last November. It was 107.463.

The race is the first of 13 to be held in the United States and Canada this season by the Sports Car Club of America.

Jessen Surges to Carling Lead

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP) — Ruth Jessen, shooting for her first tour title in five years, shot the only sub-par score Saturday and took a one-stroke lead in the second round of the Lady Carling Open golf tournament with a 141 total.

The 32-year-old blonde, handicapped by illness and operations in recent years, fired a 71. No other player broke par of 72 as chilly winds swept over the course.

Mowry, Wilcox Share Lead in Azalea Golf

WILMINGTON, N.C. (UPI) — Larry Mowry, seeking his second successive win, and part-time tour player Terry Wilcox played steady golf in driving winds Saturday to tie for the lead with five-under-par 135s in the second round of the Azalea Open tournament.

Mowry, who won the Magnolia Open at Hattiesburg, Miss., last week, fired a 67 to go with Thursday's opening round 68 for his 135 total. Wilcox who does not play regularly on the PGA tour, fired 66 for the best round of the day. H had a 69 Thursday. Rain, winds and a tornado watch washed out Friday's play.

First round co-leader Bob Stone, Independence, Mo., was 66-70—136 to tie for third with young Randy Petri of Austin, Tex.

Petrie was 68-68—136 for the first two rounds of the 21st Azalea on the 6,470-yard, par 71 Cape Fear Country Club Course.

Trevino, Gary Tied for Lead

There is trouble every foot of the way."

A good example is Lotz, the first-day leader with a 67, a score that Player called "a phenomenal round on this course." Dick, who scored his first tournament win in the Alameda Open in January, seemingly eliminated himself from contention with a 78 Friday, but snapped back Saturday with a steady two-under 70.

Three others are tied at even-par 216, four strokes behind the leaders. They are George Archer, co-leader with Trevino at the halfway mark only to slip to a 74 on the third round when he took double bogeys on the last two holes, Julius Boros, who posted a 73, and Steve Reid, who made an unexpected move with a 70.

Two more strokes back at 218 are Arnold Palmer (75), Gene Littler (75) and Billy Casper, who turned in his best round of the tournament when he shot a 71. Dave Stockton is all alone at 219, seven strokes off the pace.

All could make a run for the title with a big final round. Littler demonstrated that when he was eight-under for 12 holes Friday before faltering, and Palmer served warning on Saturday that it was still possible to come out of the pack and catch the leaders.

Despite taking a bogey on the first hole, Palmer moved into a tie for the lead with Trevino by the eighth hole by recording birdies on 4, 6 and 8 as the result of some sensational wedge and iron shots.

But just when it appeared as if Arnie was going to record one of the charges which have become legend in recent years, he took a disastrous triple-bogey seven on the 10th hole.

Palmer started the 10th by hooking his drive into the right rough and wound up three-putting from just six feet.

The leaders got through the tough final three holes in good shape. Player, who bogied all three on Friday, played them in even par as did Lotz. Trevino did too, but he had to sink a brilliant 18-foot birdie putt on the last hole to do it because he had taken a bogey on 17.

Trevino twice had the lead all to himself — right at the outset when he birdied the first hole with a 20-foot putt, and later when he went five-under-par with a spectacular 30-foot birdie putt on no. 13.

However, just when it looked as if he might break it open, the rugged 16th and 17th holes stopped his move. They were the only two holes on which Trevino missed the fairway with his tee shots.

Meanwhile, the course continued to baffle Jack Nicklaus, one of the pre-tournament favorites. He followed his 80 of Friday with 76 for a 229 total, 17 strokes behind the leaders.

Jones Star of USC Grid Scrimmage

Freshman quarterback Jimmy Jones turned in a sparkling passing performance Saturday to highlight a 70-minute scrimmage by USC's football team.

Jones completed nine of 17 passes for 108 yards. He threw a nine-yard touchdown to flanker Bob Chandler.

Other touchdowns were scored by fullback Charlie Evans on a 10-yard run, halfback Bob Giorgetti on a 2-yard run and end Sam Dickerson on an 18-yard pass from freshman quarterback Greg Briner.

Evans was the leading runner with 40 yards in eight carries. Chandler caught, six passes for 71 yards and Dickerson five for 56.

Impressive Day for 49er Crew

The Cal State Long Beach crew turned in its most impressive afternoon of the season Saturday.

The varsity eight, competing in Marine Stadium, shocked UC Irvine by two-thirds of a boat length in a brilliant dual, the 49ers winning in 6:20 to Irvine's 6:22.4.

The Anteater junior varsity gained some measure of revenge by topping the 49er JV, 6:35 to 6:39.

The Cal State lightweight, competing in the Lake Cachuma Regatta, won its division by defeating San Diego State in the finals.

YEARNS FOR EL PASO

3 Days in Detroit Enough

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — Basketball coach Don Haskins, admitting he had "made a mistake," said Saturday he had quit his three-day-old job at the University of Detroit and was applying for his old job back at the University of Texas-El Paso.

Haskins, 38, caught UTEP officials and fans alike by surprise with his move, which he said he was taking because he felt he had acted "too quickly" in accepting the four-year-pact at $23,000 annually at Detroit.

George McCarty, UTEP athletic director, said the school had never faced a "situation like this" and said that Haskins would have to formally apply for the job.

The re-hiring of Haskins by UTEP was regarded as a mere formality in light of his eight-year record of 160-50 that included a 28-1 season in 1966 when his team won the NCAA title.

Next Stop on Napoles' Fistic Trail is Rematch With Cokes

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Staff Writer

Next stop on the fistic trail for the world's new welterweight champion, Jose (Mantequilla) Napoles, who along with Long Beach's Mando Ramos, the lightweight king, gives Southern California the hottest boxing tandem around today, will be in the Southland — if those April Saturday promises made in the glow of victory hold up.

After buffeting the former champion, Curtis Cokes, from every pillar to post in the Forum Friday night while registering a 13-round knockout, Napoles declared that his initial title defense would be against Cokes and under the promotion of George Parnassus.

Obviously, a Parnassus promotion would be in Southern California.

"This is the way we want it," chanted his manager, like Mantequilla also a Cuban exile, Cuco Conde. "Both men gave us our opportunity to gain the championship. Cokes gave us the fight and Parnassus gave us the promotion. We owe both of them the return fight."

Whether or not Cokes caters to the idea of taking a second beating is something else. He pocketed a record $80,000 for the Friday night massacre but wasn't in a talkative mood Saturday.

And you wouldn't be, either, if both your eyes were swollen almost shut, your nose was bloated in similar fashion to the late W. C. Fields, your lips resembled two pieces of rubber pipe and the inside of your mouth felt like crushed glass was imbedded therein.

At any rate, figure Napoles' first titular defense in this area under promotion of Parnassus, who has other wondrous things on his mind. Like a championship doubleheader in Dodger Stadium, featuring lightweight Ramos and bantam king Lionel Rose. The "Golden Greek" doesn't play for peanuts.

Hawks on 'Do or Die' With Lakers Today

By DOUG IVES
Staff Writer

All the pressure will be on the Atlanta Hawks today as the Lakers try to clinch the Western Division playoff championship at the Forum.

Among those watching the 12:30 p.m. tip-off will be the Boston Celtics, who are at home in Beantown after winning the Eastern Division title Friday.

If the Lakers oust the Hawks today, they will open the finals against Boston at the Forum Wednesday—the sixth time in nine years these teams have battled for the title. Laker fans need not be reminded the outcome of the previous five. (Boston, 5-0).

The odds on Atlanta changing the familiar script are long. The Hawks trail 3-1 in the series and only one team (Boston last year vs. Philadelphia) has rallied from that deficit to win a playoff.

The Hawks also have lost the psychological edge they enjoyed after the third game when their strategy of double-teaming Jerry West had the Lakers in trouble.

The Hawks realize now they can contain offensively, but lose other ways . . . by West on defense, or by a Laker strategy move that finds Mel Counts, not Wilt Chamberlain, guarding Zelmo Beaty. This was instituted with great success in game No. 4 which the Lakers won 100-85.

With Beaty pulling Chamberlain outside, the Lakers lose rebounding punch and strip Wilt of protecting the keyhole area. Now Wilt casually watches Bill Bridges, a weak outside shooter, and seven-footer Counts gives Beaty a rough time.

Richie Guerin says he can combat this, but the Atlanta coach has other "ifs" that must be solved if the Hawks are to win.

Still another Laker asset is their home court record of 32-8. The Hawks have played them close at the Forum, but lost five of six.

Dodger Comeback Decisions Astros

McFadden then bobbed Kosco's grounder to short, although his throw to first just missed retiring Andy as Darwin came hom with the tying run.

The Astros had taken a 2-0 lead on McFadden's double in the second and Curt Blefary's single in the third but the Dodgers came back with three runs in the sixth. Parker's triple and singles by Kosco and Paul Popovich produced the runs.

The Astros tied the game in the seventh on Doug Rader's bunt single. The Dodgers were fortunate to get out of the inning with only one run being scored as relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen came in with the bases loaded and no outs and retired the Astros on three pitches and two ine drives —the first being converted into a double play.

Nitehawks Host Unbeaten Oxnard in Doubleheader

The Long Beach Nitehawks, 4-1 in Western Softball Congress play, take on the undefeated Oxnard Kings in a 6 p.m. doubleheader at Park Ave. Field today.

The early start is an experiment which will be tried in all WSC parks this year, especially where Sunday doubleheaders occur.

Manager Red Meairs was uncertain about his pitching plans, saying "we'll just wait until we get there and see how everybody feels. We have three top pitchers and I think they'll all be ready to go. They'd better be, for Oxnard is a tough club."

Meairs was referring to Don Sarno, Art Bunge and relief ace Sherm McInnis. Jack Newman, one of the best, will be on the mound for Doc Jones' Kings in one of the games. Jerry Willard or Ron Hamlin will pitch the other one.

Harbor Wins WSC Swim Championship

Host Harbor College, with Jim Hook adding two more victories, won the Western State Conference swimming championships Saturday at Palos Verdes High School.

Hook anchored Saturday's 400 freestyle relay team which won in 3:43.0 and the winning 800 yard freestyle relay Friday. Hook also won the 50, 100 and 200-yard freestyles.

MIAMI IN FINALS, OAKS WIN

Underdog Miami, led by Don Freeman's 32 points, rolled to a 137-128 victory Saturday night over Minnesota to win their best-of-7 ABA Eastern Division semifinal series.

The Floridians, who won the series four games to three, now play Indiana for the eastern title.

The Oakland Oaks broke open a nip-and-tuck game with driving layups in the fourth quarter to post a 128-118 victory over the New Orleans Buccaneers and take a 1-0 lead in the western division playoffs.

Henry Logan and Warren Armstrong, a pair of hard-driving guards, continually scotted past the Bucs' inner defense during the final 12 minutes to turn the tide.

Franklin Claims Junior High Cinder Crown

Micheal Warner propelled Franklin Junior High to the track and field all-city Championship Saturday at Millikan High. Warner, scored victories in the 100 yard dash and set an All-City record in the 180 (18.2). The old record was held by former Lakewood track star Tim Russell.

Stanford won the eighth grade championship behind the victories of Jim Holm in the 100 and 180 yard dashes.

Franklin won the team championship with 125 combined points, followed by Stanford with 76 and Stephens 52.

Angels Stumble to Twins know Hoyt and I know he takes a big windup. With the crowd yelling and all and with a right-handed batter I'm thinking Egan and Wilhelm aren't going to get a lot of help either.

'It's a gamble. It's taking a big chance. If it works, great. If not, well, I'm not so hot."

It worked, tying the game and set up Killebrew's game-winning popper in the ninth.

It also enabled Perranoski to slip in and work the ninth, just enough to pick up the win and, as he says, advertise the restaurant.

"That restaurant," laughed Bob Miller, Perranoski's roomie and former Dodger mate. "Some deal. You know, it took him three years to think of a name for the joint. You know what he finally called it? Perranoski's, what else?"

ANGEL ANGLES: Blefary has handed Andy Messersmith (6-8) the chore of busting up the losing streak in the third game of the set today. Dave Bennett (0-1) originally slated Saturday but later scratched in favor of Jim Kaat, starts for the Twins at The game will be screened on KTLA, Channel 5, at 11:30 a.m. (PST).
Aurelio Rodriguez had his biggest day of the season, slugging a homer and two singles . . . Lee Lacy looked good as the shortstop gap for the Minnies, booked two Saturday. But he also swatted a homer, one right down the line in left.
Wilhelm and Fisher also qualify for the hard-luck trophy. Neither has been hit hard at all the last two days but hard enough to cause trouble. "I was hoping someone would hit one a little harder so the ball would reach somebody," interjected Fisher after Friday's game in which four fluky singles cost him two runs.
The 13 hits by the Twins are the most the Angels have given up this year . . . The Angels' highlight film is out of the lab and will be available free to the public April 24. Call the Angels' office (633-2000) for information. Dick Bakers, Mickey Dalton and Chief Goodale learned to make the film.

Eager Bruins Set to Even Playoffs

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins, confident although battling heavy odds, seek to even their series with the Montreal Canadiens today in the fourth game of the National Hockey League's Eastern Division final playoffs.

"This is the big game," Phil Esposito, Boston's record-scoring center, said. "We win on Sunday and it's a whole new ball game. I'm sure we can win up there in Montreal."

After dropping 3-2 and 4-3 decisions both in overtime, in the first two games of the best-of-7 series in Montreal, the Bruins rebounded Thursday night, routing the Canadiens 5-0 in Boston Garden. Esposito had two goals and three assists.

Coach Harry Sinden insisted the Bruins are "not overconfident by any means."

"We are still behind in the series," Sinden warned after a practice session Saturday. "We have a long way to go to beat this team out."

Sinden planned only one change. With Wayne Cashman lost for the rest of the playoffs because of a broken bone in his right hand suffered Thursday, rookie winger Garnet Bailey will be in uniform.

Bailey will share a left wing spot with Glen Sather and Eddie Shack on a line with Derek Sanderson and Eddie Westfall.

Goalie Gerry Cheevers will be back in the nets, with veteran Eddie Johnston as backup man. Cheevers has started in six of Boston's playoff games—four against Toronto and two against Montreal—and has allowed only eight goals.

Montreal Coach Claude Ruel hopes for only one major change for the Canadiens, who have not won a game in Boston since the 1968 playoffs. He wants them to play 60 minutes of hockey.

"They only played 40 minute of hockey Thursday night," Ruel said. "We seem to let down after the Bruins got their goal early in the third period and they took advantage of our mistakes.

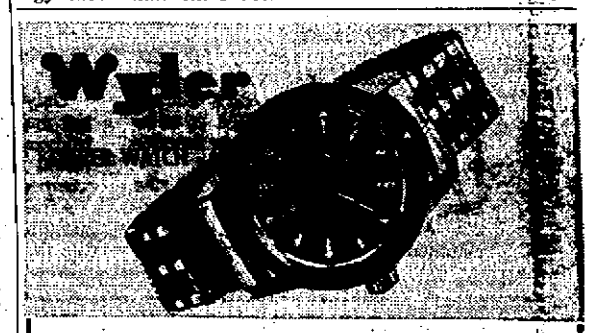

"Now maybe my guys have learned that hockey as a 60-minute game and unless they give 60 minutes of hard effort, they won't win."

Two National Marks Set in Girls Meet

Next Stop on Napoles' Fistic Trail is Rematch With Cokes

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Staff Writer

Next stop on the fistic trail for the world's new welterweight champion, Jose (Mantequilla) Napoles, who along with Long Beach's Mando Ramos, the lightweight king, gives Southern California the hottest boxing tandem around today, will be in the Southland — if those April Saturday promises made in the glow of victory hold up.

After buffeting the former champion, Curtis Cokes, from every pillar to post in the Forum Friday night while registering a 13-round knockout, Napoles declared that his initial title defense would be against Cokes and under the promotion of George Parnassus.

Obviously, a Parnassus promotion would be in Southern California.

"This is the way we want it," chanted his manager, like Mantequilla also a Cuban exile, Cuco Conde. "Both men gave us our opportunity to gain the championship. Cokes gave us the fight and Parnassus gave us the promotion. We owe both of them the return fight."

Whether or not Cokes caters to the idea of taking a second beating is something else. He pocketed a record $80,000 for the Friday night massacre but wasn't in a talkative mood Saturday.

And you wouldn't be, either, if both your eyes were swollen almost shut, your nose was bloated in similar fashion to the late W. C. Fields, your lips resembled two pieces of rubber pipe and the inside of your mouth felt like crushed glass was imbedded therein.

At any rate, figure Napoles' first titular defense in this area under promotion of Parnassus, who has other wondrous things on his mind. Like a championship doubleheader in Dodger Stadium, featuring lightweight Ramos and bantam king Lionel Rose. The "Golden Greek" doesn't play for peanuts.

JOSE NAPOLES . . . Bravos Ring Out

Hawks on 'Do or Die' With Lakers Today

By DOUG IVES
Staff Writer

All the pressure will be on the Atlanta Hawks today as the Lakers try to clinch the Western Division playoff championship at the Forum.

Among those watching the 12:30 p.m. tip-off will be the Boston Celtics, who are at home in Beantown after winning the Eastern Division title Friday.

If the Lakers oust the Hawks today, they will open the finals against Boston at the Forum Wednesday—the sixth time in nine years these teams have battled for the title. Laker fans need not be reminded the outcome of the previous five. (Boston, 5-0).

The odds on Atlanta changing the familiar script are long. The Hawks trail 3-1 in the series and only one team (Boston last year vs. Philadelphia) has rallied from that deficit to win a playoff.

The Hawks also have lost the psychological edge they enjoyed after the third game when their strategy of double-teaming Jerry West had the Lakers in trouble.

The Hawks realize now they can contain offensively, but lose other ways . . . by West on defense, or by a Laker strategy move that finds Mel Counts, not Wilt Chamberlina, guarding Zelmo Beaty. This was instituted with great success in game No. 4 which the Lakers won 100-85.

With Beaty pulling Chamberlain outside, the Lakers lose rebounding punch and strip Wilt of protecting the keyhole area. Now Wilt casually watches Bill Bridges, a weak outside shooter, and seven-footer Counts gives Beaty a rough time.

Richie Guerin says he can combat this, but the Atlanta coach has other "ifs" that must be solved if the Hawks are to win.

Still another Laker asset is their home court record of 32-8. The Hawks have played them close at the Forum, but lost five of six.

Dodger Comeback Decisions Astros

runner Bobby Darwin moving to third.

McFadden then bobbled Kosco's grounder to short, although his throw to first just missed retiring Andy as Darwin came hom with the tying run.

The Astros had taken a 2-0 lead on McFadden's double in the second and Curt Blefary's single in the third but the Dodgers came back with three runs in the sixth. Parker's triple and singles by Kosco and Paul Popovich produced the runs.

The Astros tied the game in the seventh on Doug Rader's bunt single. The Dodgers were fortunate to get out of the inning with only one run being scored as relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen came in with the bases loaded and no outs and retired the Astros on three pitches and two ine drives —the first being converted into a double play.

Nitehawks Host Unbeaten Oxnard in Doubleheader

The Long Beach Nitehawks, 4-1 in Western Softball Congress play, take on the undefeated Oxnard Kings in a 6 p.m. doubleheader at Park Ave. Field today.

The early start is an experiment which will be tried in all WSC parks this year, especially where Sunday doubleheaders occur.

Manager Red Meairs was uncertain about his pitching plans, saying "we'll just wait until we get there and see how everybody feels. We have three top pitchers and I think they'll all be ready to go. They'd better be, for Oxnard is a tough club."

Meairs was referring to Don Sarno, Art Bunge and relief ace Sherm McInnis. Jack Newman, one of the best, will be on the mound for Doc Jones' Kings in one of the games. Jerry Willard or Ron Hamlin will pitch the other one.

Harbor Wins WSC Swim Championship

Host Harbor College, with Jim Hook adding two more victories, won the Western State Conference swimming championships Saturday at Palos Verdes High School.

Hook anchored Saturday's 400 freestyle relay team which won in 3:43.0 and the winning 800 yard freestyle relay Friday. Hook also won the 50, 100 and 200-yard freestyles.

1650 freestyle: Wenz (Santa Barbara), 2:30.0; 200 ind. medley: Webber (Los Angeles, 2:18.1; 100 freestyle: Hook (Harbor, 52.5; 200 backstroke: C. Collins (Harbor), 2:25.2; 200 breaststroke: Ishibashi (Harbor), 2:03.7; 100 butterfly: Acker (Los Angeles), 1:02.0; 1-meter diving: Prince (Harbor). 3-meter diving: Prince (Harbor), 400 freestyle relay: Harbor (Ishibashi, Bettencourt, O'Brien, Hook), 3:43.0.
Final scores: Harbor 173½, Los Angeles 162, Santa Barbara 78.

MIAMI IN FINALS, OAKS WIN

Underdog Miami, led by Don Freeman's 32 points, rolled to a 137-128 victory Saturday night over Minnesota to win their best-of-7 ABA Eastern Division semifinal series.

The Floridians, who won the series four games to three, now play Indiana for the eastern title.

The Oakland Oaks broke open a nip-and-tuck game with driving layups in the fourth quarter to post a 128-118 victory over the New Orleans Buccaneers and take a 1-0 lead in the western division playoffs.

Henry Logan and Warren Armstrong, a pair of hard-driving guards, continually scotted past the Bucs' inner defense during the final 12 minutes to turn the tide.

Franklin Claims Junior High Cinder Crown

Micheal Warner propelled Franklin Junior High to the track and field all-city Championship Saturday at Millikan High. Warner, scored victories in the 100 yard dash and set an All-City record in the 180 (18.2). The old record was held by former Lakewood track star Tim Russell.

Stanford won the eighth grade championship behind the victories of Jim Holm in the 100 and 180 yard dashes.

Franklin won the team championship with 125 combined points, followed by Stanford with 76 and Stephens 52.

Eager Bruins Set to Even Playoffs

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins, confident although battling heavy odds, seek to even their series with the Montreal Canadiens today in the fourth game of the National Hockey League's Eastern Division final playoffs.

"This is the big game," Phil Esposito, Boston's record-scoring center, said. "We win on Sunday and it's a whole new ball game. I'm sure we can win up there in Montreal."

After dropping 3-2 and 4-3 decisions both in overtime, in the first two games of the best-of-7 series in Montreal, the Bruins rebounded Thursday night, routing the Canadiens 5-0 in Boston Garden. Esposito had two goals and three assists.

Coach Harry Sinden insisted the Bruins are "not overconfident by any means."

"We are still behind in the series," Sinden warned after a practice session Saturday. "We have a long way to go to beat this team out."

Sinden planned only one change. With Wayne Cashman lost for the rest of the playoffs because of a broken bone in his right hand suffered Thursday, rookie winger Garnet Bailey will be in uniform.

Bailey will share a left wing spot with Glen Sather and Eddie Shack on a line with Derek Sanderson and Eddie Westfall.

Goalie Gerry Cheevers will be back in the nets, with veteran Eddie Johnston as backup man. Cheevers has started in six of Boston's playoff games—four against Toronto and two against Montreal—and has allowed only eight goals.

Montreal Coach Claude Ruel hopes for only one major change for the Canadiens, who have not won a game in Boston since the 1968 playoffs. He wants them to play 60 minutes of hockey.

"They only played 40 minute of hockey Thursday night," Ruel said. "We seem to let down after the Bruins got their goal early in the third period and they took advantage of our mistakes.

"Now maybe my guys have learned that hockey as a 60-minute game and unless they give 60 minutes of hard effort, they won't win."

National, World Gym Stars in Long Beach

By DAVE DANIEL

The Long Beach Arena will look like the Mini-Olympics Friday and Saturday when the United States Gymnastics Federation stages its national championships, and hosts the first World Cup Invitational.

Long Beach will be represented by its own Mini-Olympian, pert Cathy Rigby.

Miss Rigby, 16-year-old Los Alamitos High School student and a mere 90 pounds, was the top American finisher, male or female, in the 1968 Mexico City Games.

She'll compete Friday for the United States title with 29 other females and 30 men. She's already been invited by the USGA to compete as one of the top six females in the World Cup on Saturday.

Miss Rigby, a member of the Long Beach-based Southern California Acro Team (SCATS), will be matched against her Olympic competitors in the Saturday night feature.

A tight battle looms between the doll-like blonde and Hungary's Agnes Banfai. Miss Banfai finished one spot above Cathy in the final Olympic tabulations by fifteen-hundredths of one point.

Other competitors include Olympian Joyce Tanac of Seattle and Wendy Cluff, 17-year-old teammate of Cathy on both the SCATS and Olympic teams. Miss Tanac was 30th in Olympic competition.

The U.S. championships take place in two sessions Friday at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m., with all 60 participants performing only optional routines to decide the title.

Only all-around competition — the men perform six events and the women four — will count. No individual event champions will be crowned.

Admission is $1 and $2 Friday and $1, $2, and $3 for the World Cup finals Saturday.

RACES TODAY IN LAKEWOOD

The Pan-American Road Run, sponsored by the Lakewood Recreation Dept., will be held today on the Fidler Ave. side of Mayfair Park, 9 a.m.

Events include AAU junior national 20-kilometer walk, 15-kilo senior open walk, and senior 10-meter run.

Long Beach Soccer Club Opens Playoff

The Long Beach Soccer Club steps into Amigo Cup playoffs today when it takes on Independencia Soccer Club at Heartwell Park, 2:30 p.m.

Long Beach finished fourth in Pacific Soccer League standings at 10-6-4. The Coast Rangers finished on top.

Three Soccer Games Scheduled

A soccer tripleheader will be held today at Rancho Cienega Stadium.

Hollywood Stars face Scandia at 10:30 a.m., Montebello Armenians tackle Saprissa Club at 12:30 p.m., and the all-British Thistle Club meets Los Angeles Soccer CLUB AT 2:30 p.m.

Speedboat Races on Lake Los Angeles

With the accent on speeds exceeding the 80-miles-per-hour mark, champion drivers will compete for national ranking today in the first Lake Los Angeles Speedboat Classic.

The American Power Boat Assn.-sanctioned speed event — the first outboard race of its kind ever held in the Antelope Valley — will begin at noon on the half-mile Lake Los Angeles oval course, located 12 miles east of Palmdale.

There will be no admission charge.

73rd Boston Marathon Draws Field of 1,300

BOSTON (AP) — Defending champinn Ambrose Burfoot and strong contingents from Japan and Mexico head a huge field of more than 1,300 runners entered for the 73rd Boston A.A. Marathon Monday.

Burfoot, who won last year as a Wesleyan senior, will be trying to become the first man to win two successive Boston Marathons since Aurele Vandendriessche of Belgium in 1963 and 1964.

No American runner has turned the trick of successive triumphs since Clarence DeMar in 1923 and 1924.

The always-strong Japanese had their top team training for the Olympics in 1968 and never were in contention.

They're hopeful this year, though, with a trio consisting of Tadaaki Ueoka, Kazua Yamashita and Yoshiake Unetani, all of whom have done well in competition in their marathon-conscious homeland.

The Mexican contingent of Pablo Garrida, Alfreda Penaloza and Jose Gaspar also poses a strong threat. Garrida and Penaloza finished third and fourth last year.

Don Daws of Minneapolis, who finished fifth a year ago, is the highest rated American entrant after Burfoot..

Baseball Turnstiles Getting Rusty?

NEW YORK (UPI) — The national pastime suffered a major setback at the turnstiles for the second successive year in 1968 as baseball attendance dropped by more than a million fans, according to a survey released Saturday by Triangle Publications.

Thoroughbred horse racing continued to lead in attendance with 41,517,104 fans, an increase of 1,208,341 over 1967. Harness racing had attendance of 27,382,885, an increase of 181,052, to give horse racing a total of 68,899,989 customers.

The booming automobile racing field, including all types of competition, ranked second with 40,981,340 fans, according to estimated attendance figures, and football was ranked third.

College football gained 595,207 fans in 1968 for a total of 27,025,846, and the American Football League increased by 339,841 for attendance of 2,635,538. However, the National Football League's attendance dropped by 59,047 fans to 5,882,313, giving the sport a total of 37,024,080 fans.

Baseball attendance took a sharp dip in the major leagues, and the minor circuits suffered a slight setback. The NFL and wrestling were the only other major spectator sports to decline in attendance.

The 20 major league clubs had a loss of 1,205,608 fans, dropping attendance to 23,102,745, and the 19 minor leagues lost 54,010 fans for a total of 10,033,142. The World Series attendance, which fluctuates every year depending on the parks in which the games are played, increased by 75,585 to boost the total to 379,670.

Total attendance for baseball amounted to 33,515,557, a drop of 1,184,033 from 1967.

Basketball attendance, buoyed by the newly created American Basetball Assn., had the biggest increase by drawing an additional 4,130,965 spectators. The 1,263 college teams had attendance of 21,161,490, an increase of 2,271,474, and the National Basketball Assn. drew 3,649,511, an improvement of 529,511. The American Basketball Assn. contributed 1,330,000 spectators to provide the sport with a total of 26,141,001.

The National Hockey League, catching on in a big way in the expansion cities that were added to the circuit in 1967, had attendance of 5,301,354, a gain of 2,206,595, to rank sixth, and greyhound racing was next with 12,059,762 fans, an addition of 1,017,340.

Boxing attendance increased by an estimated 11,400 for a total of 1,987,400, but wrestling dropped 930,000 to 3,420,000. Soccer, which failed to survive on a big league basis, had a gain of 79,394 fans to 4,049,139, and track and field events had an attendance increase of 100,000 in an Olympic year to move to 3,100,000.

The survey includes only major organized sports. It does not include figures for high school basketball, baseball or football, and for little league, American Legion and semi-pro baseball, or softball.

Okay, Paul Bunyan —a 52,000 Seat Wood Astrodome!

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — If bridges float, which they do, why not a wood sports stadium dwarfing the Houston Astrodome and seating 52,000 baseball fans?

It may sound like a prank the legendary Paul Bunyan would pull just for the fun of it after he and the blue ox, Babe, had finished a big day's work.

But it's being taken seriously in this city which built the Lake Washington floating bridge and where the world's longest floating span, the Hood Canal Bridge, is just miles away.

One design for a wood stadium envisions a clear span of 840 feet reaching 250 feet in height at its apex — compared with 642 feet and 206 feet for the Astrodome.

King County voters last fall pulled the "yes" lever on a proposition to build a $40 million multi-purpose domed stadium. When finished, it will house the Seattle Pilots of the American League, who now play their baseball in refurbished Sicks' Stadium with a seating capacity of 25,000.

Pro football has been making overtures, and a pro football team also would use the stadium when finished.

The forest products industry quickly got into the act with proposals for a wood stadium as a unique symbol for the city.

What about fire?

Glad you asked that question, say the forest men. Meet James R. Turnbull, executive vice president of the American Plywood Association.

"Under the intense heat of a fire," says Turnbull, "a metal supporting beam will soften and collapse, long before a wood structural beam designed to carry the same load will fall."

He points to the disastrous example of Chicago's McCormack Place fire in 1967 when a so-called "non-combustible" structure, largely framed in steel, collapsed in the intense heat generated by the fire.

"We can construct not only a safe, but the safest structure for public occupancy," says Turnbull.

Nine-Fight Card in L.B. Saturday

Nine bouts will be staged as Harbor Boxing Gym puts on its third amateur card Saturday night at Long Beach Auditorium.

Heavyweights Sam Wilson and Sherman Olmstead, and Rick Harris vs. Joe Gillmore, will headline the card which will also include 118-pounders Frankie Santillon vs. Florentino Ramirez, and lightweights Bobby Shaw vs. Steve Orchard.

Five other bouts will be completed during the week from the boxers who now are competing in the National AAU Tournament in San Diego.

Compton, Verbum Fives Set for Honors

Members of the championship Compton High and Verbum Dei High basketball teams will be honored Monday, noon, April 28, when the city and chamber of commerce team up to host a luncheon at the Masonic Lodge, 357 East Palmer. "Compton Honors Its Champions" will be the program theme.

Jerry Tarkanian, head basketball coach at Cal State Long Beach, will be the guest speaker.

Frazier 'Risks' Six-State Title

HOUSTON (AP) — Dave Zyglewicz's biggest boxing purse has been $5,000 but he steps up to the big-time Tuesday night when he attempts to win Joe Frazier's portion of the world heavyweight championship.

Frazier is recognized as champion in five states, plus Mexico and Argentina. Since Texas is sanctioning the bout as a title fight, six states actually recognize the Philadelphian as champion.

Both men ended their heavy training by indicating the bout will not go the scheduled 15 rounds.

"The fight won't go more than 10 rounds," Zyglewicz said.

Frazier hasn't made a prediction, but his comments indicate he believes he can end it quickly.

"I get paid the same amount if I do it in the first round or the 15th," he said. "I'll do my best to end it as quickly as possible."

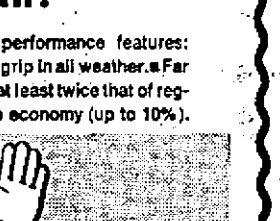

Frazier, the 1964 Olympic heavyweight champion, is undefeated in 22 bouts and has scored 19 knockouts. He will be a heavy favorite in this third defense of his portion of the title.

Zyglewicz, a native of Watervliet, N.Y., has never been knocked off his feet in posting a 28-1 record.

"I'm going to knock him down," Frazier said.

Zyglewicz says, "It's not really the money. It's the title. That's why I started boxing. That's what I've dreamed of since I was a kid."

Thoroughbred horse racing continued to lead in attendance with 41,517,104 fans, an increase of 1,208,341 over 1967. Harness racing had attendance of 27,382,885, an increase of 181,052, to give horse racing a total of 68,899,989 customers.

The booming automobile racing field, including all types of competition, ranked second with 40,981,340 fans, according to estimated attendance figures, and football was ranked third.

College football gained 595,207 fans in 1968 for a total of 27,025,846, and the American Football League increased by 339,841 for attendance of 2,635,538. However, the National Football League's attendance dropped by 59,047 fans to 5,882,313, giving the sport a total of 37,024,080 fans.

Baseball attendance took a sharp dip in the major leagues, and the minor circuits suffered a slight setback. The NFL and wrestling were the only other major spectator sports to decline in attendance.

The 20 major league clubs had a loss of 1,205,608 fans, dropping attendance to 23,102,745, and the 19 minor leagues lost 54,010 fans for a total of 10,033,142. The World Series attendance, which fluctuates every year depending on the parks in which the games are played, increased by 75,585 to boost the total to 379,670.

Total attendance for baseball amounted to 33,515,557, a drop of 1,184,033 from 1967.

Basketball attendance, buoyed by the newly created American Basethall Assn., had the biggest increase by drawing an additional 4,130,965 spectators. The 1,263 college teams had attendance of 21,161,490, an increase of 2,271,474, and the National Basketball Assn. drew 3,649,511, an improvement of 529,511. The American Basketball Assn. contributed 1,330,000 spectators to provide the sport with a total of 26,141,001.

The National Hockey League, catching on in a big way in the expansion cities that were added to the circuit in 1967, had attendance of 5,301,354, a gain of 2,206,595, to rank sixth, and greyhound racing was next with 12,059,762 fans, an addition of 1,017,340.

Boxing attendance increased by an estimated 11,400 for a total of 1,987,400, but wrestling dropped 930,000 to 3,420,000. Soccer, which failed to survive on a big league basis, had a gain of 79,394 fans to 4,049,139, and track and field events had an attendance increase of 100,000 in an Olympic year to move to 3,100,000.

The survey includes only major organized sports. It does not include figures for high school basketball, baseball or football, and for little league, American Legion and semi-pro baseball, or softball.

Okay, Paul Bunyan --a 52,000 Seat Wood Astrodome!

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — If bridges float, which they do, why not a wood sports stadium dwarfing the Houston Astrodome and seating 52,000 baseball fans?

It may sound like a prank the legendary Paul Bunyan would pull just for the fun of it after he and the blue ox, Babe, had finished a big day's work.

But it's being taken seriously in this city which built the Lake Washington floating bridge and where the world's longest floating span, the Hood Canal Bridge, is just miles away.

One design for a wood stadium envisions a clear span of 840 feet reaching 250 feet in height at its apex — compared with 642 feet and 206 feet for the Astrodome.

King County voters last fall pulled the "yes" lever on a proposition to build a $40 million multi-purpose domed stadium. When finished, it will house the Seattle Pilots of the American League, who now play their baseball in refurbished Sicks' Stadium with a seating capacity of 25,000.

Pro football has been making overtures, and a pro football team also would use the stadium when finished.

The forest products industry quickly got into the act with proposals for a wood stadium as a unique symbol for the city.

What about fire?

Glad you asked that question, say the forest men. Meet James R. Turnbull, executive vice president of the American Plywood Association.

"Under the intense heat of a fire," says Turnbull, "a metal supporting beam will soften and collapse, long before a wood structural beam designed to carry the same load will fall."

He points to the disastrous example of Chicago's McCormack Place fire in 1967 when a so-called "non-combustible" structure, largely framed in steel, collapsed in the intense heat generated by the fire.

"We can construct not only a safe, but the safest structure for public occupancy," says Turnbull.

Nine-Fight Card in L.B. Saturday

Nine bouts will be staged as Harbor Boxing Gym puts on its third amateur card Saturday night at Long Beach Auditorium.

Heavyweights Sam Wilson and Sherman Olmstead, and Rick Harris vs. Joe Gillmore, will headline the card which will also include 118-pounders Frankie Santillon vs. Florentino Ramirez, and lightweights Bobby Shaw vs. Steve Orchard.

Five other bouts will be completed during the week from the boxers who now are competing in the National AAU Tournament in San Diego.

Compton, Verbum Fives Set for Honors

Members of the championship Compton High and Verbum Dei High basketball teams will be honored Monday, noon, April 28, when the city and chamber of commerce team up to host a luncheon at the Masonic Lodge, 357 East Palmer. "Compton Honors Its Champions" will be the program theme.

Jerry Tarkanian, head basketball coach at Cal State Long Beach, will be the guest speaker.

Frazier 'Risks' Six-State Title

HOUSTON (AP) — Dave Zyglewicz's biggest boxing purse has been $5,000 but he steps up to the big-time Tuesday night when he attempts to win Joe Frazier's portion of the world heavyweight championship.

Frazier is recognized as champion in five states, plus Mexico and Argentina. Since Texas is sanctioning the bout as a title fight, six states actually recognize the Philadelphian as champion.

Both men ended their heavy training by indicating the bout will not go the scheduled 15 rounds.

"The fight won't go more than 10 rounds," Zyglewicz said.

Frazier hasn't made a prediction, but his comments indicate he believes he can end it quickly.

"I get paid the same amount if I do it in the first round or the 15th," he said. "I'll do my best to end it as quickly as possible."

Frazier, the 1964 Olympic heavyweight champion, is undefeated in 22 bouts and has scored 19 knockouts. He will be a heavy favorite in this third defense of his portion of the title.

Zyglewicz, a native of Watervliet, N.Y., has never been knocked off his feet in posting a 28-1 record.

"I'm going to knock him down," Frazier said.

Zyglewicz says, "It's not really the money. It's the title. That's why I started boxing. That's what I've dreamed of since I was a kid."

DONNELL CULPEPPER

Crowley Cancels Season Opening

By LEW ALLISON,
Fishin' Around for Donnell Culpepper

For the first time in the 24 years that the Los Angeles Recreation and Park Commission has operated Crowley Lake, its opening has been canceled. The effects of the storms of the worst winter in the High Sierra in the past 60 years have not yet been erased.

There is nine inches of solid ice on the lake, topped by 18 inches of snow. Nighttime temperatures are far below freezing, and the thaw will be slow.

Lloyd Beavers, manager of the lake since 1945, who checked temperature Thursday morning at a cold 19, said that the ice along shore is thin in spots and there is extreme danger for shore fishermen. So the lake will remain closed to all through the week, and the tentative new schedule of a May 10 opening is an extremely doubtful one. It is much more likely that there will be no fishing at Crowley before May 17.

All those who have reservations for May 3 will be left to try to find room later. The lake is booked up solid for the 10th, and these people, too, may have to look for new dates, but that decision will come later. All money for May 3 reservations is being refunded, which is no small headache for the park officials.

Last year, 15,134 fishermen were on hand for Crowley's opening, and caught more than 57,000 trout. This year the trout are laughing, while a lot of fishermen and those who manage the lake are gnashing their teeth.

YOU'VE GOT A little time, listen to a story of a place where the skies are bright blue, the afternoon sun is hot, and the lake has a coastline that rivals Southern California's in size and beauty.

Jim Rose, Long Beach electrical contractor who also operates Rose Bellanca plane service, is just back from Lake Powell, that big, beautiful body of water that backs up from Glen Canyon dam on the Arizona-Utah border. Jim flew into the landing strip at Bullfrog Marina, 100 miles up river from Glen Canyon, while some of his family and others of an expedition of five campers with boats and camping gear drove in through Las Vegas, St. George Utah, and Zion Park and Paige, Ariz. — a distance of about 500 miles.

The fishing, according to Rose, is fabulous. He claimed a limit of bass within an hour and a half with a little black plug. He and his family left the camper and boat there to fly back, soon.

From down river, too; the reports are good. Bass fishing has been excellent at Mead, and good at Havasu. A letter from Fred E. Gordon, Havasu Lake, who is a retired Long Beach city employee, lists 22-pound and 13-pound striped bass caught at Blankenship Bend, and a catch of 20 catfish weighed in at Havasu Landing at 93 pounds.

FOR THE FISHERMAN in Long Beach waters, the picture is improving. The Marina is producing with a variety of fish, many of them choice sport and table varieties. There is an abundance of corbina in the warm water of the San Gabriel, while Cerritos channel, above Marine Stadium, also is highly productive. A number of yellowfin croaker are being checked in, along with the first of the spotfin croakers. Bonito are swarming up the river in such numbers it's hard to find room on the bridge to toss in a lure.

The Marina also abounds in good buttermouth perch. Crawdads are probably your best bait, but worms and mussels are producing well. The Appian Way beach is a productive spot.

Sims bait shop, in the center of this activity, has weighed in a number of 3½-pound corbina and larger.

Surf fishermen are finding some corbina at the foot of Cherry Avenue and along the Belmont Shore peninsula, as well as farther below along Sunset and Bolsa Chica beaches. Barred perch are hitting well, too.

Newport Bay also reports fair activity, with the beginning of a run of spotfin croaker. Fishermen at the pavilion are getting a lot of small halibut.

Halibut, bonito and perch are also rewarding the pier fishermen in good numbers.

20 Water Whippets Enter Marathon

It will take only three hours to run, but champion boat racer Dick Freek of Fullerton is convinced next weekend's (April 26-27) first World Invitational Marathon at Long Beach Marine Stadium will be one of the most grueling in the sport's history.

"We're used to running on 2½-mile or longer courses," explained the winner of the recent Parker, Ariz., nine-hour Enduro. "At Long Beach it will be much more tiring. It's just a five-eighths mile straightaway, and we'll be in the turns almost all the time."

Freek, a 12-year veteran of the national marathon classic circuit, will co-drive with Brent Berge of Mesa, Ariz., in an 18-foot Aqua Craft belonging to Chuck Tuttle of Riverside and powered by a 427-cu.-in. Ford engine. The boat is entered in Sunday's inboard event of the World Invitational, with outboards scheduled for a three-hour scramble Saturday.

Pre-race estimates are that the winning boats will cover about 200 miles on their way to victory, which works out to average speeds of more than 60 miles per hour over 160 laps . . . or 320 turns!

"The race is going to be pretty rough," Freek anticipates. "Everyone will have to be heads-up all the time. The most we've ever raced at Marine Stadium (in circle race events) is eight boats, but in this one there'll be 20 boats."

Freek, a member of the Board of Directors of the Marathon Boat Racers Assn., which, along with the American Power Boat Assn., has sanctioned the event, explained that the marathon is being staged on an invitational basis for reasons of safety.

"We didn't want guys who didn't know what they were doing. Most of the guys will be pretty careful," he said.

Starts will be at 1 p.m., both days, LeMans style to provide running room around the first turn, the juncture expected to be the most dangerous.

"We've got plenty of fuel. We'll try to play it consistent. We have plenty of speed in the boat, and we'll be getting signals from the beach."

Freek, an auto repair garage owner when he's not jockeying a hefty, high-powered boat around a lake or stadium, anticipates that the wisest tactic at Long Beach will be to take the turns wide.

"That way, you can keep your RPM's up," he explained, "which will make it a little easier on the engine. Of course, the stadium isn't all that big (approximately 100 yards across), so it could be pretty hairy."

Tickets are priced at $3 (youngsters under 12, $1) on sale now at all Computicket outlets or at the stadium race moorings.

Angel Highlights Film Available

The new look of the California Angels and the American League is featured in the 1968 Angels Highlights film, available for public showing beginning April 24.

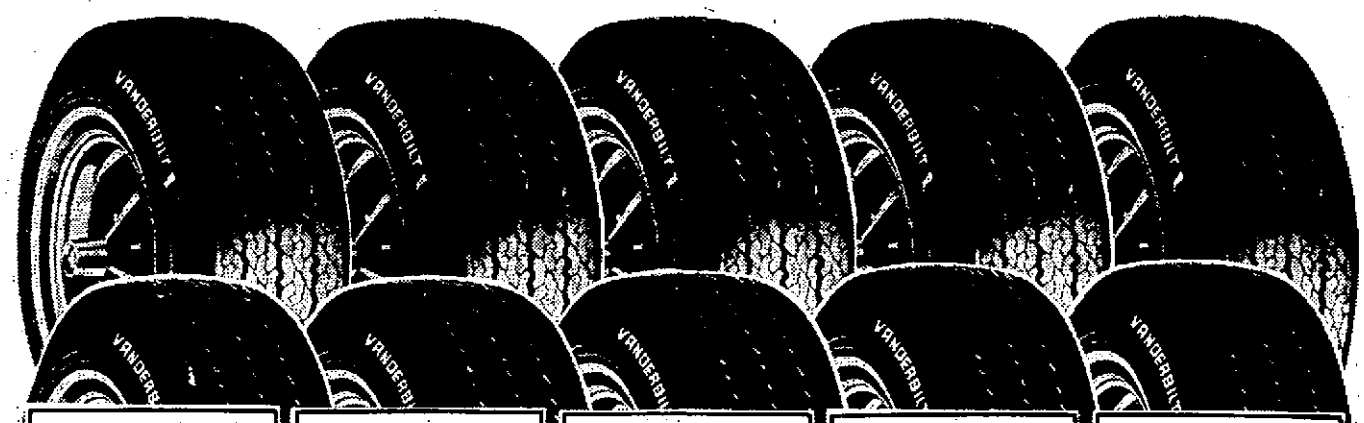

Acrobatics by batters ducking brushback pitches, a humorous scene involving Cleveland catcher Joe Azcue and umpire Emmet Ashford, fancy fielding plays and historic hits make the 25-minute film ideal entertainment for youth groups, churches, clubs and civic organizations.

The Angels will have 12 prints in circulation beginning April 24, and bookings may be made free of charge by telephoning (714) 633-2000.

For the first time in the 24 years that the Los Angeles Recreation and Park Commission has operated Crowley Lake, its opening has been canceled. The effects of the storms of the worst winter in the High Sierra in the past 60 years have not yet been erased.

There is nine inches of solid ice on the lake, topped by 18 inches of snow. Nighttime temperatures are far below freezing, and the thaw will be slow.

Lloyd Beavers, manager of the lake since 1945, who checked temperature Thursday morning at a cold 19, said that the ice along shore is thin in spots and there is extreme danger for shore fishermen. So the lake will remain closed to all through the week, and the tentative new schedule of a May 10 opening is an extremely doubtful one. It is much more likely that there will be no fishing at Crowley before May 17.

All those who have reservations for May 3 will be left to try to find room later. The lake is booked up solid for the 10th, and these people, too, may have to look for new dates, but that decision will come later. All money for May 3 reservations is being refunded, which is no small headache for the park officials.

Last year, 15,134 fishermen were on hand for Crowley's opening, and caught more than 57,000 trout. This year the trout are laughing, while a lot of fishermen and those who manage the lake are gnashing their teeth.

YOU'VE GOT A little time, listen to a story of a place where the skies are bright blue, the afternoon sun is hot, and the lake has a coastline that rivals Southern California's in size and beauty.

Jim Rose, Long Beach electrical contractor who also operates Rose Bellanca plane service, is just back from Lake Powell, that big, beautiful body of water that backs up from Glen Canyon dam on the Arizona-Utah border. Jim flew into the landing strip at Bullfrog Marina, 100 miles up river from Glen Canyon, while some of his family and others of an expedition of five campers with boats and camping gear drove in through Las Vegas, St. George Utah, and Zion Park and Paige, Ariz. — a distance of about 500 miles.

The fishing, according to Rose, is fabulous. He claimed a limit of bass within an hour and a half with a little black plug. He and his family left the camper and boat there to fly back, soon.

From down river, too, the reports are good. Bass fishing has been excellent at Mead, and good at Havasu. A letter from Fred E. Gordon, Havasu Lake, who is a retired Long Beach city employee, lists 22-pound and 13-pound striped bass caught at Blankenship Bend, and a catch of 20 catfish weighed in at Havasu Landing at 93 pounds.

FOR THE FISHERMAN in Long Beach waters, the picture is improving. The Marina is producing with a variety of fish, many of them choice sport and table varieties. There is an abundance of corbina in the warm water of the San Gabriel, while Cerritos channel, above Marine Stadium, also is highly productive. A number of yellowfin croaker are being checked in, along with the first of the spotfin croakers. Bonito are swarming up the river in such numbers it's hard to find room on the bridge to toss in a lure.

The Marina also abounds in good buttermouth perch. Crawdads are probably your best bait, but worms and mussels are producing well. The Appian Way beach is a productive spot.

Sims bait shop, in the center of this activity, has weighed in a number of 3½-pound corbina and larger.

Surf fishermen are finding some corbina at the foot of Cherry Avenue and along the Belmont Shore peninsula, as well as farther below along Sunset and Bolsa Chica beaches. Barred perch are hitting well, too.

Newport Bay also reports fair activity, with the beginning of a run of spotfin croaker. Fishermen at the pavilion are getting a lot of small halibut.

Halibut, bonito and perch are also rewarding the pier fishermen in good numbers.

Angel Highlights Film Available

The new look of the California Angels and the American League is featured in the 1968 Angels Highlights film, available for public showing beginning April 24.

Acrobatics by batters ducking brushback pitches, a humorous scene involving Cleveland catcher Joe Azcue and umpire Emmet Ashford, fancy fielding plays and historic hits make the 25-minute film ideal entertainment for youth groups, churches, clubs and civic organizations.

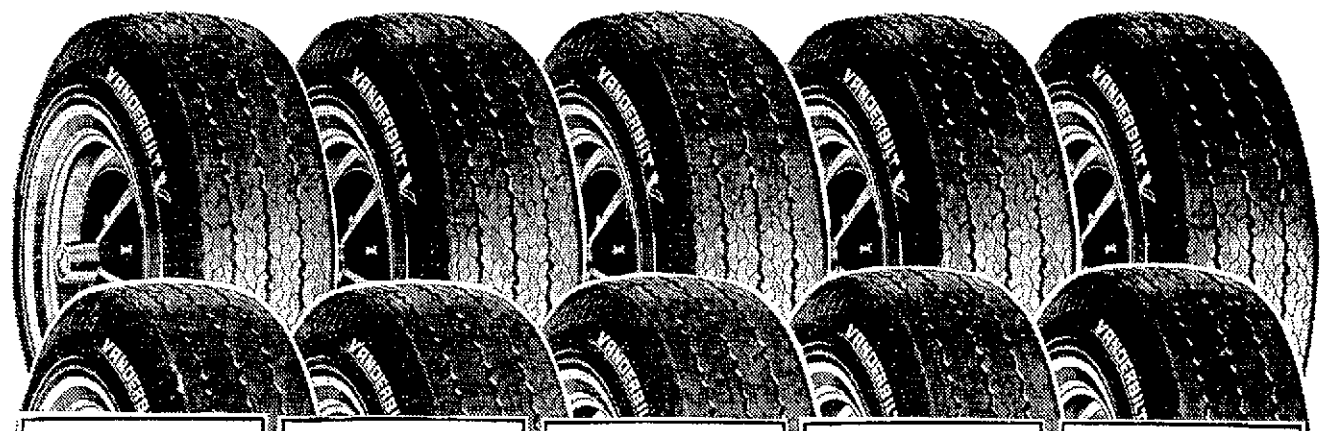

The Angels will have 12 prints in circulation beginning April 24, and bookings may be made free of charge by telephoning (714) 633-2000.

Pinjara Mows 'Em Down in Hollywood Park Feature

Pinjara, an equine lawnmower from the powerful Charlie Whittingham barn, clipped a half-dozen rivals in the second running of the $79,400 Century Handicap Saturday at Hollywood Park as he established a course record of 2:13 1/5 for the mile and three furlongs.

Bill Shoemaker, collecting the 5,802nd victory of his brilliant career, guided the Howard B. Keck turf specialist to his impressive 3¼-length triumph over Argentine ace Niarkos while Pink Pigeon, lone filly in the lineup, held on despite her pacemaking chores, to take third.

Favored by the large weekend gathering of 51,032, Pinjara returned $6, $3.60 and $2.60.

A bay son of Amblorix, Pinjara, with his spectacular victory Saturday, stamped himself as one of the leaders in the battle for national turf honors. The victory was the 10th in 13 tries over the grass during his brief career and two of his losses have been by a nose.

The task became easier for Pinjara and Shoemaker when trainer J. B. Sonnier declared his Santa Anita Handicap winner Nodouble and his entrymate Gene's Dancer, and the field was reduced to seven when Poliglolo became a late afternoon scratch. But it didn't prove too difficult, once the gates opened in the turf marathon.

Pinjara's victory climaxed the first triple of the season for Shoemaker and gave him his 109th Hollypark stakes win. And the threebagger boosted him into a tie for the riding lead with Alvaro Pineda, who doubled, each having nine wins.

Shoe reached the 5,800 mark when he took the opener with Dos Dozenas. It was coincidental that he should reach the milestone with a Ralph West-trained thoroughbred. It was West who boosted Shoe aboard his first Hollypark Stakes winner, Mrs. Fuddy, in the 1950 Hollywood Oaks.

Shoe is now 230 victories behind John Longden's all-time record of 6,032.

Dos Dozenas returned $9.80 and started the largest daily double of the meeting, completed when Kickoff Man won the second — returned $112 to win. The 3-5 double paid $510.20.

KICKOFF MAN was collected at the break, raced in a favorable position early, moved up to join the leaders midway on the backstretch from the outside, lost ground into the stretch, responded to pressure leaving the furlong pole and forced ahead under a hand ride late when the rider lost his whip to win in full stride. BASHFUL BOB broke alertly, shared the early lead, offered his best bid in the upper stretch to get a brief lead against the winner but could not hold. MERITORIOUS set most of the pace, saved ground and weakened in the final furlong.
SCRATCHED — Jack Taylor, Orbit Ruler, Grania Amigo, Aracadia Park.
DAILY DOUBLE (3-5) PAID $510.20.

WILD ACE dropped back at the start, lagged to the far turn, rallied from the outside and outraced THE DANCER through the final furlong while the rider lost his whip. THE DANCER dropped in along the rail early, saved ground to mid stretch, swung out to go around the leaders, rallied steadily under strong handling but was not good enough. WRIT'EM PHIL raced close up early, saved ground along the rail, was eased off the rail in the upper stretch to get the lead and slackened late.
Scratched—El Chaparral, Ivalo, Lazy Win, Vestura.

Dike Wins Last Test for Derby

Combined News Services

Claiborne Stable's Dike cut loose with a sensational stretch run at Aqueduct Saturday to win the 45th running of the $110,900 Wood Memorial by a nose and loom as a solid contender for the May 3 running of the Kentucky Derby.

Racing far back in the field of eight 3-year-olds until he reached the final turn, Dike launched a terrific burst of speed in the stretch that slowly and steadily moved him closer and closer to the leaders. The colt finally flashed to the front in the very last stride.

Al Hattab was second in New York's final prep race for Kentucky Derby candidates with Reviewer third, only a neck farther back as the three horses charged across the finish line almost abreast.

The track was sloppy but Dike finished the 1⅛ miles in 1:49⅗ under 126 pounds and paid $7.60, $3.80 and $2.20 across the board for his third successive win.

Penny Ann Early, 25-year-old jockette who was refused a chance to Ride at Churchill Downs last year, rode favored Royal Fillet to a spectacular 4½-length victory in the $10,000 all-female Lady Godiva States at Suffolk Downs.

Rainy weather, which muddied the track for Suffolk's opening day program, held attendance to 18,000.

Heavy morning rains forced the Riggs Handicap from the grass course to Pimlico's main track, but the $29,200 fixture proved nonetheless exciting as less than a half length separated the first four finishers, with 21-1 shot Critic's Award gaining an upset victory.

Critic's Award paid $44.20, $14.80 and $7.20. Crack Ruler returned $7.60 and $5 while A Latin Spin paid $4.80.

Jockeys Craig Perret and Eddie Maple monopolized the program at Gulfstream Park but both finished out of the money in the $15,000 Green Valley Handicap as Spartanburg won the near two-mile grass race in a three-horse photo.

The winner, ridden by Robert Gaffglione, ran the distance—48 feet less than two miles—in 3:24 and paid $11.20, $7 and $4. Disloque, a 40-1 shot, paid $34.20 and $10.40. Needles Stitch paid $3.20.

Perret and Maple both won four races, with Maple also finishing second three times.

Boxing Figures to Honor Ramos on April 29

A host of boxing figures will be in attendance April 29 to honor world lightweight champion Mando Ramos at Long Beach Leadership Development's second annual awards banquet in the Elks Club.

Among those who will be at the head table are heavyweights Jerry Quarry, Scrap Iron Johnson, Andy (Kid) Heilman and Joey Orbillo; welterweight Hedgemon Lewis; former featherweight champion Raul Rojas; light-heavyweight Mike Quarry, who opened his pro career Friday night at The Forum, and lightweight Rudolfo Gonzales.

Also on hand will be Mando's co-managers, Jackie McCoy and Lee Prlia.

A social hour will commence activities at 6 p.m., with the awards banquet at 8. Reservations may be secured at Harbo Gym, 1585 Chestnut Ave., or by calling 437-9237.

North Koreans Down U.S. Plane

By DON HASTINGS

An unarmed U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane with 31 men aboard was shot down Monday by a North Korean jet, 90 miles off the coast of that Communist nation. There apparently were no survivors.

Intelligence-gathering flights in the area were suspended, but on Friday, President Nixon announced that he had ordered them resumed — with armed protection. He did not indicate what the protection would be, but Pentagon sources said later that a Navy task force, including three aircraft carriers and the battleship New Jersey, was being assembled. The presence of the carriers would greatly augment the number of aircraft immediately available from Air Force bases in South Korea.

THE NATION

FOUR U.S. AQUANAUTS Thursday night emerged from an undersea habitat off St. John, in the Virgin Islands, where they had lived and worked for 60 days. Ed Clifton, Rick Waller, Conrad Mahnken and John Van Derwalker performed chores inside and outside the chamber.

THE FIRST HUMAN TO SET FOOT on the moon will be civilian Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong, commander of the Apollo 11 mission, it was announced by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. After landing the spider-like lunar craft, Armstrong will be first out of the hatch. He will be followed a few minutes later by his copilot, Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin, Jr.

THE MOST ADVANCED WEATHER SATELLITE yet developed, Nimbus 3, was placed in polar orbit from Vandenberg Air Force Base Monday and promptly began sending back photographs of the earth's cloud cover.

TWO TRANSPORTATION STRIKES were averted last week. Representatives of the nation's railroads and the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen reached agreement after 28 hours of nonstop bargaining to head off a walkout by 10,000 signalmen that threatened to paralyze rail traffic. Tentative agreement also was reached between negotiators for Pan American World Airways and the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union.

THE FIRST QUARTERLY REPORT of 1969 on the Gross National Product — market value of all the nation's goods and services — was released by the Department of Commerce last week. It indicated there has been no letup in economic inflation. The GNP rose $16 billion during the first quarter, almost matching the $16.4-billion increase of the final quarter of 1968.

THE LOWEST DRAFT CALL of 1969 was asked by the Pentagon Wednesday. The Selective Service System was requested to call up 25,900 men in June, 23,900 for the Army and 2,000 for the Marine Corps.

THE WEST

After 15 weeks of jury selection, testimony and arguments, the Los Angeles trial of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan ended Thursday when the seven-man, five-woman jury found him guilty of first-degree murder for the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. The jury also found him guilty of five counts of assault to commit murder, charges stemming from the wounding of five Kennedy followers the night the senator was shot down in the Ambassador Hotel.

The sometimes fiery Jordanian immigrant took the verdict calmly.

Sirhan's penalty, death in the gas chamber or life imprisonment, will be decided by the same jury this week.

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THE HISTORY of the Academy Awards, there was a tie in the voting for the best film actress Oscar. Katharine Hepburn became a record three-time winner for her role in "The Lion in Winter," and Barbra Streisand won for her appearance in "Funny Girl," her first motion picture. Best actor honors went to Cliff Robertson for "Charly." Jack Albertson, an old-time vaudevilian, won the best supporting actor award for "The Subject was Roses," and Ruth Gordon took best supporting actress honors for "Rosemary's Baby." Academy members voted "Oliver!" best picture of the year.

A TEMPORARY INCREASE of 1 cent per gallon in the California gasoline tax was approved by the Legislature Wednesday to provide funds to repair flood-damaged roads and highways. Gov. Ronald Reagan indicated he will sign the measure which will raise the state tax to 8 cents per gallon for a maximum of six months, beginning June 1.

THE WORLD

The beleaguered Czechoslovakian leader who tried to liberalize the Communist system and wound up with Soviet troops and tanks in his nation's capital was ousted as chief of the Czech Communist Party Thursday. Alexander Dubcek stepped down at a meeting of the party's Central Committee, which named pro-Moscow Gustav Husak to succeed him.

In the shuffling of party organization and assignments, Dubcek, probably the most popular man in the country, was given a relatively minor post, but one that will keep him in the public eye.

CAMBODIA RESUMED DIPLOMATIC relations with the United States last week. Prince Norodom Sihanouk, chief of state, who severed ties with the U.S. in May 1965 after accusing American forces in Vietnam of violating Cambodia's border, said President Nixon had pledged to respect the Southeast Asia nation's sovereignty.

ARAB-ISRAELI SKIRMISHES flared through the week on several fronts, including along the Suez Canal, where artillery duels posed a peril to ships stranded in the closed waterway. Leaders of five major Palestinian Arab resistance organizations Tuesday rejected a six-point Mideast peace plan advanced by Jordan's King Hussein while on a visit to the United States.

THE CHINESE COMMUNIST PARTY officially proclaimed Defense Minister Lin Piao successor to Chairman Mao Tse-tung. It was not clear whether Lin, 62, will take over the top post in the world's largest nation immediately or wait until the 75-year-old Mao retires or dies. Premier Chou En-lai was named next in succession.

Pinjara Mows 'Em Down in Hollywood Park Feature

Pinjara, an equine lawnmower from the powerful Charlie Whittingham barn, clipped a half-dozen rivals in the second running of the $79,400 Century Handicap Saturday at Hollywood Park as he established a course record of 2:13 1/5 for the mile and three furlongs.

Bill Shoemaker, collecting the 5,802nd victory of his brilliant career, guided the Howard B. Keck turf specialist to his impressive 3¼-length triumph over Argentine ace Niarkos while Pink Pigeon, lone filly in the lineup, held on despite her pacemaking chores, to take third.

Favored by the large weekend gathering of 51,032, Pinjara returned $6, $3.60 and $2.60.

A bay son of Ambiorix, Pinjara, with his spectacular victory Saturday, stamped himself as one of the leaders in the battle for national turf honors. The victory was the 10th in 13 tries over the grass during his brief career and two of his losses have been by a nose.

The task became easier for Pinjara and Shoemaker when trainer J. B. Sonnier declared his Santa Anita Handicap winner Nodouble and his entrymate Gene's Dancer, and the field was reduced to seven when Poligloto became a late afternoon scratch. But it didn't prove too difficult, once the gates opened in the turf marathon.

Pinjara's victory climaxed the first triple of the season for Shoemaker and gave him his 109th Hollypark stakes win. And the threebagger boosted him into a tie for the riding lead with Alvaro Pineda, who doubled, each having nine wins.

Shoe reached the 5,800 mark when he took the opener with Dos Dozenas. It was coincidental that he should reach the milestone with a Ralph West-trained thoroughbred. It was West who boosted Shoe aboard his first Hollypark Stakes winner, Mrs. Fuddy, in the 1950 Hollywood Oaks.

Shoe is now 230 victories behind John Longden's all-time record of 6,032.

Dos Dozenas returned $9.80 and started the largest daily double of the meeting, completed when Kickoff Man won the second — returned $112 to win. The 3-5 double paid $510.20.

Boxing Figures to Honor Ramos on April 29

A host of boxing figures will be in attendance April 29 to honor world lightweight champion Mando Ramos at Long Beach Leadership Development's second annual awards banquet in the Elks Club.

Among those who will be at the head table are heavyweights Jerry Quarry, Scrap Iron Johnson, Andy (Kid) Heilman and Joey Orbillo; welterweight Hedgemon Lewis; former featherweight champion Raul Rojas; light-heavyweight Mike Quarry, who opened his pro career Friday night at The Forum, and lightweight Rudolfo Gonzales.

Also on hand will be Mando's co-managers, Jackie McCoy and Lee Prlia.

A social hour will commence activities at 6 p.m., with the awards banquet at 8. Reservations may be secured at Harbo Gym, 1585 Chestnut Ave., or by calling 437-9237.

Dike Wins Last Test for Derby

Combined News Services

Claiborne Stable's Dike cut loose with a sensational stretch run at Aqueduct Saturday to win the 45th running of the $110,900 Wood Memorial by a nose and loom as a solid contender for the May 3 running of the Kentucky Derby.

Racing far back in the field of eight 3-year-olds until he reached the final turn, Dike launched a terrific burst of speed in the stretch that slowly and steadily moved him closer and closer to the leaders. The colt finally flashed to the front in the very last stride.

Al Hattab was second in New York's final prep race for Kentucky Derby candidates with Reviewer third, only a neck farther back as the three horses charged across the finish line almost abreast.

The track was sloppy but Dike finished the 1⅛ miles in 1:49⅗ under 126 pounds and paid $7.60, $3.80 and $2.20 across the board for his third successive win.

Penny Ann Early, 25-year-old jockette who was refused a chance to Ride at Churchill Downs last year, rode favored Royal Fillet to a spectacular 4½-length victory in the $10,000 all-female Lady Godiva States at Suffolk Downs.

Rainy weather, which muddied the track for Suffolk's opening day program, held attendance to 18,000.

Heavy morning rains forced the Riggs Handicap from the grass course to Pimlico's main track, but the $29,200 fixture proved nonetheless exciting as less than a half length separated the first four finishers, with 21-1 shot Critic's Award gaining an upset victory.

Critic's Award paid $44.20, $14.80 and $7.20. Crack Ruler returned $7.60 and $5 while A Latin Spin paid $4.80.

Jockeys Craig Perret and Eddie Maple monopolized the program at Gulfstream Park but both finished out of the money in the $15,000 Green Valley Handicap as Spartanburg won the near two-mile grass race in a three-horse photo.

The winner, ridden by Robert Gaffglione, ran the distance—48 feet less than two miles—in 3:24 and paid $11.20, $7 and $4. Disloque, a 40-1 shot, paid $34.20 and $10.40. Needles Stitch paid $3.20.

Perret and Maple both won four races, with Maple also finishing second three times.

North Koreans Down U.S. Plane

By DON HASTINGS

An unarmed U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane with 31 men aboard was shot down Monday by a North Korean jet, 90 miles off the coast of that Communist nation. There apparently were no survivors.

Intelligence-gathering flights in the area were suspended, but on Friday, President Nixon announced that he had ordered them resumed — with armed protection. He did not indicate what the protection would be, but Pentagon sources said later that a Navy task force, including three aircraft carriers and the battleship New Jersey, was being assembled. The presence of the carriers would greatly augment the number of aircraft immediately available from Air Force bases in South Korea.

THE NATION

FOUR U.S. AQUANAUTS Thursday night emerged from an undersea habitat off St. John, in the Virgin Islands, where they had lived and worked for 60 days. Ed Clifton, Rick Waller, Conrad Mahnken and John Van Derwalker performed chores inside and outside the chamber.

THE FIRST HUMAN TO SET FOOT on the moon will be civilian Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong, commander of the Apollo 11 mission, it was announced by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. After landing the spider-like lunar craft, Armstrong will be first out of the hatch. He will be followed a few minutes later by his copilot, Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin, Jr.

* * * *

THE MOST ADVANCED WEATHER SATELLITE yet developed, Nimbus 3, was placed in polar orbit from Vandenberg Air Force Base Monday and promptly began sending back photographs of the earth's cloud cover.

* * * *

TWO TRANSPORTATION STRIKES were averted last week. Representatives of the nation's railroads and the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen reached agreement after 28 hours of nonstop bargaining to head off a walkout by 10,000 signalmen that threatened to paralyze rail traffic. Tentative agreement also was reached between negotiators for Pan American World Airways and the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union.

* * * *

THE FIRST QUARTERLY REPORT of 1969 on the Gross National Product — market value of all the nation's goods and services — was released by the Department of Commerce last week. It indicated there has been no letup in economic inflation. The GNP rose $16 billion during the first quarter, almost matching the $16.4-billion increase of the final quarter of 1968.

THE LOWEST DRAFT CALL of 1969 was asked by the Pentagon Wednesday. The Selective Service System was requested to call up 25,900 men in June, 23,900 for the Army and 2,000 for the Marine Corps.

THE WEST

After 15 weeks of jury selection, testimony and arguments, the Los Angeles trial of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan ended Thursday when the seven-man, five-woman jury found him guilty of first-degree murder for the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. The jury also found him guilty of five counts of assault to commit murder, charges stemming from the wounding of five Kennedy followers the night the senator was shot down in the Ambassador Hotel.

The sometimes fiery Jordanian immigrant took the verdict calmly.

Sirhan's penalty, death in the gas chamber or life imprisonment, will be decided by the same jury this week.

FOR THE FIRST TIME IN THE HISTORY of the Academy Awards, there was a tie in the voting for the best film actress Oscar. Katharine Hepburn became a record three-time winner for her role in "The Lion in Winter," and Barbra Streisand won for her appearance in "Funny Girl," her first motion picture. Best actor honors went to Cliff Robertson for "Charly." Jack Albertson, an old-time vaudevilian, won the best supporting actor award for "The Subject was Roses," and Ruth Gordon took best supporting actress honors for "Rosemary's Baby." Academy members voted "Oliver!" best picture of the year.

A TEMPORARY INCREASE of 1 cent per gallon in the California gasoline tax was approved by the Legislature Wednesday to provide funds to repair flood-damaged roads and highways. Gov. Ronald Reagan indicated he will sign the measure which will raise the state tax to 8 cents per gallon for a maximum of six months, beginning June 1.

THE WORLD

The beleaguered Czechoslovakian leader who tried to liberalize the Communist system and wound up with Soviet troops and tanks in his nation's capital was ousted as chief of the Czech Communist Party Thursday. Alexander Dubcek stepped down at a meeting of the party's Central Committee, which named pro-Moscow Gustav Husak to succeed him.

In the shuffling of party organization and assignments, Dubcek, probably the most popular man in the country, was given a relatively minor post, but one that will keep him in the public eye.

CAMBODIA RESUMED DIPLOMATIC relations with the United States last week. Prince Norodom Sihanouk, chief of state, who severed ties with the U.S. in May 1965 after accusing American forces in Vietnam of violating Cambodia's border, said President Nixon had pledged to respect the Southeast Asia nation's sovereignty.

ARAB-ISRAELI SKIRMISHES flared through the week on several fronts, including along the Suez Canal, where artillery duels posed a peril to ships stranded in the closed waterway. Leaders of five major Palestinian Arab resistance organizations Tuesday rejected a six-point Mideast peace plan advanced by Jordan's King Hussein while on a visit to the United States.

THE CHINESE COMMUNIST PARTY officially proclaimed Defense Minister Lin Piao successor to Chairman Mao Tse-tung. It was not clear whether Lin, 62, will take over the top post in the world's largest nation immediately or wait until the 75-year-old Mao retires or dies. Premier Chou En-lai was named next in succession.

Everyone's Been Lurid at Least Once in a While—or Else He's Dull

NEW YORK — Glenn Ford thinks we're all entitled to a little luridity in our private lives.

"God knows we all have lurid pasts that we keep secret, and a guy without something lurid in his past would be pretty dull," Glenn said, not at all lurid himself as he sat sipping coffee instead of booze at the cocktail hour, looking very slim in his Royal Yacht Club blazer.

"Have I got a lurid chapter? Well, don't forget, I served 3½ years in the Marine Corps. I've been around," he smiled.

"But I would hope that everybody's private life would be kept private. I don't have to share mine with people. And that's what I have against pornographic movies. They're sharing it. I've never been a voyeur. I've never seen any of these movies where I envied any of the participants."

• • • •

NATURALLY, Glenn did not reveal even a hint of his own lurid chapters.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Jim Mulholland admist his girl friend's not very pretty: "In fact, she's the only one I know who arrives at the beauty parlor in an ambulance.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Somehow sleep always seems much more important in the morning than it did the night before.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Silence is the hardest argument to refute." — Joan Billings.

EARL'S PEARLS: Someone defined slot machines: "A sort of steel trap for catching dumb animals."

Author Lionel Bart sipped a bloody Mary with breakfast in Hollywood. A friend thouth it was too early to drink, and Bart said, "Oh, but it's 5 p.m. in London, and I'm drinking on London time." That's earl, brother.

'Lion' Roars in Long Beach

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Drama Critic

It is Christmas 1183, and the great King Henry II, he whose "warrant runs from the Arctic Ocean to the Pyrenees," is holding court in his favored French castle of Chinon.

Gathered about "The Lion in Winter" — in Forum XI's often brilliant, just-opened mounting of that James Goldman vehicle — is his bitterly divided family:

"THE LION IN WINTER"
By James Goldman
Directed by Kerry Johnson
Set designed by
Glen Ramey and Lee Bradshaw
Cast

King Henry II ..... Thor Nielsen
Alais Capet ..... Jayne Hamil
Prince John, youngest son ..... Vince Trani
Prince Philip, youngest ..... Richard Johnson
Prince Geoffrey, middle Philip Richards
Eleanor of Aquitaine ..... Kathleen Rogart
King Philip of France ..... John Hanson
Friday and Saturday performances through May 24, 8:30 p.m., Morgan Hall, 625 Locust Ave.

Eleanor of Aquitaine, beauteous but estranged wife, bittersweet in her continuing political — and very personal — struggle with the king; their three surviving sons, each seeking to win his aging father's crown by means fair or foul:

Richard the Lionhearted — is a far cry from Howard Pyle's idealized "champion of Christendom" in this characterization of an ignoble, would-be regicide and royal sodomite. The playwright's totally Freudian interpretation — which sober history fails to completely bear out — is of a man with a strong "silver cord" link to Eleanor.

Prince Geoffrey — middle, disinherited son, embittered by being pushed from the royal trough, seeking to play both sides against the middle in a developing power play.

Finally, John, youngest son and father's favorite, full to overflowing with fears, treachery and avarice. This is a vividly realistic picture of a little man who, beyond the play, is to become villain in the Robin Hood legends and unwilling signer of Magna Carta.

Concluding a listing of those in Henry's "Christmas Court" are Alais Capet, 23, sister to the French king and Henry's mistress since she was 16; and her brother, Philip Capet, sly, weak schemer and Richard's partner in courtly homosexuality.

A very modern play, despite a historical setting, "Lion" realistically explores the human heart and mind, probing for motives that to this day drive men and women to glory or death.

Forum XI's mounting always gratifies, often rises to brilliance, is not without flaws.

It is, firstly, a beautifully cast play, with the actors smoothly interacting on each other. This is particularly true of Kathleen Rogart, in the queenly role which won an Oscar for Katherine Hepburn, and versatile, talented Thor Neilsen as Henry.

There were, opening night, a few irritating blocking errors that, I'm confident, already have been smoothed away.

Perhaps, paradoxically, the greatest weakness stands as one of the work's major supports. A superb, eye-filling set portraying the battlements of Chinon must be rearranged for each scene, slowing otherwise fast-moving action.

On balance, "The Lion in Winter" must be rated as completely admirable, is highly recommended to anyone with even the smallest liking for fine theater.

Everyone's Been Lurid at Least Once in a While—or Else He's Dull

NEW YORK — Glenn Ford thinks we're all entitled to a little luridity in our private lives.

"God knows we all have lurid pasts that we keep secret, and a guy without something lurid in his past would be pretty dull," Glenn said, not at all lurid himself as he sat sipping coffee insted of booze at the cocktail hour, looking very slim in his Royal Yacht Club blazer.

"Have I got a lurid chapter? Well, don't forget, I served 3½ years in the Marine Corps. I've been around," he smiled.

"But I would hope that everybody's private life would be kept private. I don't have to share mine with people. And that's what I have against pornographic movies. They're sharing it. I've never been a voyeur, I've never seen any of these movies where I envied any of the participants."

* * * *

NATURALLY, Glenn did not reveal sven a hint of his own lurid chapters.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Jim Mulholland admist his girl friend's not very pretty: "In fact, she's the only one I know who arrives at the beauty parlor in an ambulance.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Somehow sleep always seems much more important in the morning than it did the night before.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Silence is the hardest argument to refute." — Joan Billings.

EARL'S PEARLS: Someone defined slot machines: "A sort of steel trap for catching dumb animals."

Author Lionel Bart sipped a bloody Mary with breakfast in Hollywood. A friend thouth it was too early to drink, and Bart said, "Oh, but it's 5 p.m. in London, and I'm drinking on London time." That's earl, brother.

'Lion' Roars in Long Beach

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Drama Critic

It is Christmas 1183, and the great King Henry II, he whose "warrant runs from the Arctic Ocean to the Pyrenees," is holding court in his favored French castle of Chinon.

Gathered about "The Lion in Winter" — in Forum XI's often brilliant, just-opened mounting of that James Goldman vehicle — is his bitterly divided family:

"THE LION IN WINTER"
By James Goldman
Directed by Kerry Johnson
Set designed by
Glen Raney and Lee Bradshaw
Cast

King Henry II ..... Thor Nielsen
Alais Capet ..... Jayne Hamil
Prince John, youngest son ..... Vince Trani
Prince John, youngest ..... Richard Johnson
Prince Geoffrey, middle ..... Philip Richards
Eleanor of Aquitaine ..... Kathleen Rogart
King Philip of France ..... John Hansen
Friday and Saturday performances through May 24, 8:30 p.m., Morgan Hall, 815 Locust Ave.

Eleanor of Aquitaine, beauteous but estranged wife, bittersweet in her continuing political — and very personal — struggle with the king; their three surviving sons, each seeking to win his aging father's crown by means fair or foul:

Richard the Lionhearted — is a far cry from Howard Pyle's idealized "champion of Christendom" in this characterization of an ignoble, would-be regicide and royal sodomite. The playwright's totally Freudian interpretation — which sober history fails to completely bear out — is of a man with a strong "silver cord" link to Eleanor.

Prince Geoffrey — middle, disinherited son, embittered by being pushed from the royal trough, seeking to play both sides against the middle in a developing power play.

Finally, John, youngest son and father's favorite, full to overflowing with fears, treachery and avarice. This is a vividly realistic picture of a little man who, beyond the play, is to become villain in the Robin Hood legends and unwilling signer of Magna Carta.

Concluding a listing of those in Henry's "Christmas Court" are Alais Capet, 23, sister to the French king and Henry's mistress since she was 16; and her brother, Philip Capet, sly, weak schemer and Richard's partner in courtly homosexuality.

A very modern play, despite a historical setting, "Lion" realistically explores the human heart and mind, probing for motives that to this day drive men and women to glory or death.

Forum XI's mounting always gratifies, often rises to brilliance, is not without flaws.

It is, firstly, a beautifully cast play, with the actors smoothly interacting on each other. This is particularly true of Kathleen Rogart, in the queenly role which won an Oscar for Katherine Hepburn, and versatile, talented Thor Neilsen as Henry.

There were, opening night, a few irritating blocking errors that, I'm confident, already have been smoothed away.

Perhaps, paradoxically, the greatest weakness stands as one of the work's major supports. A superb, eye-filling set portraying the battlements of Chinon must be rearranged for each scene, slowing otherwise fast-moving action.

On balance, "The Lion in Winter" must be rated as completely admirable, is highly recommended to anyone with even the smallest liking for fine theater.

FROM LINDE DIVISION'S PLANT . . . Pours Argon Used In Electronics

UNION CARBIDE AT WILMINGTON

Linde Products, Payroll Swell Area's Economy

AIR SEPARATION COLUMNS . . . Graceful

Special to The Progress Section

Successful plant start-up, expansion of argon production and an outstanding safety record were among the past year's highlights at the huge air separation plant operated in Wilmington by Union Carbide's Linde Division.

Plant manager Jack R. Morgan said that the facility generated over $3 million to the local economy in 1968 in terms of payroll, state and local taxes, and purchase of materials, supplies, and services needed to operate the plant.

Production of oxygen, nitrogen and argon — the plant's main products — got under way in December 1967.

First delivery of gaseous oxygen to the nearby Texaco refinery via pipeline was made in mid-December, and in March the plant started distribution of liquid oxygen and nitrogen to customers throughout Southern California.

* * * *

MORGAN said the plant's argon capacity was increased in October 1968 with the addition of a second argon refinery.

This expansion brings the Wilmington plant's argon capacity to 20 million cubic feet per month.

Major uses for argon are in the electronics industry, where it is used as an inert atmosphere for manufacturing of devices, the welding industry, where it is used as a shielding gas to assure weld purity, and in the production of exotic metals such as titanium and zirconium.

During 1968, Union Carbide announced development of a new process to make stainless steel using argon.

* * * *

EMPLOYES of the Union Carbide plant completed their first year of operation without a lost-time accident, according to Morgan.

Linde Division plants in the Pacific region, Wilmington among them, have logged several million man hours without a lost-time injury.

Looking to the future, Morgan anticipates a high level of production during 1969.

The plant, which has a capacity of 1,800 tons per day, operated at full liquid capacity during 1968, and about 50 per cent of gaseous capacity.

Morgan expects the demand for liquid to remain high, and that increasing requirements for pipeline oxygen and nitrogen in the area will boost gaseous production substantially.

* * * *

OXYGEN, nitrogen and argon produced at Wilmington are used in both gaseous and supercold (cryogenic) liquid form by a wide variety of industries including steel production and fabrication, aerospace, chemical processing, electronics, medicine, food processing and food transportation and welding.

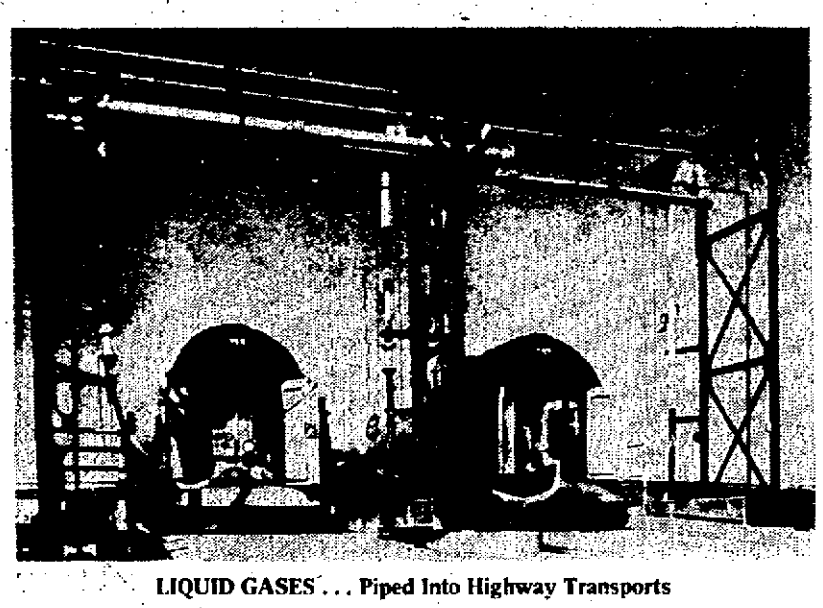

Gaseous oxygen and nitrogen are piped through mile-long pipelines to Texaco's refinery where they are used in the processing of gasoline.

The plant provides the nucleus for a pipeline complex to meet growing needs of chemicals and petrochemicals producers in the Wilmington-Long Beach area.

Distribution of the super - cold liquid products is made by specially-insulated highway transports and huge railroad tankcars.

* * * *

PRODUCTION at Union Carbide's Wilmington plant involves separating atmospheric air through a series of compression and refrigeration steps into its three major compounds in liquid form: oxygen at --297 degrees, argon at --302 degrees and nitrogen at --320 degrees. These cryogenic products are then piped to nearby customers in gaseous form, or pumped into insulated storage containers to await transfer to tankcars or highway transports for delivery to customers.

AL SOLOMON POINTS TO SIGNS

Strong Season Looms for Catalina Island

A strong season, capped by major increases in tourist expenditures, is in the wind for Santa Catalina Island merchants, hotels and recreation attractions, according to Al Solomon, Hotel Catalina owner.

"The new season has brought a noticeable increase in the dollar profits of Catalina's merchants," Solomon stated.

He indicated the increased revenues can be attributed directly to multiple transportation scheduling which involves new airline schedules, the Big White Steamship's reactivation and the new 500-passenger, high-speed turboliner, an aluminum-hulled ship.

DOUBLING OF air flights, the refurbishing of hotel accommodations, the planting of additional shrubbery and flowers throughout the Avalon area, the resurfacing of all streets and the scheduling of a variety of new activities are among the factors that have combined to bolster the new season's economy, according to Solomon.

In addition, harbor facilities have been improved with the completion of the new sheltered harbor. Citing his own business as an example, Solomon said Hotel Catalina tourist trade has picked up considerably over past seasons.

"THE NEW season opened Easter weekend and reservation requests are up 25 per cent over last year at this time," he said.

"To meet the increased demand, requests for accommodations and information, a local number, 534-7761, was established by Hotel Catalina and will remain in service though the entire summer season," Solomon added.

The hotel owner said the announced return of the Big White Steamship, along with the other economic factors, had prompted many businesses to refurbish their facilities. Hotel Catalina's 35 rooms have been completely redecorated.

Newest Oceana Home Units Ready

The new condominium unit of homes is now open for viewing at Oceana in Oceanside — a resort semi-retirement community in North San Diego County, on a mesa at El Camino Real and Mission Road.

According to Morrie Bitker, one of the principals in the Oceanside Land Company, the operative word at Oceana is "active."

"Here at Oceana," Bitker said, "nobody really retires, and only one of the buying couple need be 40 years of age. This is a lower age requirement than many adult communities."

Although residents' children must be at least 16,

COMFORT . . . At Ocana's Units

younger children are permitted to visit in the community.

Residents at Oceana are a community of friends, happy active adults with a broad range of interests," Bitker says. "They represent living proof that life can really begin at 40. Activities shared include full use of a $380,000 central clubhouse with two pools, shuffleboard courts, library, billiard room, card room, lounge and a gigantic auditorium.

"Adjacent to the community is a nine-hole, par-35 golf course."

PROJECTED AS A COMMUNITY of 970 dwellings, Oceana was launched in 1964.

KITCHEN BARS . . . Are Popular

Principals in the Oceanside Land Company building firm are Carl Cutsinger, president; Morrie Bitker and T. E. Pickering, vice presidents, and W. D. Newman, treasurer.

To date, 700 units have been built and are occupied.

Units to follow within the next year will finalize the community.

These include Units 11 and 14 — all condominium type apartments.

Unit 12, also open for viewing at this time offers individual Pau Hana homes, visitors may inspect at the model area will be the final group of homes to be built at the Oceana location.

BUYERS AT OCEANA receive grant deeds and a voting share of stock in Oceana's Community Association, a nonprofit association that administers the common area.

A built-in total exterior maintenance program provides complete professional maintenance and relieves the responsibility for areas exterior of the home.

Oceana is within the incorporated limits of the small coastal city of Oceanside (population 38,000), with its miles of straight, accessible beaches.

It is within easy traveling distance to San Diego, 38 miles to the south, and Los Angeles, 87 miles to the north.

FIVE MODEL HOMES are currently open for viewing, furnished by decorator Toni Blake of Newport Beach.

Prices range from $14,995 in the Pau Hana series to $24,995 for the atrium planned Regency model.

Ten per cent down is required. Jim Davis, exclusive broker for the Land Company, added that more than 47 per cent of all past Oceana buyers have paid all cash for their homes.

Access to Oceana is simple.

Turn east from the San Diego Freeway in Oceanside on Mission Boulevard (Hwy. 76), continue east, following the Mission San Luis Rey signs to El Camino Real.

Turn right on El Camino Real to the top of the hill and Oceana.

Cycle expert still big wheel

By ROBIN PAXTON

You just can't keep a good unicyclist down.

And Joe Mol'e — alias "Loose Nut on wheels" and "Cyclo-maniac"—is, at 80-plus years of age, still loose, and still wheeling around his Westminster home at 9131 Larkspur Drive.

"I fell in love with bikes when I was 14," reminisced the veteran vaudeville unicyclist.

"My only hang-outs were bike shops. They kept me off the street and got me out of the slums. And they still do today."

They also got him into a lifetime of cycling for enthusiastic audiences around the world. He not only worked up his own acts, but built his own one and two-wheeled showstoppers, as well.

BORN IN SICILY "many years ago," a very young Joe Mol'e came to New York with his father, a stone mason, in 1897.

"My father said I'd be a bum if I didn't give up those crazy bicycles. But, instead, I drifted into show business and spent the best years of my life pedaling my way from one stage to another."

Running his fingers through a shock of white hair not unlike Albert Einstein's, the slightly-built gentleman, still well-muscled from years of wheeling pretty stunt girls over his head, smiled as he remembered.

"I was billed as all kinds of things. People in nightclubs used to say, 'Look, there's Einstein,' and I always replied, No, I'm not that complicated. See? I even travel on only one wheel!

"But because of that, I became known as the Professor of Cycles. And Gene Autry called me Professor of Bicychology."

And professor he was — always adding unheard-of innovations to the world of entertainment cycling.

His 1946 act with the Earl Carroll Vanities featured an 18-girl chorus on wheels and was reviewed as "Nifty for eye appeal and precision."

VEHICLES USED by the peripatetic pedaler ranged from a 12-foot high unicycle to a true mini-bike with eight-inch wheels.

The baby bike served as an uproarious finale to the Professor's nightclub act, for he had members of the audience try to maintain their balance — and their composure — while pedalling at ground level. Predictably, they usually lost both.

Mol'e's wheels also managed to roll with ease into movie parts, and he found himself wheeling around such old-time flic favorites as Buster Keaton, Laurel and Hardy, Hank Mann and Mae West. And he doubled for Groucho Marx in a cycling scene in "Big Store."

AS THE CALLS for cycling acts grew fewer and fewer, Mol'e quietly retired his act, but not his enthusiasm for cycles.

"The highlight of my life here will be completion of the Westminster Boys' Club," he beamed. "I've promised to teach those kids to ride, and I'll supply them with the unicycles. That will really be something."

While looking forward to that day, Mol'e directs his energies toward shut-ins in hospitals and convalescent homes. He has developed several unique exercise devices using the pedaling principle and is working on exercisers for wheelchair-bound Vietnam veterans.

He always gets a laugh from the invalids when he dons his now slightly-battered top hat and tuxedo and cycles round the ward pushing a wheelchair.

"I never quit show business, you know. As long as I can build something for a show, or make people laugh, I'm still in the business.

"All the ideas in my head pertain to laughs and amusement. That's the way I live. And that's why I chose to settle in Westminster — a sleepy town, not too busy for a moment of fun."

STILL RIDING HIGH, the "Professor of Cycles" demonstrates his prowess as inventor of unique wheelchair exerciser (above), manufacturer of giant unicycles and teeny bikes (left) and veteran cyclist.

'Symphony in Spain'

Ole for music

The click of castanets and flutter of fans will add charm to the Spanish setting when Long Beach Symphony Guild members and guests gather Saturday night in Lafayette Ballroom for a "Symphony in Spain."

Gem for the traditional ball will be ruby, with the Spanish theme selected in honor of the orchestra's conductor, Alberto Bolet.

Among black tie-clad guests will be Arturo Morales, consul general of Spain, and Senora Morales, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Belucci of Iberia Airlines.

Guests will be entertained by strolling troubadours during the 7 p.m. no-host cocktail hour. Dinner will be served at 8:30 p.m.

James Selover and his orchestra will play for dancing with entertainment by Flamenco dancers promised during intermission.

MRS. ROBERT C. WESTMYER has been named honorary chairman of the gala affair, with Mrs. William Nott as chairman.

Guild members assisting are Mmes. James Worsham, William Dovey and Ray Dromgold, co-chairmen for invitations; Walter Crawford and Orville Cole, music; Herman H. Ridder and George P. Taubman Jr., advisors; Harold Bayer, Ron Hughes and Lloyd Whaley, decorations.

Also Mmes. Clifford O. Menig and Jack Enlow, publicity; Alexander Kadvany and Stanley Weiss, hospitality; Jay Gibson, reservations; Philip Hattery and Mark Day Miner, entertainment; J. Fred McDowell and Lewis C. Goodrich, door awards; J. C. Ward, souvenir program; Jack Binns, ball treasurer.

A highlight of the evening will be announcement of winner of the major door award, a 15-day trip to Spain via Iberia Airlines.

Proceeds from the ball—$30 per couple, with special seating at Jewel Tables for $100 sponsors—will further activities of Long Beach Symphony Orchestra.

Half of Subdivision Homes in $25-$30,000 Range

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Progress Section Editor

Half of the new single-family subdivision homes being offered in the Anaheim-North Orange marketing area are in the $25,000-$30,000 price range, according to a survey by First American Title Insurance Company, Santa Ana.

Houses in that price category represented 49 per cent of those included in the study. Thirteen subdivisions containing 791 houses completed and under construction comprised the sampling.

Dale J. Post, assistant vice president in charge of marketing research for First American, noted that four-bedroom homes were the most popular, representing 57 per cent of the total.

Post pointed out that the Anaheim-North Orange area experienced a surge in residential tract activity this year. In Anaheim alone, 20 single-family unit subdivisions containing 1,134 logs were recorded in 1968, a total surpassed only by the Huntington Beach and Mission Viejo areas.

The overall sales average for the developments surveyed was 1.7 sales per week.

Conventional financing was being used by two-thirds of the developers, although four of the 13 developments offered FHA, VA and conventional financing.

The Anaheim-North Orange Residential Sales Survey is one of a series of marketing studies conducted by First American Title Insurance Company as an aid to builders, developers, lenders and others enaged in real estate activity.

AERONCA, INC., TORRANCE, has joined a team of major Boeing subcontractors — now totaling eight companies in six states — which are slated to share more than $120 million for their part in the construction of two U.S. supersonic transport prototypes.

Aeronca will build the wing trailing edge flaps and flaperons (a combination flap and aileron) for the SST at its Middletown, Ohio, plant. There will be a total of eight flap and flaperon assemblies per airplane, the largest of which is approximately 20 feet long and 9 feet wide.

Previously announced major subcontractors include Aerojet-General Corp., Fullerton, fuselage section; LTV Aerospace Corp., Dallas, fuselage section and forward wing strake; North American Rockwell Corp., Los Angeles, outward wing, wing tip and leading edge flaps; Northrop Corp., Hawthorne, cab and nose sections, and Rohr Corp., Chula Vista, propulsion pods.

FROM THE STANDPOINTS of productivity, efficiency and versatility, about 90 per cent of the machinery and equipment used today in America's huge metalworking industry is technologically and economically obsolete, Theodore W. Black, president of Industrial Press Inc., New York, and editor-in-chief of the firm's "Machinery" magazine, declares.

Any company that wants to survive in the decade ahead, he said, will have to institute a massive and continuing facilities modernization program.

Black addressed an audience of Western Industrial executives and advertising agency officials at a luncheon meeting aboard the cruise ship MV Princess in Los Angeles Harbor. He spoke on the subject, "What's Ahead in the Metalworking Industry: 1969-1979."

SHE THOUGHT SHE HAD seen and done everything in real estate after nine years in California, but a year in Saigon taught her otherwise. She learned there are sides to Vietnamese bargaining that haven't been put in the textbooks — yet.

Mrs. Irene A. Harrison, a Long Beach Real Estate broker, has returned from Vietnam for a month's leave in Long Beach. Mrs. Harrison, formerly with John W. Reed & Associates, North Long Beach, won the local "Salesman of the Month" award for March, 1967.

In Garden Grove, where she lived in its transition from an orange-growing economy to a modern industrial complex, Mrs. Harrison ran her own real estate business with a staff of five.

Mrs. Harrison now works for Uncle Sam as a real estate specialist and she is the only woman in Saigon in that role. Her office handles all contracts concerning Army real estate leasing.

On her first assignment she saved our government a quarter of a million dollars when she renegotiated a substantial rental reduction with a Saigon landlord.

The lessor had a reputation of being hard to deal with, and undoubtedly the shock of dealing with an American woman affected his judgment. A week later he came to her office brandishing the document he had signed and said, "You can't do this to me!"

In addition to the Vietnamese penchant for bargaining, she found the Saigonese are patient. Some negotiations take months and revolve on a subtle distinction that seems insignificant to everyone but the property owner.

Mrs. Harrison said; "Now I understand why the Paris peace talks take so long to reach an impasse so often."

Assistance League fetes provisionals

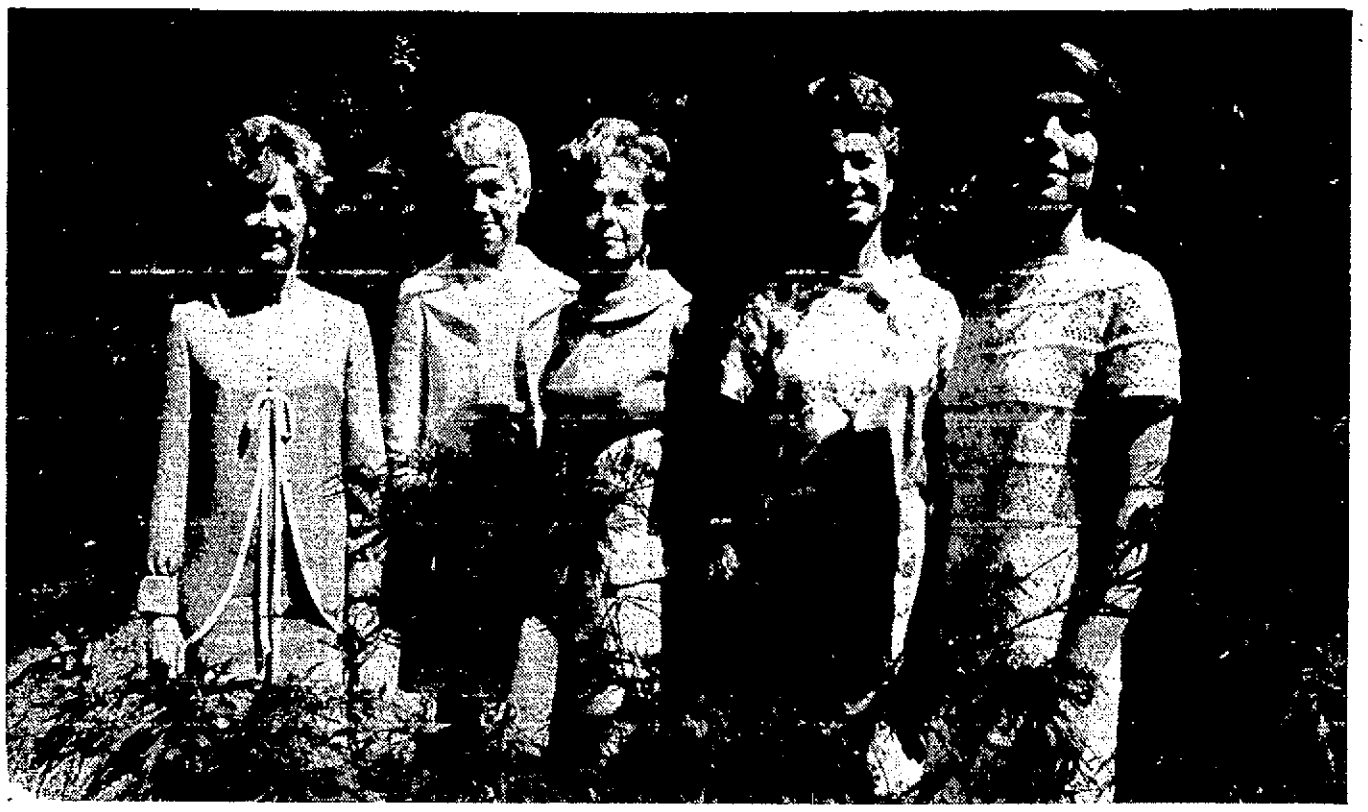

Auspicious beginning of a year's training for active membership in Assistance League of Long Beach and its auxiliary, Las Hermanas, was annual Provisional Tea presented Wednesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Tallichet.

This year a total of 14 women, selected as outstanding members of the community, have been invited to become members of the Long Beach chapter of National Assistance League.

Operating on a $25,000 annual budget, the league is dedicated to serving junior high school girls. In addition to sponsoring Girls' Clubs in eight elementary schools, it conducts tours of the Howard Collection of Oriental Art at League House, 388 Roswell Ave. It also anticipates a facility at Bixby Ranch, Los Alamitos.

Babies, brithdays week's surprises

SNOOPING INTO the refrigerators can ruin surprises — particularly gala 28th birthday dinner surprises for husbands — says Mrs. R. Burr Dilday.

Arrangements were going as planned until day before party when guest of honor discovered mammoth roast in the refrigerator. Immediate reaction was to ask: who, what or how many were coming to dinner and for what? Somehow, he didn't seem to swallow story that brother Decatur had become a big eater, accustomed to downing 20-pound portions of roast at a sitting.

Unsurprised host did show a glimmer of astonishment, however, when he opened wife's present — a car stereo system — and tapes from guests, including Messrs. and Mmes. Monty Navarre, David Ward, John Watkins, Ned Gaylord, Tony Gregory, Robert Ruchto and, of course, brother Decatur and wife.

STOCK MARKET quotations used to roll off the top of his head, but only figures being quoted by broker James K. Dailey these days are '7 pounds, 8 ounces."

In the old days (before Wednesday), he used to calculate high finances faster than a computer, now he's befuddled by the complexities of making baby formula.

There's nary a complaint, though, considering he and wife Karen became parents for the first time with arrival of Erin Hillary at Pacific Hospital.

Equally proud is first-time-a-grandmother Mrs. Jesse Allabough of Palm Desert at the 269 Ginevra Walk home of the Daileys today to welcome her granddaughter. More experienced at such matters is Mrs. Patricia Dailey, now a grandmother-of-14.

Schick's
Southern California's distinctive
Fashion Store

In a world where everthing moves at supersonic speed, there is a tendency to label every change as "progress." This applies to ideas and customs as well as Fashions.

At Schick's during our years of Fashion history, we have tried to preserve the best, emphasizing style — good taste, and tradirionally fine fashions at prices to suit every taste.

Schick's was established over a quarter of a century ago on Pine Avenue; first, in a charming Norman-English building, later, in our present spacious home conveniently located at Pine Avenue and Seventh Street in Greater Downtown Long Beach. Our trained stylists, some who have been with us since our opening, believe in our Fashion credo: "that Schick Look," which means, beautiful, wearable styles that will take you everywhere appropriately attired.

Numbered among our honored "guests" are debs, career and professional women, young matrons, mothers, grandmothers and great-grandmothers from Long Beach and the great South Coast Empire; women who like to shop and be served leisurely, in a complere Fashion Store.
It was our Founder's dream to create just such a shop where you may coordinate your costume with hat, bag, gloves, jewelry and "Beautiful Bryan" stockings, as well as other exciting appurtenances from our delightful Boutique shop. We have gone a step further and brought you what we consider to be one of the outstanding cosmetic lines in the country; Alexandra de Markoff Beauty Aids, created for feminine women who always want to look their "youthful best."

These are just a few of the reasons why our old and new customers love to shop at Schick's. These qualities will never change with us. Some may call it old-fashioned, but we call it Progress.

Cummings Retiring as BBB President, Effective August

E. W. Cummings, president of the Better Business Bureau of South Bay, Harbor and Greater Long Beach, is retiring for health reasons.

He will retain the presidency, however, and act as a BBB consultant until his term expires in August.

Cummings' activity in BBB work goes back to 1945.

During his 10 years with Mytinger & Casselberry where Cummings served as business relations manager from 1950 to 1960, he was elected to serve on the board of directors in 1952 of the BBB.

E. W. CUMMINGS

* * * *

HE served as chairman of the board during 1957. During this period he was elected to serve as a businessman representative on the board of governors of the Association of Better Business Bureaus International which headquarters in New York City.

Resigning from that Board in 1959, Cummings was honored with the President's Award for Outstanding Service — the first time this award had been given.

Cummings resigned from M & C to accept the presidency of the BBB here in January, 1960.

* * * *

CUMMINGS was raised in Minneapolis and attended the University of Minnesota, majoring in business administration. He spent several years in sales work and sales management in the middle west.

After moving to the coast he became interested in Better Business Bureau work, and in 1945 became associated with the local bureau and was named assistant manager and continued with the bureau in that capacity until 1950.

Cummings and his wife Billy will go to the Orient for an extended visit. They will continue to make their permanent home in Long Beach.

Seal Beach B of A Holds Open House

The newest face in Seal Beach was unveiled last week.

Occasion was the open house of Bank of America's Seal Beach branch which culminates three months of redesign and remodeling at 208 Main St.

Open house featured an ordinance display from the Seal Beach Naval Weapons Station as well as pretty girls in the personage of Susan Nails, Miss Seal Beach, 1968-69 and Kathy West, a contestant in this year's Miss Seal Beach contest and sponsored by the local Bank of America branch.

THE $130,000 modernization project included a complete face-lifting of the building's exterior, now designed to conform to the predominant theme for the area — a New England fishing village motif.

The project also included renovating the interior with modern, two windowless teller counters, full carpeting for the officers area and the installation of new furnishings, fixtures and air conditioning system.

IN ADDITION TO Edward Halsey, branch manager, and his staff, numerous civic and community leaders were on hand for the ceremonies and festivities.

Heading the list of dignitaries were Mayor Lloyd Gunmere; John B. Hamilton, vice mayor; Lee Risner, city manager, and Bill Moon, president of the Seal Beach Chamber of Commerce.

Thrifty Drug Scholarship List Grows

A 16-year tradition was continued last week as Thrifty Drug and Discount Stores presented the University of Southern California's School of Pharmacy with a check covering three one-year scholarships.

SECRETARIES WEEK

Gal Fridays set seminars

A series of activities culminating with a day-long educational seminar aboard SS Princess Louise will highlight area activities marking 18th annual Secretaries Week today through Saturday.

Mayor Edwin Wade has officially proclaimed Secretaries Week in Long Beach with Wednesday set aside as Secretaries Day.

"A Time for All Seasons: To Learn, to Understand and to Laugh" is theme of the seminar next Saturday sponsored jointly by Queen Beach, Paragon and Twin Harbor chapters of National Secretaries Association.

Following 9 a.m. registration and breakfast, addresses will be made by W. C. Chambliss, Coast Federal Savings, and Milton Marcus, Los Angeles City Board of Education.

Their topics, respectively, will be "Effective Business Communications" and "Can Education Cure Poverty?"

BOUTIQUE CREATIONS from the Princess Shoppe Lou-Nel will be modeled during luncheon. "Laughter" will be subject of character sketches and impersonations by humorist-actor Edward A. Wright of California State College, Long Beach, Theater Arts Department.

NSA members will make speaking engagements throughout the week to high school and college students pursuing secretarial careers.

Members of Future Secretaries Association at Long Beach City College also will visit chapter members for half-day sessions to observe on-the-job procedures and duties in business offices.

Information and reservations for the seminar may be obtained from Mrs. Dolores Regas, 2000 Park Ave.

Ground Broken for Levitz Furniture Corp. Unit in H.B.

z Furniture Corpo- a nationwide chain rehouse-showrooms, furniture and furnishings, broke d for its 12th unit week at Edginger and Gothard Streets in Huntington Beach, adjacent to the Huntington shopping center.

Attending the groundbreaking ceremony were Leon J. Levitz, president of the corporation; Sidney A. Levitz, division manager for California, and Jack Devlin, of Johnson and Mape Construction Co., general contractors for the project.—All in hard hats.

"The tract contains 13 acres and will have a railroad siding to the building from the Southern Pacific Lines," Levitz said.

"The building will have a total of 245,000 square feet under one roof. It will contain a 75,000 square foot showroom featuring 300 room displays and the remainder will consist of a 120,000 square foot warehouse with 32 foot clear inside height which will be equipped with cantilevered storage racks and automated mechanical handling equipment designed for the company."

* * * *

THERE WILL also be truck shipping and receiving docks to handle 18 trucks simultaenously.

The railroad receiving dock will accommodate 10 box cars. The building will also contain receiving and shipping areas, offices and customer facilities.

"Space is being provided for a regional administrative center. Parking spaces for more than 475 cars is provided," Levitz added.

The building is designed to contain a $3 million inventory. The company sells a wide assortment of nationally advertised brands of home furnishings and plans to advertise in the local and regional advertising media.

The company has eight other units, in six states and has three others under construction, including one in San Bernardino.

"The Huntington Beach unit will employ over 200 people and will be the company's largest to date," Levitz said.

Lombardo's Restaurant to Open in L. B. in June

A restaurant with improvements valued at more than $300,000 is under construction in the nine-story Fidelity Federal Plaza, Long Beach, according to F. P Droesch & Associates, exclusive leasing representatives for the development.

The 6,000-square-foot Lombardo's Restaurant is a joint venture of Leonard Lombardo, former owner of the Embers Restaurant and well known San Gabriel Valley-Long Beach restaurateur, and Loren McCannon, former Long Beach assistant city manager and a property developer.

LOMBARDO described the theme of the new restaurant, created by Food Facilites Equipment & Design, Santa Ana, as "pleasantly Mediterranean." He said Food Facilities had developed an interior featuring used brick, heavy wooden columns, a copper-top bar and gas lights.

"The cocktail and lounge area will be accented by a massive, free-standing fireplace," Lombardo said. Positioned in the center of the restaurant, the fireplace will be visible from all tables and booths. An intimate wine cellar seating 18 persons will provide a private dining area for discriminating patrons.

* * * *

EXTENSIVE continental cuisine will be features on Lombardo's gourmet menu. In addition, steaks, chops and seafood will be offered. Lombardo's Restaurant, scheduled to open in June, will have an over-sized, hand-carved, double-door entrance on Linden Avenue.

The Fidelity Federal Plaza is at 555 E. Ocean Blvd.

Larwin's GVP Title to Tenzer

Michael L. Tenzer has been promoted to the newly created post of group vice president for the Larwin Company, announced Lawrence Weinberg, Larwin Group Companies president.

Tenzer will continue in the post of director of marketing.

The Larwin Group Companies recently announced an agreement with CNA Financial Corporation to merge this summer. CNA is a Chicago-based financial holding company listed on the NYSE.

* * * *

TENZER, 38, joined Larwin in 1963 as vice president and director of marketing.

During his tenure at Larwin, he has established a nationwide reputation as one of the leading marketing men in the country. House & Home Magazine, one of the leading journals in the housing industry, recently presented the coveted Top Performer award to Tenzer for his innovative and dynamic marketing achievements in the housing field.

Community program stars Junior Concert Band

A medley of marches, novelty tunes, classical selections and Broadway show songs will be featured when the Long Beach Junior Concert Band plays for the Community Program in Long Beach Auditorium Monday night.

Marvin Marker will direct the California State Champion Youth Band during the 8 p.m. performance with specialty numbers by the flag corps, majorettes and Markettes Drill Team.

Fred Van Ee will lead the community sing to open the program at 7:30 p.m. with Regenia Beam as accompanist.

Joe Marshall will be the caller and the Tyo Orchestra will provide music.

San Pedro Assisteens to receive recognition

Eight graduating seniors from Las Altas, senior Assisteens of the Assistance League of San Pedro, will be honored Saturday for their many hours of service to the community.

The event will be the annual Recognition Ball in Le Grande Trianon Room of the Beverly Wilshire Hotel with U.S. District Judge Manuel L. Real serving as master of ceremonies.

The girls, wearing white gowns and carrying pink roses, will receive the gold medallions from their fathers.

They are Marion Aileen Euker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Euker of Palos Verdes Estates; Elizabeth Ann Gooder, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Gooder of Rolling Hills Estates; Katharine Suzanne Hayner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hayner of San Pedro; Patricia Louise Liscio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Liscio of Rolling Hills; Christy Jane Manfrass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Manfrass of Palos Verdes Estates; Deborah Pauline Marincovich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Marincovich of San Pedro; Teresa Ann Patt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patt of San Pedro, and Mary Elizabeth Tunney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tunney of Palos Verdes Peninsula.

THE GIRLS have given their time to help Harbor Area philanthropies, including Harbor General Hospital, Homer Toberman Settlement House, Retarded Children's Center, Harlan Shoemaker School and the Assistance League Gift Shop.

In charge of arrangements for the ball is Mrs. Philip Abbott, chairman. Assisting her are Mmes. Edward Hayner, Harold Euker, Robert Patt, William Manfrass and James Ferrero.

Harbor View's 'Somerset' Home for Big-Family Plan

Harbor View Homes' model, the Somerset, is the big-family plan.

This spacious, two-story home has all the wide-open space a large family could want. Take the family room, for example. This 27-foot room provides room enough for game tables, a piano, or whatever you like.

The family room adjoins the large kitchen area where the lady of the house can quickly prepare and serve snacks to guests or a quiet family dinner.

* * * *

"THE Somerset family room is a favorite with many Harbor View Homes guyers," according to Duffie Fryling, sales manager.

"The rest of the Somerset's floor plan provides just as much wide-open space and comfort as you'll see in the family room."

The entry, for instance, is nearly 30 feet long. But its unusual length invites you into the spacious formal living room. The den, just off the family room, can be converted into a sewing room, hobby room, TV room or a fifth bedroom.

There is a large wardrobe closet and bath adjacent to the den.

THE Somerset has three large bedrooms upstairs plus an unusually spacious master suite.

The master suite has a 14-foot balcony over-looking the patio area, and is perfect for private sun-bathing. Each of the four bedrooms offers enough floor space for work desks or bookcases.

Spaciousness is a key word at the Somerset. There's even enough room in the garage for three cars — or two cars and a boat.

Offered are a choice of six floor plans in one and two-story homes, with up to five bedrooms, priced from $27,995 to $38,995. The Somerset is priced at $38,995.

Take the San Diego or Newport Freeway to MacArthur Boulevard off-ramp and go south to Ford Road. Or, take Coast Highway to MacArthur Boulevard and turn north.

SAMPE's Speaker Is W. P. Lear

William P. Lear, internationally-known designer, inventor and engineer, will address a banquet meeting of the Society of Aerospace Material and Process Engineers (SAMPE) Wednesday, April 30, 1969 in the Pacific Ballroom of the Los Angeles Hilton Hotel.

The meeting is a highlight of SAMPE's 15th National Symposium (April 29-May 1) which is expected to attract more than 1,500 persons to meetings and exhibits. It is a major event of SAMPE's 25th anniversary year.

LEAR is best known for his development, manufacture and marketing of the famed Lear Jet business aircraft. He remains chairman of the board, although Lear Jet is now controlled by Gates Rubber Company, Denver.

One of his prime interests now is the development of a practical steam turbine for use in automobiles.

Union Bank Square Has New Leases

Five new leases have been signed and two resident tenants have announced major expansions in Union Bank Square, Orange, according to Gary Clarke, project manager of the $10.5 million multi-tower development.

More than 5,000 square feet of office space is involved in the new lease agreements, representing approximately $200,000 in lease considerations, Clarke reported.

New tenants in the office facility are ComShar Complex, a subsidiary of ComShare Southern, a computer time-sharing company; United Professional Planning, package real estate investments; Sagar, Gamble & Ramirez, attorneys; McCall Associates, executive placement firm; and Bankers Life of Iowa, insurance brokerage office.

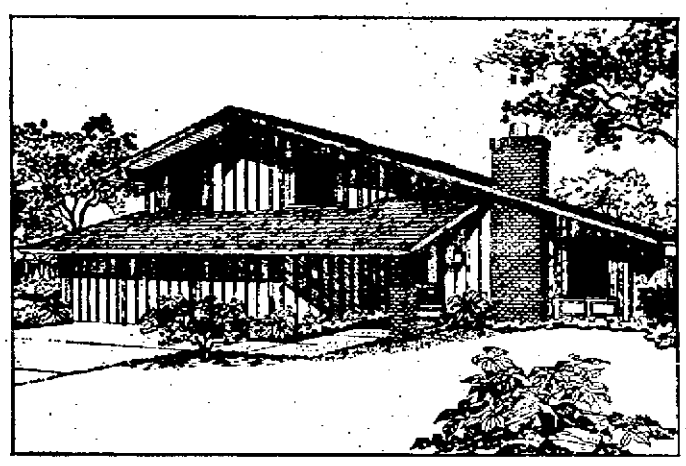

* * * *

PROFESSIONAL Procurement, an executive placement service that leased office space in Union Bank Square in September, 1968, has expanded by 700 square feet which brings its total square footage to approximately 1,800, Clarke stated.

National Environment Corp., a diversified growth firm, has expanded from two to three floors of the high - rise office complex. This gives Natec a total of approximately 37,000 square feet, Clarke said.

WEDS DANIEL BEARD

Katherine Ormes is bride

MRS. DANIEL J. BEARD

In a Saturday evening ceremony in All Saints Episcopal Church Katherine Lee Ormes became the bride of Daniel Joseph Beard.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mrs. Sterling Woodard of Lakewood and Jack R. Ormes of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. George Beard of Corona.

The bride's sister, Jo Anne Ormes, was maid of honor. The bridegroom's sisters, Debbie and Robin Beard, and Michele Kimm were bridesmaids. Flower girl was Annie West.

John Beard was best man. Ushering guests were the bridegroom's cousins, John and Michael Frisbie, and the bride's brother, Lonnie Ormes.

A reception in the Parish Hall honored the newlyweds. They will make their first home in Lakewood. Both graduated from Lakewood High School. The bride is enrolled at Long Beach City College where her husband was a student.

Donna Haselroth is bride of Joseph T. Hornsby II

MRS. J. T. HORNSBY II

St. Bernard's Catholic Church, Bellflower, was the setting for noon nuptials Saturday which united Donna Marie Haselroth and Joseph Thomas Hornsby II.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Haselroth, Bellflower; he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thomas Hornsby Sr., Burke, Va.

For her marriage Miss Haselroth wore an empire gown of organza embroidered with bugle beads and sequins. She was attended by Carol Marie Ryan, maid of honor; Mrs. David Almera, Hanna Martin, Phyllis Degoes and Glenda Hornsby, bridesmaids; and Robin Price and Mary Schessler, flower girls.

Elliott Weinberg served as best man. Richard Dickerson, Michael Weinberg, Donald Haselroth and Daniel Hornsby seated the 300 guests.

Following a reception in the church parish hall, the newly married couple left for a honeymoon in Coronado. After April 26 they will reside in Oxnard.

An alumna of Mayfair High School and Cerritos College, the bride was president of Sinawik. She also was recipient of two Golden Falcon Awards at Cerritos and was named outstanding woman of the year by Altrusa Club of Downey.

Her husband is a graduate of Frank Lloyd Wright School of Architecture, having attended the school's branches at Spring Green, Wis., Scottsdale, Ariz., and in Switzerland.

HEAR to hold dinner-dance at Ports o' Call

Ports O' Call Restaurant in San Pedro will be setting Saturday for the sixth annual dinner-dance of the Parents of HEAR (Hearing Education through Auditory Research).

The dinner-dance will begin with a social hour at 7 p.m. Dinner will be served at 8 p.m.

The Parents of HEAR represent nearly every community in Southern California and share HEAR Foundation's goal of training children to listen, to learn and to speak.

Among area residents participating are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Copeland of San Pedro, Mrs. Marjory Hesketh and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pfeifer of Long Beach and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Koolmees of Artesia.

MRS. ROBERT SCOTT

Scott and Allen say vows

During ceremonies at First Congregational Church, Barbara Jean Allen became the bride of Robert Lee Scott, son of Mrs. Lay Scott of Pauma Valley, and the late Mr. Scott. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Allen, 3026 Oregon Ave.

Attired in a gown of peau-de-soie with appliques of Chantilly lace, the bride was attended by Mrs. Robert Thompson, matron of honor, and Ann Lindgren, Arthur D. Allen stood as best man for his brother. Gary Bentley seated guests.

The new Mrs. Scott is a graduate of Poly High School and California State College, Long Beach. Her husband is an alumnus of Fallbrook High and California State College, San Diego.

Following a champagne reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Lindgren, 5511 Las Lomas, the bride's sister and brother-in-law, the couple departed on a honeymoon trip to the Caribbean.

They will make their first home in Long Beach.

Winning contract

by Howard Schenken and Richard L. Frey

Here are some ticklish situations where the hands are borderline for game. North-South are vulnerable and you have to decide whether the statements made are true or not.

Score 10 points for each correct answer. 70 or more is excellent.

1. North ♡1 — 3♡ | East Pass — Pass | South 1♠ — ? | West 2♣

South holds: ♠K9763 ♡- ◇KJ952 ♣Q83

(a) North's bid of three hearts is forcing. (b) If South now bids four diamonds, North may take this as a slam try. (c) On the whole it will be advisable to pass, for fear of a misfit.

2. South 1♠ — ? | West 2♡ | North 3♣ | East Pass

South holds: ♠AK10854 ♡Q632 ◇Q ♣KQ

(a) North may hold eight h.c.p. or more. (b) South's heart holding is inadequate for a bid of three notrump. (c) If South decides to rebid his spades, he should bid three of that suit.

3. North 1♡ — 2♠ | East Pass — Pass | South 1N.T. — ? | West Pass

South holds: ♠J93 ♡1076 ◇QJ87 ♣KJ6

(a) North's sequence of bidding indicates 5-5 in the major suits. (b) South is faced now with a close choice of several calls. (c) On balance the best bid is probably three hearts.

ANSWERS

1. (a) Not true. Opener's jump rebid in his own suit is not forcing. (b) True. A bid of four diamonds by South would create an ambiguous situation which is best avoided. North might think that South was showing the diamond ace, with hearts agreed as trump. (c) True. A bid of four diamonds would be a pure gamble. One more murmur and the axe may fall.

2. (a) Not true. Eight h.c.p. are not sufficient for a free bid by North in this situation. Even if West had not entered the auction, a bid of two clubs by North would have suggested 10 h.c.p. (b) True. West will hold at least a strong five-card heart suit and South's holding does not provide sufficient protection. (c) Not true. A jump to four spades will be better, for the combined values should add up to game and North could conceivably pass a bid of three spades.

3. (a) Not true. This sequence indicates very definitely that North has more cards in hearts than in spades, either 5-4 or 6-5. (b) True. This is a very tough problem. A case can be made for bidding either three or four hearts, or two or three notrump. (c) True. Our personal view is that South should support North's suit, and should incline towards caution because most of his strength is in the minor suits, where it may be wasted.

NATURAL WOOD, DECORATIVE MASONRY . . . Liberally Used In Pacesetter Homes

Pacesetter Homes Introduces Larger Model

A spacious new model, ideal for large families with teenagers and college-age members, will be introduced in a new fourth unit of 62 homes at Pacesetter Cypress, John Klug, Pacesetter Homes president, has announced.

Construction has started on the increment, which will bring the total number of Cypress homes to 243.

Ready for occupancy May 1, the new homes will offer three models ranging in price from $28,950 to $33,450 and in size from 1,462 to 2,050 square feet with three and four bedrooms.

* * * *

THE NEW large family model has 2,050 square feet — four bedrooms, three baths, a family room, a formal dining room and a three-car garage.

Its large master bedroom features a compartmented bath, and its panoramic-view kitchen has an open breakfast area.

Completely decorated models of all three plans are on display at 10429 Rexford Court near the corner of Cerritos Avenue and Valley View Street, Cypress.

* * * *

QUALITY Pacesetter design features are utilized in all three. These include step-down living rooms, cathedral ceilings with exposed beams, designer fireplaces, master bedrooms with private dressing and bath areas, formal double-door entryways and extra-wide lots.

Designed to fulfill the needs of a young family, the Stonebriar is one of four new plans available in the total - environment community's 62-unit addition.

The hub of the three-bedroom and two-bath Stonebriar plan are three rooms — the kitchen, family room, and dining room. The three rooms open into one another, allowing mother a sweeping view of her youngsters' indoor activities while she prepares meals or performs her household chores.

THE KITCHEN itself has a patio view through a generous window area extending around almost three quarters of the room, and providing a full view of outdoor play areas.

The kitchen and dining room are separated by a natural-wood breakfast bar. Visible to both rooms is the family-room designer fireplace and cathedral - height ceiling with open beams.

Key personnel coordinating sales at Cypress include Walter Scott, sales manager for the Pacesetter project, and Pat Patterson, his associate.

FHA, VA and conventional terms are available. The development is located between the Santa Ana and San diego Freeways on Valley View.

'New Look' Accomplished at Lucky Discount Market

Business as usual has been going on at the Lucky Discount Supermarket, 6255 E. Second St., Long Beach, while construction and major remodeling has been underway.

The new look incorporates complete re-merchandising and fixturization, that will greatly increase the variety of merchandise throughout the store.

The new interior design by Kenngott-Brossmer Color Studio is in the "yachting" theme and will compliment the area.

* * * *

THE store has been completely re-fixturized using all the newest innovations.

An example is the new multideck air curtain frozen food and ice cream cases, allowing the customer to choose from a larger variety and offer easier accessibility while shopping.

The check-out areas feature high speed handling counters that are designed to shorten the customer's time that is normally spent in line, according to Lou Gloyne, manager.

Carl Weise Takes Job at Aeronca

Carl A. Weise of San Pedro, well-known designer of aircraft power plant intallations, has joined Aeronca, Inc. as technical director of engine power plant programs, it was announced by Roy J. Benecchi, president of Aeronca's Aerospace Group, Los Angeles.

Weise will be responsible for the design, engineering, development and testing of Aeronca's power plant installation projects — in itself a new area of expansion for Aeronca.

* * * *

WITH a background of over 30 years in power plant installation projects, Weise will increase Aeronca's technical capabilities as it expands its aerospace product activities into the field of power plant structures.

Weise went to Aeronca from McDonnell Douglas Corporation where he was design manager of power plants with responsibility for all versions of the DC-7, DC-7C and DC-8. He was closely associated with many other DC series power plant installations including the DC-9 and DC-10 as well as earlier models.

Aeronca Buys Light Products

NEW YORK — (BW) — Aeronca, Inc., Torrance, has announced it has reached agreement in principle for acquisition of the Light Products Dvision of Powell-Duffryn, Ltd., of England.

The division is a manufacturer and distributor of environmental control equipment and is being acquired for an undisclosed amount of Aeronca common stock.

RESORT-RETIREMENT CENTER

Sun City Soon to Boast Two 18-Hole Golf Links

Sun City, the Del E. Webb resort-retirement community 22 miles south of Riverside on U.S. 395, has become the only Southern California community with two golf courses — two blocks apart.

Joe Aubin, project manager, said Sun City's second course, an 18-hole executive-type course with 11 three-par holes and seven four-par holes, is planted and should be ready for play by summer, relieving the pressuere on the 7,000-yard 18-hole championship course.

* * * *

AUBIN said the selection of fairway homes has already started. "Some buyers," he said, "are taking advantage of purchasing fairway homes under our price protection plan even though they aren't yet retired."

He said the Webb preplanned retirement program permits buyers, 50 years of age or older, to purchase homes at a price guaranteed for one year or until they retire and occupy the dwellings.

Air-conditioned homes at Sun City, with a population of 6,300, are from $19,790 to $31,790, with several optional items.

One of the largest resort-retirement communities in the United States, smog-free Sun City has over 70 social, civic, hobby, travel and service organizations; swimming, shuffleboard, lawn bowling, and arts and crafts shops, Aubin said.

* * * *

A LARGE percentage of the Sun City residents are enthusiastic golfers, Aubin said, and they play golf for as little as 39 cents per round on an annual basis.

Recent rains, which severely damaged several Riverside County golf courses, were not harmful to the two Sun City courses, he said.

"At Sun City, we spent a million dollars for flood control. This system was engineered to handle a 100-year flood.

"We had absolutely no damage to the golf courses or property. It only made the lawns and fairways grow greener."

IDS to Launch May Sales Campaign

Kick-off meeting to launch the annual May sales campaign for Investors Diversified Services, Inc. (IDS), will be held Saturday at the S. S. Princess Louise on Terminal Island, according to Ernst W. Schmidt, divisional sales manager for IDS in Long Beach and host for the meeting.

Over 150 participants — sales representatives and wives — from the Long Beach, South Bay and Riverside divisional sales offices will attend.

Guests at the Long Beach meeting will include Grady Clark, former IDS president, and William H. Whorf, president of Investors Syndicate Life Insurance and Annuity Company, a subsidiary company of IDS.

COUPLES REPEAT VOWS

Now, they're on wedding trips

Clark-McLaren

Hawaii is the honeymoon destination of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kent Clark (nee Suzanne Marie McLaren) who were married in an evening ceremony Friday in St. Cyprian Catholic Church.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mrs. John McLaren of Lakewood and the late Mr. McLaren, and Mrs. D. H. Clark of Norman, Okla., and the late Mr. Clark.

During the ceremony the bride wore a formal gown of silk peau de soie re-embroidered with seed pearls and accented with touches of Alencon lace and a detachable train.

Christine Mulvey was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mmes. Benjamin Hunt, Gary Victorson, Leland Massad and Thomas O'Neil.

The bridegroom's brother-in-law, Leland Massad, was best man. Ushering guests were Benjamin Hunt, Robert Sneed, Frank Kelly, Gary Stewart and Fred Wilbur.

A reception at Long Beach Elks Club honored the newlyweds. They will reside in St. Louis, Mo.

Radcliff-Chastain

A reception in Puccini's Restaurant followed the wedding ceremony of Cheryl Lee Chastain and Victor Robert Radcliff Saturday in North Long Beach Methodist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Billie D. Chastain, 121 E. Gordon St., and Mrs. Harold Snyder of Wilmington and Dale Radcliff of Bellvue, Wash.

During the ceremony the bride wore a rose patterned gown of Chantilly lace accented with a princess front panel and cascading ruffles on the side-skirt extending into a chapel length train.

In the bride's entourage were Barbara Jean Richmond, maid of honor, Diana Beckering, Beverly Sorenson, Linda Crawford and the bridegroom's sister, Susan Radcliff, Jeanette Oliello was flower girl.

Richard Gerardi was best man. Ushering guests were Michael Larraway, Steve Roach, the bride's brother, Bill Chastain, James Bee and the bridegroom's brother, Michael Radcliff. Rodney Beckering was ring bearer.

Following a honeymoon trip to San Diego the couple will live in El Paso, Tex., until the bridegroom completes his service with the U.S. Army.

Lambe-Hawkins

Lakewood High School graduates, Leslie Kay Hawkins and Thomas James Lambe, were united in marriage Saturday in St. Pancratius Church.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle A. Hawkins, 4747 Premiere Ave., wore a Chantilly lace gown designed with sabrina neckline and a tiered bouffant skirt of scalloped lace cascading to a brush-length train.

Patricia Kreger was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jena Johnson, Laura Lambe, Donna Lambe and Donna Todd. Cynthia Todd was flower girl.

Troy Young was best man for the son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Lambe of Lakewood. Ushers were Philip Kelly, Dan Garcia, Lawrence Sarantha and Gary Leikness.

Following a honeymoon trip to San Diego the couple will live in Long Beach.

Davis-Hempel

First Congregational Church was setting Saturday for an exchange of wedding vows by Ruth C. Hempel and Stephen C. Davis.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Hempel of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mr. and Mrs. Clement Davis, 3530 Olive Ave.

The bride wore a crepe gown and a floor-length veil trimmed in Venice lace. In the bride's entourage were Linda Monsen, maid of honor, and Sandra Westerfield.

Lanny Bill was best man. The bridegroom's brother, Russell Davis, and Charles P. Nelson ushered guests.

A reception in the church dining hall followed the ceremony.

After a honeymoon trip to Southern California resort areas the couple will live in Long Beach. The new Mrs. Davis is a graduate of Arizona State University. The bridegroom graduated from Polytechnic High School and attended California State College at Long Beach.

GARDEN GROVE RESIDENT

Waer Named to High Macmillan Post

Roy W. Waer of Garden Grove, a native Californian who "grew up in oil," has been appointed executive vice president of the Macmillan Ring-Free Oil Company, Inc.

Announcement by President John H. Shaheen said Waer's responsibilities will be divided between the Signal Hill and Eldorado, Ark., refineries.

Waer joined Macmillan in 1959 as manager of the Signal Hill refinery, following posts in which he gained wide experience in refinery and marine operations and marketing.

ROY W. WAER

THE FAMILY roots in "black gold" go back much further because Roy Waer's 35 years in the business coupled with those of his father, total 78 years.

The span for the father, Frank Waer, now retired, totaled 43 years.

It was in 1919 that Frank Waer drilled the first well in the Huntington Beach oil field.

* * * *

ROY'S CAREER began, in effect, when he earned his own way through Santa Ana Junior College, while working for oil companies.

Roy, who resides at 12861 Garden Grove Blvd. with his wife — a son and daughter are both now married — also is president of Southern California Refining Co. and Pacific Coast manager of Shaheen Natural Resources, Inc.

Home Investment Co. Buys Paramount Studio Lot

A Long Beach firm, Home Investment Company, has bought the former Paramount Cahuenga movie studio from Gulf & Western, parent company of Paramount Pictures Corp., for $2,500,000.

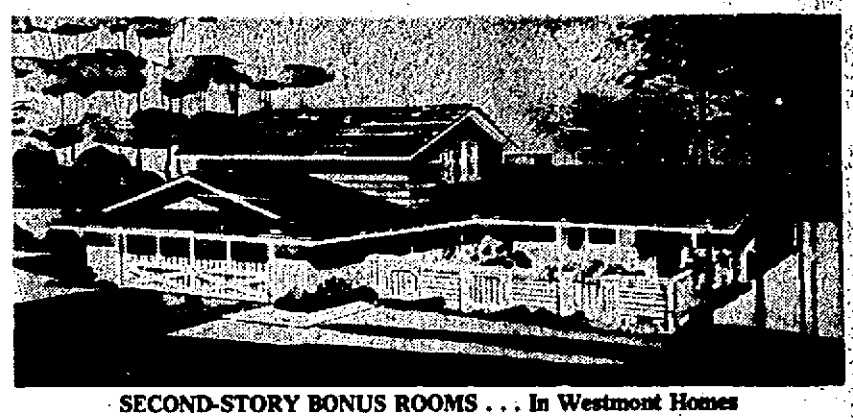

The transaction was arranged by Coldwell, Banker & Co., realtors.

Included in the sale are nine sound stages and related office and production facilities on 4.8 acres fronting Cahuenga Boulevard in Hollywood. The property is also bounded by Willoughby and Waring Avenues and Lillian Way.

* * * *

PARAMOUNT acquired the Cahuenga, Gower and Culver City studios when Gulf & Western bought Desilu Studios in 1957 for approximately $17 million.

Purchase of the Cahuenga studio was approved by the U.S. Department of Justice when Home Investment agreed to terms of a consent decree which stipulated the buyer must continue to use the facilities in production of television and movie films.

1966 Prices Effective at Holstein's Westmont Homes

"Prices will be rolled back to 1966" is the theme today at George M. Holstein and Sons' Westmont community in Fountain Valley where the final 15 homes in the big development will be offered at U.S. Government apprasials of three years ago.

"The homes must be sold quickly and the buyer will get the savings," a spokesman for the pioneer home building firm explained.

Prices will start at $27,900 with both FHA and Veteran terms available. Features include wall to wall carpet, landscaping.

The Westmont model and sales office is located on Bushard just north of Warner Avenue and west of Brookhurst. From Long Beach the site is just off the San Diego Freeway's Warner off-ramp in Fountain Valley.

Homes by Wm. Lyon

A new home is only as good as the people who build it. William Lyon established his company's leadership reputation on this philosophy. Sixty percent of the firm's home sales are made by the personal recommendation of present Wm. Lyon homeowners to friends, relatives and co-workers (twice the national industry referral average). The basis of this strong endorsement is founded on a variety of reasons. Value, space and extras only a national building company can provide at a lower price. Appealing floor plans. Prime growth locations. Award-winning designs. Re-sale appreciation. Name-brand products. The people at Wm. Lyon homes are a team of experts who guarantee their product. That's why they're known among homeowners as PEOPLE WHO BUILD FOR PEOPLE.

Mike Douglas is closer than my husband

By ERMA BOMBECK

A sociologist said recently that housewives live their sex lives vicariously through movie and television idols. Can you imagine what an effect a statement like this had on women?

Literally thousands of them rushed to their Funk and Wagnalls to look up the word "vicarious," hoping it was an improvement.

To save you the trip, vicarious describes a substitute for something else. Do we then substitute the men on the silver screen and the 21-inch tube for "old hats and horns" sitting there in his undershirt each evening, nursing a warm beer? You bet your sweet bird we do.

Personally, I adore soap opera heroes. For years I had a thing with Stu Bergman on "Love of Life."

Stu sold cars when he had a mind to but mostly he sat around and talked to his wife. For eight years they just sat around drinking coffee and talking about murder trials, divorces, miscarriages and infidelity among friends. I like that.

Stu put a little fun in my washdays and I loved him for that. Then one day I took a good look at Stu and said aloud, "We've got to stop seeing each other. You're never going to leave Marj and besides, you're too old for me."

SO I SWITCHED channels and immediately latched on to Dr. Bob Hughes on "As The World Turns."

Dr. Bob had just botched a big one in surgery, Lisa was leaving him and taking their son with her and very frankly I felt sorry for him. There was something quite boyish about him (probably the fact that he is in his early 20's) that brought out the Den Mother in me.

The real darlings of the utility room group though are the hosts of the daytime talk and variety shows.

One woman told me the reason was simple: "I feel closer to Mike Douglas than my own husband, the primary reason being I see more of Mike Douglas than I do my own husband.

"Mike is with me an hour and a half five days a week. He never calls and says, 'I have to work late' or 'Eat without me. I'm going to stop off for a haircut.' He never cancels out his afternoon with me to work on his boat in the garage. Mike cares about me."

ANOTHER woman offered, "Steve Allen makes me feel like Dr. Wernher Von Braun. It doesn't matter that I haven't read a book since 'God's Little Acre.' He introduces me to all of his big, important friends and makes me feel like a part of the group."

"Merv Griffin has a little of the old nick in him that my husband used to have before he started to fall asleep during the six o'clock news."

Whatever the reason, it is interesting to see by the ratings who turns on housewives and whom the housewives turn off.

Art Linkletter has it. Bob Barker has it. Joe Garagiola has it. I was surprised to see that Dick Cavett didn't make it because he lacked appeal with the homemakers. I thought he had it.

But then, at my age, I think Pinky Lee has it!

THE ROBINSONS . . . Now At Lafayette

Calblasco President, Wife Like Lafayette 'New Home'

George E. Robinson is a man who believes in being close to his work.

He and his wife, Lorene, decided to move into the convenient downtown Lafayette Condominiums shortly after his firm, Calblasco, Inc., of Long Beach, was awarded the major contract to provide all exterior surface preparation and prime coating on the Queen Mary in the Long Beach harbor.

Robinson is president of the firm and feels that he should be readily available to visit the job site at a moment's notice.

* * * *

ROBINSON says he particularly enjoys the excellent security provided by the Lafayette.

"We now have the luxury of taking weekend trips spontaneously without worrying about papers piling up on our doorstep or possible burglary of our home. We always feel secure.

"And besides, there's no yardwork."

Lafayette owner Robert Campbell said several luxurious condominium residences from $11,900 are still available.

An open house is scheduled today with refreshments and a complete sales staff on hand from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Campbell said.

Escrow Association Speaker to Be John Kennedy

Television and radio performer John Milton Kennedy, whose activities include representing Southern California Edison Company as a speaker, will address the Long Beach Escrow Association at a dinner meeting May 14 at Alfred's Restaurant, 700 E. 45th St.

Titling his talk, "P.R. — The Invisible Sell," Kennedy will trace the growth of one of the nation's fastest-growing professions, public relations — illustrating his points with humorous anecdotes drawn from the experience of Edison men in their dealings with the public.

A TRANS-ROBLES CORPORATION DEVELOPMENT

Growing 50% in one year presents a slight problem.

The problem of growing 50% the next year. But for us, that problem hasn't been one. We grew 50% in 1968. And that was right on top of a 50% net gain the year before.

Not bad for most companies. But being part of the successful Transamerica Corporation, growth is part of our plan. Growth makes us work harder and more professionally. Growth helps us attract better people and give better service.

It's a vicious circle. Success breeding success. But being a kid from a competitive family, we're not about to stop.

Subtle masterworks of Japan

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Editor

Arts

JAPANESE PRINT OF 17TH CENTURY

For two years, Dr. Harold P. Stern, assistant director of the Freer Gallery of Art, Washington, D.C., examined Japanese prints of the 17th to the mid-19th centuries to chose 163 exceptional examples for "Master Prints of Japan, Ukiyo-e Hanga."

The show opened this week at the UCLA Dickson Art Center where it will remain until May 25. Because the prints are extremely fragile and may be damaged during shipment, the exhibit will be shown only at the UCLA galleries, unlike other of the university's exhibitions which have toured extensively.

Motivation for the show was UCLA's acquisition for the Grunwald Foundation of 500 outstanding Japanese prints from the collection of the late Frank Lloyd Wright. Some of the prints on display come from great collections in the United States — 47 are loaned by the Metropolitan Museum alone.

The Ukiyo-e, or "floating world" — school of Japan produced woodblock prints which are ranked as the most subtle masterpieces of this art. Meant for the average man rather than the nobility or intellectuals, they depict simple Japanese pleasures including wine, women, song and theater. The term "hanga" means "print."

Dr. Stern has written an extensively illustrated and annotated 324-page book to accompany the exhibit. This reference book contains 163 reproductions, 127 of them in color, documenting every print. Printed in Japan, it will be published in both soft cover and hardback and will be available at bookstores as well as at the UCLA galleries.

In addition, a 12-color lithographic poster printed by Mourlot in Paris reproduces one of the most beautiful prints, Choki's "Sunrise on New Year's Day," from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Grabhorn. It is available only at the UCLA galleries.

Admission charge for the general public is $1. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, 1 to 5 p.m. Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sundays. Guided tours are conducted weekdays at 1 p.m.; special groups tours may be arranged Mondays through Fridays by phoning in advance.

ANOTHER FORM OF ART — designs for costumes for the Ballets Russes of Serge Diaghilev — will be on display through May 4 at Los Angeles County Museum of Art, 5905 Wilshire Blvd.

The collection was purchased for the museum with funds provided by the Museum Costume Council.

William Jones, museum curator of the exhibit, says this area of fine art is little understood by the public. Diaghilev employed painters to create sketches and, in many cases to finish the details. The result was great art. Original designs by Matisse, Bakst, Gontcharova, Soudeikine and Delaunay; and three sketches, including one by Matisse, make up the collection.

Diaghilev, one of the greatest impresarios in history, brought together some of the most brilliant creative artists duing the golden age of the ballet from 1909 to 1929. His star Nijinsky became a legend; scores by Stravinsky, Milhaud, Auric, Rimsky-Korsakov, Ravel and Debussy were first performed by Ballets Russes. Picasso, Derain, Gris, di Chirico, Rouault and Braque were among artists commissioned to design costumes and scenery.

One of his artists, Alexandre Benois, said of Diaghilev, "His specialty — will power. When he began to will, things began to happen, to shape themselves and to exist."

Diaghilev created 67 ballets before his death in 1929. His will was catalyst for a creative revolution.

PAINTINGS in various media by Mrs. Pat Holtz are on display through April at Aetna Savings Art Gallery, 2211 Bellflower Blvd.

The artist is a graduate of the University of Colorado and is a juried member of Long Beach Art Association.

VERNON KERR, resident artist of Laguna Beach for more than 10 years, has his final Southland exhibit at Buffums' La Habra. He is moving to Couer d'Alene, Idaho. More than 50 of his seascapes, landscapes, florals and still lifes will hang in the La Habra store until April 30.

THE LATE former President Dwight David Eisenhower bequeathed a portrait of himself painted by Andrew Wyeth to Los Angeles County Museum of Art. This is the only portrait commission accepted by Wyeth. It appeared on the cover of Time Magazine for Sept. 7, 1959 and was placed on indefinite loan to the museum in 1964. The painting will hang in the Polly Firestone Gallery of American Art at the museum.

THURSDAY at 8 p.m. in San Martin Park, Lakewood Artist Guild will present Ken Young in a program of ancient Chinese Art. He will give a brief history of the art of enameling and, with the aid of a projector, will illustrate his talk.

President Verna Haggerty invites anyone interested to attend.

Marlene Silvers to Sing lead in 'There and Back'

Two miniature operas, Stravinsky's "The Soldier's Tale" and Hindemith's "There and Back," will be performed Friday and Saturday at 8:15 p.m. in Thorne Hall, Occidental College. Admission is $1.50.

MARLENE SILVERS

Marlene Silvers has the soprano role in the Hindemith work. In 1966, she sang the leading role of Maria in Long Beach Civic Light Opera's "West Side Story," and she has appeared in concert with Long Beach Symphony in excerpts from "The Marriage of Figaro." Miss Silvers is a Juilliard scholarship winner.

Felix McKernan will conduct the seven-piece college orchestra for the technically difficult "Soldier's Tale" which is based on Russian folk stories.

Exploration reveals integrity of plastics

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

"Plastics/1969" at the San Pedro Municipal Art Gallery is not only a very lovely show, it is a significant one. Work in plastic has been for about five years in all kinds of shows. Seen alongside works in conventional materials, the plastics are jarring. Seen together, they have an integral harmony.

On the way back from the show, I wondered how to put into words the feelings and reactions it had engendered. Then, driving over the longitudinal and vertical curves of the Vincent Thomas Bridge, with the improbably pastel Union Oil tank farm on the left and the equally improbable boxes on the oil islands to the right, everything seemed to fit together.

THE PLASTICS, explored honestly, as they are in this show, are a whole new world. Plastics made to imitate something else, wood veneer, drinking glasses, marble, etc. are aethetically disquieting. These 22 works are new expressions in the new materials.

William Bassler's two "Anatomes" are of poured molded polyester resin with the density and translucence of jelly fish. Set creatively in plexiglas frames, they refract both crystal high lights, and pearly amethyst tones.

PETER ALEXANDER'S 4-foot high triangle of the same material is treated like "hard-edge". The reflections of the edges and angles when seen through 5 inches of the plastic are magic.

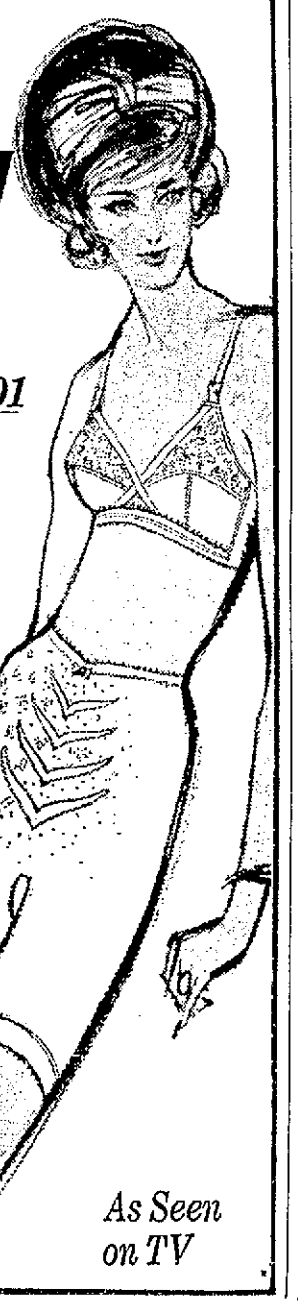

Rick Herold's "Lilies" are spray-enamel (plastic) on large sheets of plexiglas in interesting contrasts of techniques. James Grant moulded a 12-foot long sheet of fibreglas like a cresting ocean roller, and poured marine blue over it in dribbles.

David Elder's "Magnetic Curve "No. 2", a floor-standing sculpture 8 feet long and 4 feet high in gray, yellow and white stripes, looks as though it were tailored from a sophisticated algebraic equation. Bryan L. Cook's "Stripe" consists of three long strips of gem-hued plexiglas bolted to the wall at their ends as they billowed in curves. (It was these two who were explained by the bridge.)

Viewing hours at 638 Beacon St., San Pedro, are noon until 5 p.m. daily except Monday through April 29.

L.B. Realtors Slate Speech by Hawkins

Herbert Hawkins, president of the Herbert Hawkins Co., Inc., Realtors, with offices in San Gabriel Valley, will speak to the Long Beach District Board of Realtors 7:15 a.m. breakfast meeting Tuesday at the Crown Cafeteria.

Robert Westmyer, program chairman, said Hawkins is an FHA mortgagee, and is an expert in that field.

Note: For the next six weeks Revan Kemaroff will be transacting business in Africa and Europe. In his absence, Richard Anderson, director of research for the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, will fill in as guest columnist.)

Even in international trade the banker can be your friend. The exporter doesn't have to go it alone.

Today many banks have international departments which can be of invaluable help to those interested in expanding sales to markets abroad.

Banks are staffed with highly trained specialists skilled in the collection and evaluation of foreign economic and commercial intelligence data.

Your bank can also be of service in finding foreign customers for your products. By working through a correspondent bank, a U.S. bank can not only find contacts for a local manufacturer but can also furnish credit and other financial information about the foreign firm.

While local banks can be helpful in arranging financing for production and shipment of your products, the Export-Import Bank of Washington can often be of service when private financing may not be available.

* * * *

EXIMBANK, as it is commonly called, is a U.S. government agency that promotes exports by financing specific transactions. It can also guarantee loans made by commercial banks and underwrite export credit insurance available through the Foreign Credit Insurance Association.

Exchange of U.S. currency to or from foreign currency is another valuable service extended by banks to the exporter when traveling abroad. Banks also assure safety for you in your international transactions by helping to issue letters of credit for your foreign buyer. And, if the need should ever arise, banks can intercede on your behalf by collection assistance from the overseas customer.

NEWEST SORRY CHARLIE'S . . . In Huntington Park

DIVISION OF STAR-KIST

Sorry Charlie's Opening Second Take-Out Store

The second unit of what is proposed as a nationwide chain of take-out food stores was opened Friday in Huntington Park by Sorry Charlie's Fish & Chips.

Thus the potato, first introduced to England by Sir Francis Drake in 1580, has gone full circle and is being re-introduced to the U.S. in a favorite British form.

Featured foods at Sorry Charlie's will be portions of selected white-meated, boneless fish fillets and choice Idaho chips — or french fries as they are generally known in this country.

Customers will also be welcome to sprinkle Sorry Charlie's special spiced malt vinegar or lemon juice over their fish and chips and top it all off with a sweet or dill pickle spear.

* * * *

WHILE some 15,000 fish and chip stores in England cook up a thousand tons of fish every working day, this classic dish has only recently started to catch on in the U.S.

Sorry Charlie's Fish & Chips is a division of Star-Kist Foods, Inc., Terminal Island, one of the world's largest processors of sea foods.

All locations in the new chain will be readily identifiable by exterior signs depicting Charlie the Tuna, Star-Kist's popular spokesman on their TV commercials.

NAMED manager of the Huntington Park store is Robert Sartorius, whose prior experience includes various management positions in Southern California.

A three-day gala grand opening concludes today at Huntington Park location.

Special events include appearances by Flipo the Clown and a free drawing today for prizes.

PORTS O'PROGRESS

By JACK O. BALDWIN

The Tri-Cor and Associates of Long Beach have been awarded a contract for $446,700 to build two buildings, a warehouse-office and a maintenance shop to be erected at the new container terminal on Pier J in the Port of Long Beach.

Tri Cor's bid was the lowest of four submitted and considerably lower than the $790,000 bid submitted by Mitchell Construction Co., also of Long Beach.

THE LOS ANGELES HARBOR Department will auction off floats, buildings, lockers, trees, and restaurant equipment used in the operation of Henry's Marina on Teminal Island during a public auction tentatively set for May 10.

Fred Crawford, deputy general manager, says the May 10 date is not yet firm and may be set back one week to May 17.

Details concerning the auction and arrangements to inspect the equipment and structures may be made through the Real Estate Division of the Harbor Department.

Items to be offered for sale include one concrete, steel reenforced swimming pool.

A SUM OF $4,250 HAS BEEN allocated by the Los Angeles Board of Harbor Commissioners to the Los Angeles Area Chamber of Commerce to help promote World Trade Week next month.

The Long Beach Board of Harbor Commissioners, noting the Port of Long Beach does not get as much mileage from the promotion as does the Port of Los Angeles, has agreed to participate with a contribution of $2,750.

* * * *

A LESS-THAN-A-YEAR-OLD policy of the Los Angeles Harbor Department which called for periodic rental increases be based on the consumer's cost price index has been given the deep six by the current board of Harbor Commissioners.

Bernard J. Caughlin, port general manager who was against the policy when it was suggested by former Board President Taul Watanabe, favors basing the rental adjustments on the fair market value of the land granted to lessees.

Using the fair market value, based on the findings of a three-man appraisal board, " . . . is a more fair and just procedure in arriving at the true fair rental value of a particular piece of harbor department property" Caughlin contends.

The present board agreed.

SCENE FROM 'SIRENE,' BELGIAN FILM DIRECTED BY RAOUL SERVIS

Animated films exhibit continues

The fourth annual exhibition of prize-winning animated films at Los Angeles County Museum of Art resumes today at 3 p.m. and will repeat Friday at 8:30 p.m., Saturday at 3 and 8:30 p.m. and next Sunday at 3 p.m.

Illustrating the world's top talent in the animation field, the new works were chosen from the recent International Film Festival at Mamaia, Roumania, and from other prize-winners in this country and abroad.

The Los Angeles Museum is the only American institution now presenting an annual exhibition of animated films.

Explains Herbert Kosower from the University of Southern California's animation department and director of the International Tournee of Animation, "Animated films are often personal, the work of solitary individuals such as Yoji Kuri, Alexandre Alexieff, Bruno Bozzetto, Ernest Pintoff and Jan Lenica.

"THIS phenomenon is not quite as likely to occur in live-action films. Also, the animated film is more meticulously controlled and more closely resembles a painter's approach to composition, color and graphic design. An animated film sometimes can actually be a painting with texture, movment, sound, time and space relationships."

The museum exhibition includes two films by Yoji Kuri of Japan, "Crazy World" and "Miss Komeko." Kuri is one of the most prolific and talented animators in the world; recently his influence has begun to be felt in this country.

ALSO SCHEDULED is "Les Corbeaux," a film made in Switzerland by Ernest and Gisell Ansorge; it is composed of carbon dust in constant flux.

American entries are headed by Hal Barwood's "The Walled City of Zan." Denmark's Bent Barford is represented by a dazzling animated impression of the jazz favorite "When the Saints Come Marching In."

Others of the 17 films are from Roumania, Czechoslovakia, Belgium, Great Britain and Yugoslavia.

Tickets are on sale at the box office at $2.50 for general admission, $1.50 for students.

'Faust' soloist

. . . Donald Gramm will be a bass-baritone soloist in "The Damnation of Faust" by Hector Berlioz which Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra will perform Thursday at 8:30, Friday at 1:30 p.m. in The Music Center Pavilion. Also featured will be Beverly Wolff, mezzo - soprano; Michele Molese, tenor; Roberto Termine, bass-baritone; and the Los Angeles Master Chorale. Alfred Wallenstein will conduct. The concerts will complete the orchestra's subscription series at the Pavilion, ending the 50th Golden Anniversary season.

Premiere for festival

A world premiere will highlight the first concert of Ojai Festival Friday, May 23, in the outdoor bowl of the town's Civic Park. Lalo Schifrin will conduct his "Variants on a Madrigal of Gesualdo." Michael Zearott will conduct the remainder of the program which will include Mozart's "Divertimento in D Major."

Final concerts are scheduled Sunday, May 25, at 10:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Joan Sutherland to open Symphonies Under the Stars

Arts

Joan Sutherland, famed coloratura soprano, will open Hollywood Bowl's 48th season of "Symphonies Under the Stars" Tuesday evening, July 8. Her husband, Richard Bonynge, will conduct the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra.

At this early date, more than a dozen artists and conductors have been engaged for the 1969 summer season at the Bowl. These include the Royal Ballet from London.

Zubin Mehta, music director of the Philharmonic, will interrupt his sabbatical to return for conducting dates in the Bowl in late August. Sixten Ehrling, music director of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, is returning after an absence of several seasons. Morton Gould, composer-conductor, is scheduled for an appearance; Andre Previn, who conducted at the Bowl last summer, will return this year. Previn recently signed a new contract as music director of the Houston Symphony Orchestra.

In addition to Miss Sutherland, singers already engaged are Elisabeth Schwarzkopf, soprano; and Marilyn Horne, mezzo-soprano. Since she made her Bowl debut as a member of the Roger Wagner Chorale, Miss Horne has won world-wide recognition in opera, recitals, and on recordings.

FOUR NOTED pianists are scheduled: Geza Anda, making his Bowl debut; John Browning, Daniel Barenboim, and Misha Dichter. Barenboim appeared at the Bowl last summer in the role of conductor but this will be his first visit to the huge amphitheater as a pianist.

The Romeros, family of brilliant guitarists, will make a return visit.

The traditional Saturday night "Pops" series will include a night of The Royal Ballet and musical nights in the lighter vein.

To dedicate new Neptune in PV plaza

The rededication of the restored Neptune Fountain, Malaga Cove Plaza, Palos Verdes Estates, will take place Sunday, May 18, at 2 p.m.

An unusual program has been arranged and all Palos Verdes Estates and Miraleste residents are invited to attend.

Among honored guests will be those who have been residents of the area since the dedication of the original fountain in 1930.

The rededication committee is eager to obtain names of such persons so that a special invitation may be extended to them. The names may be telephoned to the Palos Verdes Homes Association in the plaza.

Cerf next on series of talks

BENNETT CERF

Bennett Cerf, publisher, author, anthologist and columnist, will be guest lecturer Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Student Center at Cerritos College, 11110 Alondra Blvd., Norwalk.

Founder of Random House, Cerf has been described as "run by a storage battery that constantly recharges itself." While a student at Columbia University, he became editor of the humor magazine "The Jester." He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and holds a degree from Columbia School of Journalism.

After college, Cerf was a reporter on the New York Herald Tribune while holding a job as a clerk in the Stock Exchange. It was when he bought the Modern Library and began his publishing career by bringing the classics to the public at modest prices that he came into his own.

LATER, he founded Random House. He has published such books as "Guadalcanal Diary" (a manuscript which he read, decided to publish and contracted for within eight hours), "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," "The Snake Pit," "A Rage to Live," "The F.B.I. Story," "No Time for Sergeants" and "Don't Go Near the Water."

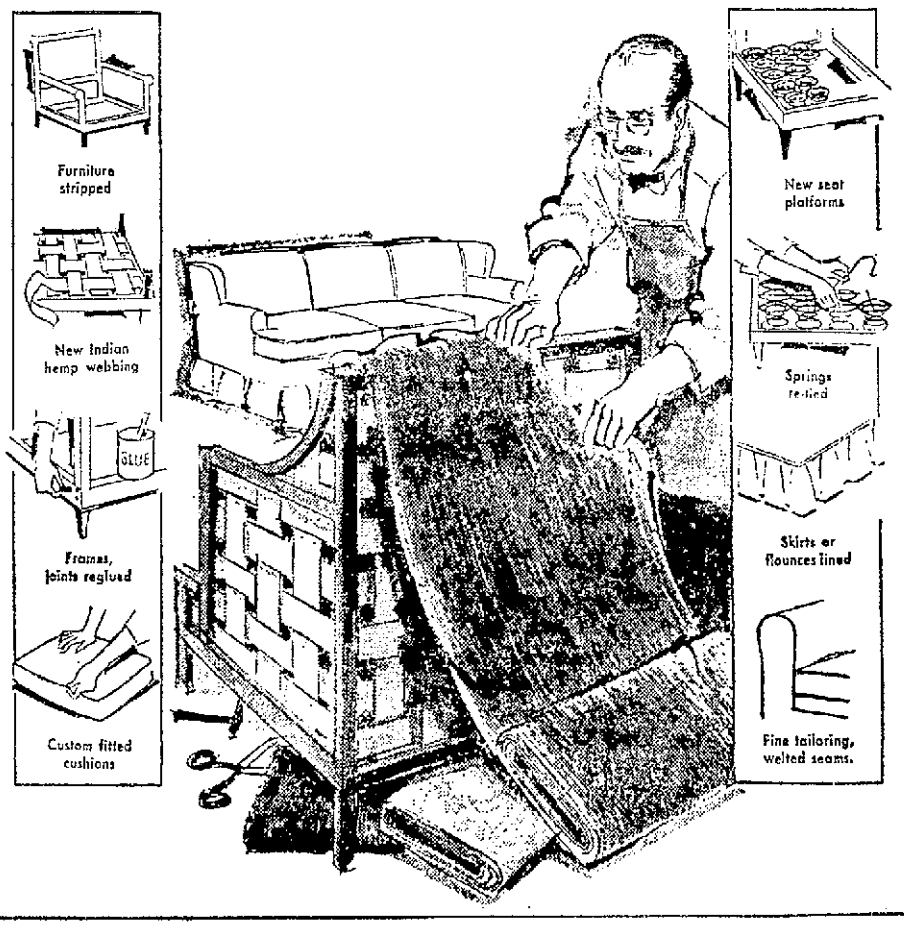

Cerf himself is author of 10 best selling collections of humorous stories.

This is the third in the college's series of five speakers programs.

CANYON LAKE A GOOD EXAMPLE

Water: Key to Future Recreation

Whether ocean, stream, lake or river, water is the star on the marquee of the outdoor recreation theater, reports the Federal Government's Outdoor Recreation Review Commission.

Wherever you go for outdoor recreation, it is a certainty water will play the role as the greatest attraction.

Predicting 1969 as a bonanza year for water-oriented recreation, the commission says people who will take the trails and highways this year will seek water to fulfill their expectations of the outdoor environment.

Billions of dollars will be poured into the economy as this huge army of vacationing families select resorts, parks, campgrounds and recreational vehicle parks — near water.

* * * *

"THE PROSPECT of sufficient water-oriented resources to handle the approximately 3 million annual population growth in the United States is more remote than ever," reports W. Gordon Heath, president of the Corona Land Co., developers of the $45 million Canyon Lake family recreation community in Riverside County in Southern California.

"At the end of 1969, statistics show that Americans will own 2 million recreational vehicles, which will take them into areas, that only a few years ago went begging for attention," Heath said.

"People are rushing out of the cities for recreation, and the path leads to water. The problem is that there isn't enough of it to accommodate this vast audience, determined to enjoy watersports at the fullest."

* * * *

HEATH SAID the U.S. government should invite the guidance and assistance of private enterprise to help in the monumental task of creating a network of new recreational lakes in the United States as one of the answers to the problem.

He said another answer is the development of private family communities, oriented to water recreation, as portrayed in his 2,017-acre Canyon Lake project, 20 miles southeast of Corona.

While lots around and near the 383-acre lake were being sold, the masterplan called for the construction of a country general store, lodge, beaches, marinas and paved roads. The project, now over 52 per cent sold out, already has these facilities.

* * * *

"PEOPLE," Heath says, "who come out to look at land see the unfolding of the masterplan with the actual existence of the $550,000 Canyon Lodge, the Country General Store, the marina, beaches and paved roads.

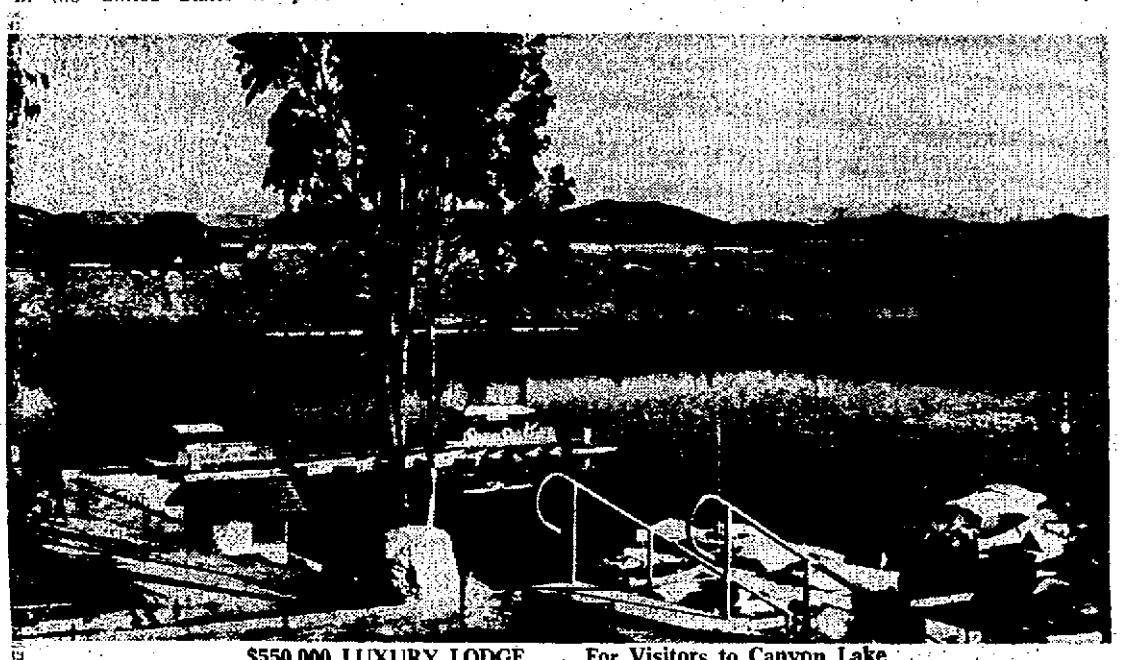

"As others look at Canyon Lake this spring, they will see that the 18-hole PGA golf course and equestrian center are under construction, more roads being paved, more marinas and beaches, and other installations to add to their outdoor pleasures."

"Eventually," he said, "it will be a community of about 12,000 persons who appreciate the value of building a recreational village with covenants and controls to protect their investment for the future.

"Development land without mind or care of a masterplan is not the answer; it is the scientific development of conservation. You can build a recreational community, where young couples invest in their own recreational future, and provide them with the utilities for recreation, and you can still have conservation," Heath added.

"Conservation, in my opinion, is not letting land remain dormant and unused, or permitting the public in essence, to decree its own use of land. But if you masterplan it and make the public a part of this careful exercise in controls and covenants, the land use is just as good a century from now as it is today."

Heath said it will take scores of recreational communities like Canyon Lake to handle the multitudes who desire an outdoor environment.

Casa Bonita Buyers Entitled to Gift

Casa Bonita homes in Cerritos are now being previewed, say the builders, with a special "early-bird bonus" offered to families who make their selection this week. Builders Henry and Myron Reichert believe the first arrivals in their new development are entitled to a housewarming gift, and have promised a happy surprise to early buyers.

Casa Bonita homes offer four new plans, 12 handsome exteriors, with innovations that promise exceptional value to owners.

Plans for every size family are offered: three, four and five bedrooms, two and three baths.

Formal living center includes inviting entry hall, spacious living room with decorator fireplace, and formal dining room.

* * * *

ALL homes offer congenial family rooms, family dining space and fully equipped patio kitchen with built-ins, deep cupboards and pantries. Some models have study galleries on the second floor. Others have brought back an acceptable feature — the music room.

Master suites are elegantly designed, with dressing room, compartmented bath, extended marble pullman and king-size shower. Wardrobe space is exceptional.

CASA Bonita promises to be one of the finest communities in Cerritos, with the convenience of schools and shopping centers close by.

Prices are in the medium range, with VA, FHA and conventional financing. Sales Agent Joe Cooper will discuss financial arrangements and alternate plans with interested viewers who visit the models this week.

Casa Bonita community is located on Artesia Boulevard, just east of 605 Freeway.

Appraiser Firm Now In L.B.

Roland E. Tornquist and Associates, appraisers and consultants, have opened an office in Long Beach.

According to Alke Wood, regional representative for the firm, which has been headquartered in San Bernardino since 1960, this firm is known to many property owners in the greater Long Beach area, having represented a majority of downtown Long Beach commercial properties in assessed valuation reappraisals by the County and City Assessors.

"Economic surveys and appraisals have been performed by our firm for many governmental agencies in Southern California and Nevada," Mrs. Wood stated.

"Having surveyed the current activity and assured future growth of the Coastal Empire, including the Greater Long Beach Region, we decided to establish a convenient and centralized location at Suite 1111, Security-Pacific Bank Building, 110 North Pine Avenue in downtown Long Beach," Tornquist said.

Urban Affairs

New Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz has been appointed to the newly-created Council for Urban Affairs by the President. The Council is to advise and assist the Chief Executive with respect to developing the national urban policy.

REC Slates R. W. MacNair as Speaker

Speaker at the Thursday meeting of the North Long Beach Real Estate Club will be Robert W. MacNair of Coast Federal Savings and Loan. "The Loan in Savings and Loan" will be his subject.

A. T. Williams, president, said the meeting starts at 8 a.m. at Park Pantry, Artesia and Susana.

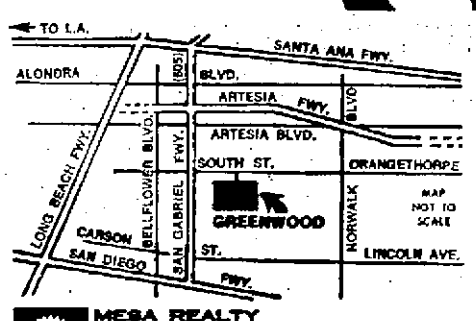

APPOINTED

Robert Bothner, of Palos Verdes Peninsula, treasurer of Sales & Marketing Executives Association of Long Beach, has been appointed vice president-resident manager of Eastman Dillon, Union Securities & Company's Los Angeles office. He has been manager of Long Beach office.

IN THE NEW CITY OF CERRITOS

FURNISHED MODEL HOMES AT SOUTH ST.
JUST EAST OF THE SAN GABRIEL FWY. (605)

CRISTO STREET, like other thoroughfares in Old San Juan, are lined with pastel-hued and balconied houses. Cristo, however, is one of the most interesting, both for its little gem of a chapel (background) and museums and shops housed in restored buildings. Old Town is ideal for shutterbugs.

PUERTO RICO

Starting point of 'love affair'

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — For Caribbean beginners, this elongated island with the geographical personality of a flattened exclamation mark is the best place to start your adventurous love affair with the Spanish Main.

Puerto Rico is a U.S. commonwealth full of contrasts that never quite let you forget little rembrances at home.

Where else can you visit one of the world's most desolately beautiful subtropical rain forests (popularly known as El Yunque) where bulletwood and the great tabonuco trees soar 120 feet to verdant heights framed by tangles of wild orchids, tree ferns, and waterfalls?

And within an hour's drive, retreat into the bustle of Spanish colonial architecture in the Condado area of San Juan to pull up short for corned beef. blintzes, and heavenly cheese cake under the sign of "Lindy's."

* * * *

MODERN hotel skyscrapers along the San Juan "gold coast" where one can mellow under the sun by day lulled by the booming Atlantic surf is just one slice of Puerto Rican life. At night there's a glittering carnival of lavish entertainment in the hotels plus casino life for the gaming set.

Take advantage of some of the island's 4,000 miles of good roads and retreat to nature in a tour of the northeast section. In addition to the Luquillo Mountain Range with its array of startling flora and fauna, one can easily see, in a day's explorations, the oldest portside community on the eastern end of the isle and one of the world's most challenging golf courses.

Leave San Juan in the morning on Rt. No. 3 heading east. You'll pass fields of sugarcane which are snow white in the wintertime with a colorful blossom. When you reach the township of Palmer, turn right on Rt. 191 which winds into the verdant hues of blue, green, emerald and ochre plains and growth known as El Yunque. Soil and rainfall combine to nourish a rain forest some 2,000 feet above sea level. At one observation point, on unusually clear days, unobstructed by low hanging clouds, you have a perfect view of the Virgin Islands.

* * * *

BACK AT the beach area east of the junction of Rt. 191 and Hwy. 3, there is Luquillo Beach, a slowly curving crescent of sand on the edge of a coconut grove. Bathing facilities and parking are available at a modest charge. Visit Luquillo during the week, the localites claim it on weekends and holidays.

Oldest settlement on the east coast is Fajardo, eight miles from Luquillo Beach and 33 miles east of San Juan. Neighboring islands sent their contraband traffic to this port in the 17th and 18th centuries. With a history of illicit commerce, natives of the town are nicknamed "hardboiled" but their demeanor belies this reputation. From this modern port of the island, you can hop a boat for nearby Culebra or Vieques. Yachting, watersports and deep water fishing adventures also begin here.

Just a few miles to the northeast tip of Puerto Rico is the fishing village of Las Crobas and the El Conquistador Hotel, slotted 300 feet above the pounding Atlantic. A roller coaster like golfing layout commands spectacular views of fairway and green liberally sprinkled with sand traps and bunkers to catch a stray ball.

* * * *

JOURNEY back to Rio Grande, Rt. 187 to the seacoast village of Loiza Aldea halfway on the return to San Juan. Would you believe the first church in the hemisphere is in this location and named for St. Patrick?

Across the Loiza River, you can drive your car on a ferry boat and have it leisurely hand-poled to the other side. End the day driving to your hotel with the late afternoon sun setting on the surf to your right.

Delta Air Lines, offering six weekly direct services from Los Angeles and San Francisco, will revise its schedule pattern from California effective April 27 with early morning departures assuring just-after-sunset arrivals in San Juan.

Island tour set

A new two-day escorted tour "The Danish Isles" will be introduced this year, leaving Copenhagen every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from May 14 to Sept. 15. It will visit the eight most interesting islands out of Denmark's 482, and include visits to Holmegaard Glassworks, Aalholm Veteran Car Museum, the romantic island of AEro with the bottled ship museum, Egeskov Park on Funen, and Hans Christian Andersen's childhood home in Odense.

Tradition, culture of Japanese preserved at Kyoto

By MOLLY O'DONOVAN

Ancient Japan still lives in Kyoto where thousands of temples, shrines and scattered palaces preserve Chino-Japanese art, culture and history.

Bustling Kyoto may surprise you but, as in Florence, commerce side by side with art means superb shopping for the silks, ceramics, bamboo and lacquer handicrafts made here. This ancient capital is surrounded on three sides by mountains, and wooded paths up the foothills lead to restful shrines.

In Spring, when cherry trees blossom along the canals, Kyoto is loveliest — and most crowded. Pan American Airways will reserve accommodations in advance at such modern hotels as the International and Miyako, both with western and Japanese-style rooms.

High speed "bullet" New Tokaido line trains leave Tokyo every 30 minutes, pass Mt. Fuji and arrive in Kyoto in four hours. In the 17th century feudal lords traveled this route known as the Tokaido Highway to call at the Imperial Palace and Nijo Castle, built in 1603 for Leyasu Tokugawa.

* * * *

NIJO CASTLE, across the street from International Hotel, is an excellent introduction to Kyoto and the arts of the Momoyama period. Throughout the palace are elaborate ceilings and recessed chambers decorated with woodcarvings, metalwork and Kano family screens, the famed murals of husky pine trees, birds and flowers on gold ground. A corridor near Tokugawa's sleeping quarters was fitted with a sound apparatus — the Nightingale Floor — which served to alert him of any enemy intruders intent on assassination.

Walking into the now lush garden, imagine you've come upon Tokugawa contemplating in his original garden where no flowers or trees grew to remind him living things are transitory.

How to choose which of the numerous shrines to visit? Japan Travel Bureau is your best guide. Morning and afternoon tours visit the most famous; ample time is allotted for strolling through gardens and for souvenir browsing. Kinkakuji Temple, known as the Gold Pavilion, was originally a 14th century villa built on a lake. It was destroyed by fire and now, reconstructed, shimmers with its golden reflection.

Fifteen thousand red torii gates await you at Fushimi Inari Shrine. Names inscribed on the wooden gates include distinguished citizens as well as commercial enterprises in Kyoto. Gates stretch all the way up a hill luring pilgrims and picnickers alike to follow.

* * * *

KYOTO springs to life at night with its numerous nightclubs and bars. Geishas hold court in Gion and Pontocho districts where an evening's entertainment of music, giggles and childish games costs plenty of yen. Join a group on business expenses for a private party, or, for a comprehensive — if rather touristy — view of ancient arts, visit Gion Corner where Geishas demonstrate flower arrangements, sing, play the koto harp and dance for your delight at $2 a ticket.

Geishas dance for the general public only in the Spring. Miyako Odori Cherry Blossom Dance is magnificently staged, and accompanied by wind, string and percussion instruments.

There are many ryokans (Japanese inns) in the Gion area, and throughout Kyoto. One that should not be missed is the Sakaguchi. Ancient tradition, style and service have been preserved in this two-story inn set between a high wall and hillside water garden. You will have utter privacy.

Tea is served at a low table in your tatami-matted suite of rooms and screens slide away to views of the garden below. The hostess, Uka, will lead you down a wooden and stone corridor to the bath. Soap up and rinse before settling into steaming water.

* * * *

SAKAGUCHI is not listed in the phone book and is virtually impossible to find. For directions and reservations ask Bob Strickland who manages the grooviest restaurant in Kyoto, Ashiya Steak House. Along with Kobe steaks, Bob, clad in ceremonial garb, serves up stories about guests surrounding him at a common table.

Here's where you'll run into friends from Park Avenue, Tokyo, Beverly Hills, Hong Kong. Recorded koto music fills every room of this authentic Kyoto house. The woodcut prints and art pieces in the upper cocktail rooms are for sale.

POLYGLAS TIRE . . . Instantly Seen

WORLD OF WHEELS

By ART STEPHAN
Auto Editor

Dual whitewall stripes and deeper, longer-wearing tread that grips better on wet roads are features of a new Polyglas tire announced today by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.

O. E. Miles, executive vice president, said the premium tire is being introduced immediately in the replacement tire market and soon will be an option on several models of 1969 new cars.

Named the Custom Power Cushion Polyglas, the tire is in the popular 78 series profile and is the sixth bias-belted polyester and fiberglass tire Goodyear has introduced since first unveiling that construction concept a little more than a year ago.

With the addition of the new tire, motorists now can get Polyglas construction in a range of widths and shapes that will accomodate virtually any contemporary American automobile, from high performance cars to standard cars.

LIKE THE OTHERS IN ITS family, the new tire has a bias-ply polyester cord body topped by belts of fiberglass which lie just under the tread. The belts keep the tread pressed firmly against the road, reducing squirming, and thus contribute to the design's exceptionally long tread life.

Miles said the new entry has a tread groove depth 10 per cent deeper than Goodyear's other 78 series bias-belted tire, the Power Cushion Polyglas. This not only increases tread life, but also lengthens the period that the tread can deliver the most effective traction, he added.

Extensive testing shows that the new tire provides up to 15 per cent more traction than conventional bias-ply tires on wet surfaces, Miles said.

THE "78" MEANS THAT THE height of the tire from bead to thread surface is 78 per cent of the tire's width. By comparison, most wide-tread tires are 70 series, while most conventional tires have had a height to width ratio of about 83 per cent.

Styling of the tire is enhanced by the two whitewall stripes, each 3-10ths of an inch wide and separated by ¼-inch of black. The tread pattern is carried over the shoulders of the tire in another design feature.

In both 14- and 15-inch wheel sizes, the suggested no-trade-in price for an F78 Custom Power Cushion Polyglas is $43.75 for a blackwall tire; $50.30 for a whitewall.

'68 Will Be Tough to Beat in Housing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The housing industry spent most of last year congratulating itself on its recovery from the market collapse of 1966. Now it must try to beat those gains in 1969.

The job will be a tough one.

Rising interest rates plus spiraling land, labor and lumber costs will plague the homebuilder in the year ahead, but government projections say he can still have the best 12 months he has ever had.

A Commerce Department survey of the construction industry paints an optimistic picture for the housing industry in 1969. Department economists caution, however, that the rosy view depends on how effectively the government can deal with its inflation problems in the first half of the year.

That's a big "if", but the economists point out that the industry has come a long way from the 845,000 housing start low point of 1966 to the 1.5 million rate it reached in 1968.

The survey also goes so far as to predict that the housing start rate for 1969 will reach 1.66 million units — a peak reached only in 1955 and topped only by the 1.9 million rate back in 1950 during the postwar housing boom.

THE MOST dramatic surge in housing construction will be in the multi-unit dwelling, the survey said. Apartments, condominiums, duplexes and the like tallied a 36 per cent increase in starts last year, compared with the 8 per cent gain recorded for single family units.

"The estimated 610,000 units in multi-unit structures started in 1968 were the highest on record," the survey said.

"In 1969 a further rise is expected with starts in such structures reaching 685,000 — a 12 per cent uptrend."

This is not to say that the day of the one-family home is over, the department stressed, not on your 8 per cent FHA mortgage.

"ALTHOUGH single unit starts have not shown the same momentum as multi-units in 1968, they should be at about the 975,000 unit mark in 1969," the survey stated.

"While this represents an improvement over the estimated 915,000 units started in 1968, it falls short of the 1950 peak performance. It is however, the highest since 1963, when 1,021,000 units were started."

'Price Protection Plan' Still Offered by Holstein and Sons

The "Price Protection Plan" that guarantees the price of the home and no payments on principal or interest until July, continues at two George M. Holstein and Sons' developments.

Both the Green Valley community in Fountain Valley and the Hacienda Homes development in Anaheim will continue to make the unusual "hold the price line" offer, the pioneer home building firm assured.

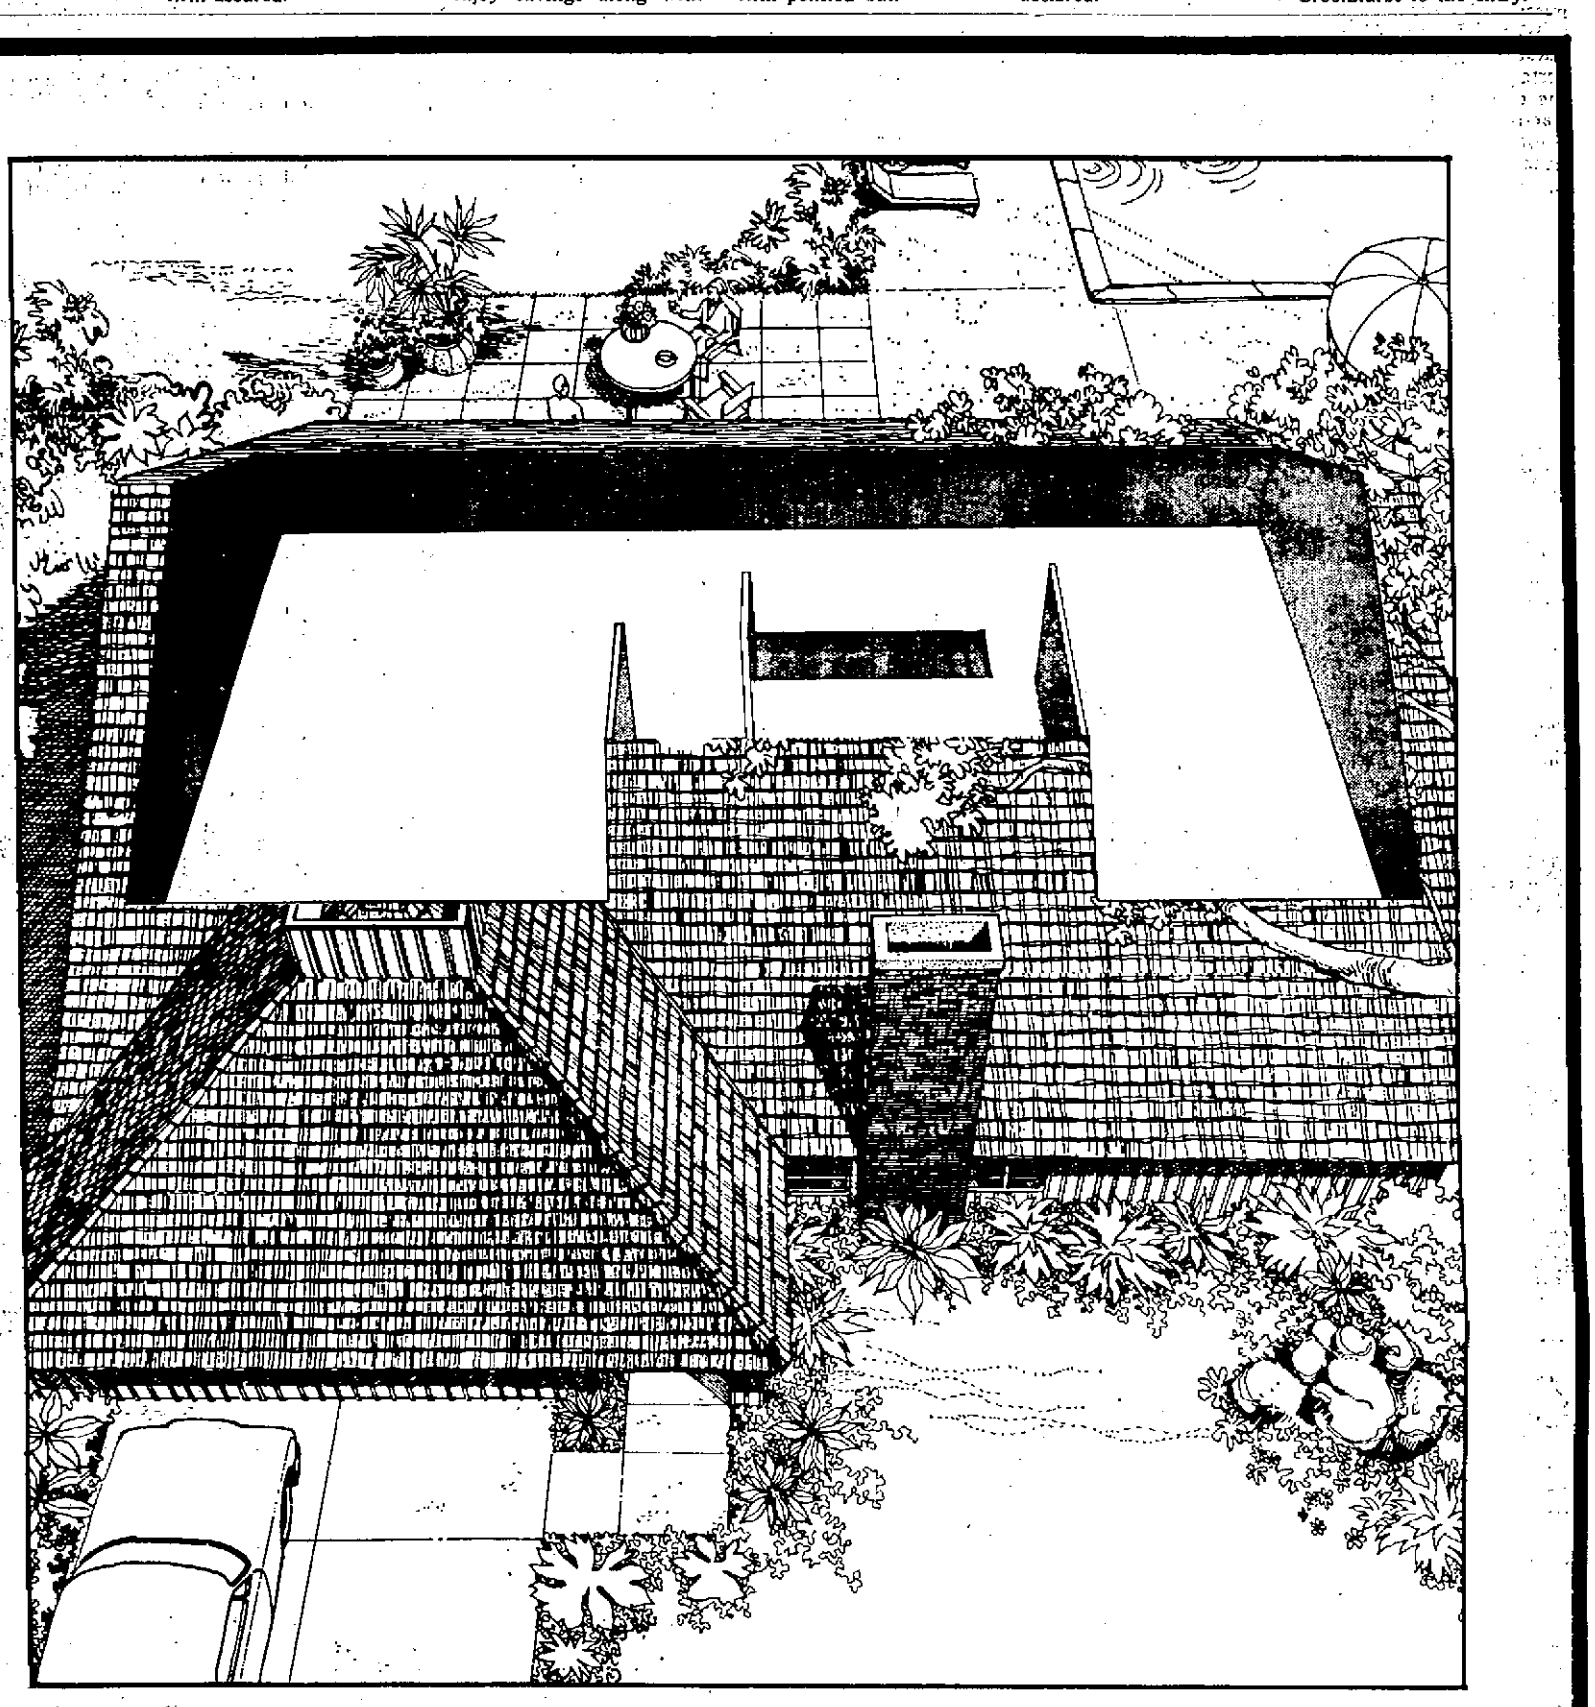

With home prices increasing almost daily, the Holstein plan means that the Hacienda or Green Valley home buyer may purchase in current units at Early 1969 prices and enjoy savings along with the advantage of no loan payments or taxes until July, the company explained.

* * * *

SAVINGS over current prices amount to as much as $1,800, the development firm pointed out.

"The buyer may move right in — or wait until the end of the school year — either way the 'price protection' and the advantage of no payments will be to the buyers advantage," an Holstein official declared.

To visit Hacienda Homes from Long Beach, take the Riverside Freeway to Jefferson. To visit Green Valley, drive south on the San Diego freeway to the Warner off-ramp. Stay East on Warner past Brookhurst to the entry.

GENERAL VIEW OF HONG KONG'S Plover Cove reservoir shows inlet (foreground) filled with fresh water. Reservoir has a capacity of 37 million gallons. (BOAC photos)

Hong Kong beats water problem

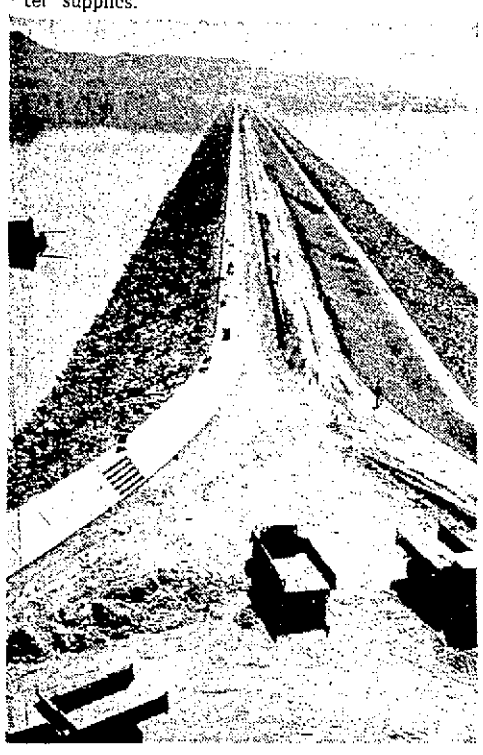

HONG KONG—Tourists arriving in Hong Kong in the past, only to experience the inconvenience of being permitted the use of water in their hotel rooms only during certain hours of the day, can relax. The official inauguration of the mighty Plover Cove Scheme climaxes eight years of planning and building what is regarded as a major feat, reports British Overseas Airways Corporation.

The outstanding feature of the scheme is the 37 million-gallon Plover Cove reservoir. It solves the long-time problem of water storage.

The British Crown Colony is mountainous for the most part and flat land is needed for building. There is an intricate catchwater system and small reservoirs aplenty but they could never hold enough to supply unlimited amounts of water throughout long dry spells.

Total cost was $100 million—the highest priced project ever undertaken by the Hong Kong government. The work force at one time totaled more than 4,500 men and contracts were carried out by French, Swedish, Japanese and local enterprises.

The bold new scheme tripled the Colony's water supplies.

FINAL TOUCHES are added to service road which runs atop mile-long main dam, cutting Plover Cove (left) off from the open sea (right).

Cruise to Nassau

MIAMI — Completely converted at a cost of $5 million, the SS New Bahama Star (formerly the SS Jerusalem) has arrived here to start twice-weekly cruises to Nassau. The ship is 488 feet long and 65 feet wide with a capacity of 755 passengers.

Craftsmen perform

Travelers to San Diego this summer will have an unique opportunity to personally meet some of Mexico's foremost craftsmen in a score of arts and crafts indigenous to that country. But the language may be a problem.

These artisans will be demonstrating their skills daily, from May 1 to November 2, at "Fiesta 200" an exposition of the finest Mexico has to offer in silvermaking, leather, woodcarving, jewelry, weaving and glass blowing, to name only a few of their skills.

Imported Marble Entries Feature of S & S Homes

Homes tailored to fit the contemporary family's needs are a result of careful planning at Golden West College Estates, according to Gerry Dirksen, sales and marketing manager for S & S Construction Co., the Westminster community developers.

The company's own architects design the homes as a complete package so that elegance and functionalism mesh smoothly for maximum livability and convenience, Dirksen said.

Some of the items which lend an air of graciousness to these outstanding homes are the imported marble entries, step-up living rooms, custom cut crystal chandeliers, wall-to-wall carpeting throughout, and a wide selection of natural stone, marble or brick fireplaces.

* * * *

"FLOWER fresh" kitchens feature generous use of ceramic tile, vinyl asbestos floor covering, luminous ceilings, and triple sinks to make preparation of food and after party clean-up as unchorelike as possible.

The three- to six-bedroom homes in one-story, two-story, or split-level models are priced from $32,590.

Franklin Stores Acquires Ross Stores, Subsidiary

Ross Stores and its subsidiary, Andrea Dee Corporation, have been acquired by the Franklin Stores (NYSE).

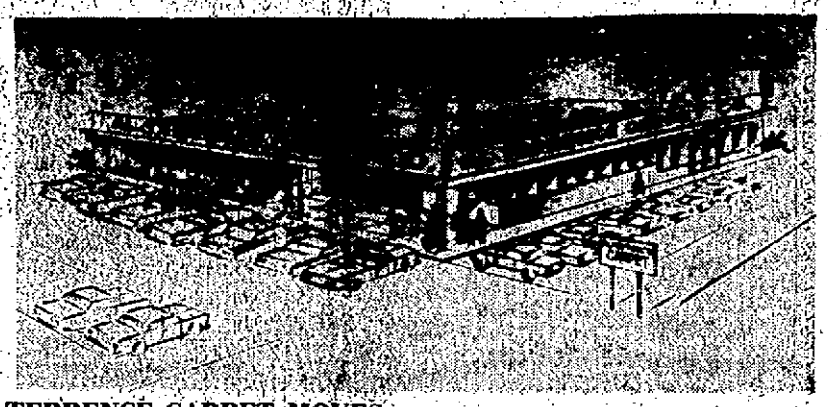

Current sales volume of Ross Stores' operations is approximately $4 million.

The present Ross management is expected to head up all Franklin Stores' West Coast operations.

Ernest Ross has been a Long Beach merchant and resident since 1945. His son, Jerry, joined the firm in 1961, after attending the University of California at Berkeley.

Jerry Ross will head all West Coast operations, while Ernest Ross will be retained as consultant.

The Ross group accepted the proposal of the Franklin Stores after examining the strength, management and growth of the acquiring company.

Orange County to host Nisei convention

Orange County will be host for the Pacific Southwest District Council Japanese-American Citizen's League Convention beginning Friday, at the Disneyland Hotel.

Highlight of the three-day event will occur Saturday when queen for the June Nisei Relays will be selected during a fashion show-brunch beginning at 10:30 a.m. Another feature will be recognition of non-Japanese individuals who have contributed to the Japanese-American cause during a 7:30 p.m. banquet.

JAN MURDOCK

KEITH THOMPSON

'Satire on Fashion' brunch entertainment

Woman's Society of Christian Service will host its spring brunch Friday at 11 a.m. in the fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church, Fifth Street and Pacific Avenue.

Entertainment will be by Jan Murdock, comedienne, lecturer and teacher, and her husband, Keith Thompson, concert harmonica virtuoso.

Miss Murdock will present "Satire on Fashion," combining humor, inspiration and information.

Reservations, at $2 each, must be made by Wednesday at the church office.

Recital today

Lakewood Branch of MTA will present in recital today two students who have achieved the ninth level in the Certificate of Merit program. Sue Antal, pianist, and Jennifer Iorine, flutist, will perform at 3 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Pamela Stubbs, Certificate of Merit chairman, 4222 Devon Circle, Cypress. The public is invited.

Benefit to aid scholar

A first will be afforded guests attending the annual scholarship benefit of the Smith College Club of Los Angeles when they spend "an afternoon with Cardinali" next Sunday.

The three faces of Cardinali will be revealed as the California haute couture designer opens her Beverly Hills home to the public for the first time. At home she is Mrs. Harry Lewis and mother of two teen-age sons.

In addition to her designing, she is chairman of the board of Hamburger Hamlet restaurants and did the interior decorating for their home.

The 2 to 5 p.m. event will include a tour of the house with its period furnishings in the tradition of Louis XV, Louis XVI and Italian roccoco.

Highlight of the afternoon will be a garden fashion show of Cardinali's spring collection and a sneak preview of her fall designs, she will give her own commentary.

A musical interlude will be provided by Murray Korda and his strings.

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT BACHMAN

Bachmans mark 50th anniversary

To celebrate their 50th anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bachman will hold an open house for family and friends next Sunday at their Los Alamitos home.

The Bachmans came to the Long Beach area 10 years ago after retiring from one of the largest florist and nursery establishments in the country, Bachman Inc., Minnesota.

They were married in Minneapolis, Minn., on April 30, 1919 and took over the business originally started 85 years ago by Bachman's parents, who grew vegetables in greenhouses.

Coming from Minneapolis to help his parents celebrate the occasion will be Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Bachman. There are two grandsons, Lee, who is a senior at Yale University, and Dale, who attends the University of Minnesota.

The open house will be from 2 to 6 p.m. at 11581 Weatherby Road.

DEAR ABBY

Young convict advises others

By ABIGAIL Van BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and in a pack of trouble. I was arrested for burglary and other charges. This was not my first time, so I am locked up here in Cambridge, Minn., awaiting trial. I would like to express some of the things I have learned in the 121 days I have been here.

One is that you should listen to your parents as they will never steer you wrong. I never got along too good with my dad. Every time he tried to talk to me we got into a heated argument, but now I realize if I had listened to him, I wouldn't be here.

I would also like to tell kids, don't quit school to go out and make money. I did, and look where I ended up.

Also, there are no short cuts. A guy needs all the education he can get. And another thing. Don't blame your mistakes on other people. My friends showed me how to break the law, but I am the one who now must take full responsibility for my own actions.

I will probably get sent up to St. Cloud, but thanks, Abby, for letting me say this. Also I want to thank Sheriff Erickson. He is a swell guy. He let me use his typewriter to write to you. Sincerely, "THE CAMBRIDGE BUM"

DEAR SIR: You're young yet, so don't go calling yourself a "bum." You can pay your debt and still amount to something if you really want to. I talked to Sheriff Erickson, and he told me you had already been sent to St. Cloud.

He said he certainly hoped you would straighten yourself out because you had a lot of good in you, in addition to being exceptionally smart. I believe him. I wish you luck.

DEAR ABBY: Your column has always been welcome in our home. Indeed we call you "the learned judge — a Second Solomon."

Then all that endearment came to a sudden end when you gave your approval to a mother bathing her baby in the kitchen sink — the same sink in which the household dishes were washed!

Abby, you showed a shocking disregard for the accepted principles of sanitation and disease prevention. The mere thought of eating from dishes washed in the same sink in which a child was bathed leaves a most offensive taste in one's mouth.

We could easily close this chapter by forever boycotting your column. However, we prefer to give you a chance to retract your unsavory judgment. HELEN A., NORTHPORT, N.Y.

DEAR HELEN: Like I said. If the sink is clean BEFORE AND AFTER the baby's bath, what's the difference?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ACTOR — AT LIBERTY": Pride goeth before a fall. A small role is better than a long loaf.

Cycle expert still big wheel

By ROBIN PAXTON

You just can't keep a good unicyclist down.

And Joe Mol'e — alias "Loose Nut on wheels" and "Cyclo-maniac"—is, at 80-plus years of age, still loose, and still wheeling around his Westminster home at 9131 Larkspur Drive.

"I fell in love with bikes when I was 14," reminisced the veteran vaudeville unicyclist.

"My only hang-outs were bike shops. They kept me off the street and got me out of the slums. And they still do today."

They also got him into a lifetime of cycling for enthusiastic audiences around the world. He not only worked up his own acts, but built his own one and two-wheeled showstoppers, as well.

BORN IN SICILY "many years ago," a very young Joe Mol'e came to New York with his father, a stone mason, in 1897.

"My father said I'd be a bum if I didn't give up those crazy bicycles. But, instead, I drifted into show business and spent the best years of my life pedaling my way from one stage to another."

Running his fingers through a shock of white hair not unlike Albert Einstein's, the slightly-built gentleman, still well-muscled from years of wheeling pretty stunt girls over his head, smiled as he remembered.

"I was billed as all kinds of things. People in nightclubs used to say, 'Look, there's Einstein,' and I always replied, No, I'm not that complicated. See? I even travel on only one wheel!

"But because of that, I became known as the Professor of Cycles. And Gene Autry called me Professor of Bicychology."

And professor he was — always adding unheard-of innovations to the world of entertainment cycling.

His 1946 act with the Earl Carroll Vanities featured an 18-girl chorus on wheels and was reviewed as "Nifty for eye appeal and precision."

VEHICLES USED by the peripatetic pedaler ranged from a 12-foot high unicycle to a true mini-bike with eight-inch wheels.

The baby bike served as an uproarious finale to the Professor's nightclub act, for he had members of the audience try to maintain their balance — and their composure — while pedalling at ground level. Predictably, they usually lost both.

Mol'e's wheels also managed to roll with ease into movie parts, and he found himself wheeling around such old-time flic favorites as Buster Keaton, Laurel and Hardy, Hank Mann and Mae West. And he doubled for Groucho Marx in a cycling scene in "Big Store."

AS THE CALLS for cycling acts grew fewer and fewer, Mol'e quietly retired his act, but not his enthusiasm for cycles.

"The highlight of my life here will be completion of the Westminster Boys' Club," he beamed. "I've promised to teach those kids to ride, and I'll supply them with the unicycles. That will really be something."

While looking forward to that day, Mol'e directs his energies toward shut-ins in hospitals and convalescent homes. He has developed several unique exercise devices using the pedaling principle and is working on exercisers for wheelchair-bound Vietnam veterans.

He always gets a laugh from the invalids when he dons his now slightly-battered top hat and tuxedo and cycles round the ward pushing a wheelchair.

"I never quit show business, you know. As long as I can build something for a show, or make people laugh, I'm still in the business.

"All the ideas in my head pertain to laughs and amusement. That's the way I live. And that's why I chose to settle in Westminster — a sleepy town, not too busy for a moment of fun."

STILL RIDING HIGH, the "Professor of Cycles" demonstrates his prowess as inventor of unique wheelchair exerciser (above), manufacturer of giant unicycles and teeny bikes (left) and veteran cyclist.

'Symphony in Spain'

Ole for music

The click of castanets and flutter of fans will add charm to the Spanish setting when Long Beach Symphony Guild members and guests gather Saturday night in Lafayette Ballroom for a "Symphony in Spain."

Gem for the traditional ball will be ruby, with the Spanish theme selected in honor of the orchestra's conductor, Alberto Bolet.

Among black tie-clad guests will be Arturo Morales, consul general of Spain, and Senora Morales, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Belucci of Iberia Airlines.

Guests will be entertained by strolling troubadours during the 7 p.m. no-host cocktail hour. Dinner will be served at 8:30 p.m.

James Selover and his orchestra will play for dancing with entertainment by Flamenco dancers promised during intermission.

MRS. ROBERT C. WESTMYER has been named honorary chairman of the gala affair, with Mrs. William Nott as chairman.

Guild members assisting are Mmes. James Worsham, William Dovey and Ray Dromgold, co-chairmen for invitations; Walter Crawford and Orville Cole, music; Herman H. Ridder and George P. Taubman Jr., advisors; Harold Bayer, Ron Hughes and Lloyd Whaley, decorations.

Also Mmes. Clifford O. Menig and Jack Enlow, publicity; Alexander Kadvany and Stanley Weiss, hospitality; Jay Gibson, reservations; Philip Hattery and Mark Day Miner, entertainment; J. Fred McDowell and Lewis C. Goodrich, door awards; J. C. Ward, souvenir program; Jack Binns, ball treasurer.

A highlight of the evening will be announcement of winner of the major door award, a 15-day trip to Spain via Iberia Airlines.

Proceeds from the ball—$30 per couple, with special seating at Jewel Tables for $100 sponsors—will further activities of Long Beach Symphony Orchestra.

FROM LINDE DIVISION'S PLANT . . . Pours Argon Used In Electronics

UNION CARBIDE AT WILMINGTON

Linde Products, Payroll Swell Area's Economy

AIR SEPARATION COLUMNS . . . Graceful

Special to the Progress Section

Successful plant start-up, expansion of argon production and an outstanding safety record were among the past year's highlights at the huge air separation plant operated in Wilmington by Union Carbide's Linde Division.

Plant manager Jack R. Morgan said that the facility generated over $3 million to the local economy in 1968 in terms of payroll, state and local taxes, and purchase of materials, supplies, and services needed to operate the plant.

Production of oxygen, nitrogen and argon — the plant's main products — got under way in December 1967.

First delivery of gaseous oxygen to the nearby Texaco refinery via pipeline was made in mid-December, and in March the plant started distribution of liquid oxygen and nitrogen to customers throughout Southern California.

* * * *

MORGAN said the plant's argon capacity was increased in October 1968 with the addition of a second argon refinery.

This expansion brings the Wilmington plant's argon capacity to 20 million cubic feet per month.

Major uses for argon are in the electronics industry, where it is used as an inert atmosphere for manufacturing of devices, the welding industry, where it is used as a shielding gas to assure weld purity, and in the production of exotic metals such as titanium and zirconium.

During 1968, Union Carbide announced development of a new process to make stainless steel using argon.

* * * *

EMPLOYES of the Union Carbide plant completed their first year of operation without a lost-time accident, according to Morgan.

Linde Division plants in the Pacific region, Wilmington among them, have logged several million man hours without a lost-time injury.

Looking to the future, Morgan anticipates a high level of production during 1969.

The plant, which has a capacity of 1,800 tons per day, operated at full liquid capacity during 1968, and about 50 per cent of gaseous capacity.

Morgan expects the demand for liquid to remain high, and that increasing requirements for pipeline oxygen and nitrogen in the area will boost gaseous production substantially.

* * * *

OXYGEN, nitrogen and argon produced at Wilmington are used in both gaseous and super-cold (cryogenic) liquid form by a wide variety of industries including steel production and fabrication, aerospace, chemical processing, electronics, medicine, food processing and food transportation and welding.

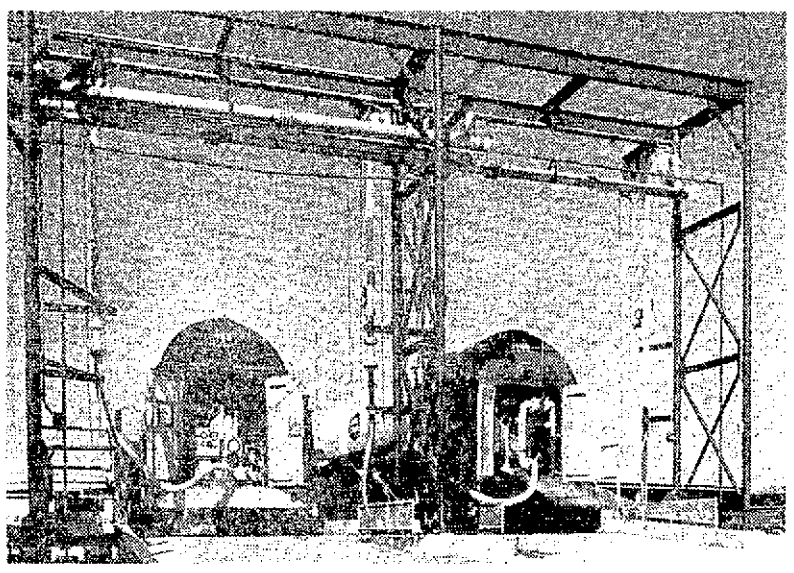

Gaseous oxygen and nitrogen are piped through mile-long pipelines to Texaco's refinery where they are used in the processing of gasoline.

The plant provides the nucleus for a pipeline complex to meet growing needs of chemicals and petrochemicals producers in the Wilmington-Long Beach area.

Distribution of the super-cold liquid products is made by specially-insulated highway transports and huge railroad tankcars.

* * * *

PRODUCTION at Union Carbide's Wilmington plant involves separating atmospheric air through a series of compression and refrigeration steps into its three major compounds in liquid form: oxygen at --297 degrees, argon at --302 degrees and nitrogen at --320 degrees. These cryogenic products are then piped to nearby customers in gaseous form, or pumped into insulated storage containers to await transfer to tankcars or highway transports for delivery to customers.

AL SOLOMON POINTS TO SIGNS

Strong Season Looms for Catalina Island

A strong season, capped by major increases in tourist expenditures, is in the wind for Santa Catalina Island merchants, hotels and recreation attractions, according to Al Solomon, Hotel Catalina owner.

"The new season has brought a noticeable increase in the dollar profits of Catalina's merchants," Solomon stated.

He indicated the increased revenues can be attributed directly to multiple transportation scheduling which involves new airline schedules, the Big White Steamship's reactivation and the new 500-passenger, high-speed turboliner, an aluminum-hulled ship.

DOUBLING OF air flights, the refurbishing of hotel accommodations, the planting of additional shrubbery and flowers throughout the Avalon area, the resurfacing of all streets and the scheduling of a variety of new activities are among the factors that have combined to bolster the new season's economy, according to Solomon.

In addition, harbor facilities have been improved with the completion of the new sheltered harbor. Citing his own business as an example, Solomon said Hotel Catalina tourist trade has picked up considerably over past seasons.

"THE NEW season opened Easter weekend and reservation requests are up 25 per cent over last year at this time," he said.

"To meet the increased demand, requests for accommodations and information, a local number, 534-7761, was established by Hotel Catalina and will remain in service though the entire summer season," Solomon added.

The hotel owner said the announced return of the Big White Steamship, along with the other economic factors, had prompted many businesses to refurbish their facilities. Hotel Catalina's 35 rooms have been completely redecorated.

Newest Oceana Home Units Ready

The new condominium unit of homes is now open for viewing at Oceana in Oceanside — a resort semi-retirement community in North San Diego County, on a mesa at El Camino Real and Mission Road.

According to Morrie Bitker, one of the principals in the Oceanside Land Company, the operative word at Oceana is "active."

"Here at Oceana," Bitker said, "nobody really retires, and only one of the buying couple need be 40 years of age. This is a lower age requirement than many adult communities."

Although residents' children must be at least 16,

COMFORT . . . At Ocana's Units

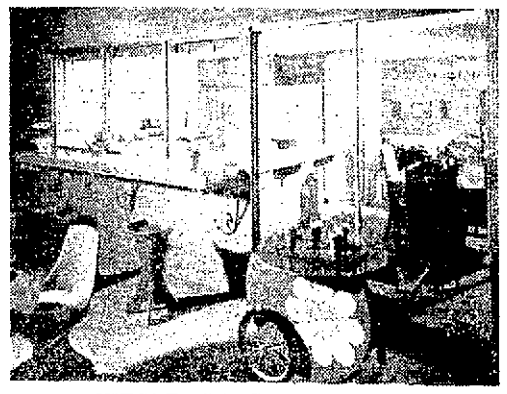

younger children are permitted to visit in the community.

Residents at Oceana are a community of friends, happy active adults with a broad range of interests," Bitker says. "They represent living proof that life can really begin at 40. Activities shared include full use of a $380,000 central clubhouse with two pools, shuffleboard courts, library, billiard room, card room, lounge and a gigantic auditorium.

"Adjacent to the community is a nine-hole, par-35 golf course."

PROJECTED AS A COMMUNITY of 970 dwellings, Oceana was launched in 1964.

KITCHEN BARS . . . Are Popular

Principals in the Oceanside Land Company building firm are Carl Cutsinger, president; Morrie Bitker and T. E. Pickering, vice presidents, and W. D. Newman, treasurer.

To date, 700 units have been built and are occupied.

Units to follow within the next year will finalize the community.

These include Units 11 and 14 — all condominium type apartments.

Unit 12, also open for viewing at this time offers individual Pau Hana homes, visitors may inspect at the model area will be the final group of homes to be built at the Oceana location.

BUYERS AT OCEANA receive grant deeds and a voting share of stock in Oceana's Community Association, a nonprofit association that administers the common area.

A built-in total exterior maintenance program provides complete professional maintenance and relieves the responsibility for areas exterior of the home.

Oceana is within the incorporated limits of the small coastal city of Oceanside (population 38,000), with its miles of straight, accessible beaches.

It is within easy traveling distance to San Diego, 38 miles to the south, and Los Angeles, 87 miles to the north.

FIVE MODEL HOMES are currently open for viewing, furnished by decorator Toni Blake of Newport Beach.

Prices range from $14,995 in the Pau Hana series to $24,995 for the atrium planned Regency model.

Ten per cent down is required. Jim Davis, exclusive broker for the Land Company, added that more than 47 per cent of all past Oceana buyers have paid all cash for their homes.

Access to Oceana is simple.

Turn east from the San Diego Freeway in Oceanside on Mission Boulevard (Hwy. 76), continue east, following the Mission San Luis Rey signs to El Camino Real.

Turn right on El Camino Real to the top of the hill and Oceana.

Assistance League fetes provisionals

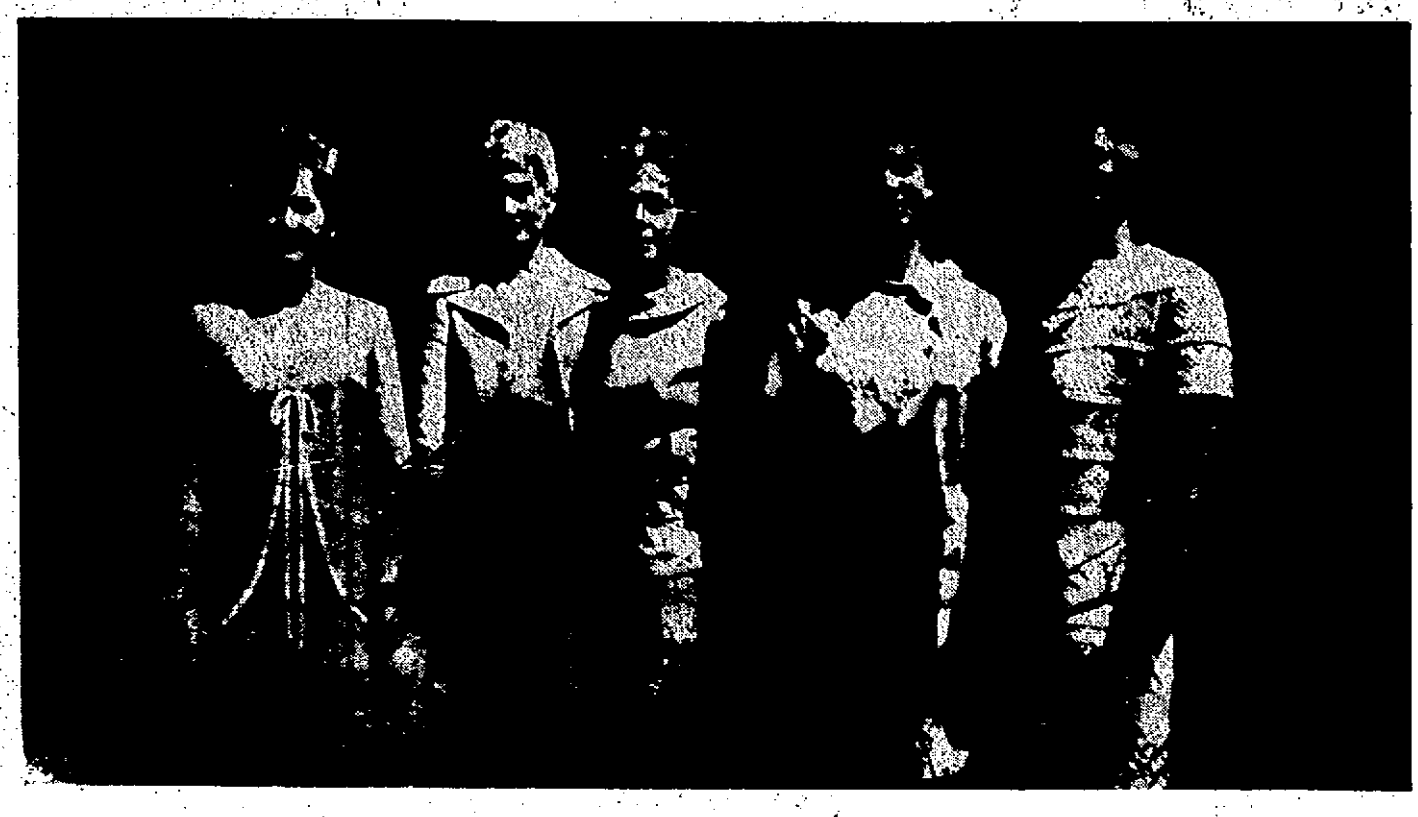

Auspicious beginning of a year's training for active membership in Assistance League of Long Beach and its auxiliary, Las Hermanas, was annual Provisional Tea presented Wednesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Tallichet.

This year a total of 14 women, selected as outstanding members of the community, have been invited to become members of the Long Beach chapter of National Assistance League.

Operating on a $25,000 annual budget, the league is dedicated to serving junior high school girls. In addition to sponsoring Girls' Clubs in eight elementary schools, it conducts tours of the Howard Collection of Oriental Art at League House, 388 Roswell Ave. It also anticipates a facility at Bixby Ranch, Los Alamitos.

POOLSIDE REFLECTIONS LAUNCH PROVISIONAL YEAR

Babies, brithdays week's surprises

By PAT McDONNELL
Staff Writer

SNOOPING INTO the refrigerators can ruin surprises — particularly gala 28th birthday dinner surprises for husbands — says Mrs. R. Burr Dilday.

Arrangements were going as planned until day before party when guest of honor discovered mammoth roast in the refrigerator. Immediate reaction was to ask: who, what or how many were coming to dinner and for what? Somehow, he didn't seem to swallow story that brother Decatur had become a big eater, accustomed to downing 20-pound portions of roast at a sitting.

Unsurprised host did show a glimmer of astonishment, however, when he opened wife's present — a car stereo system — and tapes from guests, including Messrs. and Mmes. Monty Navarre, David Ward, John Watkins, Ned Gaylord, Tony Gregory, Robert Ruchto and, of course, brother Decatur and wife.

STOCK MARKET quotations used to roll off the top of his head, but only figures being quoted by broker James K. Dailey these days are '7 pounds, 8 ounces."

In the old days (before Wednesday), he used to calculate high finances faster than a computer, now he's befuddled by the complexities of making baby formula.

There's nary a complaint, though, considering he and wife Karen became parents for the first time with arrival of Erin Hillary at Pacific Hospital.

Equally proud is first-time-a-grandmother Mrs. Jesse Allabough of Palm Desert at the 269 Ginevra Walk home of the Daileys today to welcome her granddaughter. More experienced at such matters is Mrs. Patricia Dailey, now a grandmother-of-14.

IT'S REUNION time and Millikan High's class of '59 is sending an SOS for whereabouts of 300 missing alums sought for June 14 get-together. Interested persons are asked to write to Sheila Price, P.O. Box 421.

Plans are nearly complete for June 20 dinner dance of 1964 alums of Bolsa Grande High School. Fifth year reunion will be at Grand Hotel, Anaheim, with Dennis Damron serving as master of ceremonies.

HAPPY DATE being celebrated today at Sunshine Convalescent Hospital in Paramount will be 61st wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Lindsey. The couple was married in 1903 in Greenville, Tex. Mr. Lindsey was an employe of Richfield Oil Co. until retiring 6 years ago at age 83.

Now, 61 may seem a record-breaking number of years to be married, but Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sparks will be marking their 70th anniversary today when friends and relatives join them for a quiet celebration in their Bellflower home.

What a 'zoo'!

"Bermuda College Weeks are," according to a college student who wrote a report for an airline's travel guide, "a zoo." His conclusion: "No undergrad should earn his sheepskin without doing it once."

Schick's
Southern California's distinctive
Fashion Store

In a world where everthing moves at supersonic speed, there is a tendency to label every change as "progress." This applies to ideas and customs as well as Fashions.

At Schick's during our years of Fashion history, we have tried to preserve the best, emphasizing style — good taste, and traditionally fine fashions at prices to suit every taste.

Schick's was established over a quarter of a century ago on Pine Avenue; first, in a charming Norman-English building, later, in our present spacious home conveniently located at Pine Avenue and Seventh Street in Greater Downtown Long Beach. Our trained stylists, some who have been with us since our opening, believe in our Fashion credo: "that Schick Look," which means, beautiful, wearable styles that will take you everywhere appropriately attired.

Numbered among our honored "guests" are debs, career and professional women, young marrons, mothers, grandmothers and great-grandmothers from Long Beach and the great South Coast Empire; women who like to shop and be served leisurely, in a complete Fashion Store. It was our Founder's dream to create just such a shop where you may coordinate your costume with hat, bag, gloves, jewelry and "Beautiful Bryan" stockings, as well as other exciting appurtenances from our delightful Boutique shop. We have gone a step further and brought you what we consider to be one of the outstanding cosmetic lines in the country; Alexandra de Markoff Beauty Aids, created for feminine women who always want to look their "youthful best."

These are just a few of the reasons why our old and new customers love to shop at Schick's. These qualities will never change with us. Some may call it old-fashioned, but we call it Progress.

Half of Subdivision Homes in $25-$30,000 Range

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Progress Section Editor

Half of the new single-family subdivision homes being offered in the Anaheim-North Orange marketing area are in the $25,000-$30,000 price range, according to a survey by First American Title Insurance Company, Santa Ana.

Houses in that price category represented 49 per cent of those included in the study. Thirteen subdivisions containing 791 houses completed and under construction comprised the sampling.

Dale J. Post, assistant vice president in charge of marketing research for First American, noted that four-bedroom homes were the most popular, representing 57 per cent of the total.

Post pointed out that the Anaheim-North Orange area experienced a surge in residential tract activity last year. In Anaheim alone, 20 single-family unit subdivisions containing 1,134 logs were recorded in 1968, a total surpassed only by the Huntington Beach and Mission Viejo areas.

The overall sales average for the developments surveyed was 1.7 sales per week.

Conventional financing was being used by two-thirds of the developers, although four of the 13 developments offered FHA, VA and conventional financing.

The Anaheim-North Orange Residential Sales Survey is one of a series of marketing studies conducted by First American Title Insurance Company as an aid to builders, developers, lenders and others enaged in real estate activity.

AERONCA, INC., TORRANCE, has joined a team of major Boeing subcontractors — now totaling eight companies in six states — which are slated to share more than $120 million for their part in the construction of two U.S. supersonic transport prototypes.

Aeronca will build the wing trailing edge flaps and flaperons (a combination flap and aileron) for the SST at its Middletown, Ohio, plant. There will be a total of eight flap and flaperon assemblies per airplane, the largest of which is approximately 20 feet long and 9 feet wide.

Previously announced major subcontractors include Aerojet-General Corp., Fullerton, fuselage section; LTV Aerospace Corp., Dallas, fuselage section and forward wing strake; North American Rockwell Corp., Los Angeles, outward wing, wing tip and leading edge flaps; Northrop Corp., Hawthorne, cab and nose sections, and Rohr Corp., Chula Vista, propulsion pods.

FROM THE STANDPOINTS of productivity, efficiency and versatility, about 90 per cent of the machinery and equipment used today in America's huge metalworking industry is technologically and economically obsolete, Theodore W. Black, president of Industrial Press Inc., New York, and editor-in-chief of the firm's "Machinery" magazine, declares.

Any company that wants to survive in the decade ahead, he said, will have to institute a massive and continuing facilities modernization program.

Black addressed an audience of Western industrial executives and advertising agency officials at a luncheon meeting aboard the cruise ship MV Princess in Los Angeles Harbor. He spoke on the subject, "What's Ahead in the Metalworking Industry: 1969-1979."

SHE THOUGHT SHE HAD seen and done everything in real estate after nine years in California, but a year in Saigon taught her otherwise. She learned there are sides to Vietnamese bargaining that haven't been put in the textbooks — yet.

Mrs. Irene A. Harrison, a Long Beach Real Estate broker, has returned from Vietnam for a month's leave in Long Beach. Mrs. Harrison, formerly with John W. Reed & Associates, North Long Beach, won the local "Salesman of the Month" award for March, 1967.

In Garden Grove, where she lived in its transition from an orange-growing economy to a modern industrial complex, Mrs. Harrison ran her own real estate business with a staff of five.

Mrs. Harrison now works for Uncle Sam as a real estate specialist and she is the only woman in Saigon in that role. Her office handles all contracts concerning Army real estate leasing.

On her first assignment she saved our government a quarter of a million dollars when she renegotiated a substantial rental reduction with a Saigon landlord.

The lessor had a reputation of being hard to deal with, and undoubtedly the shock of dealing with an American woman affected his judgment. A week later he came to her office brandishing the document he had signed and said, "You can't do this to me!"

In addition to the Vietnamese penchant for bargaining, she found the Saigonese are patient. Some negotiations take months and revolve on a subtle distinction that seems insignificant to everyone but the property owner.

Mrs. Harrison said; "Now I understand why the Paris peace talks take so long to reach an impasse so often."

BELLFLOWER'S NEW HOMES
Traditional Homes tract, Bellflower's only new home development, is drawing enthusiastic home searchers to see such refinements as concrete drives and cedar shake roofs. Homes have 14 elevations, five floor plans, are priced from $26,950 to $32,250. Mrs. Marie Stewart, a home buyer, chats with C. Paul Scott, vice president of Hub City Construction Company, and Paul G. Dohrman, president (right).

Understands Living

The Expandable. In Huntington Beach.

The Beach is a location you'll never want to leave . . . and you'll never have to. Because The Expandable can be your first and second home. Its one-story design is planned so that two or more rooms can be economically added as your family grows.

Also, unlike some "bonus space" homes, The Expandable is completely finished when you move in. So you don't pay for space you can't use now. It's the best new home investment any young family can make.

Tour 5 new models at The Beach. And remember this: You get a Five Year Warranty on a K & B home (something no other builder in the country offers). Plus our Customer Service Division, which inspects every home 12 different times during construction. And whenever else you whistle, even a year later.

See all The Expandables today. You'll understand why we understand living. △

SECRETARIES WEEK

Gal Fridays set seminars

A series of activities culminating with a day-long educational seminar aboard SS Princess Louise will highlight area activities marking 18th annual Secretaries Week today through Saturday.

Mayor Edwin Wade has officially proclaimed Secretaries Week in Long Beach with Wednesday set aside as Secretaries Day.

"A Time for All Seasons: To Learn, to Understand and to Laugh" is theme of the seminar next Saturday sponsored jointly by Queen Beach, Paragon and Twin Harbor chapters of National Secretaries Association.

Following 9 a.m. registration and breakfast, addresses will be made by W. C. Chambliss, Coast Federal Savings, and Milton Marcus, Los Angeles City Board of Education.

Their topics, respectively, will be "Effective Business Communications" and "Can Education Cure Poverty?"

BOUTIQUE CREATIONS from the Princess Shoppe Lou-Nel will be modeled during luncheon. "Laughter" will be subject of character sketches and impersonations by humorist-actor Edward A. Wright of California State College, Long Beach, Theater Arts Department.

NSA members will make speaking engagements throughout the week to high school and college students pursuing secretarial careers.

Members of Future Secretaries Association at Long Beach City College also will visit chapter members for half-day sessions to observe on-the-job procedures and duties in business offices.

Information and reservations for the seminar may be obtained from Mrs. Dolores Regas, 2000 Park Ave.

HUMORIST TO SPEAK AT SEMINAR . . . Dr. Edward A. Wright, CSLB Theater Arts Department, discusses Saturday speaking engagement with National Secretaries Association chapter members Mrs. Vaughn Chaney (left), Queen Beach; Mrs. Edward Nichols, Twin Harbor; and Lois Ellen Bogdon, Paragon.

Cummings Retiring as BBB President, Effective August

E. W. Cummings, president of the Better Business Bureau of South Bay, Harbor and Greater Long Beach, is retiring for health reasons.

He will retain the presidency, however, and act as a BBB consultant until his term expires in August.

Cummings' activity in BBB work goes back to 1945.

During his 10 years,

E. W. CUMMINGS

with Mytinger & Casselberry where Cummings served as business relations manager from 1950 to 1960, he was elected to serve on the board of directors in 1952 of the BBB.

* * * *

HE served as chairman of the board during 1957. During this period he was elected to serve as a businessman representative on the board of governors of the Association of Better Business Bureaus International which headquarters in New York City.

Resigning from that Board in 1959, Cummings was honored with the President's Award for Outstanding Service — the first time this award had been given.

Cummings resigned from M & C to accept the presidency of the BBB here in January, 1960.

* * * *

CUMMINGS was raised in Minneapolis and attended the University of Minnesota, majoring in business administration. He spent several years in sales work and sales management in the middle west.

After moving to the coast he became interested in Better Business Bureau work, and in 1945 became associated with the local bureau and was named assistant manager and continued with the bureau in that capacity until 1950.

Cummings and his wife Billy will go to the Orient for an extended visit. They will continue to make their permanent home in Long Beach.

Seal Beach B of A Holds Open House

The newest face in Seal Beach was unveiled last week.

Occasion was the open house of Bank of America's Seal Beach branch which culminates three months of redesign and remodeling at 208 Main St.

Open house featured an ordinance display from the Seal Beach Naval Weapons Station as well as pretty girls in the personage of Susan Nails, Miss Seal Beach, 1968-69 and Kathy West, a contestant in this year's Miss Seal Beach contest and sponsored by the local Bank of America branch.

* * * *

THE $130,000 modernization project included a complete face-lifting of the building's exterior, now designed to conform to the predominant theme for the area — a New England fishing village motif.

The project also included renovating the interior with modern, two windowless teller counters, full carpeting for the officers area and the installation of new furnishings, fixtures and air conditioning system.

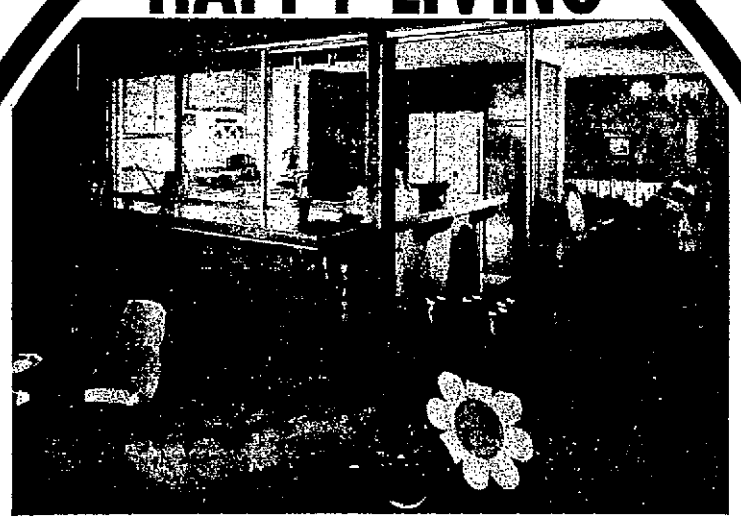

IN ADDITION TO Edward Halsey, branch manager, and his staff, numerous civic and community leaders were on hand for the ceremonies and festivities.

Heading the list of dignitaries were Mayor Lloyd Gunmere; John B. Hamilton, vice mayor; Lee Risner, city manager, and Bill Moon, president of the Seal Beach Chamber of Commerce.

TO EMPLOY 200-PLUS

Ground Broken for Levitz Furniture Corp. Unit in H.B.

Levitz Furniture Corporation, a nationwide chain of warehouse-showrooms, retailing furniture and home furnishings, broke ground for its 12th unit last week at Edginger and Gothard Streets in Huntington Beach, adjacent to the Huntington shopping center.

Attending the groundbreaking ceremony were Leon J. Levitz, president of the corporation; Sidney A. Levitz, division manager for California. and Jack Devlin, of Johnson and Mape Construction Co., general contractors for the project.—All in hard hats.

"The tract contains 13 acres and will have a railroad siding to the building from the Southern Pacific Lines," Levitz said.

"The building will have a total of 245,000 square feet under one roof. It will contain a 75,000 square foot showroom featuring 300 room displays and the remainder will consist of a 120,000 square foot warehouse with 32 foot clear inside height which will be equipped with cantilevered storage racks and automated mechancal handling equipment designed for the company."

* * * *

THERE WILL also be truck shipping and receiving docks to handle 18 trucks simultaenously.

The railroad receiving dock will accommodate 10 box cars. The building will also contain receiving and shipping areas, offices and customer facilities.

"Space is being provided for a regional administrative center. Parking spaces for more than 475 cars is provided," Levitz added.

The building is designed to contain a $3 million inventory. The company sells a wide assortment of nationally advertised brands of home furnishings and plans to advertise in the local and regional advertising media.

The company has eight other units, in six states and has three others under construction, including one in San Bernardino.

"The Huntington Beach unit will employ over 200 people and will be the company's largest to date," Levitz said.

ELECTED

James E. Bellamy, vice president - manager of Industrial Division, Balfour, Guthrie & Co., Limited, has been elected to firm's board of directors. Division this month moved its offices to Fidelity Federal Plaza, Long Beach.

Lombardo's Restaurant to Open in L. B. in June

A restaurant with improvements valued at more than $300,000 is under construction in the nine-story Fidelity Federal Plaza, Long Beach, according to F. P Droesch & Associates, exclusive leasing representatives for the development.

The 6,000-square-foot Lombardo's Restaurant is a joint venture of Leonard Lombardo, former owner of the Embers Restaurant and well known San Gabriel Valley-Long Beach restaurateur, and Loren McCannon, former Long Beach assistant city manager and a property developer.

LOMBARDO described the theme of the new restaurant, created by Food Facilites Equipment & Design, Santa Ana, as "pleasantly Mediterranean." He said Food Facilities had developed an interior featuring used brick, heavy wooden columns, a copper-top bar and gas lights.

"The cocktail and lounge area will be accented by a massive, free-standing fireplace," Lombardo said. Positioned in the center of the restaurant, the fireplace will be visible from all tables and booths. An intimate wine cellar seating 18 persons will provide a private dining area for discriminating patrons.

* * * *

EXTENSIVE continental cuisine will be features on Lombardo's gourmet menu. In addition, steaks, chops and seafood will be offered. Lombardo's Restaurant, scheduled to open in June, will have an over-sized, hand-carved, double-door entrance on Linden Avenue.

The Fidelity Federal Plaza is at 555 E. Ocean Blvd.

Larwin's GVP Title to Tenzer

Michael L. Tenzer has been promoted to the newly created post of group vice president for the Larwin Company, announced Lawrence Weinberg, Larwin Group Companies president.

Tenzer will continue in the post of director of marketing.

The Larwin Group Companies recently announced an agreement with CNA Financial Corporation to merge this summer. CNA is a Chicago-based financial holding company listed on the NYSE.

* * * *

TENZER, 38, joined Larwin in 1963 as vice president and director of marketing.

During his tenure at Larwin, he has established a nationwide reputation as one of the leading marketing men in the country. House & Home Magazine, one of the leading journals in the housing industry, recently presented the coveted Top Performer award to Tenzer for his innovative and dynamic marketing achievements in the housing field.

WEDS DANIEL BEARD

Katherine Ormes is bride

MRS. DANIEL J. BEARD

In a Saturday evening ceremony in All Saints Episcopal Church Katherine Lee Ormes became the bride of Daniel Joseph Beard.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mrs. Sterling Woodard of Lakewood and Jack R. Ormes of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. George Beard of Corona.

The bride's sister, Jo Anne Ormes, was maid of honor. The bridegroom's sisters, Debbie and Robin Beard, and Michele Kimm were bridesmaids. Flower girl was Annie West.

John Beard was best man. Ushering guests were the bridegroom's cousins, John and Michael Frisbie, and the bride's brother, Lonnie Ormes.

A reception in the Parish Hall honored the newlyweds. They will make their first home in Lakewood. Both graduated from Lakewood High School. The bride is enrolled at Long Beach City College where her husband was a student.

MRS. ROBERT SCOTT

Scott and Allen say vows

During ceremonies at First Congregational Church, Barbara Jean Allen became the bride of Robert Lee Scott, son of Mrs. Lay Scott of Pauma Valley, and the late Mr. Scott. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Allen, 3026 Oregon Ave.

Attired in a gown of peau-de-soie with appliques of Chantilly lace, the bride was attended by Mrs. Robert Thompson, matron of honor, and Ann Lindgren, Arthur D. Allen stood as best man for his brother. Gary Bentley seated guests.

The new Mrs. Scott is a graduate of Poly High School and California State College, Long Beach. Her husband is an alumnus of Fallbrook High and California State College, San Diego.

Following a champagne reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Lindgren, 5511 Las Lomas, the bride's sister and brother-in-law, the couple departed on a honeymoon trip to the Caribbean.

They will make their first home in Long Beach.

Donna Haselroth is bride of Joseph T. Hornsby II

St. Bernard's Catholic Church, Bellflower, was the setting for noon nuptials Saturday which united Donna Marie Haselroth and Joseph Thomas Hornsby II.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Haselroth, Bellflower; he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thomas Hornsby Sr., Burke, Va.

For her marriage Miss Haselroth wore an empire gown of organza embroidered with bugle beads and sequins. She was attended by Carol Marie Ryan, maid of honor; Mrs. David Almera, Hanna Martin, Phyllis Degoes and Glenda Hornsby, bridesmaids; and Robin Price and Mary Schessler, flower girls.

Elliott Weinberg served as best man. Richard Dickerson, Michael Weinberg, Donald Haselroth and Daniel Hornsby seated the 300 guests.

Following a reception in the church parish hall, the newly married couple left for a honeymoon in Coronado. After April 26 they will reside in Oxnard.

An alumna of Mayfair High School and Cerritos College, the bride was president of Sinawik. She also was recipient of two Golden Falcon Awards at Cerritos and was named outstanding woman of the year by Alfrisa Club of Downey.

Her husband is a graduate of Frank Lloyd Wright School of Architecture, having attended the school's branches at Spring Green, Wis., Scottsdale, Ariz., and in Switzerland.

MRS. J. T. HORNSBY II

HEAR to hold dinner-dance at Ports o' Call

Among area residents participating are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Copeland of San Pedro, Mrs. Marjory Hesketh and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pfeifer of Long Beach and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Koolmees of Artesia.

Winning contract

by Howard Schenken and Richard L. Frey

Here are some ticklish situations where the hands are borderline for game. North-South are vulnerable and you have to decide whether the statements made are true or not.

Score 10 points for each correct answer. 70 or more is excellent.

1. North: 1♡ — East: Pass — South: 1♠ — West: 2♣ — North: 3♡ — East: Pass — South: ?

South holds: ♠K 9 7 6 3 ♡ - ♢K J 9 5 2 ♣Q 8 3

(a) North's bid of three hearts is forcing. (b) If South now bids four diamonds, North may take this as a slam try. (c) On the whole it will be advisable to pass, for fear of a misfit.

2. South: 1♠ — West: 2♡ — North: 3♣ — East: Pass — South: ?

South holds: ♠A K 10 8 5 4 ♡Q 6 3 2 ♢Q ♣K Q

(a) North may hold eight h.c.p. or more. (b) South's heart holding is inadequate for a bid of three notrump. (c) If South decides to rebid his spades, he should bid three of that suit.

3. North: 1♡ — East: Pass — South: 1 N.T. — West: Pass — North: 2♣ — East: Pass — South: ?

South holds: ♠J 9 5 ♡10 7 6 ♢Q J 8 7 ♣K J 6

(a) North's sequence of bidding indicates 5-5 in the major suits. (b) South is faced now with a close choice of several calls. (c) On balance the best bid is probably three hearts.

ANSWERS

1. (a) Not true. Opener's jump rebid in his own suit is not forcing. (b) True. A bid of four diamonds by South would create an ambiguous situation which is best avoided. North might think that South was showing the diamond ace, with hearts agreed as trump. (c) True. A bid of four diamonds would be a pure gamble. One more murmur and the axe may fall.

2. (a) Not true. Eight h.c.p. are not sufficient for a free bid by North in this situation. Even if West had not entered the auction, a bid of two clubs by North would have suggested 10 h.c.p. (b) True. West will hold at least a strong five-card heart suit and South's holding does not provide sufficient protection. (c) Not true. A jump to four spades will be better, for the combined values should add up to game and North could conceivably pass a bid of three spades.

3. (a) Not true. This sequence indicates very definitely that North has more cards in hearts than in spades, either 5-4 or 6-5. (b) True. This is a very tough problem. A case can be made for bidding either three or four hearts, or two or three notrump. (c) True. Our personal view is that South should support North's suit, and should incline towards caution because most of his strength is in the minor suits, where it may be wasted.

THE SOMERSET . . . Popular Plan To Harbor View Homebuyers

Harbor View's 'Somerset' Home for Big-Family Plan

Harbor View Homes' model, the Somerset, is the big-family plan.

This spacious, two-story home has all the wide-open space a large family could want. Take the family room, for example. This 27-foot room provides room enough for game tables, a piano, or whatever you like.

The family room adjoins the large kitchen area where the lady of the house can quickly prepare and serve snacks to guests or a quiet family dinner.

* * * *

"THE Somerset family room is a favorite with many Harbor View Homes guyers," according to Duffie Fryling, sales manager.

"The rest of the Somerset's floor plan provides just as much wide-open space and comfort as you'll see in the family room."

The entry, for instance, is nearly 30 feet long. But its unusual length invites you into the spacious formal living room. The den, just off the family room, can be converted into a sewing room, hobby room, TV room or a fifth bedroom.

There is a large wardrobe closet and bath adjacent to the den.

THE Somerset has three large bedrooms upstairs plus an unusually spacious master suite.

The master suite has a 14-foot balcony over-looking the patio area, and is perfect for private sun-bathing. Each of the four bedrooms offers enough floor space for work desks or bookcases.

Spaciousness is a key word at the Somerset. There's even enough room in the garage for three cars — or two cars and a boat.

Offered are a choice of six floor plans in one and two-story homes, with up to five bedrooms, priced from $27,995 to $38,995. The Somerset is priced at $38,995.

Take the San Diego or Newport Freeway to MacArthur Boulevard off-ramp and go south to Ford Road. Or, take Coast Highway to MacArthur Boulevard and turn north.

SAMPE's Speaker Is W. P. Lear

William P. Lear, internationally-known designer, inventor and engineer, will address a banquet meeting of the Society of Aerospace Material and Process Engineers (SAMPE) Wednesday, April 30, 1969 in the Pacific Ballroom of the Los Angeles Hilton Hotel.

The meeting is a highlight of SAMPE's 15th National Symposium (April 29-May 1) which is expected to attract more than 1,500 persons to meetings and exhibits. It is a major event of SAMPE's 25th anniversary year.

LEAR is best known for his development, manufacture and marketing of the famed Lear Jet business aircraft. He remains chairman of the board, although Lear Jet is now controlled by Gates Rubber Company, Denver.

One of his prime interests now is the development of a practical steam turbine for use in automobiles.

Refreshment Party Scheduled

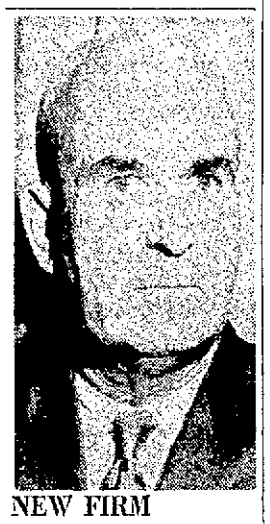

Landmark Homes sales maager Dick Sheakley has invited area homeseekers to attend a refreshment party today at the Gridley Street model area, Cerritos. Hot dogs, coffee and punch will be served from noon until 6 p.m.

According to Landmark Homes marketing director Bob James, area homeseekers from the nearby neighboring communities continue to be attracted to the new model area.

He added that most visitors are familiar with the general Cerritos area and are finding Landmark Homes Cerritos an excellent home value.

Prices range from $30,875 to $32,875. A 5 per cent down payment plan is in effect and 30-year loans may be arranged.

The homesite is located north of South Street on Gridley Street in Cerritos.

NEW FIRM

Felix Smith, former vice president of Trans-American Mortgage Corp., Long Beach, is president of new AA Mortgage Company which has opened offices at 2666 Lincoln Ave., Anaheim. Smith, Long Beach resident, has taught real estate - banking at City College.

Union Bank Square Has New Leases

Five new leases have been signed and two resident tenants have announced major expansions in Union Bank Square, Orange, according to Gary Clarke, project manager of the $10.5 million multi-tower development.

More than 5,000 square feet of office space is involved in the new lease agreements, representing approximately $200,000 in lease considerations, Clarke reported.

New tenants in the office facility are ComShar Complex, a subsidiary of ComShare Southern, a computer time-sharing company; United Professional Planning, package real estate investments; Sagar, Gamble & Ramirez, attorneys; McCall Associates, executive placement firm; and Bankers Life of Iowa, insurance brokerage office.

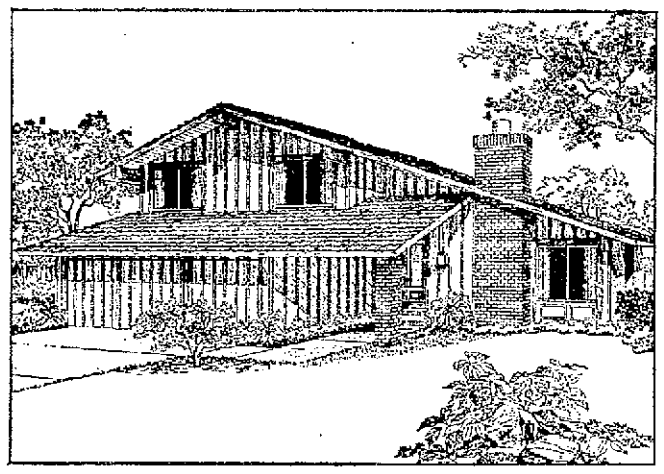

* * * *

PROFESSIONAL Procurement, an executive placement service that leased office space in Union Bank Square in September, 1968, has expanded by 700 square feet which brings its total square footage to approximately 1,800, Clarke stated.

National Environment Corp., a diversified growth firm, has expanded from two to three floors of the high - rise office complex. This gives Natec a total of approximately 37,000 square feet, Clarke said.

COUPLES REPEAT VOWS

Now, they're on wedding trips

Clark-McLaren

Hawaii is the honeymoon destination of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kent Clark (nee Suzanne Marie McLaren) who were married in an evening ceremony Friday in St. Cyprian Catholic Church.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mrs. John McLaren of Lakewood and the late Mr. McLaren, and Mrs. D. H. Clark of Norman, Okla., and the late Mr. Clark.

During the ceremony the bride wore a formal gown of silk peau de soie re-embroidered with seed pearls and accented with touches of Alencon lace and a detachable train.

Christine Mulvey was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mmes. Benjamin Hunt, Gary Victorson, Leland Massad and Thomas O'Neil.

The bridegroom's brother-in-law, Leland Massad, was best man. Ushering guests were Benjamin Hunt, Robert Sneed, Frank Kelly, Gary Stewart and Fred Wilbur.

A reception at Long Beach Elks Club honored the newlyweds. They will reside in St. Louis, Mo.

Radcliff-Chastain

A reception in Puccini's Restaurant followed the wedding ceremony of Cheryl Lee Chastain and Victor Robert Radcliff Saturday in North Long Beach Methodist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Billie D. Chastain, 121 E. Gordon St., and Mrs. Harold Snyder of Wilmington and Dale Radcliff of Bellvue, Wash.

During the ceremony the bride wore a rose patterned gown of Chantilly lace accented with a princess front panel and cascading ruffles on the side-skirt extending into a chapel length train.

In the bride's entourage were Barbara Jean Richmond, maid of honor, Diana Beckering, Beverly Sorenson, Linda Crawford and the bridegroom's sister, Susan Radcliff, Jeanette Oliello was flower girl.

Richard Gerardi was best man. Ushering guests were Michael Larraway, Steve Roach, the bride's brother, Bill Chastain, James Bee and the bridegroom's brother, Michael Radcliff. Rodney Beckering was ring bearer.

Following a honeymoon trip to San Diego the couple will live in El Paso, Tex., until the bridegroom completes his service with the U.S. Army.

Lambe-Hawkins

Lakewood High School graduates, Leslie Kay Hawkins and Thomas James Lambe, were united in marriage Saturday in St. Pancratius Church.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle A. Hawkins, 4747 Premiere Ave., wore a Chantilly lace gown designed with sabrina neckline and a tiered bouffant skirt of scalloped lace cascading to a brush-length train.

Patricia Kreger was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jena Johnson, Laura Lambe, Donna Lambe and Donna Todd. Cynthia Todd was flower girl.

Troy Young was best man for the son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Lambe of Lakewood. Ushers were Philip Kelly, Dan Garcia, Lawrence Sarantha and Gary Leikness.

Following a honeymoon trip to San Diego the couple will live in Long Beach.

Davis-Hempel

First Congregational Church was setting Saturday for an exchange of wedding vows by Ruth C. Hempel and Stephen C. Davis.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Hempel of Phoenix, Ariz., and Mr. and Mrs. Clement Davis, 3530 Olive Ave.

The bride wore a crepe gown and a floor-length veil trimmed in Venice lace. In the bride's entourage were Linda Monsen, maid of honor, and Sandra Westerfield.

Lanny Bill was best man. The bridegroom's brother, Russell Davis, and Charles P. Nelson ushered guests.

A reception in the church dining hall followed the ceremony.

After a honeymoon trip to Southern California resort areas the couple will live in Long Beach. The new Mrs. Davis is a graduate of Arizona State University. The bridegroom graduated from Polytechnic High School and attended California State College at Long Beach.

NATURAL WOOD, DECORATIVE MASONRY . . . Liberally Used In Pacesetter Homes

Pacesetter Homes Introduces Larger Model

A spacious new model, ideal for large families with teenagers and college-age members, will be introduced in a new fourth unit of 62 homes at Pacesetter Cypress, John Klug, Pacesetter Homes president, has announced.

Construction has started on the increment, which will bring the total number of Cypress homes to 243.

Ready for occupancy May 1, the new homes will offer three models ranging in price from $28,950 to $33,450 and in size from 1,462 to 2,050 square feet with three and four bedrooms.

* * * *

THE NEW large family model has 2,050 square feet — four bedrooms, three baths, a family room, a formal dining room and a three-car garage.

Its large master bedroom features a compartmented bath, and its panoramic-view kitchen has an open breakfast area.

Completely decorated models of all three plans are on display at 10429 Rexford Court near the corner of Cerritos Avenue and Valley View Street, Cypress.

* * * *

QUALITY Pacesetter design features are utilized in all three. These include step-down living rooms, cathedral ceilings with exposed beams, designer fireplaces, master bedrooms with private dressing and bath areas, formal double-door entryways and extra-wide lots

Designed to fulfill the needs of a young family, the Stonebriar is one of four new plans available in the total - environment community's 62-unit addition.

The hub of the three-bedroom and two-bath Stonebriar plan are three rooms — the kitchen, family room, and dining room. The three rooms open into one another, allowing mother a sweeping view of her youngsters' indoor activities while she prepares meals or performs her household chores.

THE KITCHEN itself has a patio view through a generous window area extending around almost three quarters of the room, and providing a full view of outdoor play areas.

The kitchen and dining room are separated by a natural-wood breakfast bar. Visible to both rooms is the family-room designer fireplace and cathedral - height celing with open beams.

Key personnel coordinating sales at Cypress include Walter Scott, sales manager for the Pacesetter project, and Pat Patterson, his associate.

FHA, VA and conventional terms are available. The development is located between the Santa Ana and San diego Freeways on Valley View.

'New Look' Accomplished at Lucky Discount Market

Business as usual has been going on at the Lucky Discount Supermarket, 6255 E. Second St., Long Beach, while construction and major remodeling has been underway.

The new look incorporates complete re-merchandising and fixturization, that will greatly increase the variety of merchandise throughout the store.

The new interior design by Kenngott-Brossmer Color Studio is in the "yachting" theme and will compliment the area.

* * * *

THE store has been completely re-fixturized using all the newest innovations.

An example is the new multideck air curtain frozen food and ice cream cases, allowing the customer to choose from a larger variety and offer easier accessibility while shopping.

The check-out areas feature high speed handling counters that are designed to shorten the customer's time that is normally spent in line, according to Lou Gloyne, manager.

Carl Weise Takes Job at Aeronca

Carl A. Weise of San Pedro, well-known designer of aircraft power plant intallations, has joined Aeronca, Inc. as technical director of engine power plant programs, it was announced by Roy J. Benecchi, president of Aeronca's Aerospace Group, Los Angeles.

Weise will be responsible for the design, engineering, development and testing of Aeronca's power plant installation projects — in itself a new area of expansion for Aeronca.

* * * *

WITH a background of over 30 years in power plant installation projects, Weise will increase Aeronca's technical capabilities as it expands its aerospace product activities into the field of power plant structures.

Weise went to Aeronca from McDonnell Douglas Corporation where he was design manager of power plants with responsibility for all versions of the DC-7, DC-7C and DC-8. He was closely associated with many other DC series power plant installations including the DC-9 and DC-10 as well as earlier models.

Aeronca Buys Light Products

NEW YORK — (BW) — Aeronca, Inc., Torrance, has announced it has reached agreement in principle for acquisition of the Light Products Dvision of Powell-Duffryn, Ltd., of England.

The division is a manufacturer and distributor of environmental control equipment and is being acquired for an undisclosed amount of Aeronca common stock.

RESORT-RETIREMENT CENTER

Sun City Soon to Boast Two 18-Hole Golf Links

Sun City, the Del E. Webb resort-retirement community 22 miles south of Riverside on U.S. 395, has become the only Southern California community with two golf courses — two blocks apart.

Joe Aubin, project manager, said Sun City's second course, an 18-hole executive-type course with 11 three-par holes and seven four-par holes, is planted and should be ready for play by summer, relieving the pressuere on the 7,000-yard 18-hole championship course.

* * * *

AUBIN said the selection of fairway homes has already started. "Some buyers," he said, "are taking advantage of purchasing fairway homes under our price protection plan even though they aren't yet retired."

He said the Webb preplanned retirement program permits buyers, 50 years of age or older, to purchase homes at a price guaranteed for one year or until they retire and occupy the dwellings.

Air-conditioned homes at Sun City, with a population of 6,300, are from $19,790 to $31,790, with several optional items.

One of the largest resort-retirement communities in the United States, smog-free Sun City has over 70 social, civic, hobby, travel and service organizations; swimming, shuffleboard, lawn bowling, and arts and crafts shops, Aubin said.

* * * *

A LARGE percentage of the Sun City residents are enthusiastic golfers, Aubin said, and they play golf for as little as 39 cents per round on an annual basis.

Recent rains, which severely damaged several Riverside County golf courses, were not harmful to the two Sun City courses, he said.

"At Sun City, we spent a million dollars for flood control. This system was engineered to handle a 100-year flood.

"We had absolutely no damage to the golf courses or property. It only made the lawns and fairways grow greener."

IDS to Launch May Sales Campaign

Kick-off meeting to launch the annual May sales campaign for Investors Diversified Services, Inc. (IDS), will be held Saturday at the S. S. Princess Louise on Terminal Island, according to Ernst W. Schmidt, divisional sales manager for IDS in Long Beach and host for the meeting.

Over 150 participants — sales representatives and wives — from the Long Beach, South Bay and Riverside divisional sales offices will attend.

Guests at the Long Beach meeting will include Grady Clark, former IDS president, and William H. Whorf, president of Investors Syndicate Life Insurance and Annuity Company, a subsidiary company of IDS.

AT WIT'S END

Mike Douglas is closer than my husband

By ERMA BOMBECK

A sociologist said recently that housewives live their sex lives vicariously through movie and television idols. Can you imagine what an effect a statement like this had on women?

Literally thousands of them rushed to their Funk and Wagnalls to look up the word "vicarious," hoping it was an improvement.

To save you the trip, vicarious describes a substitute for something else. Do we then substitute the men on the silver screen and the 21-inch tube for "old hats and horns" sitting there in his undershirt each evening, nursing a warm beer? You bet your sweet bird we do.

Personally, I adore soap opera heroes. For years I had a thing with Stu Bergman on "Love of Life."

Stu sold cars when he had a mind to but mostly he sat around and talked to his wife. For eight years they just sat around drinking coffee and talking about murder trials, divorces, miscarriages and infidelity among friends. I like that.

Stu put a little fun in my washdays and I loved him for that. Then one day I took a good look at Stu and said aloud, "We've got to stop seeing each other. You're never going to leave Marj and besides, you're too old for me."

SO I SWITCHED channels and immediately latched on to Dr. Bob Hughes on "As The World Turns."

Dr. Bob had just botched a big one in surgery, Lisa was leaving him and taking their son with her and very frankly I felt sorry for him. There was something quite boyish about him (probably the fact that he is in his early 20's) that brought out the Den Mother in me.

The real darlings of the utility room group though are the hosts of the daytime talk and variety shows.

One woman told me the reason was simple: "I feel closer to Mike Douglas than my own husband, the primary reason being I see more of Mike Douglas than I do my own husband.

"Mike is with me an hour and a half five days a week. He never calls and says, 'I have to work late' or 'Eat without me. I'm going to stop off for a haircut.' He never cancels out his afternoon with me to work on his boat in the garage. Mike cares about me."

ANOTHER woman offered, "Steve Allen makes me feel like Dr. Wernher Von Braun. It doesn't matter that I haven't read a book since 'God's Little Acre.' He introduces me to all of his big, important friends and makes me feel like a part of the group."

"Merv Griffin has a little of the old nick in him that my husband used to have before he started to fall asleep during the six o'clock news."

Whatever the reason, it is interesting to see by the ratings who turns on housewives and whom the housewives turn off.

Art Linkletter has it. Bob Barker has it. Joe Garagiola has it. I was surprised to see that Dick Cavett didn't make it because he lacked appeal with the homemakers. I thought he had it.

But then, at my age, I think Pinky Lee has it!

He said better analytical and control systems must be evolved.

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI) — International Petroleum Co. disclosed that it soon will make a new effort to get the Peruvian government to reconsider the expropriation of its oil property in Peru and the large claims the government has pressed against the company.

GARDEN GROVE RESIDENT

Waer Named to High Macmillan Post

Roy W. Waer of Garden Grove, a native Californian who "grew up in oil," has been appointed executive vice president of the Macmillan Ring-Free Oil Company, Inc.

Announcement by President John H. Shaheen said Waer's responsibilities will be divided between the Signal Hill and Eldorado, Ark., refineries.

Waer joined Macmillan in 1959 as manager of the Signal Hill refinery, following posts in which he gained wide experience in refinery and marine operations and marketing.

ROY W. WAER

THE FAMILY roots in "black gold" go back much further because Roy Waer's 35 years in the business coupled with those of his father, total 78 years.

The span for the father, Frank Waer, now retired, totaled 43 years.

It was in 1919 that Frank Waer drilled the first well in the Huntington Beach oil field.

* * * *

ROY'S CAREER began, in effect, when he earned his own way through Santa Ana Junior College, while working for oil companies.

Roy, who resides at 12861 Garden Grove Blvd. with his wife — a son and daughter are both now married — also is president of Southern California Refining Co. and Pacific Coast manager of Shaheen Natural Resources, Inc.

Home Investment Co. Buys Paramount Studio Lot

A Long Beach firm, Home Investment Company, has bought the former Paramount Cahuenga movie studio from Gulf & Western, parent company of Paramount Pictures Corp., for $2,500,000.

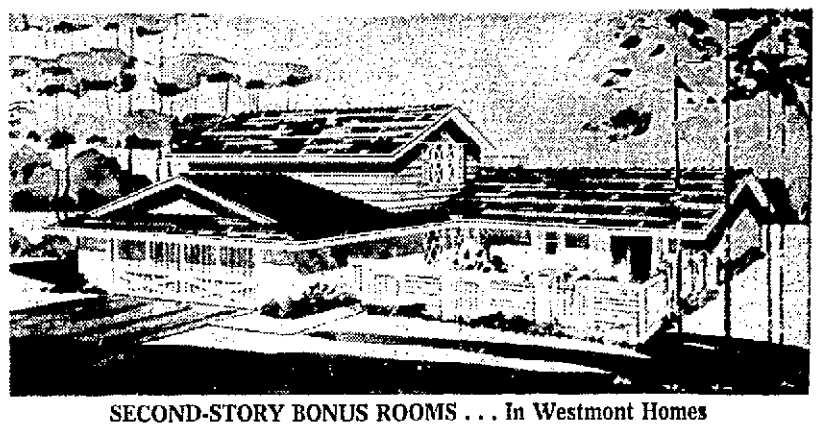

The transaction was arranged by Coldwell, Banker & Co., realtors.

Included in the sale are nine sound stages and related office and production facilities on 4.8 acres fronting Cahuenga Boulevard in Hollywood. The property is also bounded by Willoughby and Waring Avenues and Lillian Way.

* * * *

PARAMOUNT acquired the Cahuenga, Gower and Culver City studios when Gulf & Western bought Desilu Studios in 1957 for approximately $17 million.

Purchase of the Cahuenga studio was approved by the U.S. Department of Justice when Home Investment agreed to terms of a consent decree which stipulated the buyer must continue to use the facilities in production of television and movie films.

Homes by Wm. Lyon

A new home is only as good as the people who build it. William Lyon established his company's leadership reputation on this philosophy. Sixty percent of the firm's home sales are made by the personal recommendation of present Wm. Lyon homeowners to friends, relatives and co-workers (twice the national industry referral average). The basis of this strong endorsement is founded on a variety of reasons. Value, space and extras only a national building company can provide at a lower price. Appealing floor plans. Prime growth locations. Award-winning designs. Re-sale appreciation. Name-brand products. The people at Wm. Lyon homes are a team of experts who guarantee their product. That's why they're known among homeowners as PEOPLE WHO BUILD FOR PEOPLE.

Subtle masterworks of Japan

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Editor

For two years, Dr. Harold P. Stern, assistant director of the Freer Gallery of Art, Washington, D.C., examined Japanese prints of the 17th to the mid-19th centuries to chose 163 exceptional examples for "Master Prints of Japan, Ukiyo-e Hanga."

The show opened this week at the UCLA Dickson Art Center where it will remain until May 25. Because the prints are extremely fragile and may be damaged during shipment, the exhibit will be shown only at the UCLA galleries, unlike other of the university's exhibitions which have toured extensively.

Motivation for the show was UCLA's acquisition for the Grunwald Foundation of 500 outstanding Japanese prints from the collection of the late Frank Lloyd Wright. Some of the prints on display come from great collections in the United States — 47 are loaned by the Metropolitan Museum alone.

The Ukiyo-e, or "floating world" — school of Japan produced woodblock prints which are ranked as the most subtle masterpieces of this art. Meant for the average man rather than the nobility or intellectuals, they depict simple Japanese pleasures including wine, women, song and theater. The term "hanga" means "print."

Dr. Stern has written an extensively illustrated and annotated 324-page book to accompany the exhibit. This reference book contains 163 reproductions, 127 of them in color, documenting every print. Printed in Japan, it will be published in both soft cover and hardback and will be available at bookstores as well as at the UCLA galleries.

In addition, a 12-color lithographic poster printed by Mourlot in Paris reproduces one of the most beautiful prints, Choki's "Sunrise on New Year's Day," from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Grabhorn. It is available only at the UCLA galleries.

Admission charge for the general public is $1. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, 1 to 5 p.m. Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sundays. Guided tours are conducted weekdays at 1 p.m.; special groups tours may be arranged Mondays through Fridays by phoning in advance.

ANOTHER FORM OF ART — designs for costumes for the Ballets Russes of Serge Diaghilev — will be on display through May 4 at Los Angeles County Museum of Art, 5905 Wilshire Blvd.

The collection was purchased for the museum with funds provided by the Museum Costume Council.

William Jones, museum curator of the exhibit, says this area of fine art is little understood by the public. Diaghilev employed painters to create sketches and, in many cases to finish the details. The result was great art. Original designs by Matisse, Bakst, Gontcharova, Soudeikine and Delaunay; and three sketches, including one by Matisse, make up the collection.

Diaghilev, one of the greatest impresarios in history, brought together some of the most brilliant creative artists duing the golden age of the ballet from 1909 to 1929. His star Nijinsky became a legend; scores by Stravinsky, Milhaud, Auric, Rimsky-Korsakov, Ravel and Debussy were first performed by Ballets Russes. Picasso, Derain, Gris, di Chirico, Rouault and Braque were among artists commissioned to design costumes and scenery.

One of his artists, Alexandre Benois, said of Diaghilev, "His specialty — will power. When he began to will, things began to happen, to shape themselves and to exist."

Diaghilev created 67 ballets before his death in 1929. His will was catalyst for a creative revolution.

PAINTINGS in various media by Mrs. Pat Holtz are on display through April at Aetna Savings Art Gallery, 2211 Bellflower Blvd.

The artist is a graduate of the University of Colorado and is a juried member of Long Beach Art Association.

VERNON KERR, resident artist of Laguna Beach for more than 10 years, has his final Southland exhibit at Buffums' La Habra. He is moving to Couer d'Alene, Idaho. More than 50 of his seascapes, landscapes, florals and still lifes will hang in the La Habra store until April 30.

THE LATE former President Dwight David Eisenhower bequeathed a portrait of himself painted by Andrew Wyeth to Los Angeles County Museum of Art. This is the only portrait commission accepted by Wyeth. It appeared on the cover of Time Magazine for Sept. 7, 1959 and was placed on indefinite loan to the museum in 1964. The painting will hang in the Polly Firestone Gallery of American Art at the museum.

THURSDAY at 8 p.m. in San Martin Park, Lakewood Artist Guild will present Ken Young in a program of ancient Chinese Art. He will give a brief history of the art of enameling and, with the aid of a projector, will illustrate his talk.

President Verna Haggerty invites anyone interested to attend.

Marlene Silvers to Sing lead in 'There and Back'

Two miniature operas, Stravinsky's "The Soldier's Tale" and Hindemith's "There and Back," will be performed Friday and Saturday at 8:15 p.m. in Thorne Hall, Occidental College. Admission is $1.50.

Marlene Silvers has the soprano role in the Hindemith work. In 1966, she sang the leading role of Maria in Long Beach Civic Light Opera's "West Side Story," and she has appeared in concert with Long Beach Symphony in excerpts from "The Marriage of Figaro." Miss Silvers is a Juilliard scholarship winner.

Felix McKernan will conduct the seven-piece college orchestra for the technically difficult "Soldier's Tale" which is based on Russian folk stories.

Exploration reveals integrity of plastics

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

"Plastics/1969" at the San Pedro Municipal Art Gallery is not only a very lovely show, it is a significant one. Work in plastic has been for about five years in all kinds of shows. Seen alongside works in conventional materials, the plastics are jarring. Seen together, they have an integral harmony.

On the way back from the show, I wondered how to put into words the feelings and reactions it had engendered. Then, driving over the longitudinal and vertical curves of the Vincent Thomas Bridge, with the improbably pastel Union Oil tank farm on the left and the equally improbable boxes on the oil islands to the right, everything seemed to fit together.

THE PLASTICS, explored honestly, as they are in this show, are a whole new world. Plastics made to imitate something else, wood veneer, drinking glasses, marble, etc. are aethetically disquieting. These 22 works are new expressions in the new materials.

William Bassler's two "Anatomes" are of poured molded polyester resin with the density and translucence of jelly fish. Set creatively in plexiglas frames, they refract both crystal high lights, and pearly amethyst tones.

PETER ALEXANDER'S 4-foot high triangle of the same material is treated like "hard-edge". The reflections of the edges and angles when seen through 5 inches of the plastic are magic.

Rick Herold's "Lilies" are spray-enamel (plastic) on large sheets of plexiglas in interesting contrasts of techniques. James Grant moulded a 12-foot long sheet of fibreglas like a cresting ocean roller, and poured marine blue over it in dribbles.

David Elder's "Magnetic Curve 'No. 2", a floor-standing sculpture 8 feet long and 4 feet high in gray, yellow and white stripes, looks as though it were tailored from a sophisticated algebraic equation. Bryan L. Cook's "Stripe" consists of three long strips of gem-hued plexiglas bolted to the wall at their ends as they billowed in curves. (It was these two who were explained by the bridge.)

Viewing hours at 638 Beacon St., San Pedro, are noon until 5 p.m. daily except Monday through April 29.

Escrow Association Speaker to Be John Kennedy

Television and radio performer John Milton Kennedy, whose activities include representing Southern California Edison Company as a speaker, will address the Long Beach Escrow Association at a dinner meeting May 14 at Alfred's Restaurant, 700 E. 45th St.

Titling his talk, "P.R. — The Invisible Sell," Kennedy will trace the growth of one of the nation's fastest-growing professions, public relations — illustrating his points with humorous anecdotes drawn from the experience of Edison men in their dealings with the public.

Pope Moves Up in Grayson Controls Exec Realignment

O. V. Pope, former director of industrial relations, Robertshaw Controls Company, Grayson Controls Division, has been named general manager of the Grayson Controls Division.

He succeeds Ralph S. Thomas, elected executive vice president of Robertshaw.

Thomas T. Arden, president of Robertshaw, also announced that Pope has been elected assistant vice president of Robertshaw.

* * * *

POPE attended Montana State University and the Industrial relations Center at California Institute of Technology. He later conducted Industrial Relations classes at Cal Tech.

He is a member and former director of the Personnel and Industrial Relations Association of Los Angeles.

Thomas has been vice president and general manager of the company's Grayson Controls in Long Beach. He also is a director of the corporation.

Before his transfer to the California division three years ago he was assistant general manager of Robertshaw's New Stanton Division, Youngwood, Pa.

* * * *

BEFORE joining Robertshaw in 1965 he was works manager at the Greensburg, Pa., plant of Walworth Company. Previously, he was production manager of two Walworth plants in other locations. He attended Washington University, St. Louis.

Thomas will be located at the company's executive offices at Richmond.

Garner L. Graham has been promoted to assistant general manager of the Grayson Controls Division. He has been with the Company since 1935 and has held several manufacturing positions, most recently director of manufacturing.

The Long Beach division produces automatic controls for water heaters, home appliances and heating equipment.

THE ROBINSONS . . . Now At Lafayette

Calblasco President, Wife Like Lafayette 'New Home'

George E. Robinson is a man who believes in being close to his work.

He and his wife, Lorene, decided to move into the convenient downtown Lafayette Condominiums shortly after his firm, Calblasco, Inc., of Long Beach, was awarded the major contract to provide all exterior surface preparation and prime coating on the Queen Mary in the Long Beach harbor.

Robinson is president of the firm and feels that he should be readily available to visit the job site at a moment's notice.

* * * *

ROBINSON says he particularly enjoys the excellent security provided by the Lafayette.

"We now have the luxury of taking weekend trips spontaneously without worrying about papers piling up on our doorstep or possible burglary of our home. We always feel secure.

"And besides, there's no yardwork."

Lafayette owner Robert Campbell said several luxurious condominium residences from $11,900 are still available.

An open house is scheduled today with refreshments and a complete sales staff on hand from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Campbell said.

A TRANS-ROBLES CORPORATION DEVELOPMENT

Growing 50%
in one year presents a slight problem.

The problem of growing 50% the next year. But for us, that problem hasn't been one. We grew 50% in 1968. And that was right on top of a 50% net gain the year before.

Not bad for most companies. But being part of the successful Transamerica Corporation, growth is part of our plan. Growth makes us work harder and more professionally. Growth helps us attract better people and give better service.

It's a vicious circle. Success breeding success. But being a kid from a competitive family, we're not about to stop.

SCENE FROM 'SIRENE,' BELGIAN FILM DIRECTED BY RAOUL SERVIS

Animated films exhibit continues

The fourth annual exhibition of prize-winning animated films at Los Angeles County Museum of Art resumes today at 3 p.m. and will repeat Friday at 8:30 p.m., Saturday at 3 and 8:30 p.m. and next Sunday at 3 p.m.

Illustrating the world's top talent in the animation field, the new works were chosen from the recent International Film Festival at Mamaia, Roumania, and from other prize-winners in this country and abroad.

The Los Angeles Museum is the only American institution now presenting an annual exhibition of animated films.

Explains Herbert Kosower from the University of Southern California's animation department and director of the International Tournee of Animation, "Animated films are often personal, the work of solitary individuals such as Yoji Kuri, Alexandre Alexieff, Bruno Bozzetto, Ernest Pintoff and Jan Lenica.

"THIS phenomenon is not quite as likely to occur in live-action films. Also, the animated film is more meticulously controlled and more closely resembles a painter's approach to composition, color and graphic design. An animated film sometimes can actually be a painting with texture, movment, sound, time and space relationships."

The museum exhibition includes two films by Yoji Kuri of Japan, "Crazy World" and "Miss Kemeko." Kuri is one of the most prolific and talented animators in the world; recently his influence has begun to be felt in this country.

ALSO SCHEDULED is "Les Corbeaux," a film made in Switzerland by Ernest and Gisell Ansorge; it is composed of carbon dust in constant flux.

American entries are headed by Hal Barwood's "The Walled City of Zan." Denmark's Bent Barford is represented by a dazzling animated impression of the jazz favorite "When the Saints Come Marching In."

Others of the 17 films are from Roumania, Czechoslovakia, Belgium, Great Britain and Yugoslavia.

Tickets are on sale at the box office at $2.50 for general admission, $1.50 for students.

'Faust' soloist

. . . Donald Gramm will be a bass-baritone soloist in "The Damnation of Faust" by Hector Berlioz which Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra will perform Thursday at 8:30, Friday at 1:30 p.m. in The Music Center Pavilion. Also featured will be Beverly Wolff, mezzo - soprano; Michele Molese, tenor; Roberto Termine, bass-baritone; and the Los Angeles Master Chorale. Alfred Wallenstein will conduct. The concerts will complete the orchestra's subscription series at the Pavilion, ending the 50th Golden Anniversary season.

Premiere for festival

A world premiere will highlight the first concert of Ojai Festival Friday, May 23, in the outdoor bowl of the town's Civic Park. Lalo Schifrin will conduct his "Variants on a Madrigal of Gesualdo." Michael Zearott will conduct the remainder of the program which will include Mozart's "Divertimento in D Major."

Final concerts are scheduled Sunday, May 25, at 10:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Joan Sutherland to open Symphonies Under the Stars

Arts

Joan Sutherland, famed coloratura soprano, will open Hollywood Bowl's 48th season of "Symphonies Under the Stars" Tuesday evening, July 8. Her husband, Richard Bonynge, will conduct the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra.

At this early date, more than a dozen artists and conductors have been engaged for the 1969 summer season at the Bowl. These include the Royal Ballet from London.

Zubin Mehta, music director of the Philharmonic, will interrupt his sabbatical to return for conducting dates in the Bowl in late August. Sixten Ehrling, music director of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, is returning after an absence of several seasons. Morton Gould, composer-conductor, is scheduled for an appearance. Andre Previn, who conducted at the Bowl last summer, will return this year. Previn recently signed a new contract as music director of the Houston Symphony Orchestra.

In addition to Miss Sutherland, singers already engaged are Elisabeth Schwarzkopf, soprano; and Marilyn Horne, mezzo-soprano. Since she made her Bowl debut as a member of the Roger Wagner Chorale, Miss Horne has won world-wide recognition in opera, recitals, and on recordings.

FOUR NOTED pianists are scheduled: Geza Anda, making his Bowl debut; John Browning, Daniel Barenboim, and Misha Dichter. Barenboim appeared at the Bowl last summer in the role of conductor but this will be his first visit to the huge amphitheater as a pianist.

The Romeros, family of brilliant guitarists, will make a return visit.

The traditional Saturday night "Pops" series will include a night of The Royal Ballet and musical nights in the lighter vein.

To dedicate new Neptune in PV plaza

The rededication of the restored Neptune Fountain, Malaga Cove Plaza, Palos Verdes Estates, will take place Sunday, May 18, at 2 p.m.

An unusual program has been arranged and all Palos Verdes Estates and Miraleste residents are invited to attend.

Among honored guests will be those who have been residents of the area since the dedication of the original fountain in 1930.

The rededication committee is eager to obtain names of such persons so that a special invitation may be extended to them. The names may be telephoned to the Palos Verdes Homes Association in the plaza.

Cerf next on series of talks

BENNETT CERF

Bennett Cerf, publisher, author, anthologist and columnist, will be guest lecturer Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Student Center at Cerritos College, 11110 Alondra Blvd., Norwalk.

Founder of Random House, Cerf has been described as "run by a storage battery that constantly recharges itself." While a student at Columbia University, he became editor of the humor magazine "The Jester." He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and holds a degree from Columbia School of Journalism.

After college, Cerf was a reporter on the New York Herald Tribune while holding a job as a clerk in the Stock Exchange. It was when he bought the Modern Library and began his publishing career by bringing the classics to the public at modest prices that he came into his own.

LATER, he founded Random House. He has published such books as "Guadalcanal Diary" (a manuscript which he read, decided to publish and contracted for within eight hours), "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," "The Snake Pit," "A Rage to Live," "The F.B.I. Story," "No Time for Sergeants" and "Don't Go Near the Water."

Cerf himself is author of 10 best selling collections of humorous stories.

This is the third in the college's series of five speakers programs.

Even in international trade the banker can be your friend. The exporter doesn't have to go it alone.

Today many banks have international departments which can be of invaluable help to those interested in expanding sales to markets abroad.

Banks are staffed with highly trained specialists skilled in the collection and evaluation of foreign economic and commercial intelligence data.

Your bank can also be of service in finding foreign customers for your products. By working through a correspondent bank, a U.S. bank can not only find contacts for a local manufacturer but can also furnish credit and other financial information about the foreign firm.

While local banks can be helpful in arranging financing for production and shipment of your products, the Export-Import Bank of Washington can often be of service when private financing may not be available.

* * * *

EXIMBANK, as it is commonly called, is a U.S. government agency that promotes exports by financing specific transactions. It can also guarantee loans made by commercial banks and underwrite export credit insurance available through the Foreign Credit Insurance Association.

Exchange of U.S. currency to or from foreign currency is another valuable service extended by banks to the exporter when traveling abroad. Banks also assure safety for you in your international transactions by helping to issue letters of credit for your foreign buyer. And, if the need should ever arise, banks can intercede on your behalf by collection assistance from the overseas customer.

NEWEST SORRY CHARLIE'S . . . In Huntington Park

DIVISION OF STAR-KIST

Sorry Charlie's Opening Second Take-Out Store

The second unit of what is proposed as a nationwide chain of take-out food stores was opened Friday in Huntington Park by Sorry Charlie's Fish & Chips.

Thus the potato, first introduced to England by Sir Francis Drake in 1580, has gone full circle and is being re-introduced to the U.S. in a favorite British form.

Featured foods at Sorry Charlie's will be portions of selected white-meated, boneless fish fillets and choice Idaho chips — or french fries as they are generally known in this country.

Customers will also be welcome to sprinkle Sorry Charlie's special spiced malt vinegar or lemon juice over their fish and chips and top it all off with a sweet or dill pickle spear.

* * * *

WHILE some 15,000 fish and chip stores in England cook up a thousand tons of fish every working day, this classic dish has only recently started to catch on in the U.S.

Sorry Charlie's Fish & Chips is a division of Star-Kist Foods, Inc., Terminal Island, one of the world's largest processors of sea foods.

All locations in the new chain will be readily identifiable by exterior signs depicting Charlie the Tuna, Star-Kist's popular spokesman on their TV commercials.

* * * *

NAMED manager of the Huntington Park store is Robert Sartorius, whose prior experience includes various management positions in Southern California.

A three-day gala grand opening concludes today at Huntington Park location.

Special events include appearances by Flipo the Clown and a free drawing today for prizes.

PORTS O'PROGRESS

By JACK O. BALDWIN
Marine Editor

The Tri-Cor and Associates of Long Beach have been awarded a contract for $446,700 to build two buildings, a warehouse-office and a maintenance shop to be erected at the new container terminal on Pier J in the Port of Long Beach.

Tri Cor's bid was the lowest of four submitted and considerably lower than the $790,000 bid submitted by Mitchell Construction Co., also of Long Beach.

THE LOS ANGELES HARBOR Department will auction off floats, buildings, lockers, trees, and restaurant equipment used in the operation of Henry's Marina on Teminal Island during a public auction tentatively set for May 10.

Fred Crawford, deputy general manager, says the May 10 date is not yet firm and may be set back one week to May 17.

Details concerning the auction and arrangements to inspect the equipment and structures may be made through the Real Estate Division of the Harbor Department.

Items to be offered for sale include one concrete, steel reenforced swimming pool.

A SUM OF $4,250 HAS BEEN allocated by the Los Angeles Board of Harbor Commissioners to the Los Angeles Area Chamber of Commerce to help promote World Trade Week next month.

The Long Beach Board of Harbor Commissioners, noting the Port of Long Beach does not get as much mileage from the promotion as does the Port of Los Angeles, has agreed to participate with a contribution of $2,750.

* * * *

A LESS-THAN-A-YEAR-OLD policy of the Los Angeles Harbor Department which called for periodic rental increases be based on the consumer's cost price index has been given the deep six by the current board of Harbor Commissioners.

Bernard J. Caughlin, port general manager who was against the policy when it was suggested by former Board President Taul Watanabe, favors basing the rental adjustments on the fair market value of the land granted to lessees.

Using the fair market value, based on the findings of a three-man appraisal board, " . . . is a more fair and just procedure in arriving at the true fair rental value of a particular piece of harbor department property" Caughlin contends.

The present board agreed.

SHATTUCK & McHONE BUILDERS — FURNISHED MODEL HOMES BY BROWNIE ROWE INTERIORS — PLANS BY R. J. MARVICK & ASSOC

CRISTO STREET, like other thoroughfares in Old San Juan, are lined with pastel-hued and balconied houses. Cristo, however, is one of the most interesting, both for its little gem of a chapel (background) and museums and shops housed in restored buildings. Old Town is ideal for shutterbugs.

PUERTO RICO

Starting point of 'love affair'

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — For Caribbean beginners, this elongated island with the geographical personality of a flattened exclamation mark is the best place to start your adventurous love affair with the Spanish Main.

Puerto Rico is a U.S. commonwealth full of contrasts that never quite let you forget little rembrances at home.

Where else can you visit one of the world's most desolately beautiful subtropical rain forests (popularly known as El Yunque) where bulletwood and the great tabonuco trees soar 120 feet to verdant heights framed by tangles of wild orchids, tree ferns, and waterfalls?

And within an hour's drive, retreat into the bustle of Spanish colonial architecture in the Condado area of San Juan to pull up short for corned beef, blintzes, and heavenly cheese cake under the sign of "Lindy's."

* * * *

MODERN hotel skyscrapers along the San Juan "gold coast" where one can mellow under the sun by day lulled by the booming Atlantic surf is just one slice of Puerto Rican life. At night there's a glittering carnival of lavish entertainment in the hotels plus casino life for the gaming set.

Take advantage of some of the island's 4,000 miles of good roads and retreat to nature in a tour of the northeast section. In addition to the Luquillo Mountain Range with its array of startling flora and fauna, one can easily see, in a day's explorations, the oldest portside community on the eastern end of the isle and one of the world's most challenging golf courses.

Leave San Juan in the morning on Rt. No. 3 heading east. You'll pass fields of sugarcane which are snow white in the wintertime with a colorful blossom. When you reach the township of Palmer, turn right on Rt. 191 which winds into the verdant hues of blue, green, emerald and ochre plains and growth known as El Yunque. Soil and rainfall combine to nourish a rain forest some 2,000 feet above sea level. At one observation point, on unusually clear days, unobstructed by low hanging clouds, you have a perfect view of the Virgin Islands.

* * * *

BACK AT the beach area east of the junction of Rt. 191 and Hwy. 3, there is Luquillo Beach, a slowly curving crescent of sand on the edge of a coconut grove. Bathing facilities and parking are available at a modest charge. Visit Luquillo during the week, the localites claim it on weekends and holidays.

Oldest settlement on the east coast is Fajardo, eight miles from Luquillo Beach and 33 miles east of San Juan. Neighboring islands sent their contraband traffic to this port in the 17th and 18th centuries. With a history of illicit commerce, natives of the town are nicknamed "hardboiled" but their demeanor belies this reputation. From this modern port of the island, you can hop a boat for nearby Culebra or Vieques. Yachting, watersports and deep water fishing adventures also begin here.

Just a few miles to the northeast tip of Puerto Rico is the fishing village of Las Crobas and the El Conquistador Hotel, slotted 300 feet above the pounding Atlantic. A roller coaster like golfing layout commands spectacular views of fairway and green liberally sprinkled with sand traps and bunkers to catch a stray ball.

* * * *

JOURNEY back to Rio Grande, Rt. 187 to the seacoast village of Loiza Aldea halfway on the return to San Juan. Would you believe the first church in the hemisphere is in this location and named for St. Patrick?

Across the Loiza River, you can drive your car on a ferry boat and have it leisurely hand-poled to the other side. End the day driving to your hotel with the late afternoon sun setting on the surf to your right.

Delta Air Lines, offering six weekly direct services from Los Angeles and San Francisco, will revise its schedule pattern from California effective April 27 with early morning departures assuring just-after-sunset arrivals in San Juan.

Island tour set

A new two-day escorted tour "The Danish Isles" will be introduced this year, leaving Copenhagen every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from May 14 to Sept. 15. It will visit the eight most interesting islands out of Denmark's 482, and include visits to Holmegaard Glassworks, Aalholm Veteran Car Museum, the romantic island of AEro with the bottled ship museum, Egeskov Park on Funen, and Hans Christian Andersen's childhood home in Odense.

Tradition, culture of Japanese preserved at Kyoto

By MOLLY O'DONOVAN

Ancient Japan still lives in Kyoto where thousands of temples, shrines and scattered palaces preserve Chino-Japanese art, culture and history.

Bustling Kyoto may surprise you but, as in Florence, commerce side by side with art means superb shopping for the silks, ceramics, bamboo and lacquer handicrafts made here. This ancient capital is surrounded on three sides by mountains, and wooded paths up the foothills lead to restful shrines.

In Spring, when cherry trees blossom along the canals, Kyoto is loveliest — and most crowded. Pan American Airways will reserve accommodations in advance at such modern hotels as the International and Miyako, both with western and Japanese-style rooms.

High speed "bullet" New Tokaido line trains leave Tokyo every 30 minutes, pass Mt. Fuji and arrive in Kyoto in four hours. In the 17th century feudal lords traveled this route known as the Tokaido Highway to call at the Imperial Palace and Nijo Castle, built in 1603 for Leyasu Tokugawa.

* * * *

NIJO CASTLE, across the street from International Hotel, is an excellent introduction to Kyoto and the arts of the Momoyama period. Throughout the palace are elaborate ceilings and recessed chambers decorated with woodcarvings, metalwork and Kano family screens, the famed murals of husky pine trees, birds and flowers on gold ground. A corridor near Tokugawa's sleeping quarters was fitted with a sound apparatus — the Nightingale Floor — which served to alert him of any enemy intruders intent on assassination.

Walking into the now lush garden, imagine you've come upon Tokugawa contemplating in his original garden where no flowers or trees grew to remind him living things are transitory.

How to choose which of the numerous shrines to visit? Japan Travel Bureau is your best guide. Morning and afternoon tours visit the most famous; ample time is allotted for strolling through gardens and for souvenir browsing. Kinkakuji Temple, known as the Gold Pavilion, was originally a 14th century villa built on a lake. It was destroyed by fire and now, reconstructed, shimmers with its golden reflection.

Fifteen thousand red torii gates await you at Fushimi Inari Shrine. Names inscribed on the wooden gates include distinguished citizens as well as commercial enterprises in Kyoto. Gates stretch all the way up a hill luring pilgrims and picnickers alike to follow.

* * * *

KYOTO springs to life at night with its numerous nightclubs and bars. Geishas hold court in Gion and Pontocho districts where an evening's entertainment of music, giggles and childish games costs plenty of yen. Join a group on business expenses for a private party, or, for a comprehensive — if rather touristy — view of ancient arts, visit Gion Corner where Geishas demonstrate flower arrangements, sing, play the koto harp and dance for your delight at $2 a ticket.

Geishas dance for the general public only in the Spring. Miyako Odori Cherry Blossom Dance is magnificently staged, and accompanied by wind, string and percussion instruments.

There are many ryokans (Japanese inns) in the Gion area, and throughout Kyoto. One that should not be missed is the Sakaguchi. Ancient tradition, style and service have been preserved in this two-story inn set between a high wall and hillside water garden. You will have utter privacy.

Tea is served at a low table in your tatami-matted suite of rooms and screens slide away to views of the garden below. The hostess, Uka, will lead you down a wooden and stone corridor to the bath. Soap up and rinse before settling into steaming water.

* * * *

SAKAGUCHI is not listed in the phone book and is virtually impossible to find. For directions and reservations ask Bob Strickland who manages the grooviest restaurant in Kyoto, Ashiya Steak House. Along with Kobe steaks, Bob, clad in ceremonial garb, serves up stories about guests surrounding him at a common table.

Here's where you'll run into friends from Park Avenue, Tokyo, Beverly Hills, Hong Kong. Recorded koto music fills every room of this authentic Kyoto house. The woodcut prints and art pieces in the upper cocktail rooms are for sale.

CANYON LAKE A GOOD EXAMPLE

Water: Key to Future Recreation

Whether ocean, stream, lake or river, water is the star on the marquee of the outdoor recreation theater, reports the Federal Government's Outdoor Recreation Review Commission.

Wherever you go for outdoor recreation, it is a certainty water will play the role as the greatest attraction.

Predicting 1969 as a bonanza year for water-oriented recreation, the commission says people who will take the trails and highways this year will seek water to fulfill their expectations of the outdoor environment.

Billions of dollars will be poured into the economy as this huge army of vacationing families select resorts, parks, campgrounds and recreational vehicle parks — near water.

* * * *

"THE PROSPECT of sufficient water-oriented resources to handle the approximately 3 million annual population growth in the United States is more remote than ever," reports W. Gordon Heath, president of the Corona Land Co., developers of the $45 million Canyon Lake family recreation community in Riverside County in Southern California.

"At the end of 1969, statistics show that Americans will own 2 million recreational vehicles, which will take them into areas, that only a few years ago went begging for attention," Heath said.

"People are rushing out of the cities for recreation, and the path leads to water. The problem is that there isn't enough of it to accommodate this vast audience, determined to enjoy watersports at the fullest."

* * * *

HEATH SAID the U.S. government should invite the guidance and assistance of private enterprise to help in the monumental task of creating a network of new recreational lakes in the United States as one of the answers to the problem.

He said another answer is the development of private family communities, oriented to water recreation, as portrayed in his 2,017-acre Canyon Lake project, 20 miles southeast of Corona.

While lots around and near the 383-acre lake were being sold, the masterplan called for the construction of a country general store, lodge, beaches, marinas and paved roads. The project, now over 52 per cent sold out, already has these facilities.

* * * *

"PEOPLE," Heath says, "who come out to look at land see the unfolding of the masterplan with the actual existence of the $550,000 Canyon Lodge, the Country General Store, the marina, beaches and paved roads.

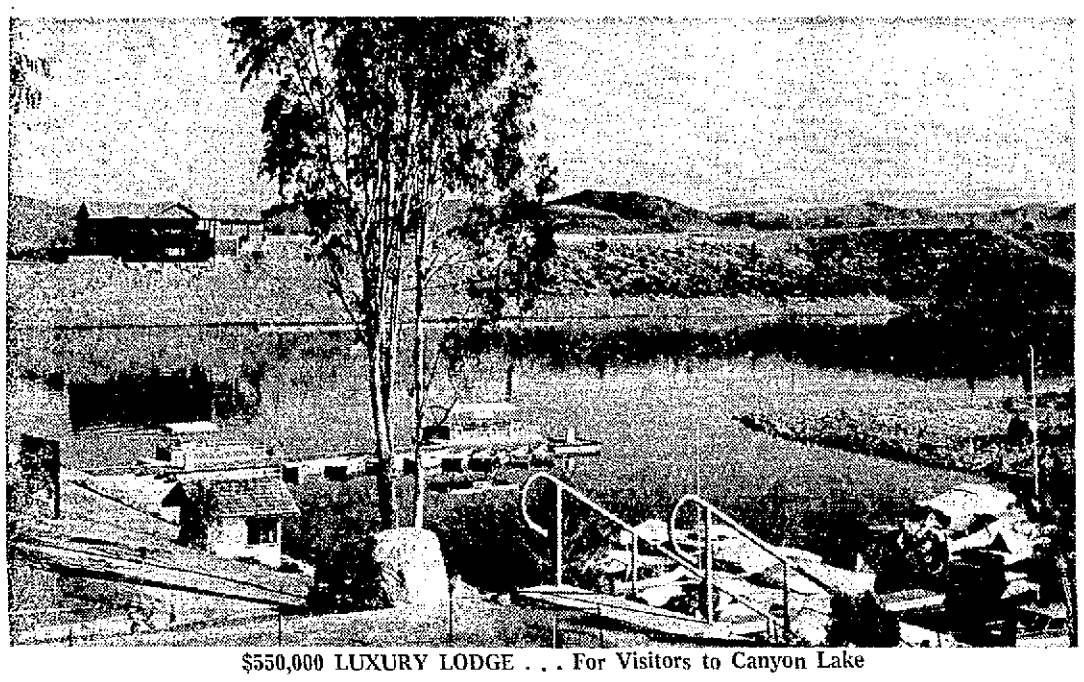

"As others look at Canyon Lake this spring, they will see that the 18-hole PGA golf course and equestrian center are under construction, more roads being paved, more marinas and beaches, and other installations to add to their outdoor pleasures."

"Eventually," he said, "it will be a community of about 12,000 persons who appreciate the value of building a recreational village with covenants and controls to protect their investment for the future.

"Development land without mind or care of a masterplan is not the answer; it is the scientific development of conservation. You can build a recreational community, where young couples invest in their own recreational future, and provide them with the utilities for recreation, and you can still have conservation," Heath added.

"Conservation, in my opinion, is not letting land remain dormant and unused, or permitting the public in essence, to decree its own use of land. But if you masterplan it and make the public a part of this careful exercise in controls and covenants, the land use is just as good a century from now as it is today."

Heath said it will take scores of recreational communities like Canyon Lake to handle the multitudes who desire an outdoor environment.

Casa Bonita Buyers Entitled to Gift

Casa Bonita homes in Cerritos are now being previewed, say the builders, with a special "early-bird bonus" offered to families who make their selection this week. Builders Henry and Myron Reichert believe the first arrivals in their new development are entitled to a housewarming gift, and have promised a happy surprise to early buyers.

Casa Bonita homes offer four new plans, 12 handsome exteriors, with innovations that promise exceptional value to owners.

Plans for every size family are offered: three, four and five bedrooms, two and three baths.

Formal living center includes inviting entry hall, spacious living room with decorator fireplace, and formal dining room.

* * * *

ALL homes offer congenial family rooms, family dining space and fully equipped patio kitchen with built-ins, deep cupboards and pantries. Some models have study galleries on the second floor. Others have brought back an acceptable feature — the music room.

Master suites are elegantly designed, with dressing room, compartmented bath, extended marble pullman and king-size shower. Wardrobe space is exceptional.

CASA Bonita promises to be one of the finest communities in Cerritos, with the convenience of schools and shopping centers close by.

Prices are in the medium range, with VA, FHA and conventional financing. Sales Agent Joe Cooper will discuss financial arrangements and alternate plans with interested viewers who visit the models this week.

Casa Bonita community is located on Artesia Boulevard, just east of 605 Freeway.

Appraiser Firm Now In L.B.

Roland E. Tornquist and Associates, appraisers and consultants, have opened an office in Long Beach.

According to Alke Wood, regional representative for the firm, which has been headquartered in San Bernardino since 1960, this firm is known to many property owners in the greater Long Beach area, having represented a majority of downtown Long Beach commercial properties in assessed valuation reappraisals by the County and City Assessors.

"Economic surveys and appraisals have been performed by our firm for many governmental agencies in Southern California and Nevada," Mrs. Wood stated.

"Having surveyed the current activity and assured future growth of the Coastal Empire, including the Greater Long Beach Region, we decided to establish a convenient and centralized location at Suite 1111, Security-Pacific Bank Building, 110 North Pine Avenue in downtown Long Beach," Tornquist said.

Urban Affairs

New Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz has been appointed to the newly-created Council for Urban Affairs by the President. The Council is to advise and assist the Chief Executive with respect to developing the national urban policy.

REC Slates R. W. MacNair as Speaker

Speaker at the Thursday meeting of the North Long Beach Real Estate Club will be Robert W. MacNair of Coast Federal Savings and Loan. "The Loan in Savings and Loan" will be his subject.

A. T. Williams, president, said the meeting starts at 8 a.m. at Park Pantry, Artesia and Susana.

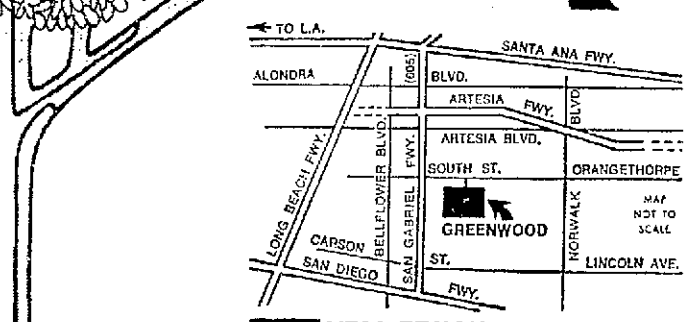

APPOINTED

Robert Bothner, of Palos Verdes Peninsula, treasurer of Sales & Marketing Executives Association of Long Beach, has been appointed vice president-resident manager of Eastman Dillon, Union Securities & Company's Los Angeles office. He has been manager of Long Beach office.

GENERAL VIEW OF HONG KONG'S Plover Cove reservoir shows inlet (foreground) filled with fresh water. Reservoir has a capacity of 37 million gallons. (BOAC photos)

Hong Kong beats water problem

HONG KONG—Tourists arriving in Hong Kong in the past, only to experience the inconvenience of being permitted the use of water in their hotel rooms only during certain hours of the day, can relax. The official inauguration of the mighty Plover Cove Scheme climaxes eight years of planning and building what is regarded as a major feat, reports British Overseas Airways Corporation.

The outstanding feature of the scheme is the 37 million-gallon Plover Cove reservoir. It solves the long-time problem of water storage.

The British Crown Colony is mountainous for the most part and flat land is needed for building. There is an intricate catchwater system and small reservoirs aplenty but they could never hold enough to supply unlimited amounts of water throughout long dry spells.

Total cost was $100 million—the highest priced project ever undertaken by the Hong Kong government. The work force at one time totaled more than 4,500 men and contracts were carried out by French, Swedish, Japanese and local enterprises.

The bold new scheme tripled the Colony's water supplies.

FINAL TOUCHES are added to service road which runs atop mile-long main dam, cutting Plover Cove (left) off from the open sea (right).

Craftsmen perform

Travelers to San Diego this summer will have an unique opportunity to personally meet some of Mexico's foremost craftsmen in a score of arts and crafts indigenous to that country. But the language may be a problem.

These artisans will be demonstrating their skills daily, from May 1 to November 2, at "Fiesta 200" an exposition of the finest Mexico has to offer in silvermaking, leather, woodcarving, jewelry, weaving and glass blowing, to name only a few of their skills.

POLYGLAS TIRE . . . Instantly Seen

WORLD OF WHEELS

By ART STEPHAN
Auto Editor

Dual whitewall stripes and deeper, longer-wearing tread that grips better on wet roads are features of a new Polyglas tire announced today by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company.

O. E. Miles, executive vice president, said the premium tire is being introduced immediately in the replacement tire market and soon will be an option on several models of 1969 new cars.

Named the Custom Power Cushion Polyglas, the tire is in the popular 78 series profile and is the sixth bias-belted polyester and fiberglass tire Goodyear has introduced since first unveiling that construction concept a little more than a year ago.

With the addition of the new tire, motorists now can get Polyglas construction in a range of widths and shapes that will accomodate virtually any contemporary American automobile, from high performance cars to standard cars.

LIKE THE OTHERS IN ITS family, the new tire has a bias-ply polyester cord body topped by belts of fiberglass which lie just under the tread. The belts keep the tread pressed firmly against the road, reducing squirming, and thus contribute to the design's exceptionally long tread life.

Miles said the new entry has a tread groove depth 10 per cent deeper than Goodyear's other 78 series bias-belted tire, the Power Cushion Polyglas. This not only increases tread life, but also lengthens the period that the tread can deliver the most effective traction, he added.

Extensive testing shows that the new tire provides up to 15 per cent more traction than conventional bias-ply tires on wet surfaces, Miles said.

THE "78" MEANS THAT THE height of the tire from bead to thread surface is 78 per cent of the tire's width. By comparison, most wide-tread tires are 70 series, while most conventional tires have had a height to width ratio of about 83 per cent.

Styling of the tire is enhanced by the two whitewall stripes, each 3-10ths of an inch wide and separated by ¼-inch of black. The tread pattern is carried over the shoulders of the tire in another design feature.

In both 14- and 15-inch wheel sizes, the suggested no-trade-in price for an F78 Custom Power Cushion Polyglas is $43.75 for a blackwall tire; $50.30 for a whitewall.

'68 Will Be Tough to Beat in Housing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The housing industry spent most of last year congratulating itself on its recovery from the market collapse of 1966. Now it must try to beat those gains in 1969.

The job will be a tough one.

Rising interest rates plus spiraling land, labor and lumber costs will plague the homebuilder in the year ahead, but government projections say he can still have the best 12 months he has ever had.

A Commerce Department survey of the construction industry paints an optimistic picture for the housing industry in 1969. Department economists caution, however, that the rosy view depends on how effectively the government can deal with its inflation problems in the first half of the year.

That's a big "if", but the economists point out that the industry has come a long way from the 845,000 housing start low point of 1966 to the 1.5 million rate it reached in 1968.

The survey also goes so far as to predict that the housing start rate for 1969 will reach 1.66 million units — a peak reached only in 1955 and topped only by the 1.9 million rate back in 1950 during the postwar housing boom.

* * * *

THE MOST dramatic surge in housing construction will be in the multi-unit dwelling, the survey said. Apartments, condominiums, duplexes and the like tallied a 36 per cent increase in starts last year, compared with the 8 per cent gain recorded for single family units.

"The estimated 610,000 units in multi-unit structures started in 1968 were the highest on record," the survey said.

"In 1969 a further rise is expected with starts in such structures reaching 685,000 — a 12 per cent uptrend."

This is not to say that the day of the one-family home is over, the department stressed, not on your 8 per cent FHA mortgage.

* * * *

"ALTHOUGH single unit starts have not shown the same momentum as multi-units in 1968, they should be at about the 975,000 unit mark in 1969," the survey stated.

"While this represents an improvement over the estimated 915,000 units started in 1968, it falls short of the 1950 peak performance. It is however, the highest since 1963, when 1,021,000 units were started."

'Price Protection Plan' Still Offered by Holstein and Sons

The "Price Protection Plan" that guarantees the price of the home and no payments on principal or interest until July, continues at two George M. Holstein and Sons' developments.

Both the Green Valley community in Fountain Valley and the Hacienda Homes development in Anaheim will continue to make the unusual "hold the price line" offer, the pioneer home building firm assured.

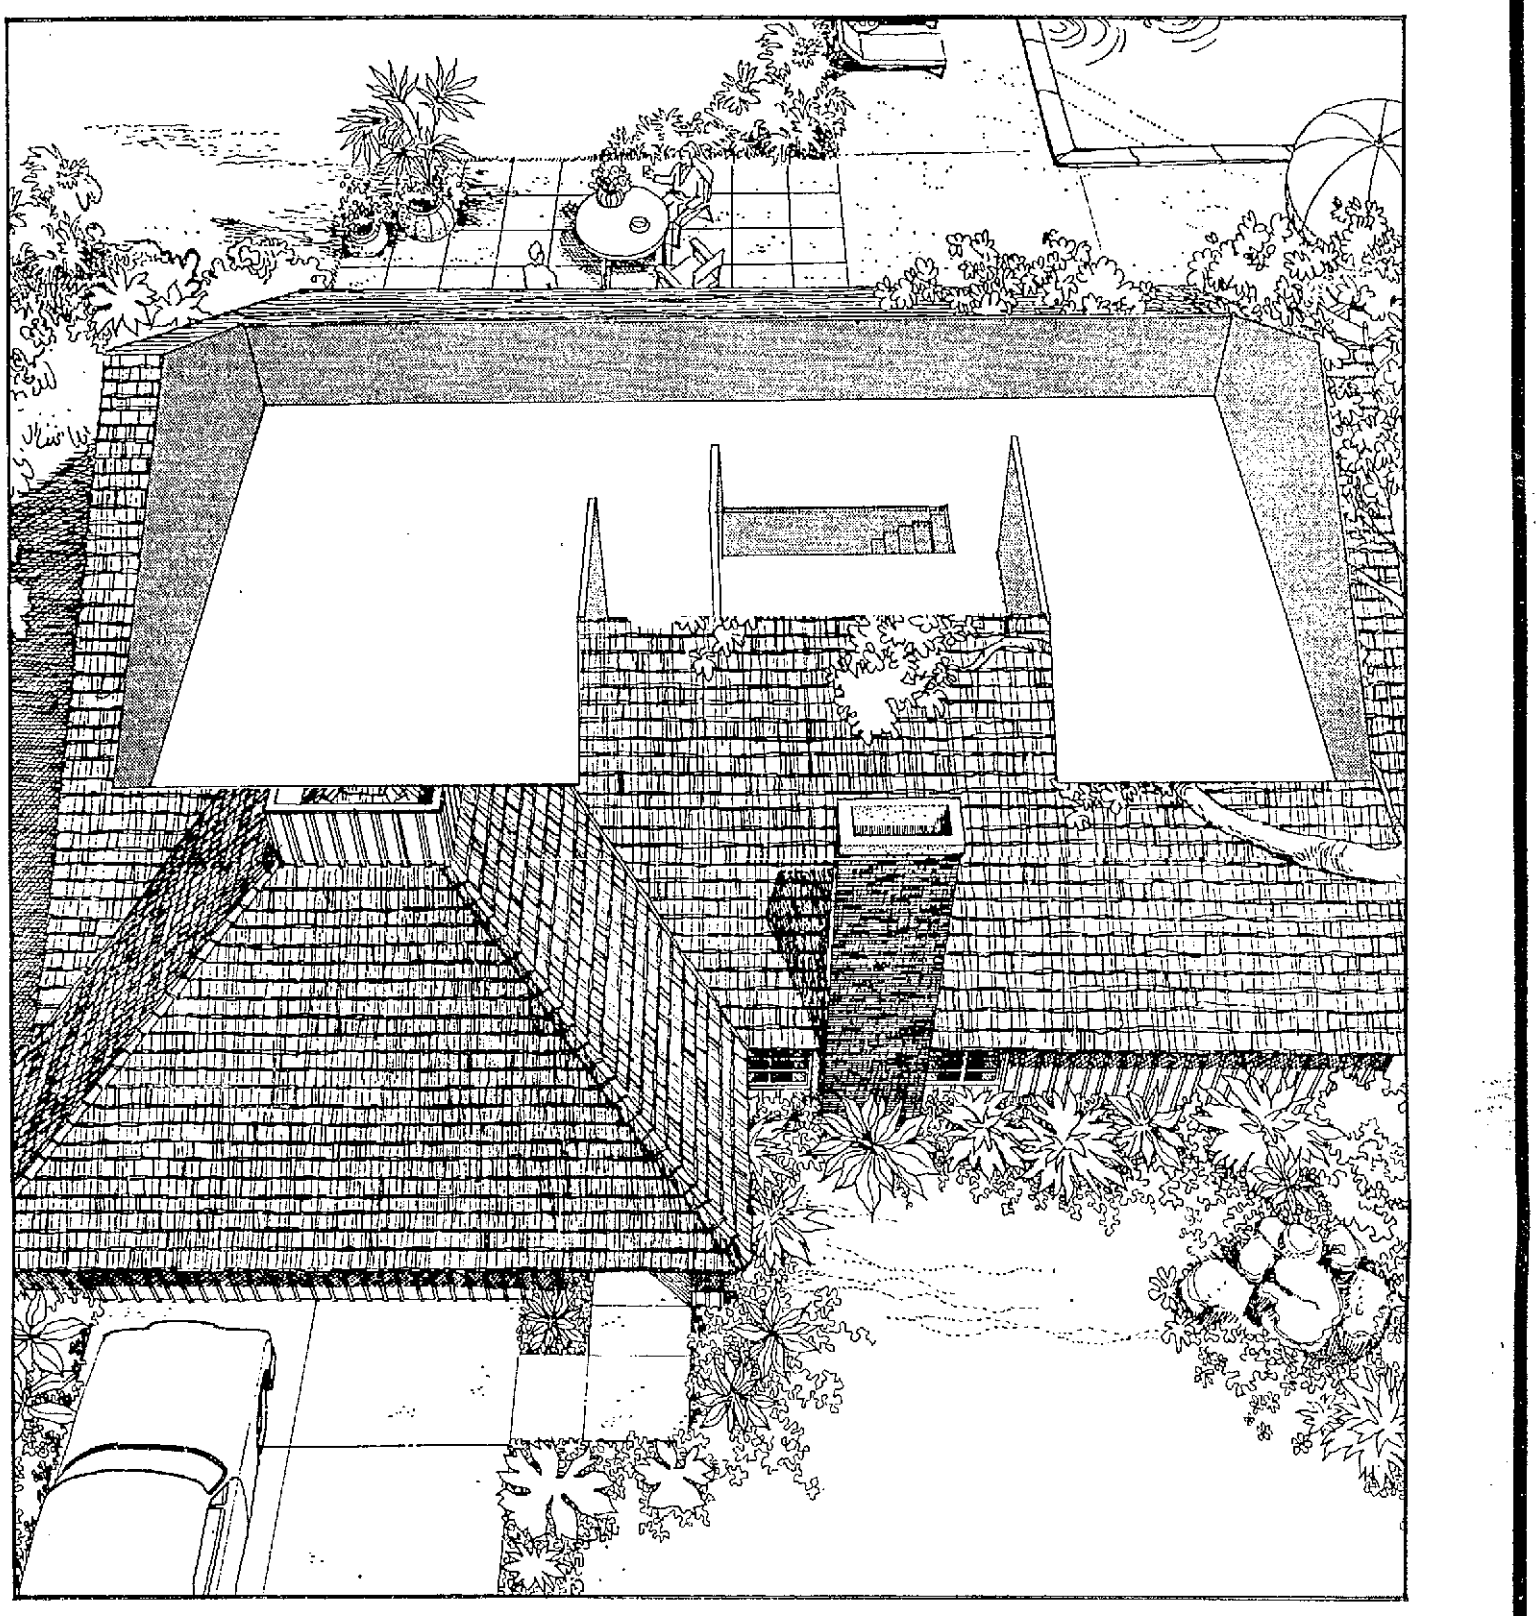

With home prices increasing almost daily, the Holstein plan means that the Hacienda or Green Valley home buyer may purchase in current units at Early 1969 prices and enjoy savings along with the advantage of no loan payments or taxes until July, the company explained.

* * * *

SAVINGS over current prices amount to as much as $1,800, the development firm pointed out.

"The buyer may move right in — or wait until the end of the school year — either way the 'price protection' and the advantage of no payments will be to the buyers advantage," an Holstein official declared.

To visit Hacienda Homes from Long Beach, take the Riverside Freeway to Jefferson. To visit Green Valley, drive south on the San Diego freeway to the Warner off-ramp. Stay East on Warner past Brookhurst to the entry.

Orange County to host Nisei convention

Orange County will be host for the Pacific Southwest District Council Japanese American Citizen's League Convention beginning Friday, at the Disneyland Hotel.

Highlight of the three-day event will occur Saturday when queen for the June Nisei Relays will be selected during a fashion show-brunch beginning at 10:30 a.m. Another feature will be recognition of non-Japanese individuals who have contributed to the Japanese-American cause during a 7:30 p.m. banquet.

JAN MURDOCK

KEITH THOMPSON

'Satire on Fashion' brunch entertainment

Woman's Society of Christian Service will host its spring brunch Friday at 11 a.m. in the fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church, Fifth Street and Pacific Avenue.

Entertainment will be by Jan Murdock, comedienne, lecturer and teacher, and her husband, Keith Thompson, concert harmonica virtuoso.

Miss Murdock will present "Satire on Fashion," combining humor, inspiration and information.

Reservations, at $2 each, must be made by Wednesday at the church office.

Recital today

Lakewood Branch of MTA will present in recital today two students who have achieved the ninth level in the Certificate of Merit program. Sue Antal, pianist, and Jennifer Iorine, flutist, will perform at 3 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Pamela Stubbs, Certificate of Merit chairman, 4222 Devon Circle, Cypress. The public is invited.

Benefit to aid scholar

A first will be afforded guests attending the annual scholarship benefit of the Smith College Club of Los Angeles when they spend "an afternoon with Cardinali" next Sunday.

The three faces of Cardinali will be revealed as the California haute couture designer opens her Beverly Hills home to the public for the first time. At home she is Mrs. Harry Lewis and mother of two teen-age sons.

In addition to her designing, she is chairman of the board of Hamburger Hamlet restaurants and did the interior decorating for their home.

The 2 to 5 p.m. event will include a tour of the house with its period furnishings in the tradition of Louis XV, Louis XVI and Italian roccoco.

Highlight of the afternoon will be a garden fashion show of Cardinali's spring collection and a sneak preview of her fall designs, she will give her own commentary.

A musical interlude will be provided by Murray Korda and his strings.

MR. AND MRS. ALBERT BACHMAN

Bachmans mark 50th anniversary

To celebrate their 50th anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bachman will hold an open house for family and friends next Sunday at their Los Alamitos home.

The Bachmans came to the Long Beach area 10 years ago after retiring from one of the largest florist and nursery establishments in the country, Bachman Inc., Minnesota.

They were married in Minneapolis, Minn., on April 30, 1919 and took over the business originally started 85 years ago by Bachman's parents, who grew vegetables in greenhouses.

Coming from Minneapolis to help his parents celebrate the occasion will be Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Bachman. There are two grandsons, Lee, who is a senior at Yale University, and Dale, who attends the University of Minnesota.

The open house will be from 2 to 6 p.m. at 11581 Weatherby Road.

DEAR ABBY

Young convict advises others

By ABIGAIL Van BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and in a pack of trouble. I was arrested for burglary and other charges. This was not my first time, so I am locked up here in Cambridge, Minn., awaiting trial. I would like to express some of the things I have learned in the 121 days I have been here.

One is that you should listen to your parents as they will never steer you wrong. I never got along too good with my dad. Every time he tried to talk to me we got into a heated argument, but now I realize if I had listened to him, I wouldn't be here.

I would also like to tell kids, don't quit school to go out and make money. I did, and look where I ended up.

Also, there are no short cuts. A guy needs all the education he can get. And another thing. Don't blame your mistakes on other people. My friends showed me how to break the law, but I am the one who now must take full responsibility for my own actions.

I will probably get sent up to St. Cloud, but thanks, Abby, for letting me say this. Also I want to thank Sheriff Erickson. He is a swell guy. He let me use his typewriter to write to you. Sincerely, "THE CAMBRIDGE BUM"

DEAR SIR: You're young yet, so don't go calling yourself a "bum." You can pay your debt and still amount to something if you really want to. I talked to Sheriff Erickson, and he told me you had already been sent to St. Cloud.

He said he certainly hoped you would straighten yourself out because you had a lot of good in you, in addition to being exceptionally smart. I believe him. I wish you luck.

DEAR ABBY: Your column has always been welcome in our home. Indeed we call you "the learned judge — a Second Solomon."

Then all that endearment came to a sudden end when you gave your approval to a mother bathing her baby in the kitchen sink — the same sink in which the household dishes were washed!

Abby, you showed a shocking disregard for the accepted principles of sanitation and disease prevention. The mere thought of eating from dishes washed in the same sink in which a child was bathed leaves a most offensive taste in one's mouth.

We could easily close this chapter by forever boycotting your column. However, we prefer to give you a chance to retract your unsavory judgment. HELEN A., NORTHPORT, N.Y.

DEAR HELEN: Like I said. If the sink is clean BEFORE AND AFTER the baby's bath, what's the difference?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "ACTOR — AT LIBERTY": Pride goeth before a fall. A small role is better than a long loaf.

Imported Marble Entries Feature of S & S Homes

Homes tailored to fit the contemporary family's needs are a result of careful planning at Golden West College Estates, according to Gerry Dirksen, sales and marketing manager for S & S Construction Co., the Westminster community developers.

The company's own architects design the homes as a complete package so that elegance and functionalism mesh smoothly for maximum livability and convenience, Dirksen said.

Some of the items which lend an air of graciousness to these outstanding homes are the imported marble entries, step-up living rooms, custom cut crystal chandeliers, wall-to-wall carpeting throughout, and a wide selection of natural stone, marble or brick fireplaces.

* * * *

"FLOWER fresh" kitchens feature generous use of ceramic tile, vinyl asbestos floor covering, luminous ceilings, and triple sinks to make preparation of food and after party clean-up as unchorelike as possible.

The three- to six-bedroom homes in one-story, two-story, or split-level models are priced from $32,590.

Golden West can be visited daily. From the San Diego Freeway, take Golden West turnoff, go south one block to MacFadden Ave., turn left to model homes.

Franklin Stores Acquires Ross Stores, Subsidiary

Ross Stores and its subsidiary, Andrea Dee Corporation, have been acquired by the Franklin Stores (NYSE).

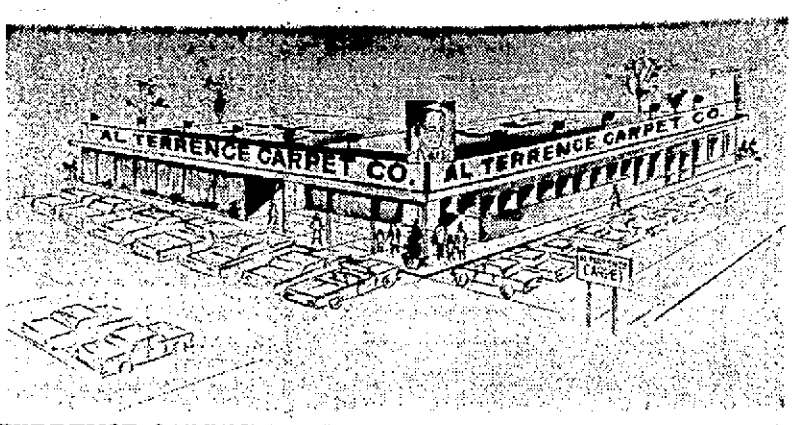

Current sales volume of Ross Stores' operations is approximately $4 million.

The present Ross management is expected to head up all Franklin Stores' West Coast operations.

Ernest Ross has been a Long Beach merchant and resident since 1945. His son, Jerry, joined the firm in 1961, after attending the University of California at Berkeley.

Jerry Ross will head all West Coast operations, while Ernest Ross will be retained as consultant.

The Ross group accepted the proposal of the Franklin Stores after examining the strength, management and growth of the acquiring company.

1. Obtain a packet containing one free "International Flags" game piece every time you visit a participating Mobil dealer. Here's how to play the "International Flags" game — there are two different ways to win:

   a. Tear open the packet and take out your "International Flags" game piece. Match your flag to the corresponding flag on the face of the game card. Then, dampen the glue strip covering the printed flag on the game card and affix your flag. To win $5,000, $1,000, $100 or $25, collect all of the "International Flags" needed to properly complete the corresponding prize level section on your game card. Cut out the completed prize section along the dotted line on your game card and take it to any participating Mobil dealer for instructions on verification and awarding of the specified prize.

   b. You may also receive an "International Flags" "instant winner" game piece for $5,000, $1,000, $100, $25, $5, $1 or 50¢. You can identify an "instant winner" by tilting the game piece and having the words "instant winner" appear in place of the flag. Take that game piece immediately to any participating Mobil dealer for instructions on verification and awarding of the specified prize.

2. Participation open to licensed drivers only. Individuals (and their immediate families) engaged in development, production or distribution of game materials are not eligible for prize awards.

3. All game materials are subject to verification. Game materials are void and may be rejected if not obtained through legitimate channels, or if any part is illegible, mutilated, smeared or tampered with, or if any materials contain printing or other errors. Promotion void in whole or in part where prohibited or limited by law. Applicable taxes due on any prizes are the responsibility of the winners. Redemption of game prizes ends 15 days after the promotion's expiration date.

Use of the American flag on this card might not conform with certain state laws and space precludes the use of all international flags. You can, however, obtain a print of the "Flags of the United Nations" by sending a check or money order for 50¢ with your name and address to:

NO PURCHASE NECESSARY

1. Obtain a packet containing one free "International Flags" game piece every time you visit a participating Mobil dealer. Here's how to play the "International Flags" game — there are two different ways to win:

   a. Tear open the packet and take out your "International Flags" game piece. Match your flag to the corresponding flag on the face of the game card. Then, dampen the glue strip covering the printed flag on the game card and affix your flag. To win $5,000, $1,000, $100 or $25, collect all of the "International Flags" needed to properly complete the corresponding prize-level section on your game card. Cut out the completed prize section along the dotted line on your game card and take it to any participating Mobil dealer for instructions on verification and awarding of the specified prize.

   b. You may also receive an "International Flags" "instant winner" game piece for $5,000, $1,000, $100, $25, $5, $1 or 50¢. You can identify an "instant winner" by lifting the game piece and having the words "instant winner" appear in place of the flag. Take that game piece immediately to any participating Mobil dealer for instructions on verification and awarding of the specified prize.

2. Participation open to licensed drivers only. Individuals (and their immediate families) engaged in development, production or distribution of game materials are not eligible for prize awards.

3. All game materials are subject to verification. Game materials are void and may be rejected if not obtained through legitimate channels, or if any part is illegible, mutilated, smeared or tampered with, or if any materials contain printing or other errors. Promotion void in whole or in part where prohibited or limited by law. Applicable taxes due on any prizes are the responsibility of the winners. Redemption of game prizes ends 15 days after the promotion's expiration date.

Use of the American flag on this card might not conform with certain state laws and space precludes the use of all international flags. You can, however, obtain a print of the "Flags of the United Nations" by sending a check or money order for 50¢ with your name and address to:

"I, full of spirit, audacity, courage thrown into life here in Spoon River."

"It is all very well, but for myself I know I stirred certain vibrations in Spoon River which are my true epitaph, more lasting than stone."

Those two quotations are taken from one of the most remarkable books published in 20th century America, Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology." At the time of its publication in 1915, this caustic, bitterly realistic collection of 244 elegiac epitaphs spoken by the inhabitants of the Spoon River cemetery caused one of the greatest controversies in American arts and letters.

DRAMA of a failing newspaper features Barry Sullivan (right) and E. G. Marshall.

Paper Dies

Drama Tells Final Days

The drama of the last day of a collapsing newspaper and its effect on both the staff and the town will be told in "This Town Will Never Be the Same," the season's fourth presentation of "On Stage," at 9 p.m., Wednesday, Ch. 4.

Barry Sullivan and E. G. Marshall will star in the original drama by Edward De Blasio. Other principal parts will be played by John Beal, Bill Devane, Vincent Gardenia, Paul Collins, William Roerick, Fred Scollay, Staats Cotsworth and Paul McGrath.

A newspaper in an Eastern city is about to go out of business. The growing deficits of the paper and the demands of the union make continuance impossible. Barry Sullivan plays the managing editor, Abner Doyle, and Marshall, the absentee owner, Bruce Crichton. Paul Rourke, played by Vincent Gardenia, is the union's general secretary, who realizes the problems of the paper, but who also must face the financial needs of the union members.

Author De Blasio was himself once a reporter on the Hartford Courant (Conn.). His television credits included scripts for many prominent series, among them: "Run for Your Life," "N.Y.P.D.," "The Virginian" and "The Defenders" and "U.S. Steel." He is co-author of the filmplay "Legend of Lylah Clare" in producton. He has written extensively for national magazines and published a book on the Beatles.

BIG SUR, a new play by Frank Gagliano, premieres on "Experiment in Television" at 4:30 p.m., Sunday, Ch. 4. In the cast are Gene Troobnick (foreground) and Susan Tyrrell, Kate Harrington, Danny Sullivan and Steve Deming (from left).

PAN AND FAN MAIL

WHY DOESN'T the TV industry have more programs like Kate Smith's? What a refreshing show, and "clean", too.

Just a TV Fan,

TWO QUESTIONS — Is one of the two whistlers in the "Woolite" commercial Tom Brokaw, of the Ch. 4 news department?

Is there any basis for my feeling that Gary Conway of "Land of the Giants" was once a child star in another series a few years ago.

J.B.,

(No, in both cases).

I READ that Martin Landau is leaving "Mission: Impossible" because of a salary dispute. Is this true, and is it also true that "Mission" is leaving CBS because Paramount loses money on each episode of the series?

Steve Harris,

(The studio publicity office says its all just a rumor. But, then there were rumors that Tony Franciosa was unhappy with "Name of the Game" and that publicity office said it was all rumor — until Franciosa was suspended.

COULD you please find out what the background music was for "The High Chaparral" episode aired Friday, April 4, and where I could get a recording of this music?

MRS. G. M. M.,

(Music was composed by Harry Sukman for the episode and titled, "Theme for Carlos." It is not available on record).

I HAVEN'T heard anything lately about "Star Trek," the science-fiction series. Has it been "officially" cancelled . . . or is there still a chance to save the show . . .?

(It is "officially" not on the schedule for next season).

WOULD IT BE possible for you to print the names and addresses of the major network presidents? I know this is done often, but perhaps more people are encouraged to write if these names are publicized frequently . . .

Spoon River

of Jefferson Howard," the soft-spoken actor says, "and the second is the conclusion of the poem on Percy Sharp (both are characters in 'Spoon River Anthology'). Many literary scholars and critics feel that Masters was revealing part of himself and his own feelings through these two characters as well as several others scattered through the 'Anthology.'"

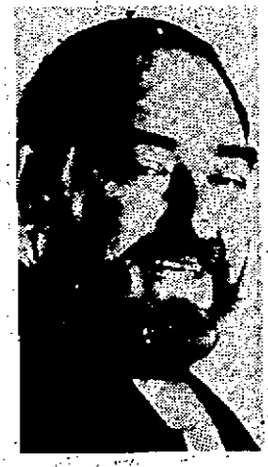

MASTERS, who died in 1950 at the age of 82, spent his boyhood in the Southern Illinois country which is the setting for his mythical town of Spoon River. He studied for a year at Knox College, read for the law in his father's office and was admitted to the bar in 1891.

It was a profession he would practice in Chicago for 30 years. All the while he would write eleven books prior to "Spoon River Anthology" and some 50 books in all, but none would ever achieve the impact of his one volume of free verse. He was a quixotic blend of lawyer, poet, eccentric, small-town boy who disliked the big city and, at the same moment, small-town boy who had nothing but contempt for the hypocrisy which he felt pervaded much of that rural way of life. Much of this mixture is reflected in "Spoon River."

"WE USE about 70 of the poems," Aidman notes. "Jason does about 16 or 17, and the others are divided among the rest of us. Each of the characters stands out real and true, and each of them flows into the other to create what we feel is a vivid, honest portrayal of life."

"Spoon River" has been translated into more than 10 languages. There was nothing like it in the United States until Thornton Wilder wrote "Our Town" some two decades later — a play that is infinitely gentler to its people.

Masters, who caused such a stir — many of his poems were disguised characters for real people — is now, as one of his own lines puts it, "sleeping on the hill," in a small-town cemetery with the people about whom he wrote.

SEBASTIAN CABOT is co-host of "The Mike Douglas Show," at 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, Ch. 4.

The Japanese

Program Probes Way of Life in Japan

"We Americans have been so transfixed with Vietnam we often forget about Japan," says former ambassador to Japan Edwin O. Reischauer. "In a very real sense, Japan is the great power of Asia, and what happens between us is sure to be more important in the long run than what happens in Vietnam."

Reischauer will be host of the "The Japanese," a look at how the Japanese live, at 10 p.m., Wednesday, Ch. 2.

"PERHAPS it's time that we looked at the Japanese more carefully," Reischauer says. "They've faced the problems of crowding and overpopulation without losing their sense of human values. It stands to reason that we may have something to learn from them.

"And it ought to comfort us to know that there are a hundred million Japanese whose social goals are closely parallel to ours. The lesson Japan offers the world is that to be successful, to be modern, a nation doesn't have to be Western. Every nation can make its own version of a modern society, and when the rest of Asia moves into the 20th century, the countries of the East may turn more naturally to the Japanese than to us."

CRITICS' CORNER

POLYNESIAN ADVENTURE, aired April 15, Ch. 2. A lot of school-age children undoubtedly envied the three children of Stanton Waterman.

Waterman, a motion and still photographer who gives lectures, took his three out of school for a year, and the whole family went skin diving and sight-seeing in French Polynesia.

The National Geographic Society special based on film shot by and of the Waterman family during the year, was a combination travel-talk, nature lecture and sometimes covered the ground — rather the ocean floor — in the style of Jacques Cousteau. Sometimes, too, alas, it looked a lot like home movies.

This came when the attractive family was on dry land — shopping in Tahiti, walking along beaches, bathing in the surf when everybody seemed self-conscious and aware of the camera. But the undersea photography was fascinating.

This series started quietly a couple of seasons back and to everybody's surprise built a big audience — so big in fact that it started one of the pleasant healthy trends of TV.

—Cynthia Lowry, AP

DICK VAN DYKE, MARY TYLER MOORE, aired April 13, Ch. 2.

Dick Van Dyke and Mary Tyler Moore, whose former television series was a hit for such a long time, were reunited in an hour of song, dance and comedy, and proved again they go together like ham and eggs.

The low-pressure material had a few down moments along with the good ones, but the basic rapport of the stars with each other — and their considerable individual talent — made for an amiable bit of viewing.

—Rick Du Brow, UPI

33⅓ REVOLUTIONS PER MONKEE, aired April 14, Ch. 4.

There is only one way to remedy the damage done to Academy Award viewers who were penalized by not being able to take in "33⅓ Revolutions Per Monkee" . . . That is to show this very special special again . . .

The Monkees — singing, dancing, making music — were everywhere, but not overbearing, offering an object lesson in how secure stars of a special should behave . . .

All the way through, from everyone concerned, the singing and the music and the dancing are lusty and loverly.

—William Tusher, Hollywood Reporter

LIKE HEP, aired April 13, Ch. 4.

Dinah Shore, heretofore, a rather conservative performer, proved that she can go the fast, zany, contemporary musical-comedy route with the best of them. . . .She headlined an hour special that was one of the most enjoyable variety programs in some time.

Her superb guest cast included Lucille Ball, Diana Ross of the Supremes, and Dan Rowan and Dick Martin of "Laugh-In." Remarkably for performers tossed together for a one-shot broadcast, they registered with the aplomb and comfortable wildness of a comedy repertory troupe that has been working together regularly. . . .

The best quality . . . was its precisely correct attitude of contemporary madness, camp and good nature — in regard to both show business itself and the basically absurd material that was delivered.

There were sketches, for instance, about a musical lady detective (Miss Shore) who broke up a hoodlum nightclub, a trio of singing sisters being groomed for stardom, and a labor strike by Snow White's seven dwarfs in fairy tale land.

It was, by the way, a fairy tale that no Disney advocate would recognize — featuring Miss Ross as Snow White, Miss Ball as a belligerent, cigar-smoking Fairy Godmother, and an in-flight collision between "The Flying Nun" and Mary Poppins.

Miss Ross, it should be noted, came very close to stealing the show. In addition to her effective and funny trio numbers with Miss Shore and Miss Ball, she also revealed herself throughout as a surprisingly adept and droll comedienne.

—Rick DuBrow, UPI

CAROL CHANNING, aired April 14, Ch. 7.

Carol Channing is not a relaxing person. She is constantly in motion even when she's standing still. She is occasionally, and for a period of time, fun to watch — as she was in her special with Pearl Bailey — but she spoils on overexposure.

She must be able to project some emotion beside over-bubbly.

—Georges Eres, IPT

THE OSCARS, aired April 14, Ch. 7.

The difference between Monday night's Oscar Awards' ceremonies and the ones that preceded it on television was that they finally presented awards as a show instead of a news event.

But even if the new production team was able to inject some form and shape to the motion picture industry's annual big blast, its very nature and purpose still makes it unwieldy in TV terms.

This time out there were 10 top film stars economically opening the envelopes without the usual palaver and endless entrances and exits of celebrities. Heartfelt speeches of thanks were kept to a blessed minimum, although a few recipients still insisted on mentioning everyone but their bookies and dentists. There were also rehearsed and entertaining bits between the presentation ceremonies. The costume design award, for instance, was preceded by a series of brief dance numbers in which performers modeled clothes that won nominations . . .

Spoon River

of Jefferson Howard," the soft-spoken actor says, "and the second is the conclusion of the poem on Percy Sharp (both are characters in 'Spoon River Anthology'). Many literary scholars and critics feel that Masters was revealing part of himself and his own feelings through these two characters as well as several others scattered through the 'Anthology.'"

MASTERS, who died in 1950 at the age of 82, spent his boyhood in the Southern Illinois country which is the setting for his mythical town of Spoon River. He studied for a year at Knox College, read for the law in his father's office and was admitted to the bar in 1891.

It was a profession he would practice in Chicago for 30 years. All the while he would write eleven books prior to "Spoon River Anthology" and some 50 books in all, but none would ever achieve the impact of his one volume of free verse. He was a quixotic blend of lawyer, poet, eccentric, small-town boy who disliked the big city and, at the same moment, small-town boy who had nothing but contempt for the hypocrisy which he felt pervaded much of that rural way of life. Much of this mixture is reflected in "Spoon River."

"WE USE about 70 of the poems," Aidman notes. "Jason does about 16 or 17, and the others are divided among the rest of us. Each of the characters stands out real and true, and each of them flows into the other to create what we feel is a vivid, honest portrayal of life."

"Spoon River" has been translated into more than 10 languages. There was nothing like it in the United States until Thornton Wilder wrote "Our Town" some two decades later — a play that is infinitely gentler to its people.

Masters, who caused such a stir — many of his poems were disguised characters for real people — is now, as one of his own lines puts it, "sleeping on the hill," in a small-town cemetery with the people about whom he wrote.

SEBASTIAN CABOT is co-host of "The Mike Douglas Show" at 3:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, Ch. 4.

SPECIAL

BABAR the Elephant (4), 7:30 p.m. — Peter Ustinov narrates a repeat airing of the highly-acclaimed animated musical special, based on the first three volumes of the French classic children's series. The pachyderm travels to Paris, where he's inspired to return to the jungle and build a city there.

HAWAII-HO (4), 8 p.m. — Singer Don Ho hosts a repeat musical and scenic tour of his native Hawaiian Islands, from Diamond Head to an old whaling port, aided by the Aliis, Robin Wilson, Ho's young son Dwight, and the Kamehameha School Choir.

FRANCIS Albert Sinatra Does His Thing (2), 9 p.m. — His "thing" is singing — from songs loved by bobby-soxers of the '40s to hits of teeny-boppers of the '60s.

SPOON RIVER (2), 10 p.m. — Jason Robards stars in Charles Aidman's dramatized version of the Edgar Lee Masters "Spoon River Anthology," a cycle of free-verse epitaphs for the dead of a fictional town.

FRANK SINATRA repeats his special, "Francis Albert Sinatra Does His Thing," at 9 p.m., Monday, Ch. 2.

KCET AUCTION (26); 6 p.m. — Celebrity items from autographed first editions to Marlo Thomas' sunglasses . . . trips to Puerto Vallarta or the Apollo 10 moonshot . . . opening night ticket . . . home sites in Antelope Valley and Baja . . . a mink coat or a thoroughbred horse. They're all up for bids from viewers phoning (213) 626-2477. Held to expand station's facilities and programming, auction runs to midnight each day through Saturday. (KTTV airs highlights of tonight's auction at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow.)

ORDEAL of the American City: "Confrontation" (4), 7:30 p.m. — In "Rashomon" style, this 90-min. "White Paper" offers nine views of the same subject — strife-marked San Francisco State College — viewed as a microcosm of urban turmoil, and suggesting approaches to answers to the problems of urban crisis. Taking part, among others, are Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, Assemblyman Don Mulford and campus dissidents, with suggestions in epilogue from host Frank McGee and political scientist Charles V. Hamilton, latter co-author with Stokely Carmichael of "Black Power: The Politics of Liberation in America."

KCET AUCTION (26), 6 p.m. — Celebrity items from autographed first editions to Marlo Thomas' sunglasses . . . trips to Puerto Vallarta or the Apollo 10 moonshot . . . opening night ticket . . . home sites in Antelope Valley and Baja . . . a mink coat or a thoroughbred horse. They're all up for bids from viewers phoning (213) 626-2477. Held to expand station's facilities and programming, auction runs to midnight each day through Saturday. (KTTV airs highlights of tonight's auction at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow.)

ORDEAL of the American City: "Confrontation" (4), 7:30 p.m. — In "Rashomon" style, this 90-min. "White Paper" offers nine views of the same subject — strife-marked San Francisco State College — viewed as a microcosm of urban turmoil, and suggesting approaches to answers to the problems of urban crisis. Taking part, among others, are Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, Assemblyman Don Mulford and campus dissidents, with suggestions in epilogue from host Frank McGee and political scientist Charles V. Hamilton, latter co-author with Stokely Carmichael of "Black Power: The Politics of Liberation in America."

2ND DEBUT

NEW NON-SURGICAL FACE LIFT FROM GERMANY

Way back when the life expectancy of a woman was between 30 and 40 years, there was no problem with aging skin and wrinkles. Time couldn't take its toll! Now that life expectancy has reached 70 years, and medical science is trying to lengthen it, we might eventually expect to live to 100 or more!

But with the years added to our span, the preservation of a youthful skin becomes vital. While medical science keeps the body functioning, cosmetic science has, through the years, helped us to help our skins retain the look of youth.

Nearly phenomenal are today's advancements in the cosmetic field. A marvelous example of these advancements, the non-surgical face lift from West Germany with results which are "almost permanent." This treatment, called 2nd Debut, was developed by three dedicated men in West Germany, whose reputations and positions are backed by such degrees as M.D. and Ph.D. according to the makers.

Since the introduction of 2nd Debut to Southern California, thousands of women have begun to benefit by using this new creamy lotion. 2nd Debut involves no surgery or period of convalescence...nor does it entail high fees, discomfort or uncertainty about the outcome. Instead of lifting your face in the surgical sense, 2nd Debut achieves this effect by "lifting the age wrinkles out of your face!" Any woman can treat herself in the privacy of her own home to the help it offers in keeping the skin young and vibrant. Nothing else is required for the "lift" but a few minutes each night at bedtime...for a week to two weeks...for the application of 2nd Debut!

This new treatment contains an ingredient...CEF, meaning Cellular Expansion Factor...through which the inner cells obtain and retain water-moisture. The makers of 2nd Debut explain that when CEF is spread over the skin's surface, it penetrates deeply into the skin's outer layer to the cells below. Each molecule of CEF carries with it a molecule of pure water. As a result of this process, the facial lines on the surface begin to plump up from beneath... smooth out...becoming less and less visible on the surface.

When a woman reaches a certain age, skin cells begin to shrink due to decreased ability to absorb and retain water. This causes wrinkles. By quickly and consistently supplying water to shrinking cells within the skin, CEF helps to soften and plump up surface lines from beneath until they almost...or completely...vanish.

Because of differing requirements of various skins, 2nd Debut is made in two strengths. For the woman with early worries...the woman who has just discovered the first lines...the first version of 2nd Debut contains CEF 600. Together with plumping out the lines of the skin, it also helps to counter dryness. The four ounce size is just $3.

Specially formulated for the more mature skin, perhaps 40 and up, 2nd Debut with CEF 1200 is the double potency cream for those of you who have stopped trying to cope with deep lines. It's also for the impatient woman who wants results without delay. This formation, according to the makers of 2nd Debut, penetrates all four skin layers carrying a double quantity of revitalizing water-moisture into each. It is quite possible that, within a few days, you will see a marked change in the skin's appearance as lines once plainly visible become harder to find. The price is $5 for four ounces.

To assure the utmost effectiveness of this treatment, your skin must be properly prepared for it. For this purpose, 2nd Debut Cleanser was developed and its results are dynamic. You apply 2nd Debut Cleanser in a thin layer over your face and throat. Then rinse with cool water. Your skin will feel and look immaculately clean. Price is $3 for two ounces and $5 for four ounces.

As the final touch, let 2nd Debut Liquid Makeup, containing CEF 600, actually moisturize your skin. Created to achieve a beautiful matte finish, it covers flaws and most blemishes completely and is priced at $3.

2ND DEBUT

NEW NON-SURGICAL FACE LIFT FROM GERMANY

Way back when the life expectancy of a woman was between 30 and 40 years, there was no problem with aging skin and wrinkles. Time couldn't take its toll! Now that life expectancy has reached 70 years, and medical science is trying to lengthen it, we might eventually expect to live to 100 or more!

But with the years added to our span, the preservation of a youthful skin becomes vital. While medical science keeps the body functioning, cosmetic science has, through the years, helped us to help our skins retain the look of youth.

Nearly phenomenal are today's advancements in the cosmetic field. A marvelous example of these advancements, the non-surgical face lift from West Germany with results which are "almost permanent." This treatment, called 2nd Debut, was developed by three dedicated men in West Germany, whose reputations and positions are backed by such degrees as M.D. and Ph.D. according to the makers.

Since the introduction of 2nd Debut to Southern California, thousands of women have begun to benefit by using this new creamy lotion. 2nd Debut involves no surgery or period of convalescence...nor does it entail high fees, discomfort or uncertainty about the outcome. Instead of lifting your face in the surgical sense, 2nd Debut achieves this effect by "lifting the age wrinkles out of your face!" Any woman can treat herself in the privacy of her own home to the help it offers in keeping the skin young and vibrant. Nothing else is required for the "lift" but a few minutes each night at bedtime...for a week to two weeks...for the application of 2nd Debut!

This new treatment contains an ingredient...CEF, meaning Cellular Expansion Factor...through which the inner cells obtain and retain water-moisture. The makers of 2nd Debut explain that when CEF is spread over the skin's surface, it penetrates deeply into the skin's outer layer to the cells below. Each molecule of CEF carries with it a molecule of pure water. As a result of this process, the facial lines on the surface begin to plump up from beneath... smooth out...becoming less and less visible on the surface.

When a woman reaches a certain age, skin cells begin to shrink due to decreased ability to absorb and retain water. This causes wrinkles. By quickly and consistently supplying water to shrinking cells within the skin, CEF helps to soften and plump up surface lines from beneath until they almost...or completely...vanish.

Because of differing requirements of various skins, 2nd Debut is made in two strengths. For the woman with early worries...the woman who has just discovered the first lines...the first version of 2nd Debut contains CEF 600. Together with plumping out the lines of the skin, it also helps to counter dryness. The four ounce size is just $3.

Specially formulated for the more mature skin, perhaps 40 and up, 2nd Debut with CEF 1200 is the double potency cream for those of you who have stopped trying to cope with deep lines. It's also for the impatient woman who wants results without delay. This formation, according to the makers of 2nd Debut, penetrates all four skin layers carrying a double quantity of revitalizing water-moisture into each. It is quite possible that, within a few days, you will see a marked change in the skin's appearance as lines once plainly visible become harder to find. The price is $5 for four ounces.

To assure the utmost effectiveness of this treatment, your skin must be properly prepared for it. For this purpose, 2nd Debut Cleanser was developed and its results are dynamic. You apply 2nd Debut Cleanser in a thin layer over your face and throat. Then rinse with cool water. Your skin will feel and look immaculately clean. Price is $3 for two ounces and $5 for four ounces.

As the final touch, let 2nd Debut Liquid Makeup, containing CEF 600, actually moisturize your skin. Created to achieve a beautiful matte finish, it covers flaws and most blemishes completely and is priced at $3.

Meet George Washington

Project 20 Show 'Best-Known Unknown'

A "Project 20" production designed to breathe life and substance into a myth-obscured figure of history, "Meet George Washington," will be presented at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Ch. 4.

Melvyn Douglas will be the program's storyteller both on-screen and off.

"It is our hope that the program will be something of a revelation to the television audience," Donald Hyatt, producer-director, said. "George Washington has become a paradox of history — the best-known unknown in our history — but his true story is an exciting dramatic one, full of surprises."

Aside from the tale about the cherry tree, there are not many stories in circulation about George Washington, Mytt noted. "Somehow we have managed to convert the little boy with his hatchet into an awe-inspiring idol, cold, remote, lifeless. America, to its great loss, has petrified a warm and passionate human being into a graven image," he said. "But somewhere between the fable of the cherry tree and the myth of the demigod, there was a living person."

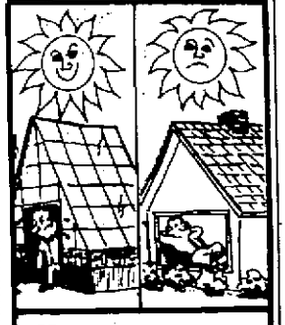

IN PLACE OF THE dehumanized image of the school textbooks, the "Project 20" program presents Washington as a youth who, under his baptism of fire, was "charmed by the sound of bullets;" the commanding general, who, at Valley Forge, was forced to deal with a conspiracy of his own officers; and the President who was subjected to such abusive public criticism by some of his peers — he was called "a supercilious tyrant" and "a man who is the source of all the misfortunes of our country" — that he remarked bitterly: "By God, I would rather be in my grave than in this place."

WASHINGTON was a giant of a man for his time — six feet, four inches tall — and an expert wrestler, and indefatigable dancer, a man who enjoyed gambling, horse racing and tavern jokes, and was something of a dandy with a liking for fancy dress. He called his Martha "Patsy" and she called him, fondly, "My Old Man."

Meet George Washington

Project 20 Show 'Best-Known Unknown'

A "Project 20" production designed to breathe life and substance into a myth-obscured figure of history, "Meet George Washington," will be presented at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Ch. 4.

Melvyn Douglas will be the program's storyteller both on-screen and off.

"It is our hope that the program will be something of a revelation to the television audience," Donald Hyatt, producer-director, said. "George Washington has become a paradox of history — the best-known unknown in our history — but his true story is an exciting dramatic one, full of surprises."

Aside from the tale about the cherry tree, there are not many stories in circulation about George Washington, Mytt noted. "Somehow we have managed to convert the little boy with his hatchet into an awe-inspiring idol, cold, remote, lifeless. America, to its great loss, has petrified a warm and passionate human being into a graven image," he said. "But somewhere between the fable of the cherry tree and the myth of the demigod, there was a living person."

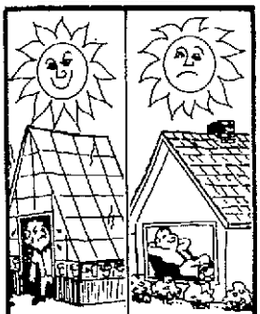

IN PLACE OF THE dehumanized image of the school textbooks, the "Project 20" program presents Washington as a youth who, under his baptism of fire, was "charmed by the sound of bullets;" the commanding general, who, at Valley Forge, was forced to deal with a conspiracy of his own officers; and the President who was subjected to such abusive public criticism by some of his peers — he was called "a supercilious tyrant!" and "a man who is the source of all the misfortunes of our country" — that he remarked bitterly: "By God, I would rather be in my grave than in this place."

WASHINGTON was a giant of a man for his time — six feet, four inches tall — and an expert wrestler, and indefatigable dancer, a man who enjoyed gambling, horse racing and tavern jokes, and was something of a dandy with a liking for fancy dress. He called his Martha "Patsy" and she called him, fondly, "My Old Man."

How to be comfortable with computer dating

SOME single people have misgivings about computer dating ... partly because some firms do a lousy job and the word gets around, but mostly because they don't understand how it should work. We know that computer dating can be fun and, when done right, render an individual a real service. So, we want to help clear up some of the confusion, and talk turkey about what it takes to make a matching program really work. Before you join any program you should feel comfortable about it. The way to do that is to investigate these important areas:

1. Size of membership
2. Guarantee of performance
3. Testing procedures
4. Computer techniques
5. Company experience
6. Referral techniques
7. Geographic locations
8. Business ethics
9. Character of membership
10. Special services

Size of membership

In a sense, computer matching is a numbers game so the size of a firm's membership is all important. In order to be matched with a high compatability factor in all fifty compatibility areas, a program must have tens of thousands of men and women whose characteristics are compared with one another millions of times. Our computer does that by matching each of our male members with each of our female members at the rate of 405 million comparisons an hour ... then it retains this information for future processing.

Guarantee of performance

The most expensive matching program in the world is practically useless, if it doesn't guarantee to make highly compatible referrals on a regular schedule. Few programs do, so make sure the ones you consider promise this, "in writing." For example, our Plan One guarantees 2 to 10 referrals every thirty days for five full years, all for one reasonable, fixed fee.

Testing procedures

Just because two people like to ski, or dance, or go to art museums, doesn't mean they are compatible. You must consider the things which make us think and act and feel the way we do about the important things in life. We feel that cultural values, religious intensity, intelligence levels, emotional stability, sexual attitudes, sociability and personal habits are the things that count and must be primary in any testing program. Then we add the recreational preferences and special interests and the result is an in-depth profile of everyone in our program. To settle for anything less is to waste your time, and money.

Computer techniques

If a matching program is big enough to work, it must use a computer to be efficient and effective. If a firm doesn't use computers, it's not large enough to need them. So beware. Check on the type of equipment which is actually used. We fear that so-called computer dating firms get no closer to a computer than a fancy-sounding card sorter. Our GE Compatibles/600 computers, we're told, will do more in an hour than a highly qualified individual can do in a year. And without mistakes, too.

Company experience

Some companies seem to be around for a year or so, then just disappear. When that happens, what happens to its members? We have pioneered the computer matching concept since 1958 and over the years have become the giant in our industry by providing honest, effective service to our clients. No frilly statements, no pie in the sky, just solid experience. Make sure you deal with a company that's been around long enough to prove its worth.

Referral techniques

Properly programmed, the computer will pull many names out of its electronic memory, just for you. But make sure you get more than just a name, address and phone number, before you get together. We've developed a referral sheet which gives you a biography and a photograph of everyone our computer says will meet your compatibility requirements. Nothing cute, just the facts about someone who may become mighty important to you. And we think that's mighty important.

Geographic limitation

Ours is a nation on the move. Business, pleasure, health or whatever may move us miles from here, next month or next year. That's why it pays to consider a program which allows you some freedom of movement. If you join a localized program plan to stay put, because you can't take it with you. On the other hand, it's nice to know that you can go on vacation or change jobs 3,000 miles away and still get your referrals close at hand. You'll see our ads in national magazines because we serve the single community from coast to coast.

Business ethics

Make certain that any company you deal with has a reputation of doing what they promise to do. Each firm builds its own reputation, good or bad, so before you commit yourself check them out with appropriate consumer protection agencies or law enforcement officials in your community.

Character of membership

You should think seriously about the caliber of people you want to meet when you choose a matching program. A firm must provide thorough investigation procedures which weed out undesirable applicants and obvious social misfits. When that is done, you'll find a membership which is well above average in intelligence, professional stature, and economic status ... men and women who have come to grips with the serious problems of social incompatibility, skyrocketing divorce rates and countless broken homes. This is the type of membership you should look for. We know, because we've spent years developing one just like it.

Special services

Like buying a new car or renting a new apartment, it's often the nice little extras that make the big difference. So it is with a matching program. For example, we want you to be compatible with whomever you date, whether it's through our program or not. So, if you should happen to meet a promising mate outside of our program, we'll test them and match you, at no charge of course. If you match up, great. If not, you'll know it before you make a mistake. And if you want to pull out of the program for awhile, to get engaged, or to take a trip around the world, we'll simply suspend your membership until you ask back in. You'll still get 60 full months of service, even if it takes ten years to get there. We want whatever's right for you.

The main purpose of this message is to help you feel more comfortable with the subject of computer dating and to realize that it can be great fun and richly rewarding when a program is conducted in a professional manner. We at COMPATIBILITY are proud of our accomplishments over the years. We're proud of our membership too, and know we must continue to operate in a professional manner in order to remain the largest, most respected firm in the nation.

We'd also like to tell you more about us, if you'll tell us more about you. Just mail the coupon below, and you'll receive our new brochure and free personality inventory. There's no obligation, of course. Look it over at your leisure, and think about it. Then perhaps we can get comfortable together.

Next Season's Cameras Rolling

Variety, Comedy, Family Formats Prevail—No Jolts

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press International

As the current television season begins to fade into re-runs and summer replacements, Hollywood already is busy turning cameras on next year's hopefuls.

With restrictions on violence and sex being enforced with more authority by the networks, many new shows will lean to variety, comedy, and family formats.

Those returning to the air for the 1969-70 season will offer fewer brawls, gunfights and gore.

There will be a minimum of 24 new shows offered by the three major networks next fall. CBS-TV will present the fewest with four. NBC-TV is putting together seven new ones. ABC-TV will weigh in with 13. With The Smothers Brothers fired by CBS, that network will add another replacement or two depending on the format.

Few, if any, of the newcomers will jolt the American viewer with originality.

BEST BET to open new vistas of entertainment is "My World and Welcome To It," NBC's hodge-podge of James Thurber's wonderful world of nonsense with William Windom starring.

Bill Cosby returns to a weekly show, but this time as a combined teacher-private eye, and without Bob Culp with whom he starred in "I Spy." Cosby will be hard-pressed to top his old performance which won him a pair of Emmys for best actor on the tube.

Debbie Reynolds will be joining the likes of Doris Day and Diahann Carol with a situation comedy.

Jim Nabors is switching from "Gomer Pyle" — still rated in the top five — to a musical veriety show with big name guest stars. It will also give Nabors a vehicle for his booming baritone.

"MEDICAL CENTER" marks a return to the suture and scalpel school of drama starring James Daly and Chad Everett.

If the aroma of arnica and ether is stronger next season, also accountable will be Robert Young in the title role of ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D."

Another familiar movie name taking the step down from big screen to small tube is Lana Turner who, along with George Hamilton, will make up one of "The Survivors."

Andy Williams, one of the best singers in the country, returns to television after more than a year's lay-off with a regular weekly songfest. No violence here.

Neither need the censors be concerned about "Duarante Presents The Lennon Sisters."

ABC-TV WILL revive school days with "Room 222," a drama based on the current strife, turmoil and morals of teachers, students, activists and perhaps even riots.

John Forsythe, long the star of "Bachelor Father," will be back with a new situation comedy, "When In Rome." Again, he's a widower.

The trend toward widows and widowers will be enriched by the entry of "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," the story of a boy who attempts to get his widowed father hitched up again.

Monte Markham, star of the defunct "Second Hundred Years," plays the title role in "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," a role Gary Cooper played to perfection in the movie version a generation ago.

"Bracken's World" is a television peek behind the scenes of a major motion picture studio as seen through the eyes of a studio chieftain's private secretary and starring Eleanor Parker.

NBC-TV's "The Bold Ones" is a rondelet of three separate productions, one involving a police show, the second a medical staff, and the third a legal series. The series will star Leslie Neilsen and Hari Rhodes, E. G. Marshall, and Burl Ives.

Hoffer Dan Dailey will star in "The Governor and JJ." Dailey will play the governor — sigh, another widower — and Julie Sommers his daughter as J.J.

"Then Came Bronson" is an hour dedication to kicking the traces of treadmill bondage with Michael Parks playing an ex-newsman who guns a motorcycle around the country in search of something worthwhile.

Remember, gentle viewer, as you sleep the cameras are grinding out the 1969-70 season. Don't let it all sneak up on you in the dark.

SPECIAL

A LOOK on the Light Side (4), 7 p.m. — In the guise of Jose Jimenez, Bill Dana takes a lighthearted look at some of the ways Americans enjoy themselves outdoors. A rock score by the Jefferson Airplane and the New York Rock and Roll Ensemble provides the background for a snowmobile roundup at Yellowstone, a pancake race in Kansas, ice boating in Michigan, shooting the rapids of Oregon's McKenzie River, a square dance in jeeps among Arizona cacti, kite flying in San Diego and a bed race in Mobile.

LAS FLORISTAS Headdress Ball (4), 8 p.m. — It's the annual local telecast of this charity event, as women compete in elaborate floral headdresses, as Al Lohman and Roger Barkley host the hour.

BYRON NELSON Golf Classic, 1 p.m. (7), covers six holes of the third round in the second annual $100,000 contest from Dallas' Preston Trail Golf Club (formerly known as the Dallas Open). Miller Barber is defending champion.

CERRITOS Channel Crew Races, 1 p.m. (11), has Bill Welsh mikeside as shellmen from Cal State Long Beach, USC, California and San Diego State compete in races to the Matson Terminal.

CBS GOLF Classic, 2:30 p.m. (2), moves into the final 18 holes in the championship match teaming George Archer with Bob Lunn against Al Geiberger and Dave Stockton. It starts all even, with both teams three under par.

ABC's WIDE WORLD of Sports, 5 p.m. (7), marks its 8th anniversary on TV with satellite coverage of the F.A. Cup English soccer championship game pitting Manchester City against Leicester City, with Jim McKay and Danny Blanchflower mikeside at London's Wembley Stadium.

Next Season's Cameras Rolling

Variety, Comedy, Family Formats Prevail—No Jolts

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press International

As the current television season begins to fade into re-runs and summer replacements, Hollywood already is busy turning cameras on next year's hopefuls.

With restrictions on violence and sex being enforced with more authority by the networks, many new shows will lean to variety, comedy, and family formats.

Those returning to the air for the 1969-70 season will offer fewer brawls, gunfights and gore.

There will be a minimum of 24 new shows offered by the three major networks next fall. CBS-TV will present the fewest with four. NBC-TV is putting together seven new ones. ABC-TV will weigh in with 13. With The Smothers Brothers fired by CBS, that network will add another replacement or two depending on the format.

Few, if any, of the newcomers will jolt the American viewer with originality.

BEST BET to open new vistas of entertainment is "My World and Welcome To It," NBC's hodge-podge of James Thurber's wonderful world of nonsense with William Windom starring.

Bill Cosby returns to a weekly show, but this time as a combined teacher-private eye, and without Bob Culp with whom he starred in "I Spy." Cosby will be hard-pressed to top his old performance which won him a pair of Emmys for best actor on the tube.

Debbie Reynolds will be joining the likes of Doris Day and Diahann Carol with a situation comedy.

Jim Nabors is switching from "Gomer Pyle" — still rated in the top five — to a musical variety show with big name guest stars. It will also give Nabors a vehicle for his booming baritone.

"MEDICAL CENTER" marks a return to the suture and scalpel school of drama starring James Daly and Chad Everett.

If the aroma of arnica and ether is stronger next season, also accountable will be Robert Young in the title role of ABC's "Marcus Welby, M.D."

Another familiar movie name taking the step down from big screen to small tube is Lana Turner who, along with George Hamilton, will make up one of "The Survivors."

Andy Williams, one of the best singers in the country, returns to television after more than a year's lay-off with a regular weekly songfest. No violence here.

Neither need the censors be concerned about "Duarante Presents The Lennon Sisters."

ABC-TV WILL revive school days with "Room 222," a drama based on the current strife, turmoil and morals of teachers, students, activists and perhaps even riots.

John Forsythe, long the star of "Bachelor Father," will be back with a new situation comedy, "When In Rome." Again, he's a widower.

The trend toward widows and widowers will be enriched by the entry of "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," the story of a boy who attempts to get his widowed father hitched up again.

Monte Markham, star of the defunct "Second Hundred Years," plays the title role in "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," a role Gary Cooper played to perfection in the movie version a generation ago.

"Bracken's World" is a television peek behind the scenes of a major motion picture studio as seen through the eyes of a studio chieftain's private secretary and starring Eleanor Parker.

NBC-TV's "The Bold Ones" is a rondelet of three separate productions, one involving a police show, the second a medical staff, and the third a legal series. The series will star Leslie Neilsen and Hari Rhodes, E. G. Marshall, and Burl Ives.

Hoffer Dan Dailey will star in "The Governor and JJ." Dailey will play the governor — sigh, another widower — and Julie Sommers his daughter as J.J.

"Then Came Bronson" is an hour dedication to kicking the traces of treadmill bondage with Michael Parks playing an ex-newsman who guns a motorcycle around the country in search of something worthwhile.

Remember, gentle viewer, as you sleep the cameras are grinding out the 1969-70 season. Don't let it all sneak up on you in the dark.

The Light Side

A travel special, "A Look on the Light Side," will be presented in color at 7 p.m. Saturday, Ch. 4. Bill Dana in the guise of Jose Jimenez will be host on this trip around the U.S.

The program will be a lighthearted look at the way many Americans enjoy themselves outdoors. As viewers travel to many states, the music of the New York rock and roll ensemble and of the Jefferson Airplane will be heard.

The special's first view of the U.S. at play will be in Yellowstone National Park where a snowmobile roundup takes place. Next is a visit to Liberal, Kansas, for the Shrove Tuesday Pancake Eating Contest, in which Jose Jimenez takes part. On to Cass Lake, Mich., where ice boaters speed across the forzen lake at speeds over 100 mils an hour. In Oregon we see daredevils "shoot the rapids" in rubber boats. A view of nature in bloom in the Arizona Desert changes the pace.

An unusual square dance in jeeps next claims Jose Jimenez' attention in Arizona. The four-wheel vehicles dodge in and out of giant cacti. A kite flying session in San Diego Calif. is followed by a bed race in Mobile, Ala., where students attach bicycle wheels to beds and race in them. The finale is a folk dance festival in St. Paul, Minn., where members of many national groups participate.

A BED RACE in Alabama is one of the diversions run into by Jose Jimenez (Bill Dana) in "A Look on the Light Side."

Non-Commercial TV

Sparks Fly as Structure Changes

New York Times Service

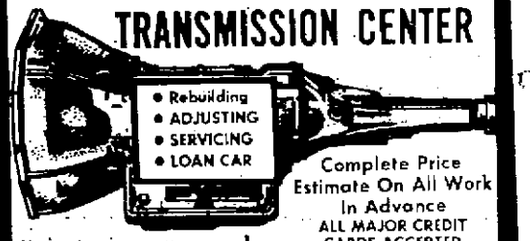

The long-awaited upheaval in the structure of noncommercial broadcasting has taken place and the sparks are flying.

John W. Macy Jr., President of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, has assumed the leadership role of the nonprofit medium and has proposed that a corporation subsidiary decide what programs might go out on the networks from diverse producing sources. But many individual stations are totally against such a proposal and want to program their outlets according to their local needs and desires.

THE FEELING of a great many individual stations is that they do not want to fall into the pattern of commercial TV, in which the networks dominate prime evening fare and the stations become mere button-pushers purveying material concocted from afar. At the recent overlapping conventions of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters and affiliates of National Educational Television there were even grumblings that reflected the desire of some stations to terminate agreements allotting time to the noncommercial network in favor of spotting nationally produced programs where and when they chose.

The controversy transcends Educational TV itself. It bears on the larger philosophical contention that there is an inherent weakness in the assumption that the whole country should receive the same programs at the same time, and that the weakness of commercial TV stems from its being a mass medium necessarily forced to please as many people as possible.

THE CONTRARY viewpoint is that educational TV, even more than commercial TV, requires the strength of mass simultaneous circulation if it is to achieve the quality and impact which the medium urgently needs.

The Light Side

A travel special, "A Look on the Light Side," will be presented in color at 7 p.m. Saturday, Ch. 4. Bill Dana in the guise of Jose Jimenez will be host on this trip around the U.S.

The program will be a lighthearted look at the way many Americans enjoy themselves outdoors. As viewers travel to many states, the music of the New York rock and roll ensemble and of the Jefferson Airplane will be heard.

The special's first view of the U.S. at play will be in Yellowstone National Park where a snowmobile roundup takes place. Next is a visit to Liberal, Kansas, for the Shrove Tuesday Pancake Eating Contest, in which Jose Jimenez takes part. On to Cass Lake, Mich., where ice boaters speed across the forzen lake at speeds over 100 mils an hour. In Oregon we see daredevils "shoot the rapids" in rubber boats. A view of nature in bloom in the Arizona Desert changes the pace.

An unusual square dance in jeeps next claims Jose Jimenez' attention in Arizona. The four-wheel vehicles dodge in and out of giant cacti. A kite flying session in San Diego Calif. is followed by a bed race in Mobile, Ala., where students attach bicycle wheels to beds and race in them. The finale is a folk dance festival in St. Paul, Minn., where members of many national groups participate.

A BED RACE in Alabama is one of the diversions run into by Jose Jimenez (Bill Dana) in "A Look on the Light Side."

Non-Commercial TV

Sparks Fly as Structure Changes

New York Times Service

The long-awaited upheaval in the structure of noncommercial broadcasting has taken place and the sparks are flying.

John W. Macy Jr., President of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, has assumed the leadership role of the nonprofit medium and has proposed that a corporation subsidiary decide what programs might go out on the networks from diverse producing sources. But many individual stations are totally against such a proposal and want to program their outlets according to their local needs and desires.

THE FEELING of a great many individual stations is that they do not want to fall into the pattern of commercial TV, in which the networks dominate prime evening fare and the stations become mere button-pushers purveying material concocted from afar. At the recent overlapping conventions of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters and affiliates of National Educational Television there were even grumblings that reflected the desire of some stations to terminate agreements allotting time to the noncommercial network in favor of spotting nationally produced programs where and when they chose.

The controversy transcends Educational TV itself. It bears on the larger philosophical contention that there is an inherent weakness in the assumption that the whole country should receive the same programs at the same time, and that the weakness of commercial TV stems from its being a mass medium necessarily forced to please as many people as possible.

THE CONTRARY viewpoint is that educational TV, even more than commercial TV, requires the strength of mass simultaneous circulation if it is to achieve the quality and impact which the medium urgently needs.

Southland Magazine offers a fresh new Crossword Puzzle each Sunday, a brain teaser for those who enjoy this pastime. It's "automatic," too, because you can check the answers in the same issue.

Glad You Asked That!

By Hy Gardner

Q. WHEN IRVING BERLIN wrote "God Bless America" I read that he planned to donate all royalties to charity. How much has he contributed? — Eddie Keen, Elyria, Ohio.

A. Mr. Berlin telephoned me his "God Bless America Fund" now totals $504,740 and had his secretary mail me the breakdown: $385,423 came from this song, $65,985 from "This Is the Army," $39,732 from "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor" and $13,599 from "This Is a Great Country." It must be a Great Country where a penniless immigrant boy can achieve enough success to be this generous and patriotic.

Q. Whatever happened to Frank Costello after he lived through the attempted gang murder in a New York barbershop? — P.J.S., Brooklyn, N.Y.

A. He's very much alive. The "Elder Statesman" regularly lunches at Toots Shor's, is seen around in a flashy sports jacket and turtleneck shirt, and has his haircut, shave and manicure done in the Waldorf barbershop.

Q. Has song star Bobbie Gentry's success given her a big head? — Beth Kajewski, Coral Gables, Fla.

A. There are two sides to that heady theory. In a Hollywood, Fla., hotel-nightclub engagement, Miss Gentry reportedly was very uncooperative, threw tantrums, locked herself in her room and wouldn't even talk to one of her managers. In Las Vegas, where she was once a chorus girl, the consensus is she's an OK kid.

Q. Didn't the perpetual emcee of the "Miss America" contest, Bert Parks, once win a "Miss Congeniality" trophy? — Myra Crowley, San Francisco.

A. Bert winced when I asked the question, but admitted this happened five or six years ago. The curvaceous beauty contestants broke a tie by voting him the title. He's so proud of the cup he keeps it hidden in his attic.

Q. Who do the Washington tea leaf readers predict will be the President's appointee to the first Supreme Court vacancy? — James Henderson, Chicago.

A. Looks like a tossup between Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Atty. Gen. John Mitchell.

Q. It's more than nine months since the Republican Convention in Miami. Can you find out if that pregnant woman who marched in front of Nixon's hotel headquarters with the sign: "Nixon's the One!" had her baby? — Margaret Stewart, Pearl River, N.Y.

A. I'm sure THEY did! It wasn't one but a group of outstanding pregnant gals, who participated in that cunning caper. They were hired by that famous political prankster, Dick Tuck, allegedly employed by a "friendly" rival.

Irving Berlin with Bing Crosby, when former vowed to give "God Bless America" income to charity.

Q. Is Joe E. Lewis, the bookies' best friend, in stud or still entertaining? — R.J.S., Long Island, N.Y.

A. "I wish I had the strength to say yes to both questions," Joe E. admitted. "But the only thing I did this past season was a television commercial — for the N.Y. Racing Association!"

Q. Now that Beatle John Lennon is getting richer with an album showing him and his girl friend, Yoko-something-or-other, in the nude, did he ever apologize for comparing himself to Jesus Christ?" — Rolf Jorgensen, Wharton, Tex.

A. He didn't retract his bad mouthing; just shrugged off the statement saying something like "The Beatles are more popular and better known today than Christ."

Q. I was working on my income tax return and it made me wonder whatever happened to Mortimer Caplin, whose name used to be on the return. — Gene Pate, Dorchester, Mass.

A. The former director of Internal Revenue was doing the same thing you and I — figuring our tax returns. He teaches and has a Washington law office specializing in — you guessed it — taxes.

OUR COVER

The Sunday morning service and sermon are only part of the duty and responsibility of the pastor of a large urban church. Rev. Samuel Hall, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Long Beach, describes his long work week, typical for city clergymen, and the rich rewards for his arduous duties. To learn what a pastor does to earn his living, turn to Page 7.

Outside House Painting Eliminated for 15 Years

LONG BEACH, CALIF. (CT)—Painting is a thing of the past. Let us show you how Fiberglas TEX-COTE insulates, waterproofs and beautifies and is factory guaranteed for a full 15 years.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residences until they hear the TEX-COTE story. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every fiberglas TEX-COTE job is factory guaranteed for 15 full years against chipping, flaking or peeling.

Fiberglas, a product of Owens-Corning, brings to TEX-COTE its great strength, its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER THE YEARS

TEX-COTE is one of the oldest coatings now marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings since 1946. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 15 years exposure in all types of weather.

SHOT FROM A GUN

TEX-COTE is applied with heavy duty spray equipment and is actually "shot from a gun" without muss, fuss or odor. TEX-COTE fuses itself to the walls and fills holes, cracks and covers building defects. TEX-COTE may be applied over stucco, wood, brick, block or shingles.

CITY OF LONG BEACH

Cal-Tex Improvements, Inc., is a licensed City of Long Beach Building Contractor. Most of the work now being done by Cal-Tex is in the greater Long Beach and West Orange County areas.

Cal-Tex has been applying TEX-COTE to homes in the Greater Long Beach Area for many years. For a Free Home Demonstration — without obligation — or for your FREE brochure regarding TEX-COTE — call GA 3-8411.

Also Long Beach hdqtrs. for KENITEX and FLEXON.

THE WELLS REPORT

Ban Sex Education

By Bob Wells

THERE'S A LOT of fingerpointing going on these days in an attempt to fix responsibility for the activities of our Younger Generation. Somebody has to be responsible for their predilection for campus riots, pot and sex.

Obviously, you can't blame their parents, because it is well known that the Younger Generation pays no attention to its parents. Besides, everybody is a parent except the Younger Generation and even some of them. It doesn't help if you have to blame everyone. Who do you vote against?

Max Rafferty, our superintendent of education, blames John Dewey. John Dewey's theory of progressive education, Max thinks, is the reason so many of our Younger Generation can't tell a hookah from McGuffey's Reader.

The Board of Education of the Long Beach School District doesn't agree with Max. They think Walter Boyd is responsible for the Younger Generation. At least, just about the time our Younger Generation began to go to hell, the Board of Education changed the name of John Dewey Continuation High School to Walter Boyd Continuation High School. I interpret that as a sincere effort to put the responsibility for the Younger Generation where it belongs.

Others think Dr. Benjamin Spock is responsible for our Younger Generation. He was too permissive, they argue.

WELL, I HAVE DISCOVERED who really is responsible for our younger generation. Not John Dewey. Not Walter Boyd. Not Dr. Spock.

James Thurber, that's who.

Yes, kindly old Jim Thurber, the humorist. The funny man who gave us "Fables for Our Time," and New Yorker cartoons and stories like "The Night the Bed Broke Down."

Thurber has to share responsibility with another author, E. B. White. Together, back in 1929, they wrote a book called "Is Sex Necessary." In one passage they quoted a learned sex expert as saying:

"Many children have asked me, 'What should I tell my parents about sex?' My answer is always the same: 'Tell them the truth.'"

Somewhere, someplace that book and its dangerous quotation must have fallen into the hands of children. Because for the past five or six years the Younger Generation has insisted on telling their parents the truth about sex, whether they like it or not.

And that is out-and-out brainwashing. The Older Generation is not interested in hearing the truth about sex. We are interested in hearing the truth about baseball, the truth about crash diets, the truth about real estate investments, the truth about biologic agents in detergents and even the truth about making dentures stick tight enough to eat corn on the cob.

You see? The charge that the Older Generation refuses to face up to reality is just not true. Only don't talk to us about the truth about sex. We prefer our illusions.

Besides, if storks don't really bring babies, how come Memorial Hospital has a heliport?

THE CHIEF VEHICLE of the Thurber-inspired campaign of the Younger Generation to tell their parents about sex seems to be the underground press. The underground press (in case you haven't been told the truth about the underground press) is the collective name given to periodicals such as the Los Angeles Free Press, the Long Beach Free Press, Open City and similar publications.

It is hard for a member of the Older Generation to keep up with the underground press. Not that the papers are not readily available; they are displayed in coin racks on almost every street corner. But it is a little difficult for a member of the Older Generation — his inhibitions being what they are — just to walk up in front of passers-by and everybody put 15 cents in the coin slots and walk away with a copy of the Free Press exposed for everyone to see.

You can subscribe, of course, but the publishers won't even send them to your home in a plain brown wrapper. I mean — I hear from my mailman about my neighbor two houses down, and he only subscribes to Playboy.

Nevertheless, at great personal risk and embarrassment I have kept current with the Los Angeles Free Press because I happen to believe that the youth of today are trying to tell us something.

Sure enough, they are. Only I can't tell you what it is in a family newspaper.

When I was a youth, we had an underground press, too. It was called the school paper. We were interested in telling the truth about sex. Only we were interested in telling the truth about sex, whatever that might be, to each other — most certainly not to our parents or the faculty. If they had suspected what was going on, our stories would have been tossed out of the paper and we would have been tossed out of school.

RECENTLY I WAS LEAFING through a December 1940 edition of the Faribault High School Echo and I came across several fine examples of the underground press of a quarter-century ago.

One story was headed, "Forum Club Plans Sleigh Ride Jan. 4," and announced that a public affairs discussion group would go on a sleigh ride — if it snowed. Plans for the event were detailed. The last sentence announced, "An evening of games has been planned by Luverne Woods."

Well. If you were a student at FHS, you knew Luverne Woods. You also knew what sort of games he would plan for an evening. If you were a parent or faculty member, you didn't know — and thank God for that.

Another story announced: "Advertising Slogans for Annual Written by Scribblers' Club." After disposing of the slogans, the story told about other work in progress by several of the members.

"Kenny Dwyer has been working on a poem entitled 'To Jane,' which deals with the subject of love," the story reported. "He has received many suggestions and criticism from several members of the club."

Kenny Dwyer didn't write poems. As far as I can remember, he couldn't even write a complete sentence. But the story told everyone, including Jane, that he was keen on her and had been consulting with his friends on his best move to do something about it.

Another paragraph in the same story reported that Richard Mahlman was working "on a poem entitled 'To a Skylark,' which deals with the joys of nature and the desire of mankind to get away from it all."

Richard Mahlman didn't write poetry either. But he had taken a girl on a drive into the country, suspiciously ran out of gas, and had taken a suspiciously long time getting back to town.

In my youth we had an underground press and we had a generation gap, too. Only we took care to keep it all to ourselves. Sometimes I feel sorry for today's Younger Generation. They have to share everything with the old folks.

Outside House Painting Eliminated for 15 Years

LONG BEACH, CALIF. (CT) – Painting is a thing of the past. Let us show you how Fiberglas TEX-COTE insulates, waterproofs and beautifies and is factory guaranteed for a full 15 years.

BEST IN NATION

Homeowners are requested not to spend a single penny on painting their residences until they hear the TEX-COTE story. This remarkable material insulates, waterproofs and beautifies, and every fiberglas TEX-COTE job is factory guaranteed for 15 full years against chipping, flaking or peeling.

Fiberglas, a product of Owens-Corning, brings to TEX-COTE its great strength, its wonderful insulating properties, its resistance to time, weather and chemical attack.

PROVEN OVER THE YEARS

TEX-COTE is one of the oldest coatings now marketed and has been applied on thousands of homes and commercial buildings since 1946. These buildings have remained in perfect condition after more than 15 years exposure in all types of weather.

SHOT FROM A GUN

TEX-COTE is applied with heavy duty spray equipment and is actually "shot from a gun" without muss, fuss or odor. TEX-COTE fuses itself to the walls and fills holes, cracks and covers building defects. TEX-COTE may be applied over stucco, wood, brick, block or shingles.

CITY OF LONG BEACH

Cal-Tex Improvements, Inc., is a licensed City of Long Beach Building Contractor. Most of the work now being done by Cal-Tex is in the greater Long Beach and West Orange County areas.

Cal-Tex has been applying TEX-COTE to homes in the Greater Long Beach Area for many years. For a Free Home Demonstration — without obligation — or for your FREE brochure regarding TEX-COTE — call GA 3-8411.

THE WELLS REPORT

Ban Sex Education

By Bob Wells

THERE'S A LOT of fingerpointing going on these days in an attempt to fix responsibility for the activities of our Younger Generation. Somebody has to be responsible for their predilection for campus riots, pot and sex.

Obviously, you can't blame their parents, because it is well known that the Younger Generation pays no attention to its parents. Besides, everybody is a parent except the Younger Generation and even some of them. It doesn't help if you have to blame everyone. Who do you vote against?

Max Rafferty, our superintendent of education, blames John Dewey. John Dewey's theory of progressive education, Max thinks, is the reason so many of our Younger Generation can't tell a hookah from McGuffey's Reader.

The Board of Education of the Long Beach School District doesn't agree with Max. They think Walter Boyd is responsible for the Younger Generation. At least, just about the time our Younger Generation began to go to hell, the Board of Education changed the name of John Dewey Continuation High School to Walter Boyd Continuation High School. I interpret that as a sincere effort to put the responsibility for the Younger Generation where it belongs.

Others think Dr. Benjamin Spock is responsible for our Younger Generation. He was too permissive, they argue.

WELL, I HAVE DISCOVERED who really is responsible for our younger generation. Not John Dewey. Not Walter Boyd. Not Dr. Spock.

James Thurber, that's who.

Yes, kindly old Jim Thurber, the humorist. The funny man who gave us "Fables for Our Time," and New Yorker cartoons and stories like "The Night the Bed Broke Down."

Thurber has to share responsibility with another author, E. B. White. Together, back in 1929, they wrote a book called "Is Sex Necessary." In one passage they quoted a learned sex expert as saying:

"Many children have asked me, 'What should I tell my parents about sex?' My answer is always the same: 'Tell them the truth.'"

Somewhere, someplace that book and its dangerous quotation must have fallen into the hands of children. Because for the past five or six years the Younger Generation has insisted on telling their parents the truth about sex, whether they like it or not.

And that is out-and-out brainwashing. The Older Generation is not interested in hearing the truth about sex. We are interested in hearing the truth about baseball, the truth about crash diets, the truth about real estate investments, the truth about biologic agents in detergents and even the truth about making dentures stick tight enough to eat corn on the cob.

You see? The charge that the Older Generation refuses to face up to reality is just not true. Only don't talk to us about the truth about sex. We prefer our illusions.

Besides, if storks don't really bring babies, how come Memorial Hospital has a heliport?

THE CHIEF VEHICLE of the Thurber-inspired campaign of the Younger Generation to tell their parents about sex seems to be the underground press. The underground press (in case you haven't been told the truth about the underground press) is the collective name given to periodicals such as the Los Angeles Free Press, the Long Beach Free Press, Open City and similar publications.

It is hard for a member of the Older Generation to keep up with the underground press. Not that the papers are not readily available; they are displayed in coin racks on almost every street corner. But it is a little difficult for a member of the Older Generation — his inhibitions being what they are — just to walk up in front of passers-by and everybody put 15 cents in the coin slots and walk away with a copy of the Free Press exposed for everyone to see.

You can subscribe, of course, but the publishers won't even send them to your home in a plain brown wrapper. I mean — I hear from my mailman about my neighbor two houses down, and he only subscribes to Playboy.

Nevertheless, at great personal risk and embarrassment I have kept current with the Los Angeles Free Press because I happen to believe that the youth of today are trying to tell us something.

Sure enough, they are. Only I can't tell you what it is in a family newspaper.

When I was a youth, we had an underground press, too. It was called the school paper. We were interested in telling the truth about sex. Only we were interested in telling the truth about sex, whatever that might be, to each other — most certainly not to our parents or the faculty. If they had suspected what was going on, our stories would have been tossed out of the paper and we would have been tossed out of school.

RECENTLY I WAS LEAFING through a December 1940 edition of the Faribault High School Echo and I came across several fine examples of the underground press of a quarter-century ago.

One story was headed, "Forum Club Plans Sleigh Ride Jan. 4," and announced that a public affairs discussion group would go on a sleigh ride — if it snowed. Plans for the event were detailed. The last sentence announced, "An evening of games has been planned by Luverne Woods."

Well. If you were a student at FHS, you knew Luverne Woods. You also knew what sort of games he would plan for an evening. If you were a parent or faculty member, you didn't know — and thank God for that.

Another story announced: "Advertising Slogans for Annual Written by Scribblers' Club." After disposing of the slogans, the story told about other work in progress by several of the members.

"Kenny Dwyer has been working on a poem entitled 'To Jane,' which deals with the subject of love," the story reported. "He has received many suggestions and criticism from several members of the club."

Kenny Dwyer didn't write poems. As far as I can remember, he couldn't even write a complete sentence. But the story told everyone, including Jane, that he was keen on her and had been consulting with his friends on his best move to do something about it.

Another paragraph in the same story reported that Richard Mahlman was working "on a poem entitled 'To a Skylark,' which deals with the joys of nature and the desire of mankind to get away from it all."

Richard Mahlman didn't write poetry either. But he had taken a girl on a drive into the country, suspiciously ran out of gas, and had taken a suspiciously long time getting back to town.

In my youth we had an underground press and we had a generation gap, too. Only we took care to keep it all to ourselves. Sometimes I feel sorry for today's Younger Generation. They have to share everything with the old folks.

Polytechnic High School, Long Beach, as it looked in 1926.

A LOOK AT POLY CLASS OF '26

Even the Gay and Laughing Youth Grow Old

By Louise Meteer

I'VE NEVER CARED much for antiques, but there's an old book I keep well hidden and bring out only for moments of calculated nostalgia.

It's dark blue of cover, coming apart at the binding, dog-eared on the corners and slightly soiled. Across the front cover a pudgy Spanish padre is embossed with delicate, faded gold etching beneath the book's title:

CAERULEA

Turning the pages is a painfully pleasant glance into the mirror of the past — my past — and that of more than 600 men and women who once were graduates of Polytechnic High School in Long Beach. It was the Class of 1926.

The faces of those boys and girls lie faultlessly upon the pages. The girls wear prim white middie blouses with button-on blue serge collars and "four-in-hand ties," documentary proof that certain patterns of dress and conduct were unbendingly set down for us in those days. It never occurred to us to sit in or stay out in a demonstration for change.

Perhaps that is the reason we didn't do it!

Every boy on the pages of that old high school year-book has a haircut and wears a tie, but I smile, knowing that from the belt down — these were head and shoulder pictures — these boys wore the dirtiest cords that they could muster.

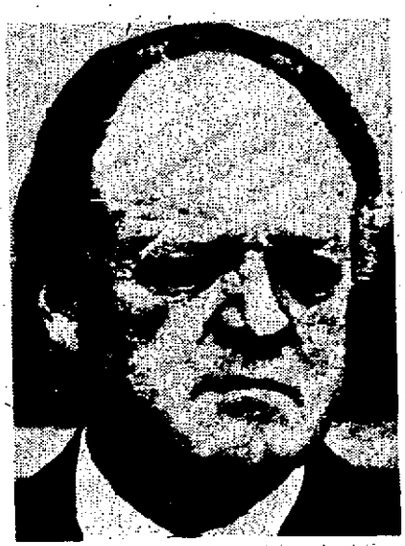

I've a special reason for opening the book just now: a list of former classmates — the "in" crowd — nearly 100 of them, neatly typed and given to me by one who cared enough to keep in touch.

She sent them to me a few days following the 40th Class reunion.

I should have written about them then, but shaken with the impact of recognition and non-recognition of former school friends in that milling crowd of aging matrons and balding men, I had put the pages away and forgotten them.

Now they are here, opened before me — these names that I remember

Van Heflin, Poly alumnus, as he appeared in role of lawyer in TV show "A Case of Libel" in February 1968.

A page from Poly High's yearbook, Caerulea, for 1926. The youth with the bushy hair in upper row is Evan Heflin, who later dropped the E from his first name and became a famous actor.

In lower right corner of this page in yearbook is the writer of this article, now a reporter and author.

A note written in the author's yearbook. "May our friendship last forever," it says — but how many high school friendships do?

MISS RULE: Kindly give brief genealogy on McKIERNAN. — D. M., Long Beach.

McKIERNAN, Irish, is a modern form of the ancient Gaelic clan name MacThighearnain, describing "descendants of the lord of the manorial estate." This clan is a branch of Clan O'Connor of Roscommon, directly descended from Tighernan, grandson of Terlagh O'Connor, Irish king who died in 1345. The McKiernan shield is red, emblazoned with a gold, notched-edge pyramid overlaid with a silver ball.

MISS RULE: Please give data on LAMBRIGHT. — T.L., Norwalk.

LAMBRIGHT, German, was orginally Lambrecht, a famous lineage descended from a hero-warrior called "Land-Beraht," meaning "brilliant and famous for his property." The Lambrecht shield from Bruges, Belgium, is blue, centered with a white lamb impaled on a silver sword.

MISS RULE: What have you on LAMBERT?—R.L., Long Beach; B.D., Garden Grove.

LAMBERT may be English, French, German or Dutch. In all cases it is based on the Teutonic warrior name "Land-Bercht," deciphered as "owner of shining land." English ancestors include Adam, Son of Lambert of Lincoln-

By ABBIE BACHELDER

IF I COULD go anywhere I wanted to, I would like to have a congenial driver in a car and would travel around these whole United States, never once on a freeway, but all the little out of way places.

First I would like to stop at Chicago and pick up my best friend for the rest of the trip. I would visit old friends in Chicago and Minneapolis as well as my home town, Brainerd, Minn. I would revisit the scenes of my childhood—see where we would slide down snow-covered hills on a cardboard or played Indians in the swamp. While most of my friends are gone, I bet I could still have a marvelous time if I tried. I know roads and highways almost unexplored—I'd just take it slow and easy and enjoy the wonders of nature.

Then my trip would include a drive along the Canadian side of the Great Lakes to Quebec; down the eastern coast through Maine, with a short stop at my sister's in New Canaan, Conn. Of course, New York, with its fabulous plays and night spots. I would like to relive my war days in Washington, D. C.

On the way home I should like to go the southern route through Florida, Alabama, Louisiana, Texas, up through Arizona, Colorado—and see famous sights such as the Grand Canyon and Las Vegas.

Of course, this is all wishful thinking, as I doubt if I could stand the trip, being a Senior Citizen with a bad heart—but I would settle for the Midwest and back.

YOU THOUGHT HE HAD IT EASY?

A Pastor's Work Is Never Done

Rev. Samuel Leslie Hall, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Long Beach, speaks with a parishioner by phone.

By Mark Clutter

IT MUST BE WONDERFUL TO HAVE a work week one morning long.

That's the way the life of a pastor looks to many of the unchurched and even to some of the more casual Christians.

After all, he is most noticeable on Sunday morning. They presume that he spends the rest of the time in prayer, study and meditation in preparation for next Sunday's sermon.

It's not that way at all. The 80-hour work week is not uncommon in the life of a pastor of a big urban church.

Here was a typical week for Rev. Samuel Leslie Hall, rector (pastor) of St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Long Beach:

Sunday: Three services and confirmation class.

Monday: In the morning, staff meeting, administrative details, plans for the week. The afternoon was devoted to counseling, hospital and parish calls. There was an organization meeting in the evening.

Tuesday: In the morning Father Hall wrote letters. A pastor's correspondence is heavy. He reviewed details and made decisions concerning the parish program. He had three office appointments — pre-marriage and baptismal instruction and marriage counseling. He went to a conference at the bishop's office in the afternoon. This meeting had to do with an experimental inter-racial ministry in Long Beach. He conducted Evensong at 5:30 in the church.

Wednesday: He celebrated Holy Eucharist at 7 a.m. and had breakfast with the men who attend that service. He led a women's study group at 9 a.m. During the afternoon there were five appointments. He had supper and led the discussion of the high school group.

Thursday: Father Hall conducted the 10 a.m. service, then had a counseling session. He went to UCLA for a meeting of the Church's Department of College Work. Late in the afternoon he took Communion to an elderly shut-in and made two hospital calls.

Friday: With the exception of a 10:30 a.m. funeral, he spent his day off at home. He washed the car, did some gardening, took life easy — and answered the telephone. "That is what happens if you stay home." He and his wife went to dinner at the home of a parish family.

Saturday: There were two funerals in the morning. He finished preparation for the Sunday services. There were two hospital calls and a long conversation with someone who was unhappy with life in general and the church in particular. After his custom, he did not accept any Saturday evening social engagements, but the weekend before he accompanied the senior high school group on its snow trip.

"This was a typical week," Father Hall said. "Some weeks are filled with emergencies."

A pastor is always on duty. It is, for example, not unusual to rush to a hospital at 2 a.m. to administer Last Rites.

Father Hall and Father A. LeRoy Young, associate rector, divide the duties of St. Luke's, a parish of 1,400 communicants. Father Young follows a similar schedule, and is active in community projects.

Along with everything else a pastor is an administrator. He has a staff, which at St. Luke's consists of the associate rector, a director of education, a music director, a secretary, a bookkeeper and a sexton (church caretaker), plus volunteers. The rector is the president of the parish corporation.

At St. Luke's there are many sacramental occasions of a personal nature. In a year's time there will be perhaps 15 weddings, 25 or 30 baptisms and 60 funerals. There are also many weekday services of Holy Communion.

The Episcopal Church does not permit people to act in ignorance in important matters. No one can "join" the church on impulse; he has to learn what it means to be an Episcopalian. There must be instruction for marriage, baptism and confirmation. Consequently, much of a priest's work is that of a teacher.

"We also do more and more counseling in personal and emotional problems," Father Hall said. "If we find that these problems require greater attention than we are able to give, we refer people to the professionals who can help them. We direct people in finding legal as well as psychological and perhaps medical aid."

Keeping current in one's reading is not as easy as when a clergyman's life was more ordered than it is these days.

"It is possible to read if one makes use of free moments," he said. "I read three weeklies — the National Catholic Reporter, Time and the Episcopalian Living Church. I also read the Atlantic Monthly, the National Geographic and other magazines. I read the Christian Science Monitor, the Press-Telegram and the Sunday Los Angeles Times.

"I read the new theological works and books I think I ought to read. Sometimes I relax with spy stories."

Father Hall gave his views on the nature and demands of his career.

"It is hard work. In addition to crowded schedules there are heavy emotional demands. We deal constantly with highly emotional situations — birth and marriage and family life and sickness and death. It is impossible to deal with matters of great importance in an impersonal, routine manner. We are involved. This can lead to the very real hazard of emotional exhaustion. Every clergyman must work out ways of disengaging himself and relaxing.

"There are also great rewards. Every man wants to lay his life on the line for something worth-while. In Christ we have the perfect model for worth-while life. He is the truly human being.

"Life is in constant danger of being dehumanized. We are doing what we can to humanize life. It is important to be born, to live and to die. I am glad to say that youth is beginning to realize the need of humanizing life.

"A clergyman's role is threefold: He is priest, prophet and pastor. As priest he is the spokesman and the gatherer of the Christian community. As prophet he is the interpreter of contemporary life in terms of God and man. As pastor he is a listener, a leader and a moderator of interpersonal relationships. Sometimes these roles come in conflict. When you attempt to speak your mind, you risk alienation. You have to show love toward those with whom you profoundly disagree.

"There are many ways to be involved. A man must 'do his own thing' according to his personality and the situation. I have no criticism of those clergymen who have become social activists on the picket line. They do not damage the church. On the contrary, they strengthen it by their courage and concern."

The training of a pastor is long and rigorous.

Father Hall was born in San Francisco and educated in the Beverly Hills public schools. He received his bachelor's degree at UC Berkeley and did two years graduate work in history and education at UCLA. Then he spent three years at Virginia Theological Seminary where he received his degree in theology. He had clinical pastoral training in the Washington, D.C., General Hospital. He also studied in Canterbury, England. He was rector of St. Stephen's Parish, Whittier, for eight years before coming to St. Luke's.

He is married and has four children — Leslie, 12; Geoffrey, 9; Stuart, 7, and David, 2.

"What does a pastor do?" Father Hall smiled. "Well, most of all, he listens. It takes a lot of listening to have something to say in that Sunday morning sermon."

He might have added that a listener is what many people need most of all.

Plan Now for a Sturdy All Year Liken Patio

Know the company, know the product, know the guarantee. These are the three most important phases when planning a patio, carport or other aluminum structure, according to T. H. Liken and Sons, patio and aluminum building contractors serving the Southland for 22 years.

The award winning company (winners of the National Flexalum Design Award) have combined their designing skills with the finest in materials to establish an outstanding reputation for quality workmanship. All work is bonded and guaranteed.

Liken notes that nothing can match their Flexalum patio cover. Custom work, unique construction . . . no nuts, bolts or screws to mar the beauty of a Liken patio.

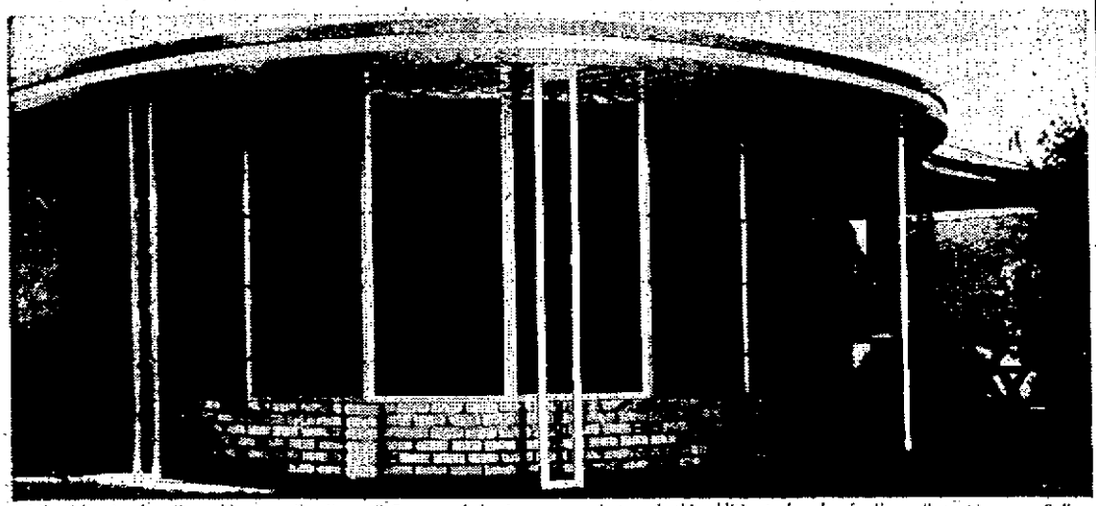

Exceptional quality is provided through the extra strength of top quality spring-tempered aluminum panels. Likens features all aluminum concealed I-beam construction. Two coats of baked enamel, that does away with waxing.

If desired, special skylight panels can be alternated with aluminum panels allowing a limited amount of light to filter through. The customer has a choice of a multitude of colors to choose from, plus cello-glass removable windows to make your patio an all-year room.

Original designs and solving of unusual problems are a specialty of Likens. A complete staff of experts are always available to aid with any aluminum-structure design.

Looking for something different in patio cover designs? Likens is always the first with unique ideas that add beauty and function to your patio area. Upright valance design is continued along back of home to eliminate the "tacked on look" so prevalent in most patios. All furniture and accessories were "color keyed" to match patio roof.

Likens' ever popular all-year aluminum "patio room." Strong, cool aluminum roof combined with fiberglass screens and brick wall make for a durable year-round structure. Removable "cello glass" windows can be added during cooler months to make this addition truly a den, family or all year play room. Call GE 3-0946 for a Free Estimate at any time you desire.

Sweeping panels in a two color effect lend an Oriental charm to this second story balcony. Alternating panels of translucent plexi-glass allows light to filter through, but holds back heat rays. Total concept is further enhanced by decorative scroll railing, Oriental shrubbery and statuary.

Probably no home-improvement project has such wide appeal as installing an outdoor patio. It can add much to family (and guests) pleasure.

Distinctive types of patios are featured through the quality designs provided by T. H. Liken and Sons. Curved patios, screened-in's, and many, many other distinctive designs are offered by the 22-year-old firm that has adhered to ethical business practices and prices during their many years of service to Long Beach and surrounding area homeowners.

Likens are craftsmen in their field. They design each patio cover with the architectural plan of the house in mind.

Another service offered by the popular company is refacing industrial and commercial buildings. Old buildings take on a fresh, sparkling "new look" with a Likens plan.

Patio construction is augmented with complete service in aluminum awnings, screen enclosures, cement work and brick planters. All work carries a complete guarantee.

Likens staff of experts are well trained to plan, design and carry through on any home, commercial or industrial improvement project.

A Pastor's Work Is Never Done

Rev. Samuel Leslie Hall, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Long Beach, speaks with a parishioner by phone.

By Mark Clutter

IT MUST BE WONDERFUL TO HAVE a work week one morning long.

That's the way the life of a pastor looks to many of the unchurched and even to some of the more casual Christians.

After all, he is most noticeable on Sunday morning. They presume that he spends the rest of the time in prayer, study and meditation in preparation for next Sunday's sermon.

It's not that way at all. The 80-hour work week is not uncommon in the life of a pastor of a big urban church.

Here was a typical week for Rev. Samuel Leslie Hall, rector (pastor) of St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Long Beach:

Sunday: Three services and confirmation class.

Monday: In the morning, staff meeting, administrative details, plans for the week. The afternoon was devoted to counseling, hospital and parish calls. There was an organization meeting in the evening.

Tuesday: In the morning Father Hall wrote letters. A pastor's correspondence is heavy. He reviewed details and made decisions concerning the parish program. He had three office appointments — pre-marriage and baptismal instruction and marriage counseling. He went to a conference at the bishop's office in the afternoon. This meeting had to do with an experimental inter-racial ministry in Long Beach. He conducted Evensong at 5:30 in the church.

Wednesday: He celebrated Holy Eucharist at 7 a.m. and had breakfast with the men who attend that service. He led a women's study group at 9 a.m. During the afternoon there were five appointments. He had supper and led the discussion of the high school group.

Thursday: Father Hall conducted the 10 a.m. service, then had a counseling session. He went to UCLA for a meeting of the Church's Department of College Work. Late in the afternoon he took Communion to an elderly shut-in and made two hospital calls.

Friday: With the exception of a 10:30 a.m. funeral, he spent his day off at home. He washed the car, did some gardening, took life easy — and answered the telephone. "That is what happens if you stay home." He and his wife went to dinner at the home of a parish family.

Saturday: There were two funerals in the morning. He finished preparation for the Sunday services. There were two hospital calls and a long conversation with someone who was unhappy with life in general and the church in particular. After his custom, he did not accept any Saturday evening social engagements, but the weekend before he accompanied the senior high school group on its snow trip.

The Folly of Picking Up a Dolly

By Walter C. Huebner

THERE SHE STANDS as you round the bend or enter the freeway, but, Mister, before you slam on the brakes you'll be wise to remember that yellow road sign that says: "DANGER—CURVES AHEAD!"

It is not too unusual these days to see a young lady hitching a ride. She may point a tapered fingernail at an elegantly printed or hastily scribbled sign declaring her destination.

Often, these highway dollies travel in pairs. However, it is not unusual to see a blonde bombshell standing alone shivering in the early morning cool or wearing an alluring smile for your benefit. Other times she will appear the picture of studied innocence or sport a devil-may-care nonchalance. Under any circumstance you, the driver, and she are both taking a chance if you pick her up.

In San Francisco alone, according to the police, for a recent month there were 12 cases of rape reported by female hitchhikers. But you, John Q. Sport, a bit middle-aged, harbor no evil intentions when picking up a dolly. You may be a traveling salesman looking for companionship on a dull trip, a trucker on a long haul, a good-hearted Joe helping a damsel in distress, or just a plain gambler. And that is what you are doing, brother . . . GAMBLING!

First, you are risking your reputation. Suppose you are involved in a collision and the hitchhiker is injured. There is an excellent chance the news media will print it. What will your wife, the boss or neighbors think? "Imagine that lecherous John Q. Sport, he travels with young ladies — Hmmph!"

Remember, too, that a gal often appears several years older than her true age. You may have some serious explaining to do to the police on contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile runaway. "But honestly officer, I didn't know her age," is not sufficient. After all, sir, are you not an adult?

Ah, yes, she is of age and a likeable chick so

Home, Home on the Base

By Ellen Krec

NAVAL AIR STATION, Los Alamitos, means many things to many people — but to Capt. and Mrs. Lloyd Dee Ruth, USN, it means home.

Capt. Ruth assumed command of the Naval Air Station in 1967 and for at least two years the family has been contented with a rare blessing to naval personnel . . . on-base quarters.

A Texan, Capt. Ruth met an Alabaman at the University of Texas and, together, they have shared 27 years of marriage, moves every two years and three children, Lloyd Dee Jr., 22, Mary Pauline, 20, and Lucinda Dee, 17.

Lloyd Jr., a senior at Cornell University with a major in computer industrial engineering, is active in NROTC with a forthcoming commission in the Navy.

A future in psychology awaits Mary Pauline when she completes her studies at the University of Wisconsin.

Lucinda, as a Los Alamitos High School junior, remains on base with her parents.

The Ruths strongly feel that the abundance of travel has contributed to the maturing and fine adjusting their children have made to change.

"When you face a major move every two years," says Mrs. Ruth, "it means the children must make new friends and adjust to new schools. We both feel this has made leaving home for college much easier."

"Also," according to Mrs. Ruth, "there is a close-knit feeling between the children, because with each move there is a time period when they have only each other, and this has strengthened their loyalty."

Even Tyke, the family dog, has learned to travel well and is especially content if the new quarters border a golf course!

Only a move during the high school years poses a fraction of a problem since those years are more social than academic, but bridging the gap are experiences such as having been to Stratford on Avon when Shakespeare is part of the studies.

A good healthy transplanting philosophy has been invaluable with the family and Mrs. Ruth claims that "if the home isn't in order the first month, it never will be!"

Capt. and Mrs. Lloyd Dee Ruth chat in family room.

It helps of course if the quarters are on-base, but this is rare — so any move usually means a search for adequate living quarters any place from Europe to Hawaii.

The Navy is responsible for moving 13,000 pounds of living equipment from base to base. This does not include assisting in the settling. The latest acquisition takes care of quite a few of those pounds . . . a new grand piano for Lucinda!

Among the more "moving experiences" was the first move when Capt. Ruth packed everything in sight, including the fruits and vegetables, much to the dismay of the storage company!

A second disastrous move when Lucinda was a baby uncovered the fact that the moving men had packed every single piece of equipment, including the baby's clothes and diapers. The discovery came on a holiday weekend! Capt. Ruth prevailed on the owner of the storage firm to open and help unpack some of the boxes and restore the family tranquility.

The base quarters the Ruths enjoy combine comfortable furnishings with tasteful accents accumulated on travels during the years.

Capt. Ruth is responsible for some of the fine rosewood tables and the ginger jar lamps which he purchased on a tour of duty in the Orient.

Mrs. Ruth says: "Fortunately I have liked every present, but even if I didn't, they would make me happy!"

"We move too frequently to develop any particular home style," she says. "We settle for what is

The Folly of Picking Up a Dolly

By Walter C. Huebner

THERE SHE STANDS as you round the bend or enter the freeway, but, Mister, before you slam on the brakes you'll be wise to remember that yellow road sign that says: "DANGER—CURVES AHEAD!"

It is not too unusual these days to see a young lady hitching a ride. She may point a tapered fingernail at an elegantly printed or hastily scribbled sign declaring her destination.

Often, these highway dollies travel in pairs. However, it is not unusual to see a blonde bombshell standing alone shivering in the early morning cool or wearing an alluring smile for your benefit. Other times she will appear the picture of studied innocence or sport a devil-may-care nonchalance. Under any circumstance you, the driver, and she are both taking a chance if you pick her up.

In San Francisco alone, according to the police, for a recent month there were 12 cases of rape reported by female hitchhikers. But you, John Q. Sport, a bit middle-aged, harbor no evil intentions when picking up a dolly. You may be a traveling salesman looking for companionship on a dull trip, a trucker on a long haul, a good-hearted Joe helping a damsel in distress, or just a plain gambler. And that is what you are doing, brother . . . GAMBLING!

First, you are risking your reputation. Suppose you are involved in a collision and the hitchhiker is injured. There is an excellent chance the news media will print it. What will your wife, the boss or neighbors think? "Imagine that lecherous John Q. Sport, he travels with young ladies — Hmmph!"

Remember, too, that a gal often appears several years older than her true age. You may have some serious explaining to do to the police on contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile runaway. "But honestly officer, I didn't know her age," is not sufficient. After all, sir, are you not an adult?

Ah, yes, she is of age and a likeable chick so

Home, Home on the Base

By Ellen Krec

NAVAL AIR STATION, Los Alamitos, means many things to many people — but to Capt. and Mrs. Lloyd Dee Ruth, USN, it means home.

Capt. Ruth assumed command of the Naval Air Station in 1967 and for at least two years the family has been contented with a rare blessing to naval personnel . . . on-base quarters.

A Texan, Capt. Ruth met an Alabaman at the University of Texas and, together, they have shared 27 years of marriage, moves every two years and three children, Lloyd Dee Jr., 22, Mary Pauline, 20, and Lucinda Dee, 17.

Lloyd Jr., a senior at Cornell University with a major in computer industrial engineering, is active in NROTC with a forthcoming commission in the Navy.

A future in psychology awaits Mary Pauline when she completes her studies at the University of Wisconsin.

Lucinda, as a Los Alamitos High School junior, remains on base with her parents.

The Ruths strongly feel that the abundance of travel has contributed to the maturing and fine adjusting their children have made to change.

"When you face a major move every two years," says Mrs. Ruth, "it means the children must make new friends and adjust to new schools. We both feel this has made leaving home for college much easier."

"Also," according to Mrs. Ruth, "there is a close-knit feeling between the children, because with each move there is a time period when they have only each other, and this has strengthened their loyalty."

Even Tyke, the family dog, has learned to travel well and is especially content if the new quarters border a golf course!

Only a move during the high school years poses a fraction of a problem since those years are more social than academic, but bridging the gap are experiences such as having been to Stratford on Avon when Shakespeare is part of the studies.

A good healthy transplanting philosophy has been invaluable with the family and Mrs. Ruth claims that "if the home isn't in order the first month, it never will be!"

It helps of course if the quarters are on-base, but this is rare — so any move usually means a search for adequate living quarters any place from Europe to Hawaii.

laughingly termed Navy Decor."

Few things are ever disposed of because some of the quarters are larger and "we need everything." Others are small, so the overflow remains in storage until the next move.

Two things make "instant home," according to the Ruths. First the curtains go up and then the favorite paintings.

His "Texas Bluebells" finds a home and then her Alabama waterfall and the remainder of the unpacking follows.

Beds and dishwasher are the next in line of importance.

Basically the home furnishings are not the most difficult problem to solve as far as Navy life is concerned. Clothing presents an even greater difficulty. Moves from warm to cold climates mean change of wardrobe. If the clothing is kept too long, the styles change and sometimes several warm climate moves come before the colder ones. The best solution, according to the Ruths, is "not to accumulate too much clothing and give it away if the move is in the wrong direction."

While the children make the necessary friend and school adjustments, the parents find the social and business developments an equal challenge.

As base commander, Capt. Ruth is, of necessity, active in civic and social affairs, which means Mrs. Ruth must share many of the activities.

Friendships are made at each base and many are retained through the years. This accounts for the constant flow of house guests, while the current base projects mean three or four at-home dinner parties each week.

For the first time, the Ruths have a steward who is responsible for some of the cooking and, to the joy of Mrs. Ruth . . . the kitchen cleanup.

Capt. Ruth received his wings in 1942 and his love of flying persists today. While his assignments have taken him from active duty in the Pacific Theater during World War II to command of the Naval Air Station, he has had a wide range of experiences in many areas of the service. Among his fond memories is a flight to Hawaii when he piloted the plane carrying his children.

The quarters the Ruths occupy for this tour of duty have been enhanced by each former inhabitant. The "special room," which the Ruths admit has no name but they couldn't do without it, combines an abundance of comfortable seating, a corner bar and free-standing fireplace in a lanai atmosphere.

Spacious gardens surround the room which began as an open deck.

Steps rise from the flagstone base to the slightly formal dining area with easy kitchen access.

The bright welcoming living room supplies conversational space with cornered sectional and pastel slipper chairs.

Three and one-half bedrooms return to three bedrooms and a study when the children are away at school and the houseguests are at a minimum.

Elaborate decorating schemes are impractical for the time involved, but Mrs. Ruth finds great pleasure in her red, white and blue bathroom. Bold stripes cover the wall and a blue with red curtain shields the window. A whimsical note comes from the door when the attached music box plays "The Eyes of Texas."

The Ruths maintain a home in Washington but haven't decided on "permanent quarters" because to date "we like every place we have lived!"

Dining area has formal air.

A Guide to Farm, Ranch Vacations

AN INFORMATIVE new guidebook, the 1969 "Rand McNally Farm & Ranch Vacation Guide," provides data on 425 recommended farms, ranches and lodges in all 50 states and Canada where vacationers may obtain meals and lodging, a housekeeping cabin, or a camp or trailer site at an operating farm or ranch.

Most of the rural hosts listed in the guide welcome adults or families at rates that vary with comfort of accommodations and range of activities, from $50 to $160 a week per adult including meals, and half or two-thirds that amount for a child. Housekeeping facilities not including meals are available as low as $40 per week for a family. There are 124 ranches and farms where children may be left in the hosts' care after their parents leave, and 19 places where only teen-agers or younger — no adults — are accepted as guests.

The 128-page paperback, complete with maps and over a hundred photographs illustrating where the vacationer will stay and what he will do, is available at major bookstores or by mail from Farm & Ranch Vacations, 36 E. 57th St., New York, N.Y. 10022 for $2.35 first class prepaid, $1.95 third class, or $2.55 air mail.

YOU MAKE IT

It's time for new screens, and you can make them yourself by the simple method shown in Pattern 234. It also shows a way to make storm sash that is well within the capability of the home craftsman with ordinary hand tools. Be ready for summer or winter with this pattern which is 50 cents. It also is one of four patterns in the Homestead Improvement Packet No. 29 for $1.50.

Lawn Sparklers

By Steve Ellingson

Joyful Nonsense.

IT IS a peril in these anxious times that we tend to take ourselves much too seriously. It is well to lubricate life with a little nonsense now and then. For this reason, we have created the lovable little lawn ornaments pictured here with actress Sybile Collier. They will add sparkle and zest, not only to your yard, but may be used in dozens of other places.

Our neighbor, who loves dogs, has the little pups mounted on his gate. A milkman put the little calf on his truck. A child care center has mounted the colorful little animals on their fence and on the sides of the buildings where the children play. They also make excellent decorations for children's rooms where, if you wish, they may be painted right on the wall. The duck is a little 'tipsy' and makes a dandy bar decoration. So you see, they may be used almost any place.

Because all of the animals are easy to make, they are ideal for children's projects. You Den Mothers, who have asked for ideas to keep your Cub Scouts busy, will find this a very popular project. Furthermore, it's just as suitable for girls as it is for boys.

Anyone can make the animals when he uses the full-size patterns. You needn't be an artist at all. You need only trace the pattern on plywood, saw it out, then paint over the tracings. It's that easy. The only tool you need is a 25-cent coping saw. The pattern gives complete directions and tells what colors to use.

To obtain the complete assortment of lawn ornament patterns No. C-3, send $1 (add 25c per pattern for airmail delivery) by currency, check or money order to:

Southland Living Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383
Van Nuys, California 91409

Other patterns you will enjoy:

No. 224 Child's playhouse $1
No. 62 Barbecue table & benches 75c
NEW Booklet picturing 400 projects 75c
No. 250 Garden tool storage shed $1
No. 348 Cupola $1

Lawn Sparklers

By Steve Ellingson

Joyful Nonsense.

IT IS a peril in these anxious times that we tend to take ourselves much too seriously. It is well to lubricate life with a little nonsense now and then. For this reason, we have created the lovable little lawn ornaments pictured here with actress Syhile Collier. They will add sparkle and zest, not only to your yard, but may be used in dozens of other places.

Our neighbor, who loves dogs, has the little pups mounted on his gate. A milkman put the little calf on his truck. A child care center has mounted the colorful little animals on their fence and on the sides of the buildings where the children play. They also make excellent decorations for children's rooms where, if you wish, they may be painted right on the wall. The duck is a little 'tipsy' and makes a dandy bar decoration. So you see, they may be used almost any place.

Because all of the animals are easy to make, they are ideal for children's projects. You Den Mothers, who have asked for ideas to keep your Cub Scouts busy, will find this a very popular project. Furthermore, it's just as suitable for girls as it is for boys.

Anyone can make the animals when he uses the full-size patterns. You needn't be an artist at all. You need only trace the pattern on plywood, saw it out, then paint over the tracings. It's that easy. The only tool you need is a 25-cent coping saw. The pattern gives complete directions and tells what colors to use.

To obtain the complete assortment of lawn ornament patterns No. C-3, send $1 (add 25c per pattern for airmail delivery) by currency, check or money order to:

Southland Living Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383
Van Nuys, California 91409

Other patterns you will enjoy:

No. 224 Child's playhouse $1
No. 62 Barbecue table & benches 75c
NEW Booklet picturing 400 projects 75c
No. 250 Garden tool storage shed $1
No. 348 Cupola $1
No. 276 Lawn glider swing $1

Famous Desserts

FROM MODEL T to Mustang has gone this business of desserts!

At the turn of the century, six flavors of gelatin went to market in a little Model T Ford with "America's Most Famous Dessert" stenciled on the side. Sixty years later, fruit flavor gelatin is still going strong with the introduction of two new flavors — Concord grape and strawberry punch — to make good old favorite recipes even greater.

Today we present two recipes, one using the Concord grape and one with strawberry punch flavor. Try them both real soon!

Strawberry Punch Bowl

2 pkgs. (3 oz. each) strawberry punch flavor gelatin
2 cups boiling water
2 cups cold water
Prepared whipped topping
Mint leaves
Canned and-or fresh fruit

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; then add cold water. Pour into a 1-quart punch bowl or other serving bowl. Chill until firm. Before serving, garnish top of gelatin with a wreath of prepared whipped topping, mint leaves, and fruit — drained canned apricot halves, pineapple tidbits, sliced strawberries. When strawberries and fresh mint are out of season, substitute red and green maraschino cherries. Makes 4 cups or 8 servings.

Note: If canned fruit is used for the wreath, the drained syrup from the canned fruit may be substituted for all or part of the cold water.

Fruit Afloat Mold

2 pkgs. (3 oz. each) Concord grape or strawberry punch flavor gelatin
2 cups boiling water
1 can (13½ oz.) crushed pineapple, chilled
Cold water or ginger ale
2 medium bananas, sliced

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Drain pineapple, measuring syrup. Add cold water to syrup to make 1½ cups; add to gelatin. Spread crushed pineapple in bottom of 8x4-inch loaf pan. Top with sliced bananas. Pour gelatin over fruits. Chill until firm — at least 4 hours. During chilling, bananas float to the top; pineapple stays on bottom of mold. Unmold. Makes 6 cups or 8 to 10 servings.

Note: It takes one fruit packed in extra heavy syrup and one light, unsweetened fresh fruit to make self-layering molds. Pineapple tidbits cannot be substituted for crushed pineapple, for example.

Recipe of the Week

MRS. ALEC HILL, 1677 Fairway Hill Drive S.E., Atlanta, Ga., is this week's $5 prize winner.

BAKED EGGPLANT

2 medium eggplants
5 eggs, unbeaten
1¼ cups milk
salt and pepper to taste
3 cups American cheese, grated
3½ cups saltine crackers, crushed
1½ cups margarine, melted

Peel, slice and boil eggplant until tender. Drain in colander for 10 minutes. Pour into a bowl and add eggs, milk, seasonings, half of crumbs, cheese and margarine. Mix well. Pour into a baking dish, having mixture about 1-inch thick. Sprinkle top with remaining cheese, crumbs and margarine. Bake in 450 degree oven for 20 minutes until firm. Serves 8-10

Pretty Up the Patio

By Ellen Krec

WHEN YOU are in the mood for patio furniture . . . it usually is too late.

When the weather warms up, and you are ready to spend more time out of doors, the selection becomes limited or you drag out all the leftover things you can find in the garage.

Since the patio usually faces one of the most used rooms . . . family or living room . . . why need to look like the rummage overflow?

Is there any reason why the patio can't be considered an open room and an extension of the interior design?

There are ways of handling the exterior furnishings. If you have the cash, so much the better, but a bit of ingenuity and energy might help.

First of all, study the space from your entrance. I hope you are more fortunate than we were. This winter the only frost damage was to the tree that shielded our living room from a fine view of second-story garbage cans!

Try to include the colors and shapes of the interior of your home . . . after all, if you can see it, it becomes part of it.

Exterior furnishings range from good old redwood homey to elegant New Orleans wrought iron with local stops for wicker, rattan, molded plastic, vinyl and fiberglas. Then the selection becomes really difficult. Are you disciplined contemporary, formal old world or relaxed mixed?

There are fine patio shops where selection could well be made and a well stocked shop probably would have any of the following suggestions or at least have access to them.

If you belong to the elegant, there couldn't be a better choice than wrought iron and the best known of the designers is Woodard. The furniture is either indoor or outdoor, which makes it handy if you need to change. The glass is tempered and guaranteed a lifetime (either yours or the table's!)

Lee L. Woodard Sons, Inc., prides itself on developing "once in a lifetime" wrought iron furniture and second-generation owners are common to the 100-year-old company.

If you insist on full-time out of doors for your furniture, be sure to select the fabric with additional care . . . no prints but bright color solids and stripes are practical.

Glass or fiberglas tops are best for the element-bound table — wood warps.

Among the more contemporary approaches, Woodard combines wide vinyl strappy furniture in wrought iron frames . . . comfortable and quickly changed.

Before we leave wrought iron for other fields, suggestions for care include using a good wax every other year, and it should be the hand rubbing type.

Umbrellas are almost as useful as they are pretty unless you have plenty of shade. Better keep your eye on the barometer if you don't have a solid base for the umbrella. A windstorm will do it in.

Fading is a great problem since we have so many more sunny days, so confine your bold prints to the underside of the umbrella since they fade faster.

Moreddi's formed plastic makes an ideal look for an offshoot mod home. With or without cushions the bright colors are everything . . . except hammer . . . proof. Molded to fit the human frame, the lovely curved pieces include everything from sofas to chairs with matching cube tables and odd accessories such as bar carts with the proper scale pigeonholes.

And we always have the lacy wicker or more masculine rattan accouterments. These are just as lovely as the care you give them.

Too much water will eventually mildew wicker if it isn't allowed to dry well. Paint should be used each year if possible. Not all rattan will take paint so be sure to check it when you buy the furniture.

Tropi-Cal and a weeping willow tree can give you that relaxed 1890s appearance with airy, gingerbread chairs, settees and tables.

More contemporary rattan finds port-bars hanging from a tree, hourglass tables with formica tops and low-back chairs.

For under-the-stars dining a Parsons type table has fine wood base topped with woven wicker or glass. Matching stools have the identical woven top but, naturally, no glass.

So you know what's new, but how about the old? A garage full of furniture waiting for summer. The least you can do is brighten it with paint, but keep in mind what happens to the view from the room.

Vinyl webbing combines with wrought iron and glass to form an intimate setting for the patio.

ATTRACTIVE FURNISHINGS, GIFT OF L.B. COUPLE, MAKE HOSPITAL STAY MORE PLEASANT

A Room to Speed Patient's Recovery

By Ellen Krec

Hotel room? No, this is Room 332 at St. Mary's Long Beach Hospital, a beautiful place for recovery as the result of an endowment by two Long Beach residents. The donors hope others will follow suit.

—Staff Photos

WHEN A PATIENT awakens in Room 332, St. Mary's Long Beach Hospital, he thinks he's in heaven ... a blue heaven.

Thanks to the imaginative, generous gesture on the part of two Long Beach residents, the Dresden blue room provides a wondrous place for recovery.

The room was the result of interest developed during a long recovery period when the patient felt the frequently sterile atmosphere of a hospital room may be an asset if the individual is very ill, but depressing for long periods of recuperation.

Along with the French flair in furnishings came the powder puff soft nylon carpeting and cloud blue brocade draperies.

Replacing the usual Venetian blinds are window shades rimmed with raspberry fringe.

The bed is the typically electric hospital bed, but the foot and headboard were changed to fit the mood of the room.

For the visitor of those up-and-about days, a pair of French chairs covered with citron print flank the table.

Light flashes or dims from unexpected sources ... a bar of gold sparkling with prisms or the ceiling bowl rimmed with matching crystals.

A closet provides a light, shelves and a demi-refrigerator for personal liquid preferences.

A mobile tray table not only serves to contain reading material, but boasts its own room-matching floral arrangement.

With color playing such an important role in hospitals, even the wall-hung television is color.

Away went the black hoses and functional equipment in the bath to be replaced with matching carpeting, telephone-type shower, blue and white paint and the brightest touch of all, hand-painted blue doves floating about the window shade.

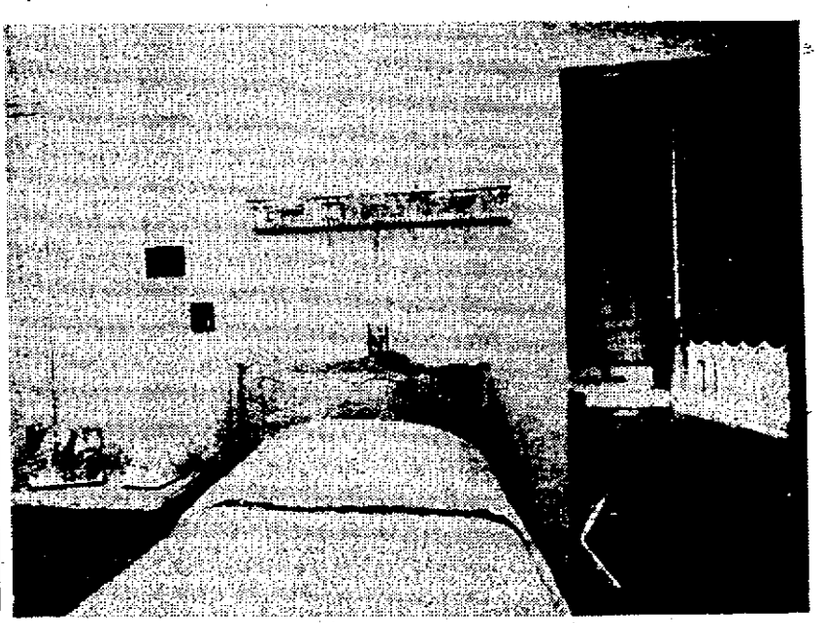

Hopefully the happy change in Room 332 will bring about generous interest in endowment of more such rooms for beautiful recovery.

A small plaque on the door reads "Sister Alphonsus Room With Love and Respect Donated By Two Friends." This anonymous tribute to the care received at St. Mary's Hospital and high regard for the nurse supervisor of 3 North was accepted with humble appreciation. Sister Alphonsus couldn't resist a personal addition to the room ... rose etched goblets.

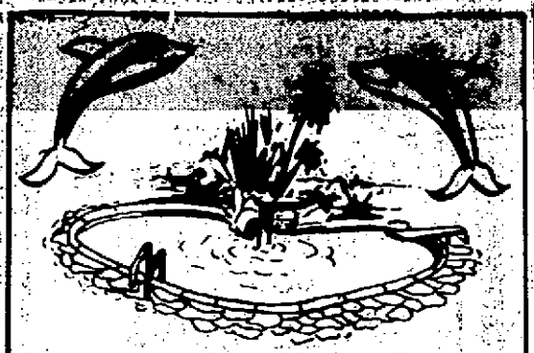

On the staff of St. Mary's Hospital since 1938, Sister Alphonsus hastens to suggest that future decorating of hospital rooms would be most welcome and anyone interested should contact the administrator, Sister Mary Wilfred, to discuss the details.

Plaque on door is viewed by Sister Donatus (left) and Sister Alphonsus, a nurse supervisor for whom the room is named.

Another view of "Sister Alphonsus Room." Headboard, light fixtures, window shades and table all fit mood of room.

The Movie Moguls

"LET'S BRING IT UP to date with some snappy nineteenth-century dialogue," Sam Goldwyn is reputed to have said. The producer's notorious non-sequiturs made him the Mrs. Malaprop of the twentieth century.

"Our comedies are not to be laughed at," he once boasted.

"I read part of it all the way through," he said of a story submitted for filming.

Verbal boo-boos or not, Norman Zierold, author of "The Moguls" (Coward McCann, $6.95), believes Goldwyn produced some of the best pictures of Hollywood's so-called golden era. Goldwyn is by far the most attractive of the screen nabobs about whom Zierold writes so entertainingly and so frankly.

Consider Columbia's tyrant, Harry Cohn, for example; he was called Harry the Horror until Ben Hecht rechristened him White Fang. Then too, there was Louis B. Mayer, whose arrogance was awesome. Lovableness was not the outstanding trait of Zierold's czars.

Here they are, then, in the heyday of their power, before TV came along and told them to move over — Goldwyn, Cohn, Mayer, David O. Selznick, "Uncle Carl" Laemmle, and the Paramount princes, B. P. Schulberg, Jesse Lasky, Cecil B. DeMille and Adolph Zukor.

Who Stole It?

SPIES, INC., by Jack D. Hunter. Dutton, $5.50.

Balsley Hooten, president of a plastics company, calls in the editor of the company magazine and gives him the assignment of finding out who stole the formula to a new development and sold it to another company. Although Paul Dexter is a former counterspy, he is not overwhelmed with the idea. But his boss has his own spies throughout the community and has a lever to force Dexter to take on the task.

When Dexter starts the job, he finds himself almost immediately involved in a double murder in which his fingerprints are placed on the murder weapon. Then he is fired from his job, but is given two weeks in which to continue looking for the industrial spy, Hooten being the only one who knows that Dexter has been fired.

In the process of setting up his case Dexter alienates his wife, so he also has another problem to contend with. But eventually everything falls into place and with the help of his wife he escapes with a whole skin. To put the icing on the cake, he finds that Hooten changes his mind about firing him. This is another very readable book by the author of "The Expendables" and "One of Us Works for Them." — Jim Redpath.

And Try Not to Miss...

MURDER HAS NO FRIENDS. By Bradshaw Jones. Bobbs-Merrill, $4.

London's chief superintendent of detectives Carson disentangles the threads, with the unwilling help of London criminals, after the nude bodies of three girls are found, numbers on their backs.

MOTH IN A RAG SHOP. By Robert Chambers. Bobbs-Merrill, $4.95.

A good mystery novel in which Detective Hank Moody, exiled there because he had beaten a criminal, solves a crime in New York's East Village.

A DOG'S LIFE. By Michael Holroyd. Holt, Rinehart and Winston, $4.50.

The author of the recent monumental biography of Lytton Strachey, in his first novel writes of a day in the life of the Farquhars, three generations of a family in a decaying English countryside home. The action centers around Smith, the family dog.

Golden Captives

THE HOLLYWOOD CAGE. By Charles Hamblett. Hart, $6.95.

Hamblett, Vienna and Cambridge educated, gathered material for this book while working as a correspondent for the London Picture Post and later the Daily Telegraph. A familiar face in Hollywood, he gives a rare close-up of the fabled city as seen through the eyes of those who inhabit the "golden cage" and keep it glittering.

He adds his own observations gained from intimate contact with stars and film moguls. He offers a fascinating close-up of Marilyn Monroe on the brink of disaster — of Humphrey Bogart gamely taking part in activities just weeks before his death — unguarded conversations with Elizabeth Taylor and scathing appraisals of the system by Gregory Peck. The book contains a large number of candid — and sometimes startling — shots of Hollywood greats. — Bill Shelton.

Enemy-Friends

BLOOD OF STRAWBERRIES. By Henry Van Dyke. Farrar, Straus and Giroux, $5.50.

Henry Van Dyke's second comic novel will be no surprise to anyone who read his first, "Ladies of the Rachmaninoff Eyes."

At the center of "Blood of Strawberries" are Max Rhode, octogenarian, and his lifelong enemy-friend, Orson Valentine; they carry on a rivalry about everything, especially their friendship, real or imagined, with Gertrude Stein.

Oliver, the narrator of "Strawberries," who was 18 at the end of "Rachmaninoff," is now in his twenties. He tells the story of a strange summer just as he saw it happen. Though he seems self-assured and detached, it is gradually clear that his detachment and wit are a defense against realities he is not prepared to meet and scarcely understands.

The two themes of "Blood of Strawberries"—the need for self-identification and the need for compassion — are enhanced by the elegant, individual comedy that readers of Mr. Van Dyke's first book will recognize with pleasure. — Jim Redpath.

Wild and Woolly

A WHISTLE IN THE WIND. By John H. Culp. Holt, Rinehart and Winston. $5.95.

This novel depicts one small settlement in Texas, from the wild time before the Civil War to the coming of civilizing government, and the frontier characters who fought for the land.

Comanchero camps served as the headquarters for stolen cattle, and human captives were traded by the Indians. From the beginning, an intense, sweeping prairie fire, to the heroine's last visit to the settled town, this authentic panorama of the West is alive with the people, the Indian chieftains and the unregenerated Plains tribes and their enemy, the invading whites, who tried and eventually succeeded in forcing the red men to the reservations. Also there were renegade whites, fighting for survival, despised by their own people for serving the Indian.

The author has the setting for this story in some of the wildest stretches of country there is today. . . in the West Texas staked plains and along the Caprock bordering New Mexico. — Bill Shelton.

Too Much Cash

CUSTOMER'S MAN, by Rory Harrity. Prentice-Hall, $5.95.

A customer's man is a glorified errand boy for a stockbroker's office. And, as such, Bob Yulee is included in the wealthy world of Palm Beach. He is a glamor boy in every sense of the word, except he is not wealthy. That is until he marries the richest girl in the crowd.

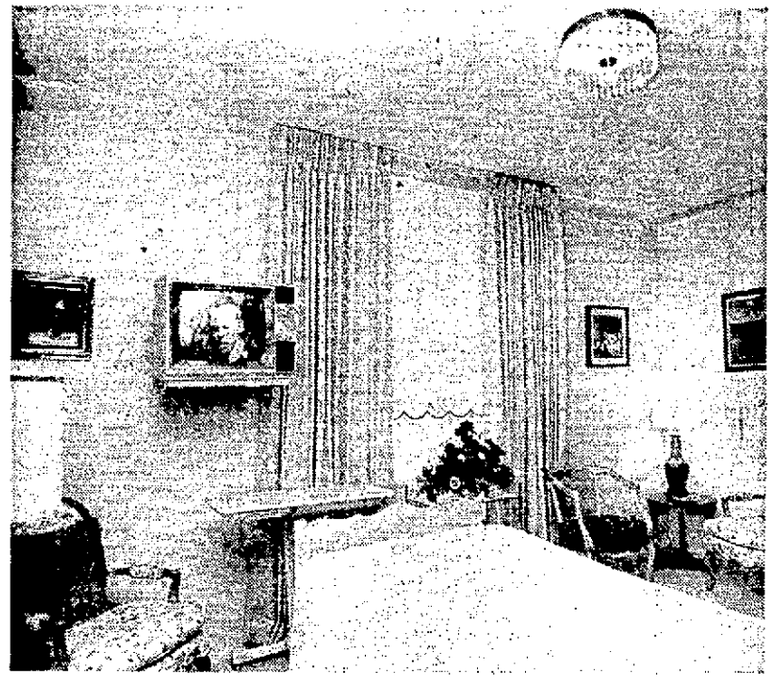

Then he finds that money isn't everything. He makes a stab at spending huge amounts of it, and then finally ends up trying to drink himself to death. With a group of globe-trotting friends, he sees Europe through alcohol-dimmed eyes. He also scares the daylights out of them with his maniacal driving of his hot sports car in the Alps.

The story sweeps the reader from place to place, illuminating the world of great wealth, and greater corruption. — Jim Redpath.

ATTRACTIVE FURNISHINGS, GIFT OF L.B. COUPLE, MAKE HOSPITAL STAY MORE PLEASANT

A Room to Speed Patient's Recovery

By Ellen Krec

Hotel room? No, this is Room 332 at St. Mary's Long Beach Hospital, a beautiful place for recovery as the result of an endowment by two Long Beach residents. The donors hope others will follow suit.
—Staff Photos

WHEN A PATIENT awakens in Room 332, St. Mary's Long Beach Hospital, he thinks he's in heaven ... a blue heaven.

Thanks to the imaginative, generous gesture on the part of two Long Beach residents, the Dresden blue room provides a wondrous place for recovery.

The room was the result of interest developed during a long recovery period when the patient felt the frequently sterile atmosphere of a hospital room may be an asset if the individual is very ill, but depressing for long periods of recuperation.

Along with the French flair in furnishings came the powder puff soft nylon carpeting and cloud blue brocade draperies.

Replacing the usual Venetian blinds are window shades rimmed with raspberry fringe.

The bed is the typically electric hospital bed, but the foot and headboard were changed to fit the mood of the room.

For the visitor of those up-and-about days, a pair of French chairs covered with citron print flank the table.

Light flashes or dims from unexpected sources ... a bar of gold sparkling with prisms or the ceiling bowl rimmed with matching crystals.

A closet provides a light, shelves and a demi-refrigerator for personal liquid preferences.

A mobile tray table not only serves to contain reading material, but boasts its own room-matching floral arrangement.

With color playing such an important role in hospitals, even the wall-hung television is color.

Away went the black hoses and functional equipment in the bath to be replaced with matching carpeting, telephone-type shower, blue and white paint and the brightest touch of all, hand-painted blue doves floating about the window shade.

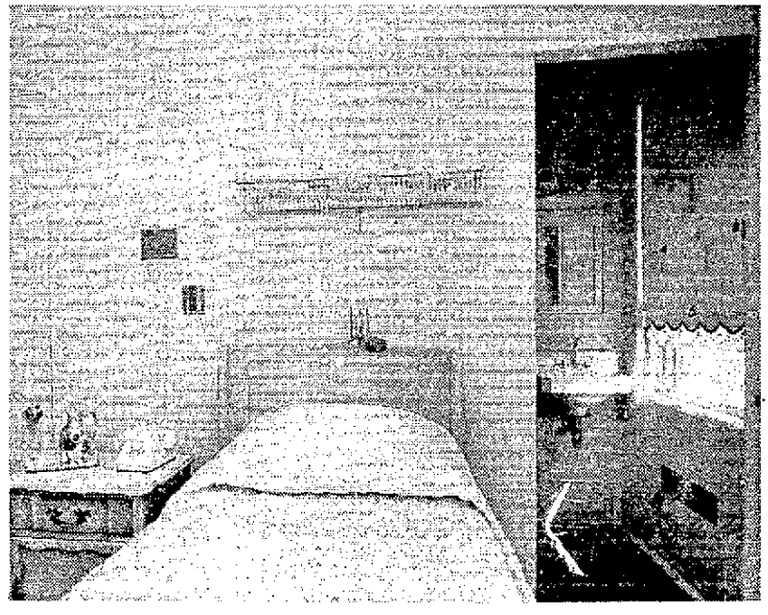

Hopefully the happy change in Room 332 will bring about generous interest in endowment of more such rooms for beautiful recovery.

A small plaque on the door reads "Sister Alphonsus Room With Love and Respect Donated By Two Friends." This annonymous tribute to the care received at St. Mary's Hospital and high regard for the nurse supervisor of 3 North was accepted with humble appreciation. Sister Alphonsus couldn't resist a personal addition to the room ... rose etched goblets.

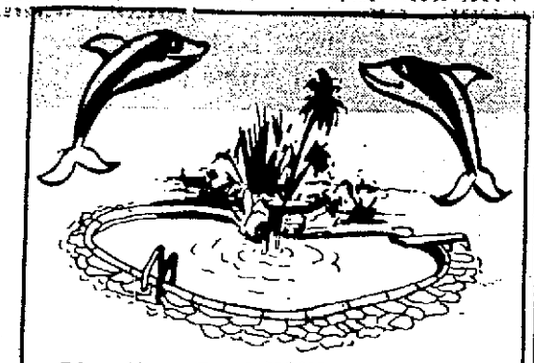

On the staff of St. Mary's Hospital since 1938, Sister Alphonsus hastens to suggest that future decorating of hospital rooms would be most welcome and anyone interested should contact the administrator, Sister Mary Wilfred, to discuss the details.

Plaque on door is viewed by Sister Donatus (left) and Sister Alphonsus, a nurse supervisor for whom the room is named.

Another view of "Sister Alphonsus Room." Headboard, light fixtures, window shades and table all fit mood of room.

The Movie Moguls

"LET'S BRING IT UP to date with some snappy nineteenth-century dialogue," Sam Goldwyn is reputed to have said. The producer's notorious non-sequiturs made him the Mrs. Malaprop of the twentieth century.

"Our comedies are not to be laughed at," he once boasted.

"I read part of it all the way through," he said of a story submitted for filming.

Verbal boo-boos or not, Norman Zierold, author of "The Moguls" (Coward McCann, $6.95), believes Goldwyn produced some of the best pictures of Hollywood's so-called golden era. Goldwyn is by far the most attractive of the screen nabobs about whom Zierold writes so entertainingly and so frankly.

Consider Columbia's tyrant, Harry Cohn, for example; he was called Harry the Horror until Ben Hecht rechristened him White Fang. Then too, there was Louis B. Mayer, whose arrogance was awesome. Lovableness was not the outstanding trait of Zierold's czars.

Here they are, then, in the heyday of their power, before TV came along and told them to move over — Goldwyn, Cohn, Mayer, David O. Selznick, "Uncle Carl" Laemmle, and the Paramount princes, B. P. Schulberg, Jesse Lasky, Cecil B. DeMille and Adolph Zukor.

Who Stole It?

SPIES, INC., by Jack D. Hunter. Dutton, $5.50.

Baisley Hooten, president of a plastics company, calls in the editor of the company magazine and gives him the assignment of finding out who stole the formula to a new development and sold it to another company. Although Paul Dexter is a former counterspy, he is not overwhelmed with the idea. But his boss has his own spies throughout the community and has a lever to force Dexter to take on the task.

When Dexter starts the job, he finds himself almost immediately involved in a double murder in which his fingerprints are placed on the murder weapon. Then he is fired from his job, but is given two weeks in which to continue looking for the industrial spy, Hooten being the only one who knows that Dexter has been fired.

In the process of setting up his case Dexter alienates his wife, so he also has another problem to contend with. But eventually everything falls into place and with the help of his wife he escapes with a whole skin. To put the icing on the cake, he finds that Hooten changes his mind about firing him. This is another very readable book by the author of "The Expendables" and "One of Us Works for Them." — Jim Redpath.

A Toast to Theresa

By Eleanor Avery Price

Theresa, Norwegian Elkhound, almost got carried away — 10 babies in her first litter. Owners, the Myrl Coles of Paramount.

THERE are cookbooks for dogs so they can enjoy bourgeois foods. Some cause so much work for owners that humans should be so lucky to share their pets' fare!

I doubt very much if dogs need Parmesan cheese, caramel pudding, aperitifs, coeur d' artichauts, and the like. But I do go along with giving a dog some of the health foods available, such as a few alfalfa tablets, vitamins and minerals containing kelp (good for pigment as well as nerves), wheat germ, calcium from bone meal, yeast in some form, even concentrated protein. Normally, dogs need some organic meat, other meats, and cereal. Most dogs like fruit, especially apples, and will eagerly crunch down the core if you care to toss yours his way, or the whole thing if you're more generous. Some dogs love carrots to chew on, or even grated carrots if "seasoned" with wheat germ.

The healthy plump puppies pictured today are Norwegian Elkhounds whose dam, also shown, has never been ill, and was raised on rolled oats soaked in certified raw milk, organ meats, venison (owners go hunting), some dry dog food, and Shaklee organic health supplements. (Dr. Shaklee not only created a number of health foods but discovered the value of protein in hair shampoo and conditioners for humans as well as animals.)

The Elkhound dam is Bea's Theresa of Peggy's Glen, with the noted Windy Cove kennels in her background. Sire is Bablin Brook's Windy Rustle, also with Windy Cove in the pedigree. Owners are Myrl and Dolores Cole, 7110 Madison St., Paramount. This is Theresa's first litter, and 10 puppies for a first litter in Elkhounds is, as far as I can learn, somewhat unusual.

The Norwegian Elkhound's ancestors adventured not only in wooded mountains of Scandinavia with stone age men, but later accompanied the sea-roving Vikings when they harassed the coasts of the British Isles and other sections of Western Europe.

The breed also hunted elk and bear, and could sense and hear quarry for considerable distances. He pulled sleds, proved himself as a shepherd, and more recently as a retriever and good gun dog, otterhound, and superb show dog.

He is medium in size, sturdy bodied, has a rich silver-gray coat with black tips. Ears are dark and intelligent. Tail plums over the back. He is a happy dog, bold, curious, lovable, not inclined to bark a lot.

THERE WILL be a Norwegian Elkhound Club of Southern California specialty next Saturday (April 26) at La Palma Park, Anaheim.

Today, San Gabriel Valley KC show at Monrovia Recreation Park. April 26, Weimaraner specialty, Girls Park, Garden Grove; April 27, Santa Ana Valley KC all-breed show and obedience trial, La Palma Park, Anaheim.

shire in 1273. The Norman-French Lambert shield is silver, crossed by three diagonal black stripes. One of the many English Lambert shields is red, crossed by a silver chevron placed between three silver lambs.

MISS RULE: Kindly identify the origin of DUNTON.—L.D., San Pedro.

DUNTON, English, began as "Dun-tun" translated as "hillside estate." Villages called Dunton are in the English counties of Oxford, Norfolk and Ely. Gilbert de Dunton of Norfolk, 1272, was among the progenitors.

MISS RULE: Kindly give the origin and shield for HOHENSTAUFEN.—S.G., Cypress.

HOHENSTAUFEN, German, deciphers as "high, dome-shaped mountains," the original home of this family who were among medieval Europe's royalty. The Hohenstaufen armorial shield is silver, decorated with three red rampant lions, placed one above another.

MISS RULE: Kindly analyze MORTENSON.—S.F., Stanton.

MORTENSON, Scandinavian, is from the baptismal name Martinus meaning "warlike," coupled with the suffix "-son" for "descendant of."

MISS RULE: Please explain CARR.—J.W., Long Beach.

CARR, English, was introduced as Karr by 9th century Danish invaders. Karr described the ancestor as "owner of marshy, swampy land." The Carr armorial shield is gold, emblazoned with three red-billed birds and three leopard heads.

MISS RULE: Please give the origin of MARTIN. — R.W., Huntington Beach.

MARTIN, English, had its source in France, where a nobleman called Martin, meaning "warlike one," owned estates at Bayeux, Normandy. After the Norman conquest of Britain in 1066, he became baronial owner of an estate in Wales. The ancient Martin shield is silver, crossed by two red bars. The Martin motto is "Sure and steadfast." Christopher Martin and his wife sailed from England to Massachusetts on the Mayflower in 1620.

Minority Report

THE PROBLEMS OF America's minority citizens aren't limited to residents of the ghetto; they are the concern of all of us. Believing this, Cindy Carter, a junior at Millikan High School, signed up for the first class in minority history to be given in the Long Beach Unified School District.

A socially concerned person, Cindy is a member of Aenon, a YWCA welfare club, and Junior Class Council. Last year, she was a student senator for the sophomore class. In her spare time, the 17-year-old goes on canoeing trips with the Southwest Canoeing Association and helps out at her home on 2569 Vuelta Grande Ave., Long Beach.

Her views:

—There are very few Negroes and other minority students at Millikan, but for some reason our school is the first to have this experimental course. We have two weeks of regular history followed by two weeks of minority group history. I signed up for the class because I thought it would be interesting, and I had never been taught much about minority group problems in my regular history classes. I think I had a unit on the Indians in elementary school.

—I feel I am learning a lot about minorities and their history. Recently, we had a Japanese-American man come in and talk to us about the hardship the Japanese-Americans endured during World War II, particularly in the relocation camps. Later on, one of the school officials who worked in a relocation camp is going to come in and explain why the camps were set up. I think the Japanese-Americans were herded into relocation camps because they were easily identified and were concentrated in certain areas, but most of all, because other Americans didn't mingle with them or know about their ways, so they seemed suspicious and hostile. If we had a war with China or Japan now, relocation camps wouldn't be used. Orientals have become pretty assimilated, and we recognize now that they are not Chinese or Japanese; they are Americans with Chinese or Japanese backgrounds.

—We have had other speakers come in to talk about the Mexican-American problems and the grape strike. Our biggest drawback in the class is that resources are very scarce. We just finished a unit on the Mexican-Americans, and we had one small book available in paperback, that was all. Later when the speaker came, he proved most of our information was wrong. My teacher has been able to find tapes, records, films and books on the Negroes, but very little on other minorities. I sometimes wonder what it takes for these other groups to be recognized — maybe it's riots like the Negroes have had.

—Negroes have had a harder time of it than other minorities. Whole villages of African natives were brought here as slaves. At least, the Orientals and Mexicans came here of their own free will. The Negroes have tried to get their rights peacefully, but never succeeded. They were pushed aside. I guess some of the black militants now want to give us a dose of our own medicine and push us aside. I am somewhat optimistic, though. I think it is only a minority of the black minority who wants to push the whites aside. Most people, black and white, want to sit down together to talk things out.

—Some things are changing. The new housing laws allow you to sell your house to anybody you please and allow minority group members to buy where they want. A friend of mine said a black family moved next door to him, and they are nicer than the white family that was there before.

—In some ways, young people have been treated as a minority group. We have to do what the adults say. Of course, my generation is starting to voice its opinions instead of keeping them inside and getting an ulcer.

—I think students should be given the right to vote at age 18. It may sound trite, but 18-year-olds are fighting and dying for their country, they ought to have a voice on the war and other issues which affect them. Most students are more aware of what's going on than many adults who just vote on party lines and don't think for themselves.

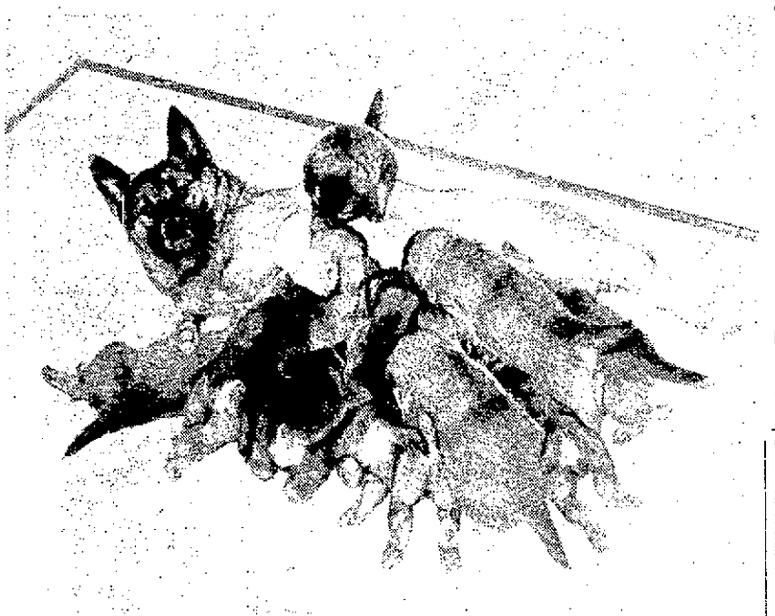

—Students are also thinking for themselves on the racial issues rather than just accepting their parents' prejudice. We are trying to get to know people better and to hear all points of view.

—In a way, the United States is a testing ground for the rest of the world. If the white majority and minority groups can get along here and respect each other, maybe eventually the same thing can happen throughout the world. — Arlene Sherer.

shire in 1273. The Norman-French Lambert shield is silver, crossed by three diagonal black stripes. One of the many English Lambert shields is red, crossed by a silver chevron placed between three silver lambs.

MISS RULE: Kindly identify the origin of DUNTON.—L.D., San Pedro.

DUNTON, English, began as "Dun-tun" translated as "hillside estate." Villages called Dunton are in the English counties of Oxford, Norfolk and Ely. Gilbert de Dunton of Norfolk, 1272, was among the progenitors.

MISS RULE: Kindly give the origin and shield for HOHENSTAUFEN.—S.G., Cypress.

HOHENSTAUFEN, German, deciphers as "high, dome-shaped mountains," the original home of this family who were among medieval Europe's royalty. The Hohenstaufen armorial shield is silver, decorated with three red rampant lions, placed one above another.

MISS RULE: Kindly analyze MORTENSON.—S.F., Stanton.

MORTENSON, Scandinavian, is from the baptismal name Martinus meaning "warlike," coupled with the suffix "-son" for "descendant of."

MISS RULE: Please explain CARR.—J.W., Long Beach.

CARR, English, was introduced as Karr by 9th century Danish invaders. Karr described the ancestor as "owner of marshy, swampy land." The Carr armorial shield is gold, emblazoned with three red-billed birds and three leopard heads.

MISS RULE: Please give the origin of MARTIN. — R.W., Huntington Beach.

MARTIN, English, had its source in France, where a nobleman called Martin, meaning "warlike one," owned estates at Bayeux, Normandy. After the Norman conquest of Britain in 1066, he became baronial owner of an estate in Wales. The ancient Martin shield is silver, crossed by two red bars. The Martin motto is "Sure and steadfast." Christopher Martin and his wife sailed from England to Massachusetts on the Mayflower in 1620.

Teens in Action

Minority Report

THE PROBLEMS OF America's minority citizens aren't limited to residents of the ghetto; they are the concern of all of us. Believing this, Cindy Carter, a junior at Millikan High School, signed up for the first class in minority history to be given in the Long Beach Unified School District.

A socially concerned person, Cindy is a member of Aenon, a YWCA welfare club, and Junior Class Council. Last year, she was a student senator for the sophomore class. In her spare time, the 17-year-old goes on canoeing trips with the Southwest Canoeing Association and helps out at her home on 2569 Vuelta Grande Ave., Long Beach.

Her views:

—There are very few Negroes and other minority students at Millikan, but for some reason our school is the first to have this experimental course. We have two weeks of regular history followed by two weeks of minority group history. I signed up for the class because I thought it would be interesting, and I had never been taught much about minority group problems in my regular history classes. I think I had a unit on the Indians in elementary school.

—I feel I am learning a lot about minorities and their history. Recently, we had a Japanese-American man come in and talk to us about the hardship the Japanese-Americans endured during World War II, particularly in the relocation camps. Later on, one of the school officials who worked in a relocation camp is going to come in and explain why the camps were set up. I think the Japanese-Americans were herded into relocation camps because they were easily identified and were concentrated in certain areas, but most of all, because other Americans didn't mingle with them or know about their ways, so they seemed suspicious and hostile. If we had a war with China or Japan now, relocation camps wouldn't be used. Orientals have become pretty assimilated, and we recognize now that they are not Chinese or Japanese; they are Americans with Chinese or Japanese backgrounds.

—We have had other speakers come in to talk about the Mexican-American problems and the grape strike. Our biggest drawback in the class is that resources are very scarce. We just finished a unit on the Mexican-Americans, and we had one small book available in paperback, that was all. Later when the speaker came, he proved most of our information was wrong. My teacher has been able to find tapes, records, films and books on the Negroes, but very little on other minorities. I sometimes wonder what it takes for these other groups to be recognized — maybe it's riots like the Negroes have had.

—Negroes have had a harder time of it than other minorities. Whole villages of African natives were brought here as slaves. At least, the Orientals and Mexicans came here of their own free will. The Negroes have tried to get their rights peacefully, but never succeeded. They were pushed aside. I guess some of the black militants now want to give us a dose of our own medicine and push us aside. I am somewhat optimistic, though. I think it is only a minority of the black minority who wants to push the whites aside. Most people, black and white, want to sit down together to talk things out.

—Some things are changing. The new housing laws allow you to sell your house to anybody you please and allow minority group members to buy where they want. A friend of mine said a black family moved next door to him, and they are nicer than the white family that was there before.

—In some ways, young people have been treated as a minority group. We have to do what the adults say. Of course, my generation is starting to voice its opinions instead of keeping them inside and getting an ulcer.

—I think students should be given the right to vote at age 18. It may sound trite, but 18-year-olds are fighting and "dying for their country, they ought to have a voice on the war and other issues which affect them. Most students are more aware of what's going on than many adults who just vote on party lines and don't think for themselves.

—Students are also thinking for themselves on the racial issues rather than just accepting their parents' prejudice. We are trying to get to know people better and to hear all points of view.

—In a way, the United States is a testing ground for the rest of the world. If the white majority and minority groups can get along here and respect each other, maybe eventually the same thing can happen throughout the world. — Arlene Sherer.

you buy her a martini for lunch. Why not, that's your usual fare. And then the little vixen strikes.

"How about a little money, honey, to help me on my way," she demurely asks. Either you pay up or your wife or boss finds out about your dalliance. She has handily noted the registration on the auto. She has another alternative . . . she can holler — loud and clear. That can be embarrassing also.

Suppose she had a convulsion in your car. She may be a pillhead higher than a kite when you pick her up, but when she comes down off cloud nine . . . watch out. What can you do, dump her on the highway?

So she is not an extortionist or pillhead and doesn't holler. So how about a gun moll? No such person? Ask your local police. Her male counterpart may be lurking a mile or two down the road. Then there is the agreeable Sal who makes a fine pal but . . . well, she leaves you with . . .

And I could continue this dissertation on the hazards of rounding curves, but why go on? If you haven't got the idea yet, good luck. If your wife and the boss don't object to you picking up hitchhikers, then check your auto's insurance policy — there may be a rider.

In any event, why gamble? The next line you hand out may be your last, or as one victim lamented: "I gave her a ride and nearly lost my hide!"

Indians Learn to Act

By Bill Duncan

EACH WEDNESDAY NIGHT, 65-year-old Elsie Hall leaves her comfortable home in suburban Maywood to travel to downtown Los Angeles for a special class that will last four or more hours.

So does Truman Black, a 40-year-old house painter who lives in Westminster.

And also Lynette Salsedo, 15, and her accountant father, Frank, who live in Santa Ana.

The four have one thing in common. They are all full-blooded North American Indians. Elsie Hall is Shoshone; Black is Otoe and the Salsedos are from the Wappo tribe.

Indians from many tribes from miles around Los Angeles — from Long Beach, Compton, Lynwood and from as far away as Orange County and Ventura Counties — come to classes on Wednesday nights, oddly, to learn how to act like Indians.

They do this in an unusual project, the Indian Actors Workshop; and in an unusual place, the basement of the Echo Park Methodist Church; and with the blessings of an unusual church congregation.

Traditionally, few Indians have played the movie and television roles of celluloid Indians. Instead, Italians, Greeks, Mexicans, Anglo-Saxons and, of late, even Negroes have been cast in Indian roles with grease paint and feathers to hide the fact at close camera range. The Indian Actors Workshop hopes to change all that through the Wednesday night acting sessions in a church basement.

The workshop idea itself grew out of a strong feeling among the Indian population, numbering some 40,000 in the Southland, that everyone except Indians were playing Indian roles. A delegation of Indians approached Jay Silverheels, "Tonto" of the Lone Ranger TV series, with a proposal that they go on the warpath against Hollywood castfaintly, and the statistics of more than 40 years. To read them is to be convinced that class prophecies are only wishful thinking, and that, as Miss Poole, our English teacher, told us, long ago, "Life is real, Life is earnest, and things are not what they seem."

This, then, is what the years have done to them — those boys and girls who laughed and joked, studied and cribbed through the halls of pre-earthquake Poly High, in Long Beach:

Two have committed suicide.

Two have lost their lives by drowning.

Two are hopeless alcoholics.

One was killed when she drove over a high cliff.

One died in childbirth.

One lost his life in an auto accident.

One is crippled by polio, another by arthritis.

Heart attack, cancer, tuberculosis have accounted for the passing of a dozen more.

Eight who walked the campus pair by pair, dizzy with laughter and first love, married and are now divorced.

One has been imprisoned for child molesting.

Oh, there is a bright side!

That innocent seeming lad with the thatch of curly blond hair and delicate features —, that's Evan Heflin — who dropped the E to become Van Heflin, noted actor and motion picture star, and recently dropped the hair, too, to reach his highest pinnacle in television drama.

That personable and serious young lad — that's Judge Joe Roycroft.

There is Foster Rucker. What a singing voice he had! No. Not opera. He became The Housewives' Friend, Gaylen Drake, on a national radio program.

There's Peggy Lovett. She's Margaret Heartwell, Long Beach City Clerk.

The girl with the curls'— a little on the prim side — remember? She wrote poetry, won prize after prize — sentimental lines about birds and pale moons drawing silver scarves across an azure sea. Today she is author of murder mysteries and her stories appear in national magazines.

Four of those boys are dentists. One is a physician. One is a policeman, now retired.

Most of us are just people, living out our lives in laughter and tears within the borders of the Golden State we saluted in that old Caerulea.

Only the rare stand out.

I thumb the pages for pictures of the school itself, for it is gone now, downed by the great earthquake of 1933. And as I read, my eyes are drawn to a small notation:

"With an essay entitled 'The Relation of Chemistry to National Defense,' Milton Lee won first place in the California division of an essay contest sponsored by the American Chemical Society. His prize was $20 and a chance for a Yale scholarship in national competition."

Where are you, Lee? Reading of napalm in Vietnam?

The scribbled notations of best wishes from my fellow classmen are funny and dear. We stood around the old Virginia Hotel, writing in endearing terms because the PTA thought it unseemly for us to dance at our junior-senior prom. Until the hour of 10 we wrote. Then the party ended, the PTA went home, and the hotel supplied us with an orchestra until the wicked hour of midnight.

One precise message stands out in my old book:

"Dear Louise, I hope we can always be close friends."

Oh! I do not even remember what you looked like, Friend!

I close the book, but it falls open again to a well-read page. A small portion of a sentence in a prize-winning essay comes suddenly alive with meaning:

"——even the gay and laughing Youth grow old."

ing directors. They wanted Silverheels, a slow-speaking, methodical Canadian Mohawk Indian, to act as their spokesman.

"OK, let's do it," Silverheels told the war-paint committee. "How many of you can act?"

The astonished Indians discovered that none could. Silverheels told them to come back when they could accept acting roles and then he'd back their protest. But he also volunteered to help train Indians for acting roles. The Indian Actors Workshop was born, but needed a place to train prospective actors.

The Echo Park Methodist Church provided the space. The church is an old, established one that has perched on a hilltop just off Sunset Boulevard since 1905 and watched the vast city below grow mile by mile until it now stretches as far as the eye can see in all four directions. The congregation, through the years, has grown up and the young have moved on, leaving behind a little more than 200 parishioners — mostly elderly church members who inherited a debt-free church building.

This congregation could have sat out the poverty war, ignored the urban ills of a big city and the chasm of the generation gap and instead enjoyed the sermons, the hymns and prayers. But not this unusual congregation. They chose to be part of the world.

Their 31-year-old, live-wire minister, Rev. Michael Winstead, keeps lifting their faith. The Rev. Mr. Winstead was approached by one of his church members, Noble Kid Chissel, an actor (he was the sheriff who gunned down the film version of Bonnie and Clyde), who told him of the Indian Actors Workshop's need for space. The Rev. Mr. Winstead took the idea to his congregation "and they accepted the involvement wholeheartedly."

The basement social hall is turned over to the Indians each Wednesday night rent free. "Directly, we have very little to do with the workshop," the minister explained, "except provide the space. But personally I get as involved as I can and I enjoy my association with the Indians. They are sincere, grateful people."

Each Wednesday, the Indians sit in a large tribal-like circle in the church basement and listen as a tousled-haired blond, blue-eyed Dane, William Bassett, an actor himself, teaches the Indians the fine art of acting like Indians.

"I have a deep interest in the American Indian," Bassett said. He is currently under contract with Screen Gems and his Indian drama coaching is strictly voluntary. "Potentially," he said, "there are some great actors in this group, people who can bring authentic Indian culture to the screen, people who can play their roles with creative realism. The possibilities are exciting. Who better can play an Indian with feeling, emotion and expression than an Indian himself?"

Rev. Michael Winstead, pastor of Echo Park United Methodist Church, talks with Truman Black of Westminster, an Indian Actor Workshop member.

Expression is one of Bassett's toughest challenges in training the Indian actors. They are a proud, independent people, but for the most part somewhat stoic in their emotions.

Yet, they have a keen sense of humor. They jokingly call tobacco the Indian's secret weapon against the white man and say it is just now beginning to work. They call Thanksgiving the Indian's penitential season for helping the white man through that first winter.

But they found no humor when a movie director asked the workshop to provide Indian actors to play roles in the movie "Nobody Loves a Drunken Indian." The roles were rejected because of the title, explained Francis Allen of Buena Park, workshop president.

However, Indians are getting more and more acting roles as a result of the workshop. Thirteen Indians were chosen for parts in "Smith," a Walt Disney production starring Glenn Ford. Others have received parts in television and movie productions and in the stage production of "Eagle Boy." One workshop trainee even got a role to play a French Foreign Legion officer — "as a Frenchman, not an Indian," he chuckled.

Steve Shemayme, a 28-year-old Caddo Indian, recently was chosen for a role in Universal's production of "Willie Boy."

"I like to act," he said. "I never thought too much about it before, but now I'm enrolled in Los Angeles City College studying dramatics. This may sound strange for an Indian, but I've been picked to play Macbeth at a Los Angeles repertoire theater."

"I don't think all those who are now enrolled will become actors, not by any means," Silverheels said. "But at least it has the Indians proving to themselves they can organize to help themselves."

And for Silverheels, that's better than going on the warpath after directors' scalps.

MEDICINE AND YOU

In 'Drink,' Stay Put!

By Ben Zinser

Southland Magazine Medical-Science Editor

NEW RESEARCH INDICATES that victims of boating mishaps should stay put in chilly waters until picked up, provided that they have support such as a life jacket or floating wreckage.

This is preferable to swimming, the research suggests.

New studies indicate that sudden deaths in cold water, usually ascribed to cramps, may actually be a result of breathlessness and the complications that stem from overbreathing.

In short, one should not attempt to swim even short distances if it can be avoided. Sailors in danger of immersion should put on as much clothing as possible as well as a life jacket.

The report is in British Medical Journal.

INDOMETHACIN, a drug sometimes used in the treatment of arthritis, is believed to have caused a fatal blood disorder in an elderly woman.

Drs. Gerard R. Fredrick, resident in medicine, and Dr. Kouichi R. Tanaka, chief of the hematology division at Harbor General Hospital, say the victim resumed indomethacin treatment on her own initiative about a year after the drug had been prescribed for her.

She took 75 milligrams of the drug daily for three or four days. A month later she was admitted to the hospital, where she died a few weeks later of aplastic anemia, a blood disorder.

The report is in the New England Journal of Medicine.

SULFADIAZINE, once an effective agent against meningitis, no longer is affording protection against the disease, medical investigators report in Science.

For five years investigators have known that one type of causative germ, Group B meningococci, is frequently resistant to this sulfa drug. Now, Navy researchers, studying a recent epidemic caused by a Group A strain of the micro-organism, found that these germs, too, are almost completely resistant to the drug.

ing directors. They wanted Silverheels, a slow-speaking, methodical Canadian Mohawk Indian, to act as their spokesman.

"OK, let's do it," Silverheels told the war-paint committee. "How many of you can act?"

The astonished Indians discovered that none could. Silverheels told them to come back when they could accept acting roles and then he'd back their protest. But he also volunteered to help train Indians for acting roles. The Indian Actors Workshop was born, but needed a place to train prospective actors.

SPRING AT BELLFLOWER

AH YES, today's the day!

The day for what? A nice drive out into the fresh California air (cough!—cough!)? Or perhaps a brisk jog in the park?

While you're at it, you might include in your plans the information that today is the one day of the week that Ken's Restaurant, 3918 Long Beach Blvd., is open for breakfast. Located in the Bixby Knolls section of Long Beach, Ken's — attractive as a contemporary painting — is owned by cheerful, always-on-the-job Bill Snodgrass, who has a great idea for Sunday morning dining.

From 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., he features four kinds of pancakes, 75 cents to 90 cents, so light and delicious they melt in your mouth. Offered are Swedish pancakes with powdered sugar, German pancakes with bacon and lemon wedge, old-fashioned buttermilk pancakes and strawberry pancakes rolled and stuffed with berries. The restaurant also has a lot of other breakfast attractions, too.

Starting at noon, Ken's serves a wonderful variety of Sunday dinners, including such old-fashioned ideas as chicken-fried steak with country gravy, $2.45, and chicken and dumplings, $3.20. The latter attracts senior citizens by the score because they remember its tempting aromas from the good old days they spent on the farm. Ken's includes a huge fresh dumpling. Some of the guests like the dumplings so much that they skip the potatoes and instead enjoy two of the huge soft balls.

Every day is practically a holiday at Ken's because the dinners are so large and complete. Included are bouquet of relishes served in a silver shell, soup or a big fresh salad, individual loaf of hot bread baked in Ken's oven, beverage and dessert. Other Sunday entrees are pepper steak, $3.50; swordfish steak, $2.95; tender scallops, $3.10; roast turkey or duck, $3.10; roast sirloin of beef, $2.95, and roast prime rib of beef, $4.10.

The pepper steak and swordfish, served every night, are unusually popular. Chef Roy Richardson's gourmet steak recipe includes wine, mushrooms, black pepper and green peppers. The swordfish is served with a "burned butter" sauce which is light but remarkably good.

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, Parade, 733 3rd Ave., New York, N.Y., 10017. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. Do the British fighting forces have a different code of behavior than the American? Are they allowed when captured to give more than their name, rank, serial number, and birth date?—M. T. Peters, Coronado, Calif.

A. A British prisoner of war when interrogated "is to confine his answers to name, rank, serial number, and birth date as required under the Geneva Convention." As a result of the Korean War, however, this ruling was abridged to cover interrogation under duress, at which time a serviceman may give further information but nothing "of a military nature or facts concerning other prisoners of war."

STAYING IN SAIGON: PRESIDENT AND MRS. THIEU.

Q. Hasn't President Thieu of South Vietnam quietly moved his family out of Saigon in the event he is overthrown?—Morley Richardson, Berkeley, Calif.

A. No. He has sent his 7-year-old son to school in Taiwan, his 14-year-old daughter to school in Switzerland. But he and his wife remain in the house at Tansonhut Airport in Saigon.

Q. Can you identify the examiner of the Civil Aeronautics Board who recommended an end to airline youth-fare discounts? — Victor Ames, Palo Alto, Calif.

A. He is Arthur S. Present of New York City who joined CAB in July 1951. Present received his undergraduate degree from the City College of New York in 1947, his law degree from Columbia University in 1950. He is married, the father of three children, two of whom are teenagers.

Q. Does Lyndon Johnson live in Austin, Tex., or Johnson City, Tex.? Is he the richest man in Texas?—Ed Anthony, Dallas, Tex.

A. The former President owns a ranch and much ranch land outside of Johnson City. He also rents two apartments in Austin, Tex. The Johnson family is worth approximately $20 million. Johnson himself is not one of the wealthiest men in Texas, since most of the family holdings are in the names of his wife and daughters.

Q. I have been told that most of the top restaurants in San Francisco, places like The Blue Fox, Ernie's and Amelio's are owned by the Mafia. Is this on the level? —Laura Orsini, Portland, Ore.

A. Not so. The Blue Fox is owned by Mario Mordin and Piero Fassio. Ernie's is owned by Vic and Rowland Gotti. Amelio's is owned by Inez Pacini.

Q. How many major U.S. cities have black mayors? —Hans Jergens, Chicago, Ill.

A. As of March 31, three—Cleveland, Ohio, with Mayor Carl Stokes; Gary, Ind., Mayor Richard Hatcher; Washington, D.C., Mayor Walter Washington.

Q. Who said: "A man who is very busy seldom changes his opinions?"—Lonnie Weatherall, Atlanta, Ga.

A. Philosopher Friedrich Nietzsche.

SIDNEY POITIER AND JOANNA SHIMKUS.

Q. I've been told that Sidney Poitier and a beauty named Joanna Shimkus recently eloped to Puerto Rico where they were secretly married. Can you confirm or deny?—Al Hentley, Philadelphia, Pa.

A. Not true. Miss Shimkus is a Canadian-born actress who starred opposite Poitier in a new film, How Many Roads. When location work was finished in Philadelphia, they both took off for a Puerto Rican vacation, enjoying each other's company.

Q. Every time I see a picture of President Nixon, his hair seems to be set in waves which in the days of my youth were called "marcel waves." Does Mr. Nixon have his hair waved in this manner?—D. H., Columbia, Mo.

A. Nixon's hair is naturally wavy; he does not have it marcelled. See photo.

Q. What is the true story about Horatio Nelson, the great British naval hero, and Lady Hamilton? I have to write a term paper on Nelson. Is there any book that will tell the truth?—Diane Lord, Indianapolis, Ind.

A. Sir William Hamilton, British Ambassador to Naples, was 61 when he married his mistress, Emma Hart, 26. Emma, a former maid and nude model, was seduced as a young girl of 16 by a friend of the Prince of Wales. She gave birth to an illegitimate daughter, farmed her out with relatives, subsequently lived with a series of protectors.

When she became Lady Hamilton, she and her husband were visited by Horatio Nelson, hero of the Battle of the Nile, who had lost an arm and an eye. Nelson was short, slight, sad, aroused the maternal in women. He fell madly in love with Lady Hamilton, soon moved in with her and her husband, enjoyed a ménage à trois. She gave birth to his illegitimate daughter, but Nelson, already married, could not obtain a divorce.

Nelson's love for Lady Hamilton was obsessive. One time when he thought she was carrying on with the Prince of Wales, he became almost deranged, warned her of "that titled pimp who will try and crawl into your bed."

After Nelson was killed at Trafalgar in 1805, Lady Hamilton became an alcoholic, spent a year in debtor's prison, drifted from man to man, eventually fled to France where she died.

The story of Lady Hamilton and Lord Nelson is one of the greatest love stories in British history. One of the most truthful accounts may be found in the book Nelson and the Hamiltons by Jack Russell, published recently in London by Blond.

Want the facts? Want to spike rumors? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Write Walter Scott, Parade, 733 3rd Ave., New York, N.Y., 10017. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. Do the British fighting forces have a different code of behavior than the American? Are they allowed when captured to give more than their name, rank, serial number, and birth date?—M. T. Peters, Coronado, Calif.

A. A British prisoner of war when interrogated "is to confine his answers to name, rank, serial number, and birth date as required under the Geneva Convention." As a result of the Korean War, however, this ruling was abridged to cover interrogation under duress, at which time a serviceman may give further information but nothing "of a military nature or facts concerning other prisoners of war."

STAYING IN SAIGON: PRESIDENT AND MRS. THIEU.

Q. Hasn't President Thieu of South Vietnam quietly moved his family out of Saigon in the event he is overthrown?—Morley Richardson, Berkeley, Calif.

A. No. He has sent his 7-year-old son to school in Taiwan, his 14-year-old daughter to school in Switzerland. But he and his wife remain in the house at Tansonhut Airport in Saigon.

Q. Can you identify the examiner of the Civil Aeronautics Board who recommended an end to airline youth-fare discounts? — Victor Ames, Palo Alto, Calif.

A. He is Arthur S. Present of New York City who joined CAB in July 1951. Present received his undergraduate degree from the City College of New York in 1947, his law degree from Columbia University in 1950. He is married, the father of three children, two of whom are teenagers.

Q. Does Lyndon Johnson live in Austin, Tex., or Johnson City, Tex.? Is he the richest man in Texas?—Ed Anthony, Dallas, Tex.

A. The former President owns a ranch and much ranch land outside of Johnson City. He also rents two apartments in Austin, Tex. The Johnson family is worth approximately $20 million. Johnson himself is not one of the wealthiest men in Texas, since most of the family holdings are in the names of his wife and daughters.

Q. I have been told that most of the top restaurants in San Francisco, places like The Blue Fox, Ernie's and Amelio's are owned by the Mafia. Is this on the level? —Laura Orsini, Portland, Ore.

A. Not so. The Blue Fox is owned by Mario Mordin and Piero Fassio. Ernie's is owned by Vic and Rowland Gotti. Amelio's is owned by Inez Pacini.

Q. How many major U.S. cities have black mayors? —Hans Jergens, Chicago, Ill.

A. As of March 31, three—Cleveland, Ohio, with Mayor Carl Stokes; Gary, Ind., Mayor Richard Hatcher; Washington, D.C., Mayor Walter Washington.

Q. Who said: "A man who is very busy seldom changes his opinions?"—Lonnie Weatherall, Atlanta, Ga.

A. Philosopher Friedrich Nietzsche.

SIDNEY POITIER AND JOANNA SHIMKUS.

Q. I've been told that Sidney Poitier and a beauty named Joanna Shimkus recently eloped to Puerto Rico where they were secretly married. Can you confirm or deny?—Al Hentley, Philadelphia, Pa.

A. Not true. Miss Shimkus is a Canadian-born actress who starred opposite Poitier in a new film, How Many Roads. When location work was finished in Philadelphia, they both took off for a Puerto Rican vacation, enjoying each other's company.

Q. Every time I see a picture of President Nixon, his hair seems to be set in waves which in the days of my youth were called "marcel waves." Does Mr. Nixon have his hair waved in this manner?—D. H., Columbia, Mo.

INTELLIGENCE REPORT

EDITED

TEXAS TEETH Want to rear children so they grow up with an immunity to tooth decay? Rear 'em in Texas.

In a nine-year survey of more than 500,000 recruits at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center in Illinois, a caries immunity frequency (no tooth cavities) of only two men per thousand was found, the largest proportion of these lucky men coming from Texas.

According to Comdr. J. J. Keane of the Naval Dental Research Institute, "Texas, with many of its water supplies containing natural fluoride, is one of our best states and consistently provides us with more caries-free men each year than all the giant population areas of New England, New York, and New Jersey combined."

Approximately 50% of cavity-free recruits, however, begin to develop one or more cavities during their first year of Navy life.

MEMORY Johnny sure knows all the answers. How come? Explains one of his fellow students: "Johnny has a photographic memory."

Researchers Norma Cutts and Nicholas Mosely, writing in The Journal of Psychology, say there is little evidence that any such thing as "photographic memory" exists, especially in the literal sense of seeing something and retaining an exact image of it in the brain.

There are excellent memories and well developed ones, too, but, generally, these are linked to high performance and high intelligence.

Cutts and Mosely carefully studied the biographies of 150 eminent people, of whom 58 made special mention of their memories, 24 claimed "photographic powers," 14 extraordinary, 13 excellent, and only 17 average or poor memories. Among this last group most of the celebrities realized the importance of good memory, and either, like Darwin, substituted carefully kept files and records, or like Babe Ruth and Jack Dempsey, drilled themselves on the retention of important names and figures.

More accurate than the description "photographic memory" is the word "visual." Robert A. Lovett, former Secretary of Defense, and well known for his fabulous memory, must see something first in order to remember it. Madame Curie, Freud, and the English historian-statesman Macauley could remember whole paragraphs after seeing them twice.

Other famous men such as Sinclair Lewis and Robert Frost were able to remember equally well what they heard or saw. If vision or hearing is defective, other gateways open. Senses of touch and smell became highly developed in the late Helen Keller who was blind and deaf.

A few very remarkable individuals appear to have equal excellence in all means of memory: hearing, seeing, smelling, and touching. The French novelist Honore de Balzac was one. The Italian orchestra leader Arturo Toscanini was another. Arthur Hadley, ex-president of Yale, was a third.

The Cutts-Mosely study also confirms that some celebrities have better heads for words than figures. Churchill, Roosevelt, and Herbert Hoover were cases in point. Some personalities like Thomas Edison, Henry Ford, and Orville Wright were able to remember complex spatial concepts.

While it is undeniably true that some people are born with better memories than others, it is also true that many superb memories are the result of special training and effort. Robert Lovett's father, for example, used to make him recite precisely everything he had seen to and from school each day. "Memory," Lovett reports, "is increased with use, practice and a sense of urgency."

COMMITMENTS President Richard Nixon has laid to rest the image of "Tricky Dick," the small-town slicker from whom no one in his right mind would buy a used car.

Virtuoso performances in televised press conferences plus his trip abroad have convinced most of the nation that Nixon is frank, sincere, industrious, moderate, mature, and doing a good job.

When asked at a recent conference if he thought the nation would continue to back him if he continued our war in Vietnam, Nixon said he was sure "the American people will support a President if they are told by the President why we are there, what our objectives are, what the cost will be, and what the consequences would be if we took another course of action."

President Johnson thought much the same thing but never succeeded in explaining to many of the people how he'd edged and escalated our young men into a war which has killed more than 33,000 of them, wounded another 200,000, and cost us $100 billion.

Because President Nixon is an honest and forthright man who believes in the people's right to know, it is time for the nation to be told that the U.S. now has commitments with at least 42 other nations.

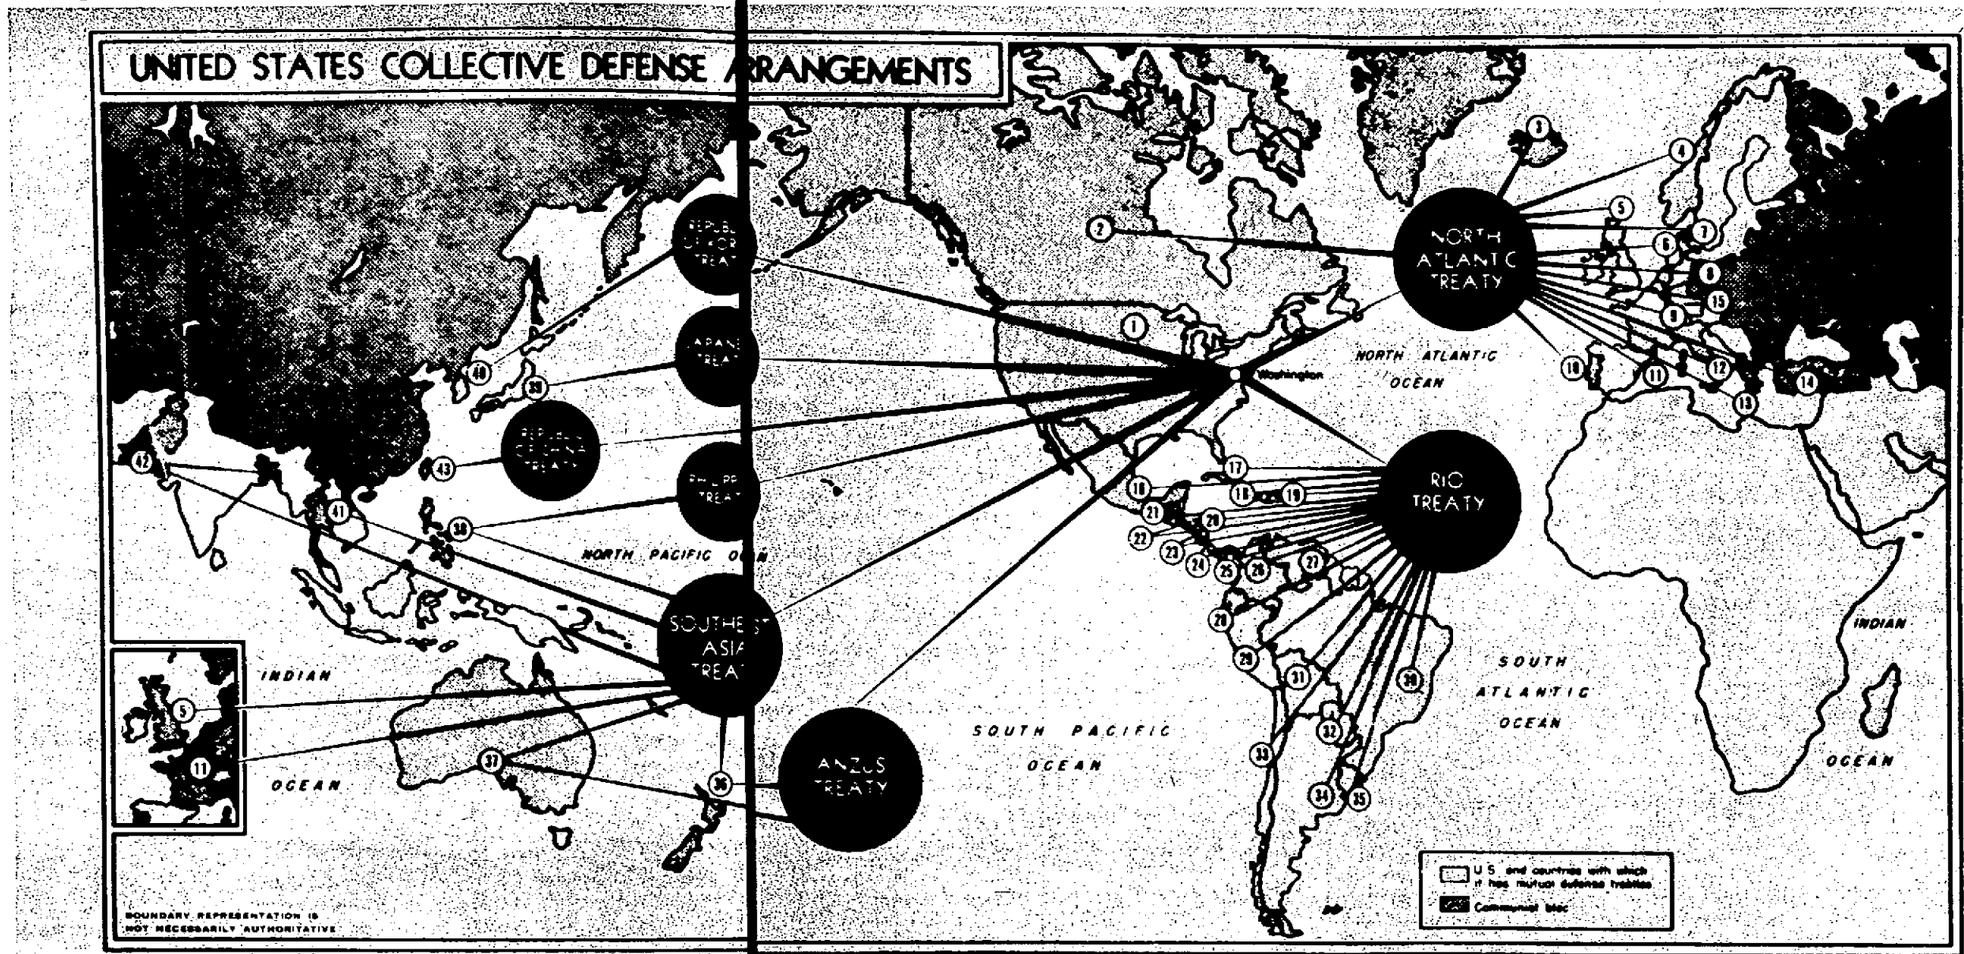

In case any or all of these nations are attacked, the U.S. is pledged to defend them.

These commitments are integral parts of treaties submitted to the U.S. Senate for advice and consent, and ratified.

Dean Rusk used to talk a good deal about our SEATO commitments, but the Southeast Asia Treaty we signed on Sept. 8, 1954, in Manila does not have Vietnam, Laos or Cambodia listed as signatories. They assume no reciprocal obligation to fight for us. They are rather protected states which come under an umbrella of protection which several signatories to the treaty, United Kingdom, France, and Pakistan, apparently do not recognize.

We, however, recognize such a commitment to South Vietnam and at great cost have been honoring it since 1961.

Herewith is a map from a government publication called Collective Defense Treaties, compiled by the House Foreign Affairs Committee, 90th Congress, first session, on April 10, 1967. It shows the eight treaties the U.S. has signed since 1947 and the 42 commitments we are pledged to honor.

Try to buy a fiberglass-belted wide oval for $33.95 at a major tire store and get a laugh. Try at Douglas and get a tire.

Safety at high speeds. Tested for 24 hours at 110 m.p.h. across the scorching desert.

Reversible. White stripe on one side. Racing red on the other.

Mean, racy look. Like tires on competition cars.

Double the mileage of ordinary wide oval tires. Two plies or belts of fiberglass hold the tread steady. Keep it from rubbing away like an eraser on the road.

Plus two bias plies of polyester cord in the structure assure a comfortable, no-thump ride.

40% wider tread than conventional tires. Puts more tire between you and the road for fastest starts, safest stops, best handling around corner.

The sight of a sexy, wide-oval polyglas tire is enough to "turn on" any red-blooded American. It's the price that usually turns people off.

Shape Up for Spring

■ Who would ever think that exercises for football players could put just plain folks back in shape, too? Well, they can and do. Calisthenics that condition the champion New York Jets football team are now being used by thousands of American families, thanks to a new book, The Pro Football Way to Physical Fitness. Written by Weeb Ewbank, head coach of the Jets, the illustrated text explains the "football course" to better health and physical fitness. Of course the exercises are modified to meet the fitness needs of the nonprofessional. There are special conditioning routines for teenagers, men, and women. PARADE is offering this family exercise book for $1. Order your copy today and start stretching for good health.

Send $1 for each copy of "Pro Football Way to Physical Fitness." Cash, money order or check (no stamps or C.O.D.) to PARADE, P.O. Box No. 145, Kensington Station, Brooklyn, N.Y. 11218. Print name, address and zip code, allow three weeks for delivery of the book.

COMMITMENTS President Richard Nixon has laid to rest the image of "Tricky Dick," the small-town slicker from whom no one in his right mind would buy a used car.

Virtuoso performances in televised press conferences plus his trip abroad have convinced most of the nation that Nixon is frank, sincere, industrious, moderate, mature, and is doing a good job.

When asked at a recent conference if he thought the nation would continue to back him if he continued our war in Vietnam, Nixon said he was sure "the American people will support a President if they are told by the President why we are there, what our objectives are, what the cost will be, and what the consequences would be if we took another course of action."

President Johnson thought much the same thing but never succeeded in explaining to many of the people how he'd edged and escalated our young men into a war which has killed more than 33,000 of them, wounded another 200,000, and cost us $100 billion.

Because President Nixon is an honest and forthright man who believes in the people's right to know, it is time for the nation to be told that the U.S. now has commitments with at least 42 other nations.

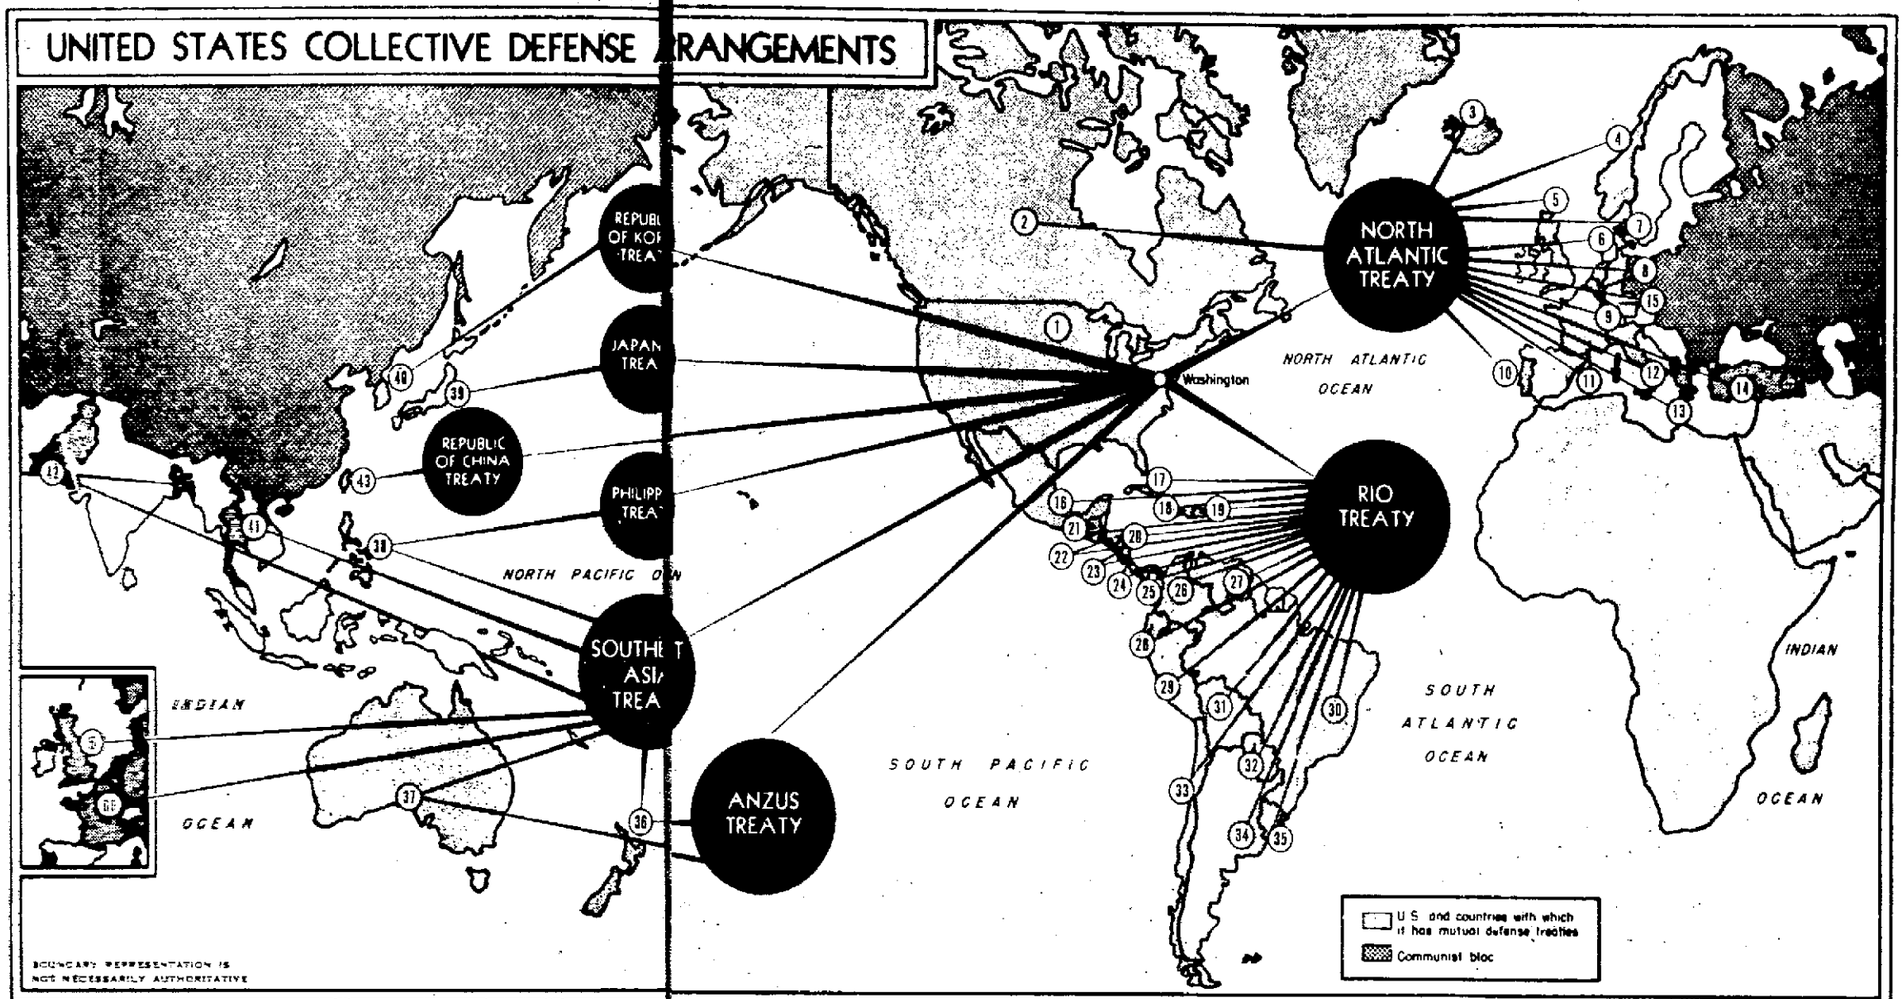

In case any or all of these nations are attacked, the U.S. is pledged to defend them.

These commitments are integral parts of treaties submitted to the U.S. Senate for advice and consent, and ratified.

Dean Rusk used to talk a good deal about our SEATO commitments, but the Southeast Asia Treaty we signed on Sept. 8, 1954, in Manila does not have Vietnam, Laos or Cambodia listed as signatories. They assume no reciprocal obligation to fight for us. They are rather protected states which come under an umbrella of protection which several signatories to the treaty, United Kingdom, France, and Pakistan, apparently do not recognize.

We, however, recognize such a commitment to South Vietnam and at great cost have been honoring it since 1961.

Herewith is a map from a government publication called Collective Defense Treaties, compiled by the House Foreign Affairs Committee, 90th Congress, First session, in April 10, 1967. It shows the eight treaties the U.S. has signed since 1947 and the 42 commitments we are pledged to honor.

Try to buy a fiberglass-belted wide oval for $33.95 at a major tire store and get a laugh. Try at Douglas and get a tire.

The sight of a sexy, wide-oval polyglas tire is enough to "turn on" any red-blooded American. It's the price that usually turns people off.

SIZE	OUR PRICE
D70-14 (6.95 x 14)	$33.95
E70-14 (7.35 x 14)	35.95
F70-14 (7.75 x 14)	36.95

G70-15 (8.15 x 15)	37.95
H70-15 (8.45 x 15)	38.95

Suggested retail prices at all Douglas owned and operated service stations. Plus $2.24 to $2.85 F.E.T. and retreadable tire off your car.

But Douglas offers America's most famous new fiberglass-belted tire...without the famous name, of course...for $12-$13 less than you'd pay at a major tire company store. (We call it the Docal Wide 70.)

Douglas also offers instant credit with up to 21 months to pay, assurance of complete satisfaction, plus free installation.

At Douglas it's the customer who gets the last laugh.

Shape Up for Spring

■ Who would ever think that exercises for football players could put just plain folks back in shape, too? Well, they can and do. Calisthenics that condition the champion New York Jets football team are now being used by thousands of American families, thanks to a new book, The Pro Football Way to Physical Fitness. Written by Weeb Ewbank, head coach of the Jets, the illustrated text explains the "football course" to better health and physical fitness. Of course the exercises are modified to meet the fitness needs of the nonprofessional. There are special conditioning routines for teenagers, men, and women. PARADE is offering this family exercise book for $1. Order your copy today and start stretching for good health.

Send $1 for each copy of "Pro Football Way to Physical Fitness." Cash, money order or check (no stamps or C.O.D.) to PARADE, P.O. Box No. 145, Kensington Station, Brooklyn, N.Y. 11218. Print name, address and zip code, allow three weeks for delivery of the book.

Maple-Chocolate Mounds

by Beth Merriman
PARADE FOOD EDITOR

Get your kids into the act when you make these deliciously crunchy Maple-Chocolate Mounds. Half cookie, half candy, these no-cook chocolate confections are so easy to put together, even your children can make them. Serve to adults or children alike; they're everyone's favorite with coffee, tea or milk. You'll especially like their maple-chocolate flavor, made more delicious with the addition of raisins, nuts and high-protein cereal flakes.

MAPLE-CHOCOLATE MOUNDS

- 1 package (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon water
- 1/3 cup light corn syrup
- 2 teaspoons maple extract
- 2 1/2 cups ready-to-eat high-protein cereal flakes
- 1/2 cup coarsely chopped nuts
- 1/2 cup raisins

Melt semi-sweet chocolate pieces and butter in double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from heat. Add tablespoon water and syrup and maple extract; stir until smooth. Fold in cereal flakes, nuts and raisins. Drop by heaping teaspoonfuls on wax-paper-lined baking sheet. Chill several hours until firm. Makes approximately 2 1/2 dozen.

TAKE A LOOK AT THESE NEW IDEAS FOR YOUR HOME AND FAMILY ■ BY PETER DRYDEN

FOOT CONTROLS FOR YOUR BOAT: This outboard motor control system (left) lets you steer, control the throttle, and shift gears entirely with your feet, leaving both hands free for fishing. Simple to install, the system mounts above floor. It's suitable for use with Outboard Marine, Mercury or Morse Control cables. Complete kit includes pedals, slide mounts, steering cable, pulleys, cable clamps, turnbuckle. $57.50. For details, write: Sports Marine, Dept. PP, 2068 Front St., Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio 44221.

LID LOOPER: With a new tool, you can convert any jar with a metal cap into a handy storage unit for nails, screws or other small parts in the workshop, kitchen or garage. The device quickly forms a loop in the cap so it can be mounted easily on a wall or pegboard. $3.95 postpaid. P. L. Co., Dept. PP, Box 5263, Compton, Calif. 90224.

BOOK CAROUSEL: With this space-saving device (above), you can store up to 20 books in one square foot of desktop space (or kitchen countertop space in the case of cookbooks). It's designed to hold books upright even when not completely filled—and revolves on ball bearings for easy book selection. Laminated top is waterproof, stain-resistant; ends are solid walnut. $11.95 postpaid. Franzen, Dept. PP, 110 Franzen Bldg., Flanagan, Ill. 61740.

FLOATING SWIMMING POOL: A new kind of swimming pool is designed to make available clean, fresh water for swimming in a lake, stream or other body of water that is laden with mud, weeds or is otherwise unsuitable for swimming. The 16' x 32' pool has walls and bottom of plastic, deck sections of redwood, and floats on styrofoam billets. It comes with a ½ HP filter unit, pool ladders, and jump board. For complete details, write: Floating Swimming Pools, Inc., Dept. PP, 2626 31st Ave. South, Minneapolis, Minn. 55406.

CHINESE OVEN: Here's a portable smoke oven you can use on the patio, at the campsite and aboard the boat to prepare such dishes as Chinese pork and Peking duck. The unit—which is also useful for fish, steaks, venison and other meats—can roast, bake, kipper and grill. It uses charcoal briquets plus flavoring wood chips, has a reflector that prevents scorching by keeping fat from dripping on the coals, weighs 10 lbs., is 26" high when assembled. $24.95 ppd. Jo-Lo, Dept. PP, Box 1151, Lake Oswego, Ore. 97034.

My Favorite Jokes

by Kaye Ballard

EDITOR'S NOTE: Kaye Ballard, star of the TV show, The Mothers-in-Law, was born Kaye Balotta in Cleveland some 40-odd years ago. As a child she always wanted to become an actress. "I preferred Bette Davis and Barbara Stanwyck," she recalls, "but I looked more like Martha Raye, so I became a comedienne."

Kaye entered show business not long after she was graduated from West Tech High. Her first engagement was at Chin's, a Chinese restaurant in Cleveland, where she sang a World War II number, "Thumbs Up and V for Victory." A year later the late Spike Jones signed her and together they played vaudeville in the U.S. and Canada.

Overseas in London she starred for a while in Ciro's Nightclub where one of the young dancing girls was Audrey Hepburn. Returning to the U.S., Kaye worked on Broadway, made guest appearances on the Jack Paar and Perry Como TV shows, appeared in nightclubs. Two years ago NBC signed her for The Mothers-in-Law. When not appearing on TV, Kaye works the major nite spots in Las Vegas. Herewith some of her favorite jokes:

A dying wife motioned her husband to her bedside. "Jim," she said, "after I'm gone I want you to go on living. Find someone else. Give her my jewelry. Give her my home. Give her my Paris dresses."

Said the tearful husband: "I can't, darling. I simply can't."

"But you must," the wife persisted. "You must." The husband paused for a moment. "No, my dear," he said. "I really can't. You're a size 16, and she wears a 10."

A little house mouse spied its first bat. "Oh, mommy," it screeched, "I just saw an angel."

During the London blitz in World War II, the sirens began wailing one night. "Come, Freddie," an anxious wife cautioned. "Let's rush down to the bomb shelter."

Racing to the bathroom, the husband called out, "I can't darling until I find my false teeth."

"Are you balmy?" the wife asked. "They're not dropping sandwiches tonight."

A drunk fell off a 15-story building. A policeman rushed up to him. "What happened?" the officer inquired. Replied the drunk: "Don't know, officer, just got here myself."

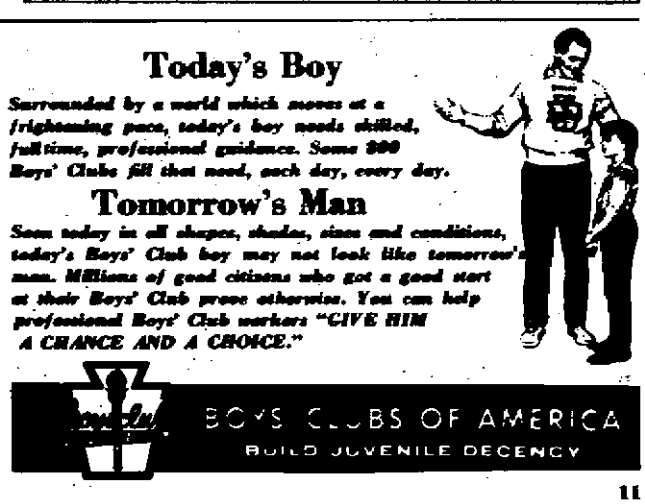

Two fleas stood at the bottom of a hill. Said one to the other: "Well, Jasmine, what do you want to do, walk or take a dog?"

Youth needs a spokesman in the Cabinet

by REP. CLAUDE PEPPER
DEMOCRAT OF FLORIDA

WASHINGTON, D.C.

The evidence is all around us that young Americans are growing disillusioned and disaffected. An angry minority no longer believes in peaceful protest. Rather than discuss grievances, they lay siege to campuses. They can attract more attention, they have found, by throwing rocks than by writing letters. In five hectic days, as I was preparing this article, 14 campuses erupted in violence. Virtually no area of the country went untouched.

All this has produced a stern reaction against student disorders and in favor of harsh repression. Government authorities, goaded by outraged public opinion, have threatened to take away from students and educators the right to control our college campuses. When Congress voted to require universities to cut off federal aid to students convicted of campus disturbances, four out of five persons polled by Gallup approved. Now President Nixon has thrown the weight of the federal government against disruption on the campus.

Rep. Claude Pepper says the under-25 half of our population must be heard.

Apologists hasten to point out that only the hard-core militants, a small fraction of the student population, capture the classrooms and headlines. However, we should not confuse the responsible refusal of the vast majority to rush to the barricades as tacit complacency. For this new generation is bringing with it the winds of change.

Distressed as I am over the violent confrontations between students and authorities, I am heartened that we have a literate, articulate, vocal younger generation to challenge us to sit up and pay heed. It may be time for a sweeping reappraisal, for example, of the way our young adults are educated beyond high school.

Our academic communities today have become small cities. More than 28,000 are registered at the University of California at Los Angeles. Yet the attitudes and relationships are still pat-

All this has produced a stern reaction against student disorders and in favor of harsh repression. Government authorities, goaded by outraged public opinion, have threatened to take away from students and educators the right to control our college campuses. When Congress voted to require universities to cut off federal aid to students convicted of campus disturbances, four out of five persons polled by Gallup approved. Now President Nixon has thrown the weight of the federal government against disruption on the campus.

Rep. Claude Pepper says the under-25 half of our population must be heard.

Apologists hasten to point out that only the hard-core militants, a small fraction of the student population, capture the classrooms and headlines. However, we should not confuse the responsible refusal of the vast majority to rush to the barricades as tacit complacency. For this new generation is bringing with it the winds of change.

Distressed as I am over the violent confrontations between students and authorities, I am heartened that we have a literate, articulate, vocal younger generation to challenge us to sit up and pay heed. It may be time for a sweeping reappraisal, for example, of the way our young adults are educated beyond high school.

Our academic communities today have become small cities. More than 28,000 are registered at the University of California at Los Angeles. Yet the attitudes and relationships are still pat-

TIME FOR BABY WEEK

A. "Circus Parade." Colorful circus animals border beautiful electric clock. 9" diameter.
$5.98 value . . . . . Now only $4.00

B. "Jumbo Alarm." Bright pink clock with giant alarm bells. 9½" high, key-wound.
$7.98 value . . . . . Now only $5.50

C. "Red Barn." Cow swings on ticking pendulum for several minutes after winding. 17¾" high.
$9.98 value . . . . . Now only $6.30

We've got all the time in the world for babies.

Would you spend 51 minutes cooking egg yolks to a smooth, moist, creamy consistency? We do, at Gerber. Would you spend 40 years developing special strains of fruits and vegetables especially for baby? We did. Would you watch the peas around the clock till they reach the sweetest moment of tenderness? We do.

We take our time, but we can hurry, too, when it's best for baby. Peas are rushed from vine to jar in a matter of hours. Fresh fruits and vegetables are flash-cooked in a matter of seconds—to capture maximum color, flavor, and nutrition.

Custom-cooking every one of our 127 baby foods takes time. But all our time belongs to baby, because...

Babies are our business ...our only business!*

Now...Plastic Cream Invention For Artificial Teeth

For the first time science now offers a unique plastic cream that holds false teeth almost like Nature herself holds natural teeth. It forms an elastic membrane that holds both "uppers and lowers" as never before.

It's FIXODENT—a revolutionary discovery for daily home use. So different it's protected by U.S. Patent #3,003,988.

FIXODENT not only holds dentures firmer, but it holds them more comfortably, too. It's so elastic you can bite harder, chew harder without pain. You may even eat and enjoy apples, steak, corn-on-the-cob again.

FIXODENT's special pencil-point dispenser lets you put it exactly where it's needed. Avoids oozing over and gagging.

Just one application may last 'round-the-clock. Even resists hot coffee. Dentures that fit are essential to health. So see your dentist regularly. Get FIXODENT at all drug counters.

Angry snarls solve nothing. Pepper would draw youth into government responsibility.

terned after the cloistered, ivy-grown campuses of an earlier era.

We know the quality of our students has been improving, but I am not so sure this holds true of the instruction they receive. Many classroom professors, if student complaints are to be believed, would do better in the research laboratory. Student demands aren't necessarily unreasonable just because their elders may have been more complacent and conforming back in the "good old days."

Should students be allowed to grade their instructors? Are student grievances getting attention in the front offices? What recourse do students have who are confronted with administrative callousness and stubbornness? Certainly violence should not be necessary to get a legitimate hearing, and violence by militant groups simply bent upon disruption cannot be tolerated. Yet if there are no other effective ways of getting action on just grievances, we cannot rule out violence.

There is a need to study the student avenues for redress at our major colleges and universities. Let us find out which doors are barred to legitimate complaints. Going beyond the campuses, our young people are also entitled to a voice in the national decisions that will shape their future.

Half of the U.S. population next year will be under 25. Every day decisions are made at all levels of government which determine the rules that young people are expected to follow. Yet their voices are but distant shouts, ignored or unheard at the policy-making level.

Our government has established the Labor Department to speak for the workers. The farmers can take their problems to the Agriculture Department, and businessmen can get a hearing for their views at the Commerce Department. Small businessmen have another special advocate in the Small Business Administration.

Yet none of these favored groups is as populous or as problem-plagued as the under-25 generation. Certainly the youth of the nation deserve a voice at the Cabinet level, a department which would concern itself solely with their problems, aspirations, thoughts and ideas. This compelling conclusion grew out of a discussion I had in Florida many weeks ago with Mrs. Malvin Englander of Miami Beach, a concerned state Democratic committeewoman. She and I agreed that the young people needed a spokesman to present directly to the President and to the Congress the concerns of young America.

Accordingly, I have introduced a bill, H.R. 6259, which would authorize a Department of Youth Affairs, a person at the uppermost level of government—who would represent the young in the nation's policy-making councils. He would serve not only as a spokesman but an ombudsman for the 50 percent of our population under 25.

Youth can serve

The Department of Youth Affairs would also coordinate and expand government programs which draw principally upon the talent and energy of the nation's youth. The Peace Corps, VISTA and National Teacher Corps, for example, would be transferred to the new department. These three agencies rely heavily upon the active, selfless participation of young people.

That each is almost universally regarded as a solid success is dramatic proof of what the youth of America can accomplish. It is little short of astounding what changes in attitude, opportunity and environment a relatively small number of young men and women (some 12,000 in all) are achieving in these three volunteer programs. I fiercely believe there are many more thousands of young adults in this country who are eager to join in the attack against poverty and other social ills.

The Department of Youth Affairs would be primarily concerned with the young person as a citizen and individual, rather than as a charge of his parents, his doctor and his teacher. As I envision it, the heart of the department would be an office of youth participation, which would open the way for young men and women to exercise substantial influence on programs at the policy-making level.

This office would actively attempt to recruit persons under 24 for appointment to responsible positions in the higher pay grades. Young people would be sought from a broad range of background, experience, educational attainment and geographical distribution.

The office of youth participation would be empowered to establish and administer a program of grants-in-aid to public agencies and non-profit organizations which, on the local level, would recruit, select, train and employ youths up to age 24. They would serve as paid and volunteer workers in social and economic programs benefiting their communities.

I believe most young adults—given their expanding levels of education, their willingness and eagerness to work hard, long hours—are ready for such a challenge. I may not be able to verify this to the satisfaction of every doubter. But the preponderance of evidence (I refer to exhaustive studies by doctors and educators) suggests that young adults today possess a sophistication and intelligence superior to that possessed by their parents and grandparents at the same age.

The Secretary of Youth Affairs, who would be appointed by the President and approved by the Senate, need not necessarily be a young man—although young men have shouldered great responsibilities in the past. Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence at age 33. John Rutledge was a leader of the Southern delegates at the Second Continental Congress, which declared our independence, at age 26. And every Frenchman knows that Napoleon Bonaparte was commander of the entire French Army in Italy at age 27.

What is important for a Secretary of Youth Affairs is that he be tuned in on young thoughts. He might be someone like John Gardner, the former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, who understands and identifies with the aspirations and concerns of young people.

Invite them in

Those of us who have occupied this planet a little while longer should be careful not to spurn the thoughts of youth. Rather we should welcome and encourage them. We should concern ourselves with the varied and peculiar problems encountered by young adults growing to maturity in an age of automation and impersonalization. We should provide a place where they can become involved, influentially and constructively, in the affairs and responsibilities of government.

Would it not increase the morale and the confidence of youth in our system to know that their national government is sufficiently concerned to create a department at the highest level to hear their grievances and to give them a meaningful place? Would this not discourage violence and encourage the overwhelming majority of our young citizens who are interested in constructive change and correction of abuses rather than in blind disruption?

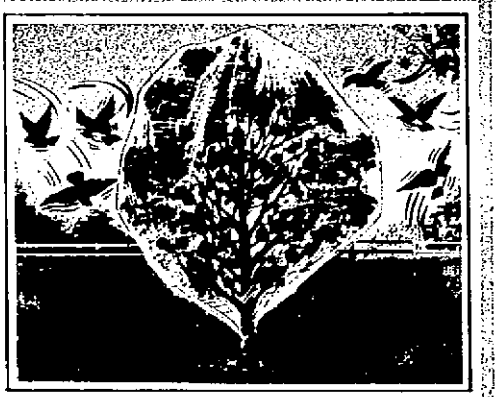

The need is urgent to bridge the gap between the generations. Personally, I don't believe we will find any chasm too wide to bridge. I am reminded of an eloquent phrase spoken during the recent campaign by one of the presidential contenders:

"We are as old as our despairs, as young as our hopes; as old as our fears, as young as our faith; as old as the doubts we harbor, and as young as the ideals we sustain."

THE SAD SUCCESS OF ELIZABETH TAYLOR

by Lloyd Shearer

Liz Taylor, sparkling with rings and bracelets, holds her dog Fatso. As she loses her youth, she becomes increasingly obsessed with acquiring jewelry.

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF.

Most of us in the Western world equate wealth with success. If a man has $5 million, we consider him successful. Rarely do we ask how he acquired his money.

On the basis of money earned, Elizabeth Taylor is the world's most successful woman. She now earns $1,250,000 per film, plus 10 percent of the profits, plus $50,000 a week overtime, plus entourage expenses. She has the right to approve her leading man, her director, her cameraman, the right to approve all still photographs and publicity material.

At age 37, she has been married five times—she is Elizabeth Taylor Hilton, Wilding, Todd, Fisher, Burton—she has homes in Switzerland, Mexico, and the French Riviera. Along with her husband, she owns three Rolls-Royces, a yacht, many of the world's most valuable and fabulous jewels and paintings.

Her entourage consists of one nurse, one maid, two secretaries, one public relations woman, one makeup man, one wardrobe lady-in-waiting, two chauffeurs, and a variety of dogs named Fatso, Sebastian and Satchmo. She owns every conceivable kind of fur coat and garment known to modern woman, and what she doesn't have she can purchase by the instant dialing of a phone number.

In addition, she is the mother of four children, two sons by Michael Wilding, a daughter by Mike Todd, and a German-born daughter adopted in Europe.

A British citizen but a resident of Switzerland and its favorable tax setup, she retains most of her estimated annual income of $3 million.

She is also married to Richard Burton, an actor with a penchant for the pleasures of the flesh, the bottle, and the book.

Calling the shots

Moreover she has reached that apogee in her career where she can make Hollywood producers jump through the hoop in order to obtain her services.

On her last film, The Only Game in Town, based on a flop play for which 20th Century-Fox paid $750,000, she insisted that the production be filmed in Paris so that she could be near her husband who was filming in the French capital with Rex Harrison in The Staircase, another flop play based on the misadventures of two aging homosexual British barbers.

The Only Game in Town is a small story set in Las Vegas. Miss Taylor portrays a nightclub dancer who is faced with the choice of marrying a man of substance or falling in love with a compulsive, piano-playing gambler. She chooses the gambler, in this instance, actor Warren Beatty.

The film could have been shot in Las Vegas in six or seven weeks—it ended up there, anyway—for a reasonable sum of, say $4 million. Instead, it took almost six months and will finally cost around $11 million.

Miss Taylor came down with the Paris flu in the middle of the production, and her bad back gave her grievous trouble, causing many delays. The actress also had inserted in her contract a clause permitting her ten days free in which to enjoy Christmas.

Yes, if there is anyone in this world with the material possessions, the status symbols, the power positions which spell success, it is Elizabeth Taylor. And yet there is about this lovely creature an ineffable sadness, a prescience of doom, the feeling that inevitably life will move her behind the eight ball.

Certainly few actresses have been dogged by so many illnesses, psychoso-

Wasn't I slinky looking in these old sandals?! I was 150 pounds.

I'd probably never be married now, if I hadn't lost 49 pounds

Dear Ruth McCarthy:

You don't know me, but I've been reading your stories about people who've lost weight and I'd like to tell you my tale.

I was a junior in high school. A fat, dateless teenager who spent her lonely evenings at the refrigerator. Either at my house or baby-sitting at someone else's. The bad thing about baby-sitting was that there was always food in the house, which turned into fat on my hips. Whenever I got a chance to dance (usually in the arms of my father at a family wedding), I looked like a bowl of jelly, jiggling across the floor. Sounds funny, doesn't it? But it wasn't. Particularly not when you had a slim sister, who dated regularly.

She and her boyfriend tried to fix me up with fellows, but who wanted to do the Twist with 150 pounds of fat. I kept telling myself that I'd outgrow it. I didn't. And you don't when you eat like I did.

My mother is Maltese and my father Czechoslovakian. When he married my mother, he insisted that she learn how to bake all those fancy Czech pastries. Of course, she had a few Maltese specialties of her own. And me, I just lapped them up.

By the time I'd become a junior in high school, however, I began to think more about boys than baked goods. Not too far from where I lived, in Flushing, New York, there's a very nice place that has dances for teenagers on Friday evenings. I used to go sometimes, but nothing ever came of it. I always wound up a wallflower.

Summers were hard, too. Bathing-suit time. Mine would always be one-piece. And black. I'd stay in the water, up to my neck, as much as possible. On the sand, I'd wrap myself in a robe and watch the others have fun. I'm sure they thought I was shy, but I was really ashamed.

After unhappy times like these, I'd try to "starve" myself. I'd lose a couple of pounds, but at the end of the week, I'd go on a binge and gain it all back.

Then one day I read an ad about a reducing-plan candy, called Ayds. And the word "candy" got me. This sounded like the answer to my problem.

After all, I thought, it wouldn't be like taking a reducing pill. And it wasn't, once I tried Ayds. One thing I liked, this candy contained no harmful drugs. And it was sweet enough to satisfy my sweet tooth, so I didn't feel I was denying myself at all. I just took one or two before meals as directed, with a hot drink. And it helped me control my appetite. Really. It was as pleasant as could be. I lost 25 pounds in three months. That's when my friends began to notice my looks. I even began to like the way I looked myself. In fact, I began to think about getting contact lenses. "Might as well go all the way," I thought.

When I reached 125 pounds, one of the girls got me a date for Rye Beach. It was great. And it was only the beginning. There were dates and more dates.

Every pound I lost motivated me to lose another. By the time I graduated, I had dropped to 115 pounds. And it wasn't long before I lost more. The only reason I took baby-sitting jobs from then on was to make money. Not fill up my evening.

After years of being wrapped in 150 pounds of fat, I was slim—and free.

I'm 5'2½" tall and today, I weigh 101 pounds, down from 150. In the measurements department, I've gone from 40" to 33½" in the bust; from 29" to 23½" in the waist; from 40" to 34" in the hips; and from a size 16½ to a size 5 dress.

Isn't that wonderful? And what really makes me feel good is knowing that I haven't gained any of the weight back in six years. And I haven't even had to continue using Ayds to stay slim. On the Ayds Plan, I had trained myself to eat less. And like it. And the habit has lasted.

In January, I was married to a wonderful man, who found it hard to believe I was ever heavy. During our engagement, I showed him the enclosed pictures of myself. I suppose it wasn't the brightest thing to do, but, thank goodness, it didn't scare him off. He did say though: "If I'd seen you when you were that big, I'd never have asked you out." And I'm sure that, without Ayds, I'd never have this wedding band on my finger today.

THE SAD SUCCESS OF ELIZABETH TAYLOR

by Lloyd Shearer

Liz Taylor, sparkling with rings and bracelets, holds her dog Fatso. As she loses her youth, she becomes increasingly obsessed with acquiring jewelry.

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF.

Most of us in the Western world equate wealth with success. If a man has $5 million, we consider him successful. Rarely do we ask how he acquired his money.

On the basis of money earned, Elizabeth Taylor is the world's most successful woman. She now earns $1,250,000 per film, plus 10 percent of the profits, plus $50,000 a week overtime, plus entourage expenses. She has the right to approve her leading man, her director, her cameraman, the right to approve all still photographs and publicity material.

At age 37, she has been married five times—she is Elizabeth Taylor Hilton, Wilding, Todd, Fisher, Burton—she has homes in Switzerland, Mexico, and the French Riviera. Along with her husband, she owns three Rolls-Royces, a yacht, many of the world's most valuable and fabulous jewels and paintings.

Her entourage consists of one nurse, one maid, two secretaries, one public relations woman, one makeup man, one wardrobe lady-in-waiting, two chauffeurs, and a variety of dogs named Fatso, Sebastian and Satchmo. She owns every conceivable kind of fur coat and garment known to modern woman, and what she doesn't have she can purchase by the instant dialing of a phone number.

In addition, she is the mother of four children, two sons by Michael Wilding, a daughter by Mike Todd, and a German-born daughter adopted in Europe.

A British citizen but a resident of Switzerland and its favorable tax setup, she retains most of her estimated annual income of $3 million.

She is also married to Richard Burton, an actor with a penchant for the pleasures of the flesh, the bottle, and the book.

Moreover she has reached that apogee in her career where she can make Hollywood producers jump through the hoop in order to obtain her services.

matic and otherwise, including ulcers, pneumonia, the disc syndrome. A tracheotomy a few years ago saved her life, and a hysterectomy last year terminated her child-bearing period. But these repair jobs have left her far from a healthy woman.

A recent news story which had her suffering from cancer of the spine is ridiculous. She suffers from no such thing. One of her spinal discs, a flat, circular outgrowth between her vertebrae, is wearing away, which is why she frequently wears a back brace, and eventually she will have to get the disc fixed. But there is no hint of cancer.

What there is a hint of is her growing frustration, which is reflected in a neurotic compulsion to eat. Says a friend: "Some actresses when they get worried or frustrated, start taking pills. Not Liz. She starts to eat. She can also drink pretty good, too. She gains anywhere from 10 to 20 pounds, then has to go through hell to get them off."

A director who has worked with her and admires her professionalism, declares: "I'm crazy about Liz, because there's not a mean bone in her body, and she believes in giving you a good day's work. She's generous to a fault. I'll bet she and Burton are supporting a dozen people. But to my way of thinking, she eats when she's unhappy and when she's under pressure.

"What makes her unhappy?" you ask. "Personally, I think she realizes that she's losing her beauty. After all, she's 37. Her muscle tone isn't what it used to be. Her skin sags in several places. She needs a lot of makeup when you move that camera in for a closeup. The more she loses her beauty, the more she becomes obsessed with acquiring beautiful things, pearls, diamonds, collectors' items. Also I believe she worries about losing Burton.

"She's no fool," the director continues. "She's been around. She's a combination child and woman of the world, but she realizes that it was her beauty not her brain which first attracted Burton, and deep down she's afraid that someone younger and more beautiful will come along one day and steal Burton from her. That's why, I believe, she stokes up on food and insists upon being in the same town with her husband almost all the time. She trusts him about as far as she can throw a piano."

In the 1940's when Liz Taylor was climbing the success ladder at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, some of the other stars working on the same lot were Judy Garland, Lana Turner, Ava Gardner, and Hedy Lamarr, not a single one of whom, after a combined total of 20 marriages, has found any real happiness.

Give and get

In her fifth marriage Elizabeth Taylor claims to be ecstatically, tempestuously, indescribably happy. Her husband buys her diamonds, and she buys him fur coats. Does anyone need further proof? In Las Vegas recently, a reporter asked Burton what he intended to do when he quit acting.

"Oh," the actor mused. "I may go back and become a don at Oxford."

"Won't that be nice!" Liz exclaimed. "My serving tea to all those good-looking students."

It is the kind of domestic scene she blissfully envisions. But those of us in the press who have grown old alongside of her, watching her antics and illnesses and now her fading beauty—we find her success a sweet-sad thing, because, despite all the wealth, she is still poor in security, bereft of personal philosophy, afraid like all the others who live in front of the camera, of the coming of the crow's feet around her eyes.

Sometimes, thinking of it and dreading it so, it actually makes her sick. Whereupon Richard goes out and buys her another bauble like the fabulous 33.9 karat Krupp Diamond which surely must near-rupture the little finger of her left hand.

Liz Taylor and husband, Richard Burton, ride in one of their three Rolls-Royces. They are both fond of fur coats; she has sables and minks in a variety of colors.

A Beauty Fluid That Keeps Your Skin Youthfully Beautiful

That lovely moist bloom you've noticed on a baby's complexion is strictly by courtesy of Mother Nature; the exquisite, smooth bloom you see today on a beautiful woman's complexion is more than probably by virtue of a remarkable tropical moist oil discovered through scientific research.

Never before have women been more fortunate in their ability to help preserve the precious, youthful qualities of the complexion. The existence of this unique beauty fluid now makes it possible to cherish and moisturize the skin so that it begins to blossom almost at once with a superb petal-smooth splendor and a soft, dewy freshness. In America the moist oil discovery is of particular importance in establishing a healthy balance when the complexion tends to be affected by climatic extremes.

The extremely lovely complexion of childhood is sustained through the early years by a consummate supply of natural oil and moisture. Inevitably, in the fullness of time, the skin matures and the body processes slow down — and this is where the remarkable advances made by modern skin researchers can step in to open new vistas of complexion beauty. Through the aid of the tropical moist oil, the perfect conditions under which your childhood skin once thrived can virtually be re-created to maintain a wonderfully supple, effloresent complexion.

As water is to a flower, so this beautifying fluid is to your skin, reviving and helping to keep it flawless, fresh, constantly flourishing. Endowed with hygroscopic elements that attract and draw moisture from the atmosphere, the moist oil discourages dehydration of the epidermal (top) layer and assists in the retention of a delicate bloom on the skin all through the day.

Because it is isotonically pressurized to balance successfully with the skin's own fluids the moist oil contributes to the stabilization of the cell replacement rate so that youth and resilience are easier to maintain. Being a perfect blend of oil and moisture that is homologous to the skin's own fluids, this beautifying combination amalgamates spontaneously with dwindling natural moist oil supplies and effectively aids in keeping dryness and wrinkles at bay.

Women of all ages smooth this remarkable beauty fluid over their complexions each night and use it as an incomparable base for make-up by day. In tropical countries it is known as oil of Ulan, and in Britain and other parts of the world as oil of Ulay. In America it is available from druggists as oil of Olay, a beauty fluid with a wonderful, unprecedented penchant for keeping skin baby-like and beautiful.

In America the moist oil discovery is of particular importance in establishing a healthy balance when the complexion tends to be affected by climatic extremes.

The extremely lovely complexion of childhood is sustained through the early years by a consummate supply of natural oil and moisture. Inevitably, in the fullness of time, the skin matures and the body processes slow down — and this is where the remarkable advances made by modern skin researchers can step in to open new vistas of complexion beauty. Through the aid of the tropical moist oil, the perfect conditions under which your childhood skin once thrived can virtually be re-created to maintain a wonderfully supple, efflorescent complexion.

As water is to a flower, so this beautifying fluid is to your skin, reviving and helping to keep it flawless, fresh, constantly flourishing. Endowed with hygroscopic elements that attract and draw moisture from the atmosphere, the moist oil discourages dehydration of the epidermal (top) layer and assists in the retention of a delicate bloom on the skin all through the day.

Because it is isotonically pressurized to balance successfully with the skin's own fluids the moist oil contributes to the stabilization of the cell replacement rate so that youth and resilience are easier to maintain. Being a perfect blend of oil and moisture that is homologous to the skin's own fluids, this beautifying combination amalgamates spontaneously with dwindling natural moist oil supplies and effectively aids in keeping dryness and wrinkles at bay.

Women of all ages smooth this remarkable beauty fluid over their complexions each night and use it as an incomparable base for make-up by day. In tropical countries it is known as oil of Ulan, and in Britain and other parts of the world as oil of Ulay. In America it is available from druggists as oil of Olay, a beauty fluid with a wonderful, unprecedented penchant for keeping skin baby-like and beautiful.

AND THE PIRATES

by GEORGE WUNDER

WITH THE HELP OF A BOTTLE OF BRANDY AND MUCH FLATTERY, CUE PERSUADES FYFFE TO JOIN IN SEARCHING FOR ZUZY.

OOOOH! MY HEAD! WHAT WAS IN THAT BOTTLE, CUE? DISTILLED CRUDE OIL?

SHUT UP AND HOLD YOUR COURSE, DRUMMOND. WE SHOULD BE HEADING IN TO CHAPPIE KHAN'S TRIBAL AREA.

OH, YEAH—HIM! AH, MR. CUE, ON SECOND THOUGHT, I DON'T THINK I'M UP TO COPING WITH TRIGGER-HAPPY RIDGE RUNNERS TODAY. SHALL WE...?

DRUMMOND! DIDN'T WE AGREE THAT MY DAUGHTER DESERVED A CHANCE TO CONTRAST YOUR DEVASTATING CHARM AGAINST HIS MERE ANIMAL MAGNETISM?

YOU WERE LOOKING FORWARD TO THE CHALLENGE, REMEMBER?

OH, SURE, CUE, BUT YOU SAID YOUR DAUGHTER IS A SWEET, INNOCENT CHILD. IS IT FAIR FOR A CAD LIKE ME...?

I CAN'T FLY THIS THING, BUT I CAN READ A COMPASS! HOLD YOUR COURSE!

I'VE WORKED AND FOUGHT AMONG ROUGHNECKS ALL MY LIFE. I'M IN PRETTY GOOD SHAPE. CONSIDERING THE SHAPE YOU'RE IN, UNLESS WE LAND WHERE I TELL YOU, I'LL TAKE YOU PRETTY GOOD!

OOOOOOH!

KLINK!

SPENT RIFLE SHOT! RICOCHETED OFF THE CANOPY! HANG ON!

THERE HE IS!

AND WHAT DO YOU AND YOUR BUDDIES EXPECT TO USE INSTEAD OF MONEY — EGG FOO YOUNG??

MAKE YOUR FEEBLE CAPITALIST JOKES WHILE THE DECADENT STRUCTURE OF YOUR ROTTEN SOCIETY HOVERS ON THE RAZOR'S EDGE OF ETERNITY!! WHEN WE DESTROY YOUR MONEY — WE DESTROY YOU!!

TAKE AWAY OUR MONEY AND WHAT'VE WE GOT LEFT? KNOW-HOW, SPIRIT, INTELLIGENCE, DETERMINATION AND ABOUT 200,000,000 PEOPLE WHO'D RATHER BE DEAD THAN LIVE THE KIND OF LIFE YOU'RE PEDDLING!

WATCH IT, DR. ZZYZ, YOU'RE LOSING YOUR COOL!

MEANWHILE — AT THE LOCAL AIR TERMINAL —

I COULDA SWORN I HEARD THAT POOR GUY HOBBLIN' ON HIS CRUTCHES WHISPER T'ME — "FOLLOW ME, PRINCESS"!! PUNJAB CALLS ME THAT — ONLY — PUNJAB'S ABOUT A COUPLA FEET TALLER AN' HE'S GOT TWO GOOD LEGS — — COULD BE A TRAP THE SLOBS WHO SNATCHED "DADDY" ARE BAITIN' FOR US, SANDY — BUT WE CAME HERE ON A HUNCH — AN' WE'RE STUCK WITH IT!

I'M SUPPOSED T' FOLLOW HIM INTA THAT ROOM — ONCE HE CLOSES THAT DOOR BEHIND US WE'RE COLD TURKEY, SANDY —

SUPPLIES DO NOT ENTER

IT'S A SUCKER MOVE — BUT IF I COP OUT NOW — AND THAT'S REALLY PUNJAB IN THERE — I COULD BE PUTTIN' "DADDY'S" HEAD INTA A NOOSE....
